DOHENY OFFERS TO RETURN CAL. OIL LEASES

Hold Oilworker in County Jail for Cruel Mistreatment to His Two Young Children

TINY BODIES AND FACES BRUISED

Show Dire Effects of Undernourishment, Say Officers

BULLETIN

A complaint was filed today charging Hatch with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, also charging cruelty, neglect and depravity. The alleged Mrs. Hatch will face similar charges. Hatch admitted to Atty C. N. Mosley that he was not married to the woman who he claims is Bertha Phares.

Investigation proved today that the woman with two of her own children left the house last evening in Hatch's car. Her arrest is expected hourly.

SANTA ANA, Jan 26.—With their tiny bodies and faces a mass of bruises and showing the dire effects of weeks of undernourishment, bordering on starvation, a girl 6, and her brother, 8, today were being nourished back to health under the loving care of nurses at the county hospital.

Their father, Floyd E. Hatch, 45, 120 E. Edinger-st., was in the county jail county charged with county and juvenile officials as being a party to asserted beatings of the tots and their purported incarceration.

Their step-mother, Mrs. Bertha Hatch, 35, was at home with children, slightly older, of her first marriage. Mrs. Hatch, according to R. R. Miller, county probation officer, had been seen by neighbors to strike the Hatch children in the face with her fists. Miller said she could be linked to the case as directly responsible for many of the ghastly welts spotting the children's bodies.

To Miller, little Alta Hatch and Ernest, two years her senior, confided that they had been fed on tiny rations of mush for more than two weeks as both lay ill in bed—neither ill, save from the ills of suspected neglect and abuse.

"Virtually starved," Miller declared, with indignation. "Ernest told me they could scarcely wait to eat. As children, they ate rapidly."

"Mamma then would grab our throats and make us spit the food out, saying, we were taking too large bites," Ernest told me, accusingly.

Upon complaint of several neighbors Miller and Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mosley went to the Hatch home. "We found the girl and her brother in bed," Mozley said. "We were told by Mrs. Hatch that the children were suffering from influenza. At the hospital we were informed that they were not ill, merely in a condition caused by lack of nourishment and brutal treatment.

"Stripping the girl to her waist we found countless bruises and scars. Her face was bruised in several places. The boy's body was similarly abused. This apparent torture surely has continued for months."

Mrs. Hatch's own children showed no signs of physical mistreatment or undernourishment, both county officials declared.

Hatch is an oil worker at Huntington Beach.

"My mother hit me in the face with a broomstick then choked me. She said she would like to see us in hell."

Coming haltingly from the lips of Ernest, that statement, in the opinion of authorities, comprises one of the strongest indictments against the woman who has lived with his father as his wife and who county officials today were seeking after she had fled from their Edinger street home last evening after the children had been taken to the county hospital and Hatch arrested.

A bright little boy, his face was covered with blue marks and his nose was twisted to one side from

Physician States Fall's Heart Weak

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Dr. John H. Wharton, physician to former Secretary of the Interior Fall, issued the following statement this afternoon:

"Mr. Fall is worse today than he was yesterday. His heart is bad. The bronchitis is clearing up nicely but he is very weak."

Asked whether Fall would be able to appear Monday, Wharton replied:

"I hesitate to say at this time."

Fall is under constant care of a nurse.

ROOM THIEF GETS $110 IN MONEY

A burglary was reported to local police this morning from Warden boarding house on Elm-st. The loot taken included $110 in money and a pearl handle knife belonging to Gus Aspelan. One hundred dollars of the money was in bills and ten dollars in silver, the report said. Entry is said to have been an easy matter, since Aspelan and his room-mate had left the door unlocked when they went to sleep.

James P. Fraser of 291 Walnut street, also reported the loss of a Ford touring this morning stolen from the Olinda oil fields.

60 HURT WHEN TWO TROLLEYS COLLIDE

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Sixty persons were injured, ten seriously, when two trolley cars collided at Columbia and Woodhaven-st., Brooklyn.

A strong wind from the river blew a one-man car from the rails and it crashed into a larger car.

Fifty of the injured were cut by broken glass thrown in all directions by the shock of the collision. Ten were bruised and cut and were taken to hospitals.

LEGION COUNCIL MEETS AT BEACH

A large number were in attendance at the Orange-co. council meeting of the American Legion at Huntington Beach last night, to meet Commander Jas. F. Collins, who was the guest of honor. A committee was appointed to set the date and place of the next ritualistic contest for the silver loving cup put up for the County contest last year, for the post putting on the work in the most impressive manner.

Winning this cup two years in succession makes it the permanent property of the post. Anaheim post won the cup last year and feels very confident of the new officers' ability to annex it for all time this year, altho much harder opposition is expected.

State Commander Collins gave a short talk on the ideals of the American Legion, laying stress on the fact that those who served our country in the world war and who are now called ex-service men are not ex-service men but are still service men, serving their county now just as they did during war time. These men, tried and found true to their country in time of war, are still serving in time of peace with a great willingness as of old, some of our best citizens still fighting for good government of the people, by the people and for the people.

After the meeting a short entertainment was furnished by some of the visiting members of the Long Beach post. C. E. Griffith of Anaheim was elected treasurer for the coming year, so the county funds will be handled through one of our local banks this year.

Those in attendance from Anaheim were M. W. Martenet, Commander Anaheim Post: Dr. H. C. Wilhelm, C. E. Griffith, A. B. Prescott, Wm. H. Bruns, E. R. Sherman, Evan Miller, H. B. McFarland, C. W. Chamberlain, J. W. Hebson.

HINTS GREER DID NOT DO SHOOTING

Attorney Says Chauffeur Knows Lot More Than He Has Told

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—A startling assertion by Clarence Conlin, attorney for Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, charged with having shot and wounded Courtland S. Dines, that Greer did not have done the shooting, despite his confession to the police, today injected a new sensation into the case.

Dick Lucas, chief of detectives for the district attorney's office, declared that Conlin, during a heated argument over the case, had told him that Greer did not fire the shot that wounded Dines. Lucas said Conlin based his assertion on information he had elicited from Greer.

Elicited from Greer.

Conlin, who personally, stated he had said to Lucas that Greer "might" not have fired the shot. Conlin also said he had told Lucas that if there was danger of Greer being sent to San Quentin penitentiary that he would "have him open up and tell all he knows." Conlin admitted he told Lucas that Greer knows a lot more about the entire affair than he has told, and that if the occasion arose he would drop a bombshell into the prosecution that would rock Hindom.

Lucas stated today he was investigating reports that is was an hour after the shooting before Greer surrendered to the police. Greer told the officers the pistol "jammed" after the first shot. This Lucas said he was also investigating as he understood the type of gun used could not have jammed.

PROBE ALLEGED DRINKING PARTY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—The alleged drinking party that preceded the shooting of Courtland S. Dines, in his apartment here New Year's night by Horace A. Greer, will be gone into thoroly Monday when Dist. Atty. Keyes questions Mabel Normand on the testimony she gave at Greer's preliminary hearing.

Keyes will seek from the actress her own explanation of statements made to the police by Dines that she was "pretty well jingled" at the time of the shooting.

"If Miss Normand does not remember what occurred in Dines' apartment I want her to say so," Keyes said today. "If she does remember then I want the truth from her."

Keyes also asked police detectives today for information regard the condition of Dines. Miss Normand and Miss Pyglance when they were questioned at Central station after the shooting.

OIL CHIEF FLEES; LESSORS HOLD SACK

With drilling operations suspended and the chief official of the developing company asserted to have departed for Mexico, a score of ranchers in the Villa Park district, whose property was included in the Orange Bowl community lease were today seeking salvage from the wreck of an adventure in oil.

In a suit filed the ranch owners took steps to quiet titles to their property as against the oil lease, and demanded $4,320 per month damages against the Orange Bowl Petroleum corporation and others connected with the lease. The complaint alleged that the lessees were still in unlawful possession of the premises.

The drilling was said to have been suspended early last November. A derrick and equipment worth $21,000 remain on the land, but is well covered with claims of labor and material men.

PRELIMINARY HEARING IS POSTPONED

Preliminary hearing of J. R. Abernathy, Charles R. Wheeler and J. L. Findlay, charged with the $25,000 mail robbery at Anaheim, was today continued by Deputy U. S. Commissioner Maurice Enderle for one week, to await the outcome of a federal grand jury probe.

The hearing, scheduled to be held at Santa Ana today at 10 a. m. was continued to Feb. 2 at 10 a. m.

Delay was granted at request of the federal authorities. They wanted to await the findings of the grand jury, which heard evidence in the case early this week. The grand jury is expected to resume its sessions and make a report on the case next week.

Should the grand jury return an indictment, it was pointed out the preliminary hearing before a commissioner would be necessary as the case could be taken before federal court on the indictment.

However, should no indictment be returned, the local hearing would be held, it was understood.

The defense made no effort to have the hearing delayed although justified in asking for a continuance, it was said, because the grand jury probe is pending. Attorney W. J. Hunsaker representing Abernathy and Wheeler, stated that his clients had no objection to holding the hearing today or next week.

SEEK RELATIVES OF WRECK VICTIM

R. J. Kegg of Downey was held by Fullerton police today until police might get into touch with relatives. He was found staggering around like a drunk man on West Commonwealth-ave., following an accident in which his car collided with another car, and both machines were smashed up but no one seriously hurt. The officers thot him to be drunk, but he said that he was sick. And a physician was summoned who recommended that he be given a bed in the city jail until someone could be summoned to take care of him.

Daniel Caliechio and John Carpen, picked up by Fullerton police on "hobo" charges, were arraigned before Judge French, and sentenced to 20 days each in the Orange-co. jail.

FAITH IN FRANCE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Kathleen Huntington, pretty dancer of the films, today was quoted as declaring she has confidence in the innocence of her fiance, Granville P. Sully, brother of the former wife of Douglas Fairbanks and is planning to marry him soon despite the fact that serious charges have been made against him by Yvonne Darcy, film actress, who is suing Sully for $200,000 for an alleged attack upon her.

BURIES HEADS OF COUPLE IN CEMENT

One of Most Remarkable Confessions Ever Made In Criminal History

AURORA, Ill., Jan. 26.—Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer-horticulturist and self-styled distant relative of Abraham Lincoln, today confessed one of the most amazing double killings in criminal history when he declared, according to Chief of Police Michels, that he slew both his wife, Lina Shoup Lincoln, and her brother Byron Shoup and burned their bodies in a small greenhouse furnace at his small home near here and then embedded their severed heads in a block of cement.

The cement block was found where Lincoln said it would be, in a dump near his cottage—and the heads taken from it. They were identified.

Lincoln made another confession to the chief of police, it was said.

"I molded the heads into a cement block. It's out in the dump near my house."

The chief, accompanied by a dozen vagrants who had taken refuge in the jail from the cold weather, made a quick trip to the dump. They found the block with little trouble. Despite its size it was easily lifted into an auto by a policeman, who remarked that he could not have lifted it had it been solid.

Lincoln added to the gruesome confession of his disposal of the two bodies by confessing anew that he, and not his wife, as he at first contended, killed Shoup, and added other intricate details, which brought the crime into the annals of the unusual.

"I went to the movies that night," Chief of Police Michels said. Lincoln told him after the body had been chopped from the cement. "When I got home Byron was not in his bed on the sleeping porch and I knew he was in my wife's room. I couldn't stand it any longer. I shot Byron thru the head.

"Then I ran to the greenhouse and got my rifle. Lina was crouched on the floor crying when I got back to the house. I shot her, too."

Lincoln was nervous and pale, the chief said, as he ran thru the strange narrative. He kissed his son John before he started his last confession and asked Chief Michels to care for him.

AURORA, Ill., Jan. 26.—Two human skulls, declared by Chief of Police Frank Michels of Aurora to have been those of Mrs. Lina Lincoln and her brother, Byron Shoup, were found today within a few hundred yards of the home of Warren J. Lincoln, encased in a block of cement.

The block of cement was taken from the Aurora dump to the county jail, where work of destroying it began. Within a few moments a human jaw bone was revealed, and later an entire human head.

"This solves the mystery of the disappearance of Lina Lincoln and her brother," the chief of police commented. "We have been wondering what Lincoln did with the bodies of his victims that he said he burned in the green house furnace. The finding of the skulls makes his confession stand up."

Lincoln had confessed that he slew his wife after he had killed her brother and then had dismembered their bodies, burning them in his greenhouse furnace. Never has he mentioned having burned the heads.

49 Coal Miners Entombed Result of Gas Explosion

CRESSON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Forty-nine miners are entombed back of the sixth heading in Lancashire mine No. 18 of the Barnes and Tucker Coal Co. at Shanktown, Pa., the result of a gas explosion this afternoon.

Mine rescue crews from the company's station at Barnesboro and the station of the Bethlehem Steel Co. at Hellwood are being rushed to the scene in special trains over the Pennsylvania railroad.

There were 55 men in the mine when the explosion occurred according to officials of the company.

Six of these were rescued almost immediately by local miners, who reported the mine completely blocked at the sixth heading and probably in ruins beyond.

Mine rescue squads braved the terror of gas and smoke and entered the mine two hours after the accident, which occurred at 2:40 p. m.

After five hours, they located all the missing men.

The bodies were removed today to improvised morgues here.

The bodies were found in contorted positions, some with arms around their heads to keep out the deadly gas.

The men of Johnston City were returning dry-eyed to their mines this morning, filling thru the undertaking establishments where lay the scorched bodies of their dead friends.

Every mine except the Crearar-Clinch Coal Co.'s test mine, the scene of yesterday's disaster, was operating.

JOHNSTON CITY, Ills., Jan. 26. Thirty dead and eight injured today was the toll of the nine explosion late yesterday.

Death by suffocation and fire came to the 20 yesterday afternoon following an explosion of mine gas in the Crearar-Clinch Company's "east side" mine, one half mile east of here.

Three hundred and fifty men were in the mine. In a dash for the main entry, most of them reached the elevators and were brought 355 feet to the surface and safety.

FINAL PAYMENT UPON CULL NUTS

Final payment on the 1922 culls of the Anaheim Walnut Growers' Ass'n being made by that organization. It represents the last two and one-quarter cents of the total of seven and one-quarter cents given the growers.

Three cents was paid at the close of the 1922 season and two cents more in September. The total amount paid on culls with this disbursement is approximately $20,000.

There were twice as many culls last year as usual, and the marketing provisions of the California Walnut Growers' Ass'n had not been perfected to the extent that they now are.

This year final payment on culls is expected around June 1, Secretary-Manager Walter Rees declared today.

The expense of the Anaheim Ass'n amounted to one cent a pound, including a quarter of a cent to pay off on equipment account.

REPORT 300 MEN RETURN TO WORK

Reports in Anaheim today that a prominent oil company would shortly put 200 men to work in the Richfield oil field could not be confirmed. The Union Oil Co., however, already has four rigs up and will shortly erect two more, it was declared by a Richfield man who should know.

The Standard Oil Co., also, the same informant declared, has added a quantity of acreage, adjoining that of the Midway Lease, and is expected to drill on a large scale.

The spudding in of the West Coast Land Co.'s well on Orange-st. a block from Broadway off the Garden Grove road will be celebrated with a barbecue by many local realtors, if a plan which is being talked of is carried out. Several dealers have approved the plan.

Representatives of the Standard were in the city yesterday, looking for homes for two men now living in Santa Ana.

The W. M. Rock Drilling Co., which is putting down the well off Brookhurst avenue, also had representatives here, looking for homes for their men. The latter declared that they preferred the west side of the city, because the well was located west of Anaheim.

The foreman of the Miley drilling outfit denied that the West Coast Land Co. would put down four more wells, as reported. No more drilling will take place until oil is struck in the well soon to be drilled.

OFFER MADE TO SENATE COMMITTEE

However, Still Contends All Contracts And Leases Legal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Another Teapot Dome investigation was ordered in congress this afternoon.

It was announced that the senate naval affairs committee on Monday would open an inquiry to determine by what authority Secretary of the Navy Denby turned over the naval oil reserves in Wyoming to Secretary of the Interior Fall, who subsequently leased to Harry F. Sinclair.

The naval affairs committee is headed by Representative Butler, Republican of Pennsylvania.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—Close on the heels today of the White House announcement that the senate's investigation of oil leases is "pointing toward criminal prosecution" came a new sensation before the senate public lands committee.

Representatives of E. L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, who revived attention in California from ex-secretary of the Interior Fall, appeared before the committee this afternoon and announced Doheny's willingness to reconvey the lands to the government.

Doheny testified on the stand several days ago that he had loaned Fall $100,000 a few months prior to his securing the leases. He also testified that he expected to make $100,000,000 out of the leases.

The offer of Doheny this afternoon to return the lands to the government was made by Orvin McNab, of San Francisco, Doheny's personal counsel.

Doheny had previously offered to return the leases "if any board of arbitration" selected by Chief Justice Coolidge found upon investigation there was anything wrong with them or with the manner of securing them.

"At the hearing Jan. 24th, the chairman of the committee, (Senator Lenroot) asked Mr. Doheny if he would be willing to have these contracts reconveyed without the intervention of the suggested board of experts," McNab said.

"Upon further consideration of the matter, Doheny now wishes to inform you that he is willing, in order that there may be no basis for criticism of his company's dealing with the government, to reconvey the acceptance of the modification of his original offer suggested by the chairman.

Of course, you are aware that Mr. Doheny has at all times contended and contends that all of the company's leases and contracts are entirely legal and valid, and that this letter is without prejudice to his and his company's position if the arrangement herein referred to does not get consummated."

Gratton T. Stanford, Harry F. Sinclair's attorney, took the stand following McNab and presented the note which ex-secretary Fall gave Colonel J. W. Zevely for a $25,000 loan in liberty bonds.

He also presented cancelled checks for $24,000 and $2,225, which represented cash that Zevely received after selling 4500 shares of Sinclair Consolidated Oil stock, owned by Sinclair.

Fall's note bore the date of May 28, 1923, and said:

"On or before 12 months after date I agree to pay Colonel J. W. Zevely $25,000." It was signed by Fall.

There was no mention of interest.

The $84,000 check was dated November 8, 1923, and was made payable to William Thaw. The $2,125 check payable to James M. Strong, represented brokers' commission for sale of stock, Stanford said.

"Wahlberg said these checks were in his possession" Roosevelt declared.

Hear Fine Speaker

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bigelow and son, Donald, were in Los Angeles last evening where they heard Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, of London, in an inspiring sermon delivered in the First Methodist church, Rev. Morgan is preaching under auspices of the Baptist church and in that edifice in the afternoon and in the Methodist each evening.

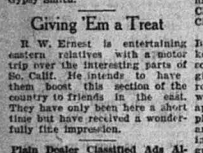

Realizing there would be a large congregation, the Bigelows went at 7 o'clock and were surprised to find every seat in the first floor taken. But the reason was apparent when for 20 minutes the organ recital was broadcast. Rev. Morgan's services are unique in the fact that he uses the same text, "Come unto me all ye that are heavy laden and I will give you rest," for every sermon. He will go to Pasadena next week for holding meetings.

Another noted clergyman, Gypsy "Pat" Smith, is coming to the First Methodist church for the month of February. He uses the middle name, "Pat" to distinguish him from the original Gypsy Smith.

GERMAN COUSIN VISITS RELATIVES

Fritz Baum, cousin of Mr. Fred Pressel, arrived yesterday from Hamburg, Germany, from whence he set sail Dec. 17 for America. He arrived Jan. 1 after a very stormy voyage, and visited in New York for about two weeks before leaving via the Panama canal for California

Mr. Baum, who was a clothing merchant in his native country, says the reports of poverty in Berlin and cities to the north have not half been told, but in southern Germany all is prosperity and joy. The farmers, however, who have raised good crops are holding onto them for their communities and food is plentiful.

Mr. Baum is delighted with America and has a decidedly kind feeling for U. S. ex-service men. During the war he was taken prisoner by the British army and served in Siberia 18 months. During that time, he says, the only favors or show of man-to-man humanity he had from the American soldier, and ever since his experience he has longed to come to America. He will be joined by his wife and brother in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pressel and Miss Miller and Mr. Carl Pressel drove to San Pedro yesterday where they met their cousin, and last evening a family reunion of the Pressels, Hoags and Vanatas was held.

Husband Did Not Know How to Play

(By Copeland C. Burg)
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—"Dr. West didn't know how to play."

Thus did Dr. C. W. Brinstad, general secretary of the Northern Calif. Baptist convention and for many years a close friend of the family, explain today the wreck of the matrimonial bark of Dr. James S. West, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Francisco.

Mrs. West, Dr. Brinstad said, "after eight years of suffering," has separated from her pastor husband and gone to Seattle with her little daughter to make her future home. Dr. West is at the home of Oakland friends, recuperating from a nervous breakdown, which followed Mrs. West's departure.

Dr. West, former pastor of Tacoma and Detroit churches, started San Francisco a few weeks ago with the city's beaches, parks and avenues were the scenes of nightly "petting parties," which were bringing "ruin to the younger generation." He made his charges after he had one on a personal tour of inspection which put the spotlight of his automobile on the parked motor cars. He promised an energetic campaign against "this evil" when, he says, he returned.

"Mrs. West is young, beautiful and extremely popular, while Dr. West is much, much older," said Dr. Brinstad today. "She was a society girl and could not stand the hum-drum of a minister's wife.

"Oh, how she tried to go in for the various church activities but she couldn't find interest in them.

"She came to me and we talked it over and she decided the best thing she could do was to leave West. Nothing he would get a divorce so she would be free to wed again should she find a congenial companion.

"She wanted to dance and go places but he just thought of his work. In fact he did nothing but talk shop and was always harping on his church activities. It would have been better if he had taken her to a movie or a dance. He always right and I'm always wrong,' is what Mrs. West told me once and it was true. She had never studied theology and when she talked about such things, while her husband did not contradict her, he gave the impression that she did not know what she was talking about. She told me it was stifling her, smothering her very heart and soul.

"Mrs. West told me Dr. West had been a faithful husband and she esteemed him but she felt she was not doing the right thing by herself or him to continue the marriage relations.

"We are hoping for a reconciliation. Dr. West, I would say, is the man who loves only once. Especially for the sake of the little girl, Virginia, we hope Mrs. West will come back to him."

AVIATOR'S SNIPE NEW FIRE PERIL

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26.—A new fire hazard has been discovered by farmers in various sections of Ohio. It is the aviator, they believe.

Clgaret snipes thrown from his airplane by an aviator while circling over the farm of J. B. Alspach, Fairfield county, recently, are held responsible for a series of blazes causing loss estimated at $10,000.

Failing in dry grass, these snipes, farmers believe, started fires which were not extinguished until a barn on Alspach's farm was destroyed.

BRITISH CABINET RECOGNIZES RUSS

(By David M. Church)
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Great Britain's Labor cabinet has decided to recognize the Russian soviet government "as soon as possible" it was officially announced by the foreign office this afternoon.

Decision to extend recognition to Moscow was the first official act of Premier Ramsay MacDonald's new government.

Great Britain probably will be the first great power to recognize the soviets. Italy probably will be the next.

It is understood that the government has tentatively selected James O'Grady, Labor member of commons, as the British ambassador to Moscow, when recognition is formally extended.

The British labor party was officially on record in favor of Russian recognition even before it came into power.

It was reported that M. Rakovsky, head of the Russian trade mission in London, had conferred with Premier MacDonald on Thursday but subsequently the mission denied this report.

According to the Trade mission negotiations for recognition were in progress before MacDonald became premier, but were interrupted by the death of Lenine on Tuesday.

They will be resumed in a few days to determine the conditions upon which recognition will be made.

If recognition takes the form of an Anglo-Russian treaty, it will have to be ratified by parliament. In this event there may be a coalition of some liberals and Tories against recognition. This would put the new labor government in a precarious position.

Parliament will not be in session until February 12.

It is possible that the cabinet may send a commission to Russia to investigate conditions before the actual recognition.

Moderates within the labor party urged that two of the conditions should be recognition by the soviets of the Russian debt and payment of indemnity by Moscow.

O'Grady was said to insist that the government abandon plans for a $50,000,000 naval base at Singapore before he would consent to be considered doubtful, how RD was to act as ambassador. It is considered doubtful, however, that the cabinet will cancel plans for the Singapore works.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Recognition of the Russian soviet government by Great Britain will not affect the policy of the United States toward Russia, it was announced officially at the state department today.

The principal objection of this government to the establishment of diplomatic relations with Russia is the activities of the Moscow authorities to propagandize against American institutions.

6 SPEEDWAYS ON COAST PLAN

Ascot Track Head to Build Them; Races Again Sunday

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26—With the new Ascot speedway soaked with oil to kill the dust, Ralph DePalma, Italian speed king dethroned by Fred Horey, national dirt track champion last Sunday, declares he will reverse the decision when the pair meet in the Ascot-Garbutt stakes next Sunday.

President George Bentel announced today that a chain of speedways, duplicates of new Ascot, will be constructed by himself and associates. San Diego, Oakland, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and Sacramento are the cities to be included.

Louis Disbrow, former A. A. A. and I. M. C. A. dirt track champion, who lost his crown to Horey two years ago, is on the way from Chicago to meet both Horey and DePalma next Sunday. Disbrow will drive his famous Simplex "Zip" with which he recently won the Canadian championship at Toronto. Fred Lecklelder, winner of the Ascot Motor Derby last Sunday, is considered a formidable opponent of all three.

In the three motorcycle races, Hepburn, Welshaar, Davis, Walker and Fredericks stand out as possible winners in one or more of the three events scheduled for the motor bikes. There are six auto races on the auto program. Forty drivers are entered.

Redlands Boy Shows Bunch Dust

A California youngster, Eddie Meyer of Redlands, A. A. A. record-holder for all dirt track marks from one to ten miles, threw a bomb into the speed camp when the dare-devils were in the midst of their afternoon's setting-up exercises, preparatory to cutting the big cash prize melon in Sunday's races scheduled for Ascot's opening.

Ralph DePalma, Fred Horey, Jimmy Graft, Fuzzy Davidson, Jack Smith and a lot of the eastern dirt track stars never gave Meyer serious thought. But about the time that Eddie unwound his little car at Ascot and passed the entire bunch of drivers working out at high speed, the railbirds knew that something was in the air.

DePalma permitted Horey to chase Meyer for ten laps, and, finding that the St. Paul youngster could not overtake the Redlands boy, began driving the steeply-banked turns as though there was a million-dollar purse at the end of the drive. But the speedy Italian could not do any better than Horey. George Bentel enjoyed the fun for a while, until a bad skid threatened DePalma's equilibrium. Then the boss of Ascot had Starter Eddie Pullen call a halt.

YEAR'S ROAD PROGRAM OUT

Hospital Road Improvement Hearing Set; Widen Grand Ave.

Announcement of the 1924 road program in Northern Orange County, so far as it has been ascertained, was made today by Supervisor W. M. Schumacher. Its execution in full depends upon further action of the board as a whole.

The Hospital road—West Chapman avenue—will be improved before the Ball road. Bids for the former now are being advertised for, said Schumacher, and the hearing set. The piece is between the state highway and the Garden Grove road (Euclid avenue.)

Ball road will be improved westward from the Garden Grove road to the Stanton city limits certainly, according to Schumacher. Improvement of the section eastward is probable, but not sure.

Cedar street from the state highway to the Brea city limits is also part of the year's program.

On all of the foregoing roads, asphalt will be the material used.

A road district now is being organized in Buena Park to widen Grand avenue from curb to curb. When finished there will be half a mile of 80-foot pavement and half a mile of 40-foot.

Bids soon will be advertised for.

The road between Olive and Orange has been closed and the work of resurfacing it with several inches of concrete laid on top of the asphalt started.

CAMP GROUNDS OF COAST DESCRIBED

When the call of the open road sounds from the north in the spring, So. Calif. motorists and visiting tourists will find that their desires have been anticipated by the Auto Club of So. Calif. Just from the press is a new booklet of nearly 100 pages entitled, "Camp Grounds of California and along the Pacific Highway from San Diego to Vancouver, B. C."

The new compendium of useful information to autoists was compiled by the outing bureau of the Auto club, which has to do with camping, fishing, hunting, swimming, yachting and golfing information. The booklet is pocket size, contains an index and maps of the entire Pacific coast, distances to different points, and a list of camp grounds in each city along the route touched, in addition to equipment of camp grounds listed and prices noted.

There is also a fund of useful information for the amateur camper, a few rules for sportsmen, warnings about camp fires, and a quantity of useful hints.

That this booklet will find a welcome among So. Calif. motorists is indicated by the fact that more than 4,000,000 persons visited the 19 national forests during 1922. Three-fourths of this number made the trip in private automobiles. These figures are exclusive of persons visiting the national parks.

3 Carloads Essex Coaches Reach Here

Three carloads of Essex coaches arrived Wednesday at the showrooms of H. R. Grove on S. Los Angeles st. They were all taken at once by persons who had put in their orders ahead of time.

Three carloads more of them are on the way to Anaheim now, the first of which will arrive by the 1st of this month. At the same time a Hudson coach will arrive.

Orders for the Essex coaches will be filled as received.

OAKLAND SALES MAINTAIN VOLUME

The hot pace in sales set by the Oakland in So. Calif. at the close of last year is being maintained this year, according to the registration figures as set forth by Motorfax.

"The Oakland jumped into third place in the number of any one make of six-cylinder cars sold in Southern California in November of last year," says Harry L. Turton, Anaheim Oakland dealer.

"It was only because of the wonderful popularity of the Oakland that this rise in sales volume was possible. This popularity exceeds anything that has been experienced by the Oakland since it was first represented in this territory in 1909, and is an indication to us that the Oakland has assumed a position in which it will find itself more firmly entrenched each succeeding month of So far this year, the Oakland is maintaining its position as third in volume of sales of six-cylinder cars, and has opened up a wider gap between itself and those cars which follow next in line. At present there are only two makes of motor cars that are ahead of the Oakland, and these are the Buick and the Studebaker, both of which have long been recognized as cars of merit and worthy of public approval.

"I am not ready to state that the Oakland will ever exceed the popularity of the two leading makes, because they are so far ahead when the matter of duration of leadership is considered that it becomes an almost herculean task to overtake them, but the Oakland has climbed so fast in the last year that it is difficult to predict what the next twelve months will bring forth. The increase has not been confined to California alone, but has been nation-wide. This is evidence that the Oakland must fill the need for a dependable lightweight six-cylinder car that has lots of style and good looks."

Sales of Parts and Replacements Good

Business is good and sales, both of parts and replacement units are excellent, according to C. P. Hamm of the Exide battery station. There is also a good demand for repair work.

Herr & Fuller, who are the exclusive and authorized distributors of Exide batteries and parts, remind the public that genuine parts can be obtained only of them.

RAN OVER WOMAN

J. M. Ritchie told the local police that a woman whose name he did not obtain was run over by a Dodge owned by Haas-Baruch of Los Angeles, and driven by himself, just after she had gotten off a bus on Los Angeles st., south of the city limits. She was knocked down, but got up and walked off, apparently not seriously hurt, he said.

CRUDE OIL RISE TO HELP TRADE

The advance in the price of crude oil at the well, and in that of gasoline, distillate, etc., is bound to aid business in general, including the auto business, according to Harry D. Riley, Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton distributor of Studebaker cars. Riley predicts new records of prosperity this year.

The higher price of gas may hit the consumer a little, but the latter will share in the generally improved business conditions.

"I myself have no reason to complain," said Riley. "I sold more than $40,000 worth of cars in December, and this month shows a very healthy business condition."

Riley's business in the first nine months of 1923 was larger than during the entire 12 months of 1922.

The new service department will open within two weeks, following the addition of 7500 sq. feet of floor space, Riley voiced his belief that his garage was the largest in the county, and certainly was the biggest in this territory.

DODGE IS COMFORT THESE COOL DAYS

Equipped with a heater of exceptional capacity, and with doors and windows snugly weather-stripped, Dodge Bros. Type B sedan is invitingly warm on the coldest days, says the company in a statement.

You will find, too, that the seats are perfectly tilted for comfortable riding, and that these same seats are generously deep and upholstered in blue Spanish leather of the finest quality.

These improvements of interior comfort are further emphasized when the car gets under way, and you experience the admirable balance and buoyance of the new spring suspension.

12 Certified Cars Sold in Eight Days

Twelve cars had been sold this week by the Anaheim and Fullerton certified motor car markets up to yesterday morning, according to Manager C. P. Hamm, or practically a car and one-half per day.

"Business is picking up," said Hamm. "What we want to do now is boost. We want to realize how good business is. We have fewer cars at the Anaheim market than in two months past."

Jensen Tells How To Care for Battery

The first steps necessary to obtain good service from a battery are to install the right battery, a Prest-O-Lite, see that it is in first-class condition, fully charged and properly installed, says Robert Jensen, Anaheim distributor.

The Prest-O-Lite Co. has endeavored to insure this condition by arranging with their service station for the inspection with refreshening charge if necessary, of all Prest-O-Lite batteries on new cars at no expense to the car owners.

Drive as soon as possible to the nearest Prest-O-Lite service station for this initial inspection.

Acid or electrolyte should never be added, except by a skilled battery man.

All metal parts of connectors, which are not lead-coated, should be kept covered with a thin coating of vaseline.

Look at the battery occasionally and if the solution has sprayed or spilled, wipe clean with a moist sponge.

Don't lay tools, or anything else across the top of your battery.

A.C.S.C. CUTS INSURANCE PREMIUM

Average Reduction 50 P. C. Says District Manager Allen

Insurance rates charged for collision insurance by the Auto Club of So. Calif. have been cut approximately 50 per cent, reaching a new low mark, according to Dist. Manager Paul V. Allen of the Anaheim office.

The volume of insurance written, represented in more than $5,000,000 in premiums alone last year, is largely responsible.

According to Allen, at least 10 per cent, in addition to the amounts mentioned below, is given in rebates at the end of each policy year.

New York city charges at least 300 per cent more to insure cars than Los Angeles, for example, according to Allen, because no club of consequence is operating there.

Chicago charges practically 250 per cent more.

Denver rates also are higher.

Rates in San Francisco, which has a club, do not differ much.

Here are some typical cuts, which according to Allen will indicate reductions in general:

Ford, Chevrolet or Star coupe was $62, now is $32; old coupe, $29; open car was $45, now

ASSEMBLING PLANTS TO MULTIPLY

Southwest Ideal for Them Says L. A. Concern Representative

The auto market, largely thru the stabilization of used car values, is becoming settled, not only in the southwest, but on the Pacific slope.

The auto business isn't dull in Orange county.

Los Angeles and vicinity even now is practicable territory for the establishment of more assembling plants by factories whose sales in the southwest warrant it. More and more factories are coming to Los Angeles, and while local chambers of commerce in the back country of the metropolis are the means thru which to locate new industries, cities like Anaheim are bound to get their share of new factories.

The increase in the number of different cars represented in a territory is bound to bring down re-sale values of all cars, because the demand for any single make of car is decreased.

These are some of the views of C. S. Riedel, representative of an auto distributing concern which has branches thruout the coast, and on the slope. Riedel has occasionally travel thru several different states and is unusually well-informed.

Used car values, however, are not precisely uniform yet thruout the country because of certain modifying conditions. For example, in agricultural sections, and in their market towns, certain cars are in greater demand than others and re-sale values will be higher.

As an example of the way things are improving in the county, Riedel declared that one dealer in a popular make of car had sold four more cars up to yesterday than in December.

Riedel admitted, however, that orange and oil conditions undoubtedly had influenced the automobile trade in the county.

His concern is planning to have its car represented here, but has not yet picked a dealer to handle it. It is likely that only one or perhaps two dealers will be selected for the purpose.

800,000 Chevrolets Is Quota for 1924

1924 is going to be Chevrolet's biggest year, until eclipsed by 1925, says the sales department of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

It is virtually important that Chevrolet dealers realize how much bigger 1924 is going to be, compared with any previous year.

To get the right viewpoint consider our sales figures for the past three years:

1921	77,627
1922	242,373
1923	432,110

Our 1924 quota is 800,000. This does not mean we hope it will be 800,000. Barring a national catastrophe, we will produce and sell within 5 per cent more or less than 800,000 Chevrolets in 1924.

We have built additional plants and arranged purchasing, production and sales schedules on this basis, and the fact that in 1922 and 1923 we attained our quotas within a small percentage of error warrants the conviction that the 1924 quota will be attained.

50,000 Willys Knights 1923 Sales

How wonderful has been the growth in the popularity of Willys-Knight cars, is evidenced by the sale of 50,000 of them last year, which was double that in 1922. How well California played its part in their sale may be judged by a Willys-Knight registration gain of 101 per cent in the first 11 months of 1923.

This year the Willys-Overland Co. is trying to celebrate Willys-Knight's ninth birthday with an output of more than 100,000 of these sleeve-valve motored cars.

Nine years ago John N. Willys met Charles Y. Knight, inventor of the Knight motor, aboard a steamship bound for the Near East. Mr. Knight had seen his motor accepted by the Daimler Motor Co. of England, had seen it meet every test of the Royal Automobile club of Great Britain. Yet he wished to see the motor in production in America.

FEW ILLITERATES IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—The workers in California are better educated than in other states, according to W. M. Coman, state supervisor of rehabilitation, in his annual report to the state board of education.

"Only 2 per cent of the men applying for education are entirely illiterate," said Coman, "as compared with the United States in general. More than 10 per cent of applicants thruout the nation have had no schooling whatever."

RECORD YEAR THIS SAYS EDSEL FORD

"Even though 1923 exceeded all our expectations, there is every reason to believe that in 1924 business will attain to far greater proportions," says President Edsel B. Ford of the Ford Motor Co.

"More people will buy automobiles during the coming year than ever before. Evidence of our belief in this is the extensive expansion program we are now carrying out and which is aimed to effect new manufacturing economies and materially increase production. So, in the New Year, we will produce more cars and trucks and confidently expect to sell more of them, both in the domestic and foreign fields.

"There was a time when figures conjured up by statisticians to show sales possibilities, replacement requirements and such were guide posts in the industry, and when much time was devoted to combating sales resistance. These to a great extent have all served their purpose. They were a part of the educational campaign necessary not only to salesmen but to the public. They are passing out, just as the phantom of Saturation has disappeared foom the automobile horizon.

"Today America is completely 'sold' on the automobile.

"Women are a greater influence in the automobile buying field than ever before, and the coming year will see this influence considerably extended. It will be expressed particularly in the closed car sales, for it is natural for women to turn to this more comfortable means of motoring.

their guardianship of the family

"Women, you know, through their guardianship of the family purse have become remarkably good judges of values and their knowledge in this respect now extends as much to automobiles as to anything else.

"While a wealthy woman may be able to afford a finer car than one of moderate means, each will exercise the same careful scrutiny of value when she comes to make selection.

"It follows, therefore, that the manufacturer who gives the greatest value for the lowest investment must certainly enjoy the greatest share of the business. And to maintain this business he must continually incorporate better quality into his product for the public is motor wise and transportation value is going to count most this year."

ANOTHER CARLOAD OF OAKLANDS HERE

Another carload of Oakland cars arrived this week for Harry L. Turton, northern Orange county distributor, making the third in the past month. Turton received a carload on Christmas day, another Jan. 1, and the third a few days ago.

He announces that he has sold 15 cars so far in January, of which ten already are registered.

VETERANS MADE STAR WHAT IT IS

The Star Motor Co. of California has made rapid strides since it was organized approximately 18 months ago.

At its head is Norman DeVaux, one of the genuine pioneers of the automobile industry—a factor of national reputation in the past 15 years—one of the many men who grew up with the bicycle industry and launched into the automotive world when motor cars first came into occasional use.

DeVaux has been identified with the sale of automobiles on the Pacific coast since 1905. In those trying days of the "horseless carriage" when motoring was still reckoned as a fad, which would die out just as the sport of bicycling did, DeVaux was associated with W. C. Durant as a factory Buick representative.

In 1907 he took the northern Calif. agency for the Auburn automobile and disposed of this car in what was considered "large quantities" all over the northern end of this state.

Later he was offered and accepted the Reo franchise for the territory from the Tehachapi to the Oregon line. His success with Reo was as great as it had been with Auburn.

In 1908, W. C. Durant was forced out of General Motors Co. control. Almost immediately Durant started the manufacture of what he called the "Little" car, named after his former general manager at the Buick factory. Production of the Little was carried on in the Whiting Motor Car Co. plant at Flint, Mich. When Durant attained volume output he offered the Little franchise in the Pacific coast territory to DeVaux. This car, the records show, later grew into the Chevrolet.

When the "490" Chevrolet was introduced, DeVaux started the motoring public of California by flashing the news in double-page advertisements, a practice unknown at that time. Its popularity was instantaneous.

In 1915, Chevrolet sales had grown large enough to warrant a factory on the Pacific coast. DeVaux, R. C. Durant, then the Southern California Chevrolet distributor, and W. C. Durant merged their interests with the resulting establishment of a branch factory in Oakland.

The most recent stride forward made by the company was the announcement of new models on Nov. 4. To state a cold fact that they create da furore is to utter the truth, though the expression is commonplace. The 1924 Star cars attracted as widespread interest as did the original showing of the first Star models.

They met with approval in a measure best testified by a sales increase in California alone during November, of 97 per cent, while in December the same state shows a 35 per cent increase in sales in the face of rather heavy losses by competitive lines.

Within the last month, three of the largest dealers on the Pacific coast have relinquished old-established and similarly priced lines, and have taken on representation of the line in their respective territories.

The outlook for 1924 is a bright one for Star cars in all points along the Pacific coast, as it also is thruout the United States.

Says the club:

"From the time the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Auto Club of So. Calif. entered the automobile insurance field nearly 12 years ago so as to provide for its members equitable insurance rates, the Conference Automobile Insurance companies have found it necessary, in order to compete with our Inter-Insurance Exchange, to reduce their rates five or six times. Their last reduction, effective Jan. 14, 1924, appears to be their supreme effort to sell automobile insurance so cheap that the Club would be compelled to abandon this feature of service to its members and deprive them of the great financial saving enjoyed by them through the Club's insurance department. However, let it be understood that the Automobile club highly approves of this recent and very substantial reduction of rates by the insurance companies, which brings their charge for insurance down almost to the cost of insuring with the Club. The motoring public was entitled to such a reduction.

BUICK DECLARED THIRD IN SALES

It has been said so often that "the proof of the puddin's in the eating" that it scarce needs repetition, but it is a maxim that has been invoked many times by members of the Howard Auto Co.'s organization during the past few days since the 1923 total registration figures were released here by Motor Registration News.

Every automobile man in California waited anxiously for the final figures to be released, and upon receipt of the news sheet it was rushed into the office of R. F. Thompson, general manager of the Howard Co., with great glee. For among all the technical data the paper printed was found the fact that Buick outsold every car selling above $650, delivered here, in California.

The final figures showed total sales of 14,164 Buick cars in California during the year 1923. Buick stands third in total registrations, only two other cars, both of them with stock touring models selling under the $650 mark here, surpassing it.

Thompson pointed out the fact in going over the total 1923 registration figures that the two cars above Buick in standing had absorbed more than half of the total auto business in the state, in the number of cars sold, and that of a total of a little more than 100,000 other cars of all makes, Buick's percentage of sales was the highest, amounting to approximately 14 per cent.

The year 1923 was the greatest in the history of the Howard Automobile Co. A little more than 20,000 cars were handled by the great distributing firm that stretches all over the Pacific coast. The greater part of them was sold in this state.

Buick maintained its standing in third position in total sales, Thompson said, in going over the figures, practically throughout the entire year, month for month.

WINDOW EXHIBIT

Another interesting window exhibit has been obtained by E. Zitzmann, cashier of the American Savings Bank, and is being shown in one of the front windows of the First National Bank building.

It consists of several butterflies, some of them as fine as any to be seen at the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles. One is the "Caligo" or owl butterfly and another a fine blue one, both from South America. Three ornithopteria, green and black, from Australia is a third. India furnishes a specimen with splendid markings like dots.

The collection belongs to Carl Walter of Magnolia road, a member of the Lorquin Club and was loaned to Zitzmann by him.

In 1922 Walter took the silver medal award at the museum. He is busy a large part of his time collecting new specimens in California.

Just As Reminder, Here's Law On Rights and Wrongs of Way

Street intersection accidents are becoming so common that it appears to investigators many drivers do not clearly understand the right of way rule laid down in the California Vehicle Act of 1923.

This reads as follows:

"A vehicle entering an intersection of the public highways at a lawful speed shall have the right of way over a vehicle approaching from its left, unless such vehicle approaching from the left shall have entered first into such intersection at a lawful speed, in which event the vehicle on the left shall have the right of way."

Entering an intersection is crossing the property line prolonged across the street. The motorist on the right has the right of way when he enters the intersection at the same time as the motorist on the left. However, the motorist on the left has the right of way when he enters the intersection before the motorist on the right.

A motorist about to enter an intersection first should glance to his left and, if any other vehicle has entered the intersection from the left, this latter vehicle should be allowed to proceed.

Traffic blockades may be reduced if the motorist, who reaches an intersection and observes that vehicles from the right and left already are passing through, will refrain temporarily from going ahead. In fact, he has no right to proceed into the intersection and cause a blockade of traffic.

One important condition in the right of way rule is that any motorist who at any time enters an intersection in excess of the lawful speed forfeits any right of way that he otherwise might have had. This provision compels every motorist to observe the speed regulations before he can claim any right of way at street intersection.

Vehicles entering a public highway from a private drive or road must yield the right of way to all vehicles approaching on the public highway. Drivers generally have recognized the value of this rule, as private drives are often so narrow and hidden by hedges and trees that the driver on the public highway is unable to perceive a vehicle emerging.

Another provision that must be noted by drivers is to the effect that police and fire department vehicles shall have the right of way over all other vehicles. Every motorist upon hearing the siren of an approaching police or fire department vehicle immediately should drive to a position as near as possible and parallel to the right-hand curb of the street and remain there unless otherwise directed by an officer until the police or fire department apparatus has passed.

These interpretations of the California vehicle act are given by the legal department of the Auto Club of So. Calif., which organiza-

WORLD-WIDE RADIO SOON IS FORECAST

LONDON, Jan. 26.—New York and London will be telephoning to one another perfectly naturally and unexcitedly by the end of 1924, according to Prof. A. M. Low, famous inventor and scientist.

London was excited on Dec. 29, 1923, because it heard Pittsburgh, 3500 miles away, easily and distinctly. But Prof. Low states this was only a slight development. According to him, it is just a step in the great and fascinating new era now approaching.

"Very soon," says Low, "we shall be at the stage when it will be possible for a man in London to speak with ease from his own house to the United States thru an ordinary telephone.

"The land line will take his voice to the coastal station, from which it will be radioed across the Atlantic. Then it will be picked up again by an American land line and be heard direct by the person with whom he is communicating.

"By the end of 1924 we all shall have become tired of ordinary tunes and speeches; and the development of telephonic conversation is an obvious one.

tion is campaigning to make 1924 a minimum accident year. Casualty investigations have shown the larger part of the accident toll could be averted if drivers obeyed the law and used reasonable diligence in driving safely.

STROMBERG MAKES THAT FORD OVER

"Every automobile owner is interested in at least two things about his car," says West Bros. Stromberg carburetor specialists of Anaheim, "the amount of gasoline consumed and the power he gets from his motor. Carburetion is the direct cause of both factors.

"Professor George Granger Brown of the University of Michigan states that the enormous loss of one hundred million dollars yearly is the result of inefficient carburetion on five million Ford cars now in use.

"An engineering society lately tested several makes of cars to ascertain relative consumption of gasoline. Because the Ford was the lightest, they found it about the most economical. But when they figured consumption of gasoline per pound of dead weight, they discovered that the flivver was the most expensive of all.

"Rig up your Ford with an improved Stromberg Hot Spot Carburetor and pound for pound 'Lizzie' will lead all of them and each Ford owner will be richer by twenty-five dollars each year from the time that the improved carburetor and hot spot manifold are applied. Not only will it greatly increase gasoline mileage, but the motor will start easier, it will increase the power, improve acceleration and give a smoothness in operation never before experienced.

"Put a modern carburetor on your 'Tin Lizzie' and conserve our ever shrinking oil wealth to the extent of millions of barrels a year."

West Bros. will install a Stromberg on your car on ten days trial. See them at Los Angeles and Chestnut, Anaheim.

GREAT EXAMPLE OF COOPERATION

C. W. HIBBERT

Among the many instances of remarkable success attained by cooperative marketing associations in California none stands out brighter than that of the Challenge Cream and Butter Ass'n. which has just completed thirteen years of successful operation.

Starting in 1911 with three employees, a one-horse rig and an ideal, this association of dairy farmers has had a phenomenal growth, until today it is acknowledged to be the largest and most successful co-operative butter marketing house in the United States, handling the dairy products of the several large and finely equipped co-operative creameries in California.

The growth of the association during 1923 was particularly striking, the records of the produce exchange showing that the event increase about 4% business of the organization is greater than the total gross sales of any other butter distributors in this territory.

Besides its tremendous butter business (more than a million pounds each month in Los Angeles alone) the organization also conducts a huge business in fresh cream, condensed milk, powdered milk, cheese, eggs, etc., for its members.

At the annual meeting of the association, held a few days ago, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President W. J. Hinden, a prominent business man and banker of Tulare county and one of the leading dairy cattle breeders of America; vice presidents M. G. Salmina of Harmony Valley and J. A. Poytress of Fresno. C. E. Paris, executive head of the Imperial Valley Milk Producers Ass'n, was re-elected secretary.

C. W. Hibbert, general manager and C. L. Mitchel, production and efficiency manager, both connected with the association since its organization, will continue to serve in their respective positions.

Dist. Atty. McKay said that the only legal way in which a farmer can employ Japanese now is by paying a daily wage.

PRINTERS WILL HONOR FRANKLIN

The printing trades division of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Ass'n. of Los Angeles is asking the library board to set aside one large room for the graphic arts in the beautiful new building which is now in process of erection on Normal Hill, to be known as the Benjamin Franklin room, and in which the printers of So. Calif. will place a bust of Benjamin Franklin, who published the leading weekly paper in the United States before and after the Revolutionary war, the Pennsylvania Gazette, and which has since become the Saturday Evening Post.

Designers, engravers, paper men and printers of So. Calif. have joined in issuing a brochure on Franklin, listing his services to civilization, and especially to America. It is almost unbelievable that one man could have been so creative and so versatile and at the same time so public-spirited. For while Franklin invented many practical devices for human comfort out of which great fortunes might have been made, he always refused to have any one of his inventions patented. He also wrote the most popular autobiography and the most beloved almanac, Poor Richard's, and yet he never copyrighted anything he ever wrote.

He lived to be 84 years old and by 42 had earned a competency thru his great newspaper and gave 42 years after that without financial compensation, to the welfare of humanity.

Among his almost innumerable services he organized our national postal system and was the first postmaster-general.

Dr. Geissinger will speak Sunday night at the White Temple upon "Benjamin Franklin and the Doing of the Word." Theodore Roosevelt took Franklin's favorite scripture text as the motto of his own life.

HARTRANFT SPEAKS AT LIONS' LUNCHEON

An account of his adventures along a tributary of the Amazon in South America, where he was busy helping to construct a railway, was given by S. C. Hartranft to the Anaheim Lions' club at the weekly luncheon in the Elks' club.

That was many years ago, when Hartranft was only 18. He had run away from his home in Pennsylvania.

The railway was never completed until years later, and the company went bankrupt after the employes had been half-starved and had suffered the pangs of fever, etc., while 2000 miles away from civilization.

At the club's meeting was the first following the annual banquet, at which the new officers, headed by Cliff Lamb as president, had charge.

And fancy that we wear a sorrow's yoke,
Even at the moment of our consecration.

ANOTHER BEAUTIFUL TEMPLE

Another beautiful temple is being erected in Anaheim, the First Christian church. Construction is well under way at the corner of Broadway and Helena-st. The cornerstone will be laid at 2:30 p. m. Sunday by C. W. Cauble, one of the leaders of the Christian denomination. The pastor, Rev. Leon L. Myers, will have charge of the impressive ceremonies.

The structure will be commodious and modern in every particular, designed to take care of the denomination in rapidly growing Anaheim for some time.

Such ambitions enterprise is to be commended. May Anaheim see more such beautiful church buildings.

LABOR PARTY TO RULE IN BRITAIN

The House of Commons formally has voted lack of confidence in the Conservative government, headed by Stanley Baldwin. The way is cleared for a Labor party government—which will be the first of its kind in the history of Great Britain. J. Ramsay Macdonald seems destined to be the first Labor Premier of Britain.

This departure in government will be watched with the keenest interest throughout the civilized world. The Labor party in Britain numbers several able leaders, and it has the co-operation of the Liberals. Government from a new source and from a new angle is to be tested. Friends of labor hope to see the venture succeed.

Mexico has been held up to the world as a "shining example" of peace and progress. Shall it go back again to the position of "horrible example?"

DEADLINESS OF TRAFFIC IS HORRIFYING

Fifteen thousand persons killed last year in traffic accidents on the streets and highways of America; 1,700,000 injured. One person killed in traffic every 28 minutes.

These are appalling figures. They should give pause to every thinking person. These figures, of themselves, should impel the masses of the people to demand safer traffic conditions. Reforms will not be made, as they should be made, until and unless the people make insistent demand for betterment.

Fifteen thousand killed in one year! A death every 28 minutes. One million seven hundred thousand injured. Surely, these heart-rending statistics of traffic should impel the people to hold their representatives to strict accountability for the manner in which they enforce—or fail to enforce—the traffic regulations. If the entire population of a city of 16,000 inhabitants were destroyed by a tidal wave, or an earthquake, the world would be shocked greatly. And yet, each and every year, in this land, 15,000 lives go out in the merciless mazes of death-dealing traffic.

DINNER STORIES

Some jokes are immortal. A few years ago someone wrote in French Canadian dialect the story of the talking dog. It concerned a man who, wishing to visit the city, told his father that a man down there was teaching dogs to talk. Why not have their dog taught this accomplishment?

The father grew enthusiastic and supplied the funds. The son returned without the dog.

"Father," he said, "it was true. Our dog learned to talk beautifully. But what do you suppose was the first thing he said? He started to tell everyone that he'd seen you kissing our hired girl behind the door. I couldn't stand for that and I got so mad that I killed him.

"My son, you did right," said the father.

Will Irvin said recently that this joke has been traced back through medieval French, late Latin classical Greek, clear to the Sanskrit.

An Indian town in the old days boasted of two characters—an official mean man who never did a good deed if it was possible to do a mean one, and an official optimist who had never been heard to speak an evil word of any human.

In the fullness of time the bad man died. On the day of his funeral the usual crowd gathered at the postoffice to await the distribution of mail. Naturally, the life and works of the late unlamented came under discussion.

The deceased was painted as a miser, a liar, a thief, a scandal-monger, and a back-biter. The optimist, who was present, listened in silence. At length one of the group turned on him.

"Say, Gid!" demanded the other man, "ain't ever'thing we've said about that old scoundrel the truth? Kin you name one deservin' trait he ever showed?"

"Well," said the optimist, "you boys'll have to admit he certainly had a mighty good appetite."

Aunt Josie, an old colored mammy, took advantage of a wedding announcement to question her mistress, who remained unmarried, though approaching middle age.

"When is you gwine to git married, missy Jane?"

"I don't know, mammy," was the thoughtful reply. "Really, I don't think I'll ever get married."

A note of sadness in the speaker's voice was disturbed by Aunt Josie's philosophical returns:

"Well, they do say as how ole maids am the happies' kind after they quits struggle."

REASONING WITH FARMERS—Kansas City Times

The head of a farm organization in a North Missouri county said recently: "The trouble I have with the farmers is to get them to use their brains—to think. They are mad clear through, and naturally it is difficult to get them to listen to reason."

The speaker then talked about taxation, and the wastefulness of the state Legislatures. What could be done about it?

The farmer was told of Amendment No. 3 to the state constitution, which is to be voted on February 26, to limit the expenditures of the Legislature for clerk hire. In former years the expenses of the General Assembly has been nearly $1500 a day. The proposed amendment would limit the expenditure of the house to $400 a day and the senate to $500 a day—a net saving of about $500 a day.

"I never heard of that," said the farmer in surprise. "Guess I have something to tell the farmers about—something that will benefit them directly."

The head of the farm organization possibly was right. There are many things that may be done to help them. What the farmer lacks is someone to tell him what to do and how to do it; then maybe he will listen to reason.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By Will Irvin

"Chorus Girl Will Give Address," says a headline. But a lot of old guys wouldn't give a nickel for any chorus girl's address. Anyhow, maybe it won't be the same next week.

When a full-grown man starts to pound a little sense into a boy, that's just what he does pound in—a little.

When the papers used to say that a man was knocked out by a bottle they meant that somebody had hit him over the head with it.

One expert says Swiss cheese has not gone up in price. Perhaps not, but the holes are a good deal larger than they used to be.

They tell us that about 30 per cent of the motion picture activities now take place in New York, and that Hollywood is losing ground very rapidly. The colony itself is slowly but surely moving eastward. When they have all left Hollywood, the Wild West will have lost its last trace of wildness and will be a more favorable position than ever to criticise the wooly East. The colony will be welcome in Gotham of course, although we do not know exactly what New York has done to deserve it.

It should be known that it was neither a Texas nor an Atlantic man who was kicked on the head so hard that the mule broke its leg and had to be shot. Prior rights of Alabama to this story of the hard headed man are hereby claimed.—Mobile Register.

"OCCULT POWER" HAS LIMITATION

That the "occult powers" claimed by Mme. Vacha, Hindu woman, warned her that oil was beneath the 30-acre grove of J. J. Mueller, near Orange, but failed to warn her against R. H. L. Noaks' asserted promotion dealings, was the testimony offered by the Hindu in Justice Walter Hanby's court, Los Angeles, when the hearing of Noaks opened.

She invested $5000 with him, Mme. Vacha testified, and four other women investors are said to have yielded Noaks nearly $12,000.

Instead of leasing the Mueller ranch and proceeding with development of the "occult oil pool," Noaks spent the money collected from one group of women upon other women, it was charged.

Noaks' wife, who is charged jointly with him, was residing at Ventura during the time of her husband's alleged operations here. She is said by the authorities to be but one of a half-dozen women married by Noaks.

"THE BISHOP OF THE OZARKS"

She danced with voluptuous abandon amidst the gay revels of an Oriental Palace—yet her heart was pure as the winds of her own Ozark Mountains—what strange, evil influence had swayed this beautiful girl's resolve? United Theater Offers Royal Stock Co. in "Lombardi, Ltd."

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the United Theater offers the Royal Stock Co. in "Lombardi, Ltd." Leo Carrillo's great comedy success. It has been hailed wherever played as the biggest laughing hit of the age. The tongues are laid in the fashionable dressmaking establishment of Tito Lombardi, in New York City, and the sumptuous stage settings are a sight that every woman will want to see—silks, satins, brocades, gowns and negligees, and the gowns and cloaks worn by the lady members of the cast, are all of the latest and most dazzling design.

Mr. Royal will portray the part of Tito Lombardi, the role Leo Carrillo made such a wonderful success in. Miss Edith Elliott has been cast as Norah Blake, Lombardi's assistant, and Rodney Hildebrand in the role of Ricardo Tosello, the vermicelli king. They, with the other members of the capable cast, make up an ensemble that you would have to go far to beat.

The silks, satins, brocades and stage dressings were made possible by the courtesy of Falkenstein's Department store, who very kindly loaned them for this engagement, and also loaned their very efficient window and interior decorator, the effects of whose trained hand and eye can be seen at a glance immediately upon the rise of the curtain.

And on the screen, "The Bishop of the Ozarks", a picture that is absolutely different from anything you've ever seen—yet an entertainment whose appeal is irresistible. Vivid drama, breathless suspense, pulsating action, heart reaching romance, red-hot thrills. Everything, and all so marvelously woven into a story of a man's regeneration and woman's love everlasting as to make you sit spellbound and remember what you see for the rest of your life. Prevent future regrets, drop everything else and plan now to see this big double bill.

Also Larry Semon's latest comedy, "The Gown Shop." One continuous scream from beginning to end.

Wallace said he regarded the bill as "proper remedy" for relief of the agricultural industry.

SHELL RELIGIOUS FANATICS COLONY

MANILA, Jan. 26.—After a bombardment by the cruiser Sacramento, entrenched colorums, a fanatical Filipino organization, at Socorro, on Bucas Island, Colonel Bowers and 100 constabularymen landed and charged the natives under a barage fire laid down by the war vessel.

Because of difficulty of defense and re-embarkation in case of bad weather, Colonel Bowers ordered the town burned and returned to the Sacramento with his men.

One constabularyman was killed. The extent of the Colorums' casualities is unknown, two dead and two seriously burned having been found in the town.

RECOVERING FROM EFFECTS OF FAST

Slight improvement has been shown in Carl Johnson, Huntington Beach, who recently ended a fast of 46 days, according to reports today from Orange county hospital. Johnson was brought to the hospital in a serious condition as a result of breaking the fast with a heavy meal.

MONKEY BUSINESS

J. E. Prentice was today in possession of a court judgment for $64.75 on account of four monkeys he recently sold to C. G. Tash, used car dealer, but Tash was not in possession of four monkeys.

Two of the animals escaped some time ago and amused themselves with excursions through the residence districts paying particular attention to choice fruit trees.

Prentice sued Tash for $100 after Tash, not wanting to keep the monkeys, had failed to send them back to Prentice.

The court deducted from the $100 claim of Prentice $35.25, representing a claim presented by Tash against Prentice.

PORTLAND, Jan. 26.—Speaking before the district attorney's association of Oregon here last night, Governor Walter M. Pierce declared California has modified the old adage that every man's home is his castle and sanctuary, and in the drive Oregon home must be kept in such condition that a visit from an inspector of the state prohibition forces will be welcomed at any time.

"The laws and customs have changed vastly since first was announced the right and doctrine that every man's home was his castle and sanctuary" the governor said, adding:

"The law clearly makes it your duty as district attorneys to cooperate with the prohibition commissioner. As a matter of necessity it is a secret service, and must and will remain so. We claim the right to go into any place in the state at any time as secret agents and discover, if possible, violations of the law.

FATHER BEGS FOR LENIENCY TO SON

A father's impassioned plea, that brought tears to all eyes in the courtroom, saved his son, D. D. Graves, youthful ex-newspaper publisher, from San Quentin.

Graves' request for probation on a charge of writing worthless checks was denied by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm, but the father's pleading aided in convincing the court that leniency would not be amiss, and Graves was sent to the county jail for six months instead of state's prison.

Graves and Fenton Chaplin, former partner, were found guilty of writing numerous worthless checks after terminating their affairs in Huntington Beach, where they published a newspaper for a brief space.

Chaplin was recently denied probation, and sent to San Quentin.

VARSITY LOSES TO BEACH 19-11

Coach Pittmorris' varsity team lost a league native 19 to 11 yesterday to Huntington Beach. It was nip and tuck from beginning to last few minutes. The victors were only two points in the lead when the end was drawing near. The oil drillers got off on the right foot and tossed three baskets in less than that many minutes.

The Anaheim boys worked hard and are doing better at each game. Coach Pittamorris has done wonderfully well with his team as he had an entire new quintet.

The following started: Lusk and Wells, forward; Walker, center; Beebe and Dahlman, guards. Subs: Bastian for Lusk and Beatie for Beebe.

The midgets, or 90-pound team, won a slow game 5 to 4.

the effect of the mishandling at home.

"Yes, she wouldn't give my sister Alta May, enough covers at night and some nights we got awful cold and shivered until we got up in the morning," he continued when he was questioned, but would volunteer no information for fear that his "step-mother" might her of it and beat him for telling about her.

On his neck a big patch of skin had been wrenched off by the clawing fingers who had sought to strangle him. Over his body were contusions and great bruises, some blue and some others, presumably freshly inflicted, red and sore.

The body of the little girl and her head was a mass of welts. When hospital attendants approached him to tell him the photographer had come to take his picture, he jumped up from his chair in the long cement aisle and said:

"Gee, how do you like my flower?"

On the table was a bouquet of humble blossoms which he had picked from the county hospital gardens and brought up to brighten the little place allotted to the little children.

"You bet, they are mighty pretty," said Dr. W. J. Spodell, and the little boy beamed at the compliment, perhaps the first he has had since his own mother died over a year ago from the "flu" in Los Angeles.

"I wish we had our real mother back," said Ernest, and he referred to a stocking that we had to come down and expose the big black marks on his legs. "Yes, she used to up and lord us, and when she baked cookies we could have some hot."

A delegation of women, who first called the attendance of the district attorney's office to the case, had just visited them. The group who made the complaint included Mrs. J. D. Grider, Mrs. H. L. Saudey, Mrs. Guy Derbey, Mrs. H. W. Hants, Mrs. Walter Barber and Mrs. M. Anderson, and Mrs. Hammond, the grandmother of the children.

"Many a time I have gone outside and found the children eating from the garbage can," said Mrs. Guy Derby indignantly. "I have seen the little fellow trying to carry two-by-fours in the rain. When I asked him why he didn't go in the house he said he was afraid to go in before it was dark and time to go to bed."

DOHENY OFFERS TO RETURN CALIFORNIA OIL LEASES

Roosevelt said the matter was discussed in a conference in Wahlberg's office last night.

"When did you first think of resigning from Sinclair's employ?" asked Senator Smoot.

"Oh, before this, I always wanted to. I thot I could better myself."

"The conversation between Wahlberg and me was rambling," Roosevelt replied to a question by Smoot.

"I asked him why Sinclair went to Europe. He said he thot on account of evidence that Senator Walsh collected at Palm Beach. He advised me to resign. When we talked about his situation he said he was unhappy and worried. He believed that he would be called upon to explain certain things."

"Where were you when you were talking to him?"

"In his office, looking out of the window over the city."

"Did you see any checks?"

"No."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, Democratic leader in the house, late today introduced a joint resolution declaring void the lease of naval reserve lands to the Mammoth Oil Co. as represented by Harry F. Sinclair and the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., as represented by E. L. Doheny.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Edward L. Doheny, here to search for the note which Albert B. Fall gave him for a $100,000 loan, declared today it was "right and proper that the government should investigate the possibility of criminal action in leasing of the naval reserve lands and prosecute if any crimes have been committed."

"So far as I and the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., are concerned, there is nothing to fear," he added. "Our leases were regular and proper. There was nothing criminal about our transaction."

"So far as our interests are concerned, I have offered to turn them back to the government if an impartial investigation shows any irregularities."

Doheny arrived from Washington last night and is stopping at the home of his son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., who is in California.

He said he had not yet had an opportunity to search for the note of the Fall loan but that he expected it to "turn up."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Teapot Dome, with all its ugly aspects, again was definitely thrust in the approaching political campaign today.

With the Democrats planning to make it one of their chief issues and the White House indicating that criminal action is to follow the leasing of the great naval oil reserves by order of the Interior Fall, Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, the only avowed candidate against President Coolidge, today set forth today with a demand that the leases be cancelled immediately.

"No candidate can avoid the issue," declared Senator Heflin of Ala. "The Coolidge administration will take no action until the hearings have been virtually completed. While President Coolidge now inclines to the belief that Teapot Dome is leading directly toward criminal action, it was nevertheless pointed out at the White House today that such action can only come when the administration is sure of its ground."

At the direction of the president, Secretary of the Interior Work today started an investigation of the legal and technical aspects of the Teapot Dome and California oil leases.

It also was learned that an official statement of the president's views concerning the cases probably would be issued by the White House following the testimony of former secretary Fall before the senate investigating committee.

Fall himself, broken and ill, will be accorded an opportunity to tell his story Monday before action is begun, either toward criminal prosecution or cancellation of the leases he negotiated to the Sinclair and Doheny interests. He borrowed sums ranging from $10,000 to $100,000 from both, according to the evidence.

Meanwhile, the public lands committee itself went back to work today to try to straighten out the maze of conflicting testimony and charges before it.

Archie Roosevelt and G. D. Wahlberg, both of whom resigned from Sinclair's company because of suspicions, were summoned by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, to explain differences concerning a payment of $68,000 to Tom Johnson, foreman of Fall's New Mexico ranch. Roosevelt previously testified Wahlberg had told him about cancelled checks for this amount which aroused his suspicions. Wahlberg later said Roosevelt was mistaken, that he made no mention of $68,000, but had referred to "six or eight cattle."

Interest of the committee also centered around an unsigned memorandum found in the committee's files Clerks declared they do not know how it got there. The memorandum denied Fall ever obtained money from Sinclair or Doheny and assailed the investigation into Fall's private financial affairs as "an attack upon decency."

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, said today C. C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law, or Senator Smoot, may be called to the stand to tell if they know anything about the memorandum.

Testimony of Fred C. Degendorf, former employe of the land office, that the government failed to act upon his adverse report on the acquisition by the Standard Oil Co., of Calif., of sections 16 and 36 in Elk Hills, started the committee into a thoro investigation of the California leases.

Leslie C. Garnett, former special assistant attorney general, charged Attorney General Daugherty failed to act upon his recommendation that proceedings be launched to recover the land, said to be mineral bearing, and thus not open to entry. Garnett said he was told by Daugherty, in a note delivered to him by counsel employed by the Standard Oil Co., not to take any action "until you have heard from me."

AMERICAN WINS SKATING EVENT

Y., topping his field in the 500 meter skating event by a scant tenth of a second, and Thunberg, of Finland, skipping over the 5,000 meter distance in the winning time of eight minutes and 38 seconds.

CHORAL UNION MAKES MANY FRIENDS HERE

"Robin Hood" has come and gone, leaving memories of a most pleasant evening with more than 1000 Anaheimers who flocked to the high school last night. Music lovers cannot help but be proud that "home talent" of the Orange-co Choral Union could afford such a treat.

The presentation went off as smooth as silk. If there were any slip-ups they were not apparent to the audience. Everything was excellent—singing, both solo and orchestration, staging and costuming.

When it comes to individual mention, the entire list of soloists could be mentioned. Maurice Phillips as the Sheriff of Nottingham, backed up a splendid singing and speaking voice with some very excellent acting. Mrs. J. M. Hitchcock as Amanda made Anaheimers proud she hails from our town.

The chorus showed the result of months of hard training and in volume and quality was al-that could be desired.

Ellis Rhodes must be commended for the excellent work thruout. D. C. Cianfoni, orchestra director, must also be mentioned.

The Orange-co. Choral Union made many warm friends in Anaheim last night.

"FASHION ROW" AT CALIFORNIA

Mae Murray and her big picture, "Fashion Row," will close their engagement at the California tonight. Manager Ingram has been bemoaning the fact that he could not secure additional dates on this production, because "Fashion Row" has been particularly interesting to the lady patrons of the California, many saying that it is a most beautiful production, especially the wardrobe worn by Miss Murray being the most elaborate that has ever been shown in films.

Tomorrow (Sunday) brings one of the biggest picture successes that the Associated First National Pictures has yet released. This is none other than "Flaming Youth," starring Colleen Moore. This production has the distinction of playing a longer engagement at the Lowes-State in Los Angeles, than any other picture to date. It having held the boards there for three weeks. When it is considered that Lowe's-State is a week's stand house, the fact that they were compelled to hold "Flaming Youth" for the third week speaks well for the production. In "Flaming Youth" the most famous flapper of modern fiction steps from the pages of Warner Fabian's sensational "best seller" to the screen.

Miss Moore has the featured role of Patricia Pentriss in "Flaming Youth," the First National super-production filmed under the direction of John Francis Dillon.

As little Pat, Colleen essays the role of a naive young flapper whose career is one frivolous love affair after another. Pat, to use the phraseology of her own set, is a terrible "necker" and Kins Jazz is her god, as it is to most of her associates. Conventions simply don't belong in her code. But she has an awakening, and it comes in a most dramatic and romantic way.

Milton Sills as Carey Scott has the leading male role opposite Colleen, while Myrtle Stedman is to be seen as the beautiful, indulgent mother of three daughters of the world of jazz of whom Pat is the youngest.

Others who play important roles are Elliott Dexter, Sylvia Breamer, Betty Francisco, Ben Lyon, Walter McGrail, George Barraud and John Patrick.

Romance of South, Thrills of West In New Fox Photoplay

The romance of the old south and the thrills of the and of west combine effectively in the William Fox picture "Kentucky Days," which opens today for the regular Saturday and Sunday run at the Fairyland theatre with Dustin Farnum has the leading role as John Buckner, a picturesque Kentuckian who strikes into the gold country to recuperate his fortunes. Barbara Bedford has the opposite part as his wife and companion on the long trail across the continent.

The story is one of the eternal triangle in a new form. It is remarkably well told in the acting of an excellent cast. The desert storm scene, in which the caravan of gold hunters is caught without water, is realistic. The scenes of Kentucky as it was in the days of duels, drink and dare-devils, are remarkably well done.

When Buckner, the Kentuckian, goes west in search of gold, he leaves his bride in the care of a cousin whom he trusts implicitly. Temptation is too strong for this cousin to resist and he gives vent to an old love for the woman. He convinces her that Buckner has died. He returns suddenly, having struck gold, to find his wife in the other man's arms. A duel ends the career of the cousin and Buckner burns the ancestral mansion, then takes his wife into the west, not as the woman of his heart, but as chattel property.

In the terror of the desert she eventually proves her virtues and her love of Buckner, with the result that their former romance kindles. Rough and tumble fights, a terrific storm on the desert, striking love scenes and splendid shots of nature make "Kentucky Days" a first rate picture.

CLAIMS SEED NOT INSPECTED

Both state and county authorities may prosecute Allen W. Miller, arrested here at the instance of San Diego officers on a charge of violating the agricultural quarantine laws, it was learned today.

Miller, said to be a grass seed salesman, posted $50 bail for his appearances at San Diego Monday, at 10 a.m.

In San Diego Miller is charged with selling seed that had not been inspected by the horticultural authorities.

SUES CALIFORNIA HOTEL MANAGER

Seeking to foreclose fixtures and equipment in the kitchen and dining room of the California hotel at Fullerton, N. D. Constant had today filed suit on a note for $3000 against R. E. Durbin, manager of the hotel.

Payments on the note and $250 attorney fees were also asked by the plaintiff.
