Prefers Reason to Living With Wife

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—"Jealousy," the real reason for the murder of Josephine Landis, who is alleged to have been killed in the home of her husband, Joseph Landis, near Venice last night with the intention of murdering her, his aged mother-in-law, Dorothy Foster, and E. G. Heatter, his wife's brother.

A few hours after he is said to have made a complete confession of the murder plot of the woman who was killed, Landis appeared in the court for the first time since the crime.

"I don't care what happens," he said solemnly, "I'd rather go to the penitentiary for 50 years than to be near my wife any more."

Decorative Contest for the Fourth Valencia Show

Awarding of contract for the decorative scheme of the Fourth Annual Cal. Valencia Orange Show to Allen Bros., of Hollywood, was announced today by Herman Stern, chairman of the show's executive committee, following the semi-weekly meeting of the committee.

The scheme has the Italian motif and the decorations are expected to equal or rival those of any previous show. P. G. Allen has done most of the work of the previous shows.

Plans for the permanent entrance which will probably be of stone, are being prepared.

Word was received today of burning of the plant of Douglas, of Los Angeles, who were to furnish the tents. It is expected the firm will still be able to furnish the tents and no inconvenience is anticipated.

Concession space in the industrial tent is being sold rapidly. Stern announced. Radio concerts are being held in the tent.

Times and E. C. Anthony, who were to be in charge of the show, are expected to receive the show's publicity from them.

CLARK TRIAL WILL START ON MONDAY

SAN DIEGO, March 14.—The trial of E. Drew Clark, charged with the murder of George Schick, wealthy realtor who disappeared mysteriously a few days before Monday before Superior Judge Edgar A. Luce.

An interesting legal highlight is the fact that John W. Hendrix, principal witness for the prosecution, is a convicted murderer, condemned to hang at San Quentin April 11.

The trial is expected to require a month, which would carry it beyond the date set for Hendrix's execution.

In case of a hung jury and the necessity of a retrial, it is believed the prosecution would request postponement of the hanging.

Means Says He Collected $100,000 From Japanese For Daughters Friend

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Gaston B. Means, the former department of justice employee, who today announced a senate investigation committee by his charges of graft and corruption among high government officials, will be called upon to go into details concerning his statement that secretary of the treasury was "caught in an inquiry involving violations of the Volstead act," it was announced this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Attorney General Clegg, in a formal denial, probably late today, of statements that he had been investigated by the Wheeler investigating committee today by Gaston B. Means.

Early this afternoon the attorney general was going over a transcript of his charges, many of which were taken from the capitol while Means was still on the staff.

Selections Come Thick and Fast

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The most amazing story of bribery, corruption and intrigue that was ever spread upon paper records concerning people high in government was divulged to the senate committee investigating Attorney General Clegg today by Gaston B. Means, a former operative of the department of justice, who checked career has led him in and out of many spectacular criminal cases.

Senators tumbled over sensation so fast that the grave senators and started spectators could hardly follow the significance of Means' lurid allegations—but the disclosures were so declared in that in February, 1923, he collected $100,000 in cash from a Japanese aircraft representative here and turned the money over to Joseph W. Smith, the close friend and confidant of the attorney general.

Smith committed suicide in 1930 after a long illness.

The money—in new one thousand dollar bills, a full hundred of them—Means said, was delivered to him by a Japanese representative of the department of justice. It came from the representative of the Japanese government which was the financial backer of the Standard Aircraft Co., against which corporation the government at that time had a fraud suit involving several million dollars.

Subsequently it developed the government's suit against the Standard Co. was withdrawn at the request of the war department.

Means also testified that he had collected some thousands of dollars in connection with the election of the Japanese representative to the senate committee investigating Attorney General Clegg today by Gaston B. Means, a former operative of the department of justice, who checked career has led him in and out of many spectacular criminal cases.

PROPERTYOWNERS PROTEST LIGHTS

Daughter told him at the time of his suspension. Means said he was being suspended at the request of another cabinet member. The inference was that it was Albert B. Fall.

Means told his amazing story in an atmosphere of tensely in the crowded and breathless committee room. He spoke easily, naturally and seemed to be in a very good humor. Sometimes he threw the room into a gale of laughter with "wise cracks" about important officials in Washington and the relations he had with them.

Means made it plain that he was the "best" man in the room. He committed suicide in Washington a year ago, in transactions involving the distribution of it to Senator Wheeler, the committee's "prosecutor," asked Means.

"I got one hundred $1,000 bills in connection with the Standard Oil case," Means replied, smiling.

"In the Bellevue hotel here in Washington," the "prosecutor" asked.

"Who from?"

"Mitsui and Company."

"Who is Mitsui and Company?"

"They were the main financial back of the Standard Oil Company," Means said.

"What was that?"

"In 1922, just before Smith went to Europe," Means said.

"You got one hundred $1,000 bills from Mitsui in connection with the Standard Oil case?"

"Yes sir."

"Who did you give the money to?"

"To Smith."

Means added that Smith told him the Japanese would come to his room in the hotel and give him $100,000.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Sensation tumbled over sensation today in the senate's investigation of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and the department of justice.

When B. M. Means, former operative for the department of justice, now under indictment in New York on charges of endeavoring to bribe Attorney General Daugherty, was first called today by the Wheeler-Smoot committee in its investigation of Daugherty and the department of justice.

Means waived all immunity when he took the witness chair for the first time.

"What is your business?" was the first question asked him.

Means hesitated and then said, with a smile:

"Answering indictments."

"Do you claim immunity?" asked Senator Wheeler, Dem. of Mont.

"I waive it. I ask no quarter and I intend to give no quarter," Means replied.

Means said this was violating the office of his counsel, Col. Frank Fisher, who told him to ask for immunity.

"You specifically waive all immunity," repeated Senator Wheeler, Dem. of Ariz.

"Absolutely."

Means first told of his schooling, saying he was a graduate of the Univ. of North Carolina.

"Were you ever convicted of a felony?"

"I have been accused of every crime in the calendar but I have not been convicted yet. O.K., yes I have been convicted of minor offenses, like fighting or things like that."

"What is your business at the present time?"

"Answering indictments," said Means, who the crowd laughed.

"You were once indicted for murder?"

"Yes, and acquitted."

Means said he had been an "investigator" practically all his life. He said he had been in the government work for Henry C. Frick in 1915 and 1916, and for the German government in the 20th century government and the United States government.

"Did you ever work for the house of J. P. Morgan?"

"The Burns, McKim, Messers and I suppose I've done some work for them this last couple of years."

"What is the relationship between you and Mr. Burns?"

"He is my friend. Burns is a man you can rely upon. He is absolutely honest."

Means first told of his schooling, saying he was a graduate of the Univ. of North Carolina.

"Were you ever convicted of a felony?"

"I have been accused of every crime in the calendar but I have not been convicted yet. O.K., yes I have been convicted of minor offenses, like fighting or things like that."

"What is your business at the present time?"

"Answering indictments," said Means, who the crowd laughed.

"You were once indicted for murder?"

"Yes, and acquitted."

Means said he had been an "investigator" practically all his life. He said he had been in the government work for Henry C. Frick in 1915 and 1916, and for the German government in the 20th century government and the United States government.

"Did you ever work for the house of J. P. Morgan?"

"The Burns, McKim, Messers and I suppose I've done some work for them this last couple of years."

"What is the relationship between you and Mr. Burns?"

"He is my friend. Burns is a man you can rely upon. He is absolutely honest."

"When did you first go to work for the department of justice?"

"Let me get my records," Means said, and walked to the side of the table and produced a large black leather satchel two feet long, filled with innumerable books and papers. He put the books on the table.

"They contain my diary on every detail of my work from the minute to minute," he said.

Wheeler ordered the diaries placed in the record without first being read.

"Now, when did you first go to work for the department of justice?"

"I was suspended in 1922, when I was reinstated."

"Have you letters there showing that?"

"Yes, sir."

Means then left the room again to get another satchel full of records.

The second satchel was larger than the first and the crowd roared with laughter.

The second satchel proved to be a complete filing cabinet of Means' letters. He later sent Smith, Daugherty and me to handle the investigation.

"By all of the department of justice?"

Means declared he had been suspended from the department of justice for being too active in investigating the Mexican oil situation.

"You know Smith had no position there?"

"Oh, no, I don't even know that now. For instance, in my broad investigations, I was told to talk over the case with Smith. I was consulting with Smith all the time. That doesn't mean there were anything wrong there. Jesse Smith had knowledge of price conditions. He had been in the mercantile business."

Means said any reports he showed to Smith were later turned over to the attorney general. Means said he discussed his suspension with Burns.

"What did Burns say?"

"If you want this exact language, he said they were damn fools."

"What did the attorney general say when you were reinstated?"

"The attorney general asked me if I had called to see a firm of lawyers. Douglas, Ruffin, and Aven, in regard to the oil situation and the Mexican situation."

"I told him I had and asked him why I was suspended. He said I can't tell you that, I wasn't responsible for it. Your suspension was the result of a request of a fellow cabinet member who came to have been engaged in by public officials in connection with the seizure of naval oil reserves to H. P. Sinclair and E. L. Doherty was suspended today until next Tuesday."

Today's sessions of the senate public lands committee was called off a few minutes before the opening hearing was due to start. The reason assigned was the illness of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Dem. of Mont., who has been the chief figure in the senatorial oil investigation.

Means was not permitted to go into details concerning his investigation of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and no effort was made to clear up his statement that one time Mellon "was caught" and that another time he "slipped them."

The explanation was made that the committee was not investigating Mellon.

"Did you work for the president?"

"I don't know. I furnished the president of the United States with information against Daugherty."

"Yes, I turned them over to Mr. Underwood. They were just accusations against the attorney general and were not based on facts."

"By whom were you paid?"

"By Jesse Smith and Underwood. Underwood represented the president."

"How do you know that?"

"From a letter sent Smith, Underwood and me to handle the investigation."

"What undercover investigation did you make in New York for the president of the United States?"

"Well, the prime investigation was concerning an arrangement that Secretary Mellon had gone into to furnish certain permits. We did not get him that time. He slipped through our fingers that time."

"Who paid you for these investigations you said were made for the president of the United States?"

"Jesse Smith and Mr. Underwood. Underwood was also an investigator. Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas."

"I sent for Laura Jacobson to come up from Arkansas to help me investigate Senator Caraway and I let Jacobson do the work."

"When was this investigation ordered into the senator?"

"When he was making an attack on the president and the attorney general."

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Investigation of the stock deals alleged to have been engaged in by public officials in connection with the seizure of naval oil reserves to H. P. Sinclair and E. L. Doherty was suspended today until next Tuesday.

ESCORT 2 OILMEN FROM SAGHALIEN

TOKYO, March 14.—No "protest" will be made by the American embassy here to the Japanese government as a result of the escort of two American oil men, said to represent Harry P. Sinclair from northern Saghalien island. It was said in report on the matter had been filed with the embassy.

The two men named McCullough and McLaughlin, with a Russian guide, arrived at Alexander, three weeks ago and were escorted to Otaru from whence they sailed to Peking.

Some doubt was expressed as to official circles here today, whether the men represented Sinclair.

The foreign office and war office intimated, however, close watch would be kept on the arrival of oil investigators of all nationalities.

SLATE AGAINST

McADOO NAMED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—The slate of anti-McAdoo delegates who will oppose the former secretary of the treasury as an unopposed delegate to the California presidential primaries on the Democratic ticket, was announced here today.

Charles A. Barlow, former congressman from the seventh district, who has led the Democratic revolt against the state committee's endorsement of McAdoo, heads the delegates at large, who number eight.

Dr. Randolph W. Hill of Los Angeles; Peter J. McCormick, San Francisco; Elizabeth Gerberding, San Francisco; Kate M. Ritchie, San Diego; Marie J. Larkins, Glendale; and Mrs. Robert E. Lee Jewett, San Francisco, are the other seven delegates at large.

The district delegates follow: E. Cunningham, Ukiah; James F. Conner, Eureka; R. H. Dewitt, Treka; Orlando McCarty, Eureka; Morris E. Brown, Sacramento; George T. Langford, El Campo; William Penn Hume, Butte; and Mrs. J. C. Quilina, San Francisco; Rose Bottlinger, Gallesburg, San Francisco; Daniel F. Dora, San Francisco; James F. Peck, Oakland; James F. Montgomery, Oakland; Sub Johnsen, Ukiah; Stephen P. Galvin, Los Banos; Charles B. Yonker, Santa Cruz; Sidney M. Luther, Berkeley; and Mrs. J. C. Quilina, Los Angeles; Anthony Schwann, Los Angeles; Ida May Morris, Morriston; Joseph Simons, Los Angeles; and Mrs. E. Meadows, Imperial; and James Washam, San Diego.

Burns broke into the big show with Detroit in 1914 and served four years' hard labor. Detroit, not caring to carry his contract during the war year, allowed him to go to the Abilene. Two years later he joined Cleveland. He was a big factor in the pennant drive of 1920 and then, while batting at a .361 pace the next year he was shipped to Boston, where he was with Joe Harris and Elmer Smith for Melina.

If England is tired of supporting a state church, the might fight our plan and transfer it to the war department.

We are not an imperialist people, and it isn't probable that we will annex the north pole until some other nation gets the same drop concession.

URGES DAM UPON SANTA ANA RIVER

Discussion of how to produce electricity from the Santa Ana river, the lifeblood in Southern California agriculture, and how to conserve that which is produced for irrigation purposes, marked the meeting of the Villa Park farm center at the Villa Park hall and as a result of the discussion water conservationists were today giving serious consideration to the plan put forward by C. E. Utter, pioneer citrus grower of Tustin, for a big irrigation dam across the Santa Ana river at Prado.

"I realize that this proposal is met with the derision of scoffers and the honest doubt of timid folk, but I have yet to hear a single valid reason against it," said Utter. "To the common statement 'It cannot be done' I answer: 'How do you know?' To the feeling that 'We cannot afford it' I reply: 'We cannot afford not to do it.'"

When asked as to the cost of a preliminary survey, which he advocated, Utter placed the cost roughly at between $25,000 and $50,000. He said that it was his opinion that when completed the dam would represent an expenditure of, perhaps $15,000,000. The dam, proposed by Utter, would store 400,000,000 feet of water, which he estimated would be sufficient to supply the needs of irrigationists two years without resorting to the storage which was necessary under the existing conditions. He said that the dam would be a great benefit to the city of Tustin, which is situated in the district and forced to pay their share of the cost in return for the supplying of water for city needs.

After he finished his talk, which he illustrated by means of a chart, Utter was questioned closely by interested auditors concerning the feasibility of his plan and overtook the water problems of Southern California.

Francis Critch, chairman of the county water conservation committee, outlined the plans of that body at length and stressed the importance of action now to prevent serious trouble in the future. The recent drought, Critch said, has emphasized as never before, the need for the saving of water.

Leo Evans, president of the John T. Carpenter Water company, outlined the check dam system which has operated so successfully in the vicinity of the county park. Willard Smith, of the same company, outlined the plans for the dam across San Joaquin Creek about two miles above the county park and said that the survey now being made by two engineers there is insufficient to reach the Chapman street bridge. "It is perfectly plain that any water reaching the sea from any of our streams is lost to everybody and it is an economic crime to allow a single drop to do so. Unfortunately the Santa Ana river offers no easy means for dam-site. Engineers with more or less reputation have condemned the site at Prado, I think largely without exact information, and probably also on account of the great expense as I have no engineering reputation to lose I feel perfectly free to assure you that the site at Prado, as far as engineering problems go, is feasible."

The chief difficulties in the way of its construction are, first our lack of a will to do it; second, the very considerable expense involved.

"I expect that some of you think because I have proposed and advocated this dam that it is a pet hobby of mine. In this you are entirely mistaken. I should like nothing better than to find a way out of this difficulty that would be easier and better."

"It would be practicable for the state and cities of the county to combine and buy Lake Arrowhead and bring its waters for use in this project. I should like nothing better than to find a way out of this difficulty that would be easier and better."

"There is talk of bringing 500 heads of water from Boulder canon on the Colorado river to this area at an estimated cost of $100,000,000. I believe the cost would be much greater than that, but even if it could be done at that figure, the scheme as outlined involves the pumping of this water 300 feet."

"Suppose that we should combine with Los Angeles and other municipalities and take one-fifth of this water, which would be necessary to save us. This would mean the investment of $20,000,000 and then a pumping cost that, so far as commercial agriculture is concerned, is prohibitive. Doubtless for soda-bottling works and certain gardens you can pump water 300 feet, but not for 'pumpkin Sacs.'"

"While we consider for a moment the dam at Prado. I do not think an accurate survey has been made, but from some government contour maps and some levels which I have run, I estimate that the lake formed by this dam will cover in 1927 a neighborhood of 8,000 acres. It will reach from the San Joaquin creek district to a point south of China, a distance of about nine miles."

"The same is true of the Santa Ana river. As a matter of fact, we do not spread storm water to any great extent. What we do is to spread winter water after the storm has gone down and the waters become clear. I see no objection to our confining to spread the waters of the Santa Ana river provided the agreement is kept to not divert water for such purposes."

FUNERAL CAR IS OF LATEST TYPE

A limousine funeral car, the latest type of motor vehicle used in place of the hearse of former fashion, has been added by Backs, Terry & Campbell to their equipment. The car, a Motor, arrived in Anaheim Wednesday night and was being shown to friends of the firm here yesterday.

It is as simple as it is beautiful. Finished in a fine black enamel, instead of color, and without any of the elaborate decorations that have hitherto been the vogue, the car represents a distinct advance in service facilities.

Large balloon tires ensure the smoothest possible travel over any road. There is a removable compartment in the space occupied by the casket where flowers are placed, while three "doors" offer easy access both to the driver's seat and the room in front of the casket.

Simple, beautiful, efficient and modern, this limousine funeral car is one of the few in the Southland.

PUSH SALE OF EBELL PENCILS

Anaheim Ebells members are vigorously carrying on the sale of lead pencils which will indirectly sell their fine business lot on Broadway and Clementine.

With the purpose of each pencil a ticket is presented as part of them will carry the deed to the $6500 lot.

It is advisable to send for some member of the Ebells to deliver any number of the writing sticks, for they cost but 41 cents and the investment might prove to be the best ever made, for the pencils are regular good ones. Thus, too, the person selling the greatest number of pencils will receive a worth while prize. Hence, the use of one lone dollar will bring gladness to two persons, for someone is going to get that lot and someone else a prize.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY MAY DELAY BONUS

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Celebration of St. Patrick's Day on next Monday may delay the bonus bill in the Senate, it was learned here today.

Chairman Green of the war and insular committee, had planned to throw the bill into the House on Monday and get it thru "with a whoop," but the passage may have to be delayed until Tuesday.

The reason is that many congressmen of Irish extraction have "chosen to deliver orations or attend celebrations and banquets in honor of Ireland's patron saint. They are, of course, in favor of the bonus and have appeared to Green to let the bill go over for a day."

BRITISH MINERS VOTE UPON STRIKE

LONDON, March 14.—A British coal strike loomed on the industrial horizon today as a result of the decision of miners' delegates that they could not accept the compromise wage terms presented by the colliery owners.

Miners will vote Sunday upon a strike.

Equip Your Home With A "Lorain" Oven Heat Regulated Direct Action GAS RANGE

FOOD COOKED IN A HEAT REGULATED GAS RANGE
 FAR SUPERIOR TO FOOD COOKED IN A FIRELESS COOKER.

The Direct Action way is to cook your food in a well ventilated oven on a slow, even temperature. NOT on a dying temperature as cooked in a fireless cooker. Heat regulated Gas Ranges cook perfectly every flaky pastry, every juicy roast, every feather-light biscuit, every savory vegetable, Exactly the Same Every Time, Without Any Attention Whatever during the cooking period.

REMEMBER FOOD SHOULD BE COOKED IN A WELL-VENTILATED OVEN

LORAIN OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

The Lorain Oven Heat Regulator is an attachment of gas range ovens. It automatically keeps your oven at any one of 44 different temperatures. Simply set the "red wheel" for any heat you want. Changes in gas pressure, etc., do not affect the oven temperature.

DIRECT ACTION Gas Ranges

You put your baking directly into the cold Direct Action oven. You do not light the burner until the baking is in because the oven heats almost instantaneously. This means a saving of time and gas as there is no way to preheat the oven. You can do this with a Direct Action because of the open oven construction, with its absence of heavy oven bottoms and fire walls which, in other stoves, have to be heated before the oven is ready for the baking.

ELIMINATES POT WATCHING

OVEN HEAT Regulated Gas Ranges eliminate pot watching. Put your whole dinner in the oven, roast, vegetables, and everything, set the Red Wheel, then take the afternoon off and forget about cooking till dinner time. When you go home all you will have to do is to turn off the gas and serve a perfectly cooked dinner. No musty fireless cooker taste or odor when you cook it the "DIRECT ACTION" WAY.

You can cook in a "Lorain" Heat Controlled, Ventilated Oven, Fish, Onions, Macaroni and Cheese and Angel Food Cake at the same time and each one retains its individual flavor. Can you do this in any other type of cooking appliance?

SO FAR as possible the Angelina Hotel Co. is furnished and equipped by Anaheim concerns.

Not only the general contractors, Wilson & Bever, but the sub-contractors are of Anaheim.

The building is notable not only in the high quality of materials used, but in construction.

The Adams-Bowers Lumber Co. furnished all the lumber and cement and all the interior trim. While the latter is as limited as possible in quantity, because of the fireproof nature of the structure, it is of the finest quality procurable.

Dan Granada, one of Anaheim's most artistic interior decorators and painters, did the interior decorating, which, because of its wonderful harmony with furnishings, is a striking feature of the hotel. Granada has been a resident of the city for six years and for four years has done all of the work of Bever & Wilson, including the Kraemer buildings and the City Hall.

The Modern Gas Appliance Co., furnished all the electric vacuum cleaners and equipped the very complete laundry which is located on the roof of the building. It will be worth the while

PLACENTIA C. C. MEETING TUESDAY

PLACENTIA, March 14.—(Spl.) The C. C. of Placentia will hold its second business meeting Tuesday at 7 o'clock. The meeting is to be an informal affair and combination of the two committees who have about $200 yet to raise for the payment due on the four hundred electric signs that have been ordered from a Los Angeles firm to be placed at strategic points on roads leading into Placentia.

The Placentia C. C. has been very active since its inception less than three months ago. It now boasts 225 members and a goodly sized budget well subscribed for, and it is fast gaining its place into its 1924 program. This second meeting of the members is expected to bring out a full representation, in so much as there will be provided a snappy comedy, a real feature picture, some excellent music and a most intelligent and interesting talk by one of the harbor boosters experts on "What the Development of Orange County Harbor Means to Orange County." A nominal charge for the entertainment is being made of only 25 cents, and already over 225 tickets have been purchased by Placentia district boosters. The theatre will accommodate 400 persons.

Placentia is to be congratulated upon the fine turnout its citizens are giving the C. C. of Placentia. The sign committee also reports that the Automobile Club of So. California will put up the new signs regarding the two-hour parking system on Santa Fe-ave, the main business street of Placentia. Already the new white lines have been put on the streets and the red non-parking ones established and painted.

Be Sure of Children's Health

ARE your children healthy? Are they strong and vigorous? Or, are they frail and delicate—pale, under-developed? These latter signs are indications of malnutrition—a condition that exists in one out of every three children in the schools of our nation.

Such children are starving for want of elements necessary for health—elements found in greater proportion in good bread—in HOLSUM Bread—than in any other single food. Truly, good bread is a wonderful food, yet few eat enough of it.

But, there are many grades of bread, and to best serve your family's health you should select a bread containing the health giving properties in the right proportions. You will find them in HOLSUM—a loaf of unsurpassable quality. Select your bread wisely for "There's a difference in bread." Don't say "bread," say HOLSUM.

EASTERN PAPER RAPPS SO. CALIF.

Wm. Sperber has received the following clipping from the Canandaigua (N. Y.) Messenger, which shows how ready eastern papers try to rap So. Calif.:

After spending several months in Southern California, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Easton, accompanied by their two sons, James, Jr., and William, returned to their home in North Main-st. yesterday. The trip to the coast last October, which combined business with pleasure, was made by automobile, but the return trip was made by train—the automobile being placed in a carload shipment to Buffalo, which is one of the splendid courtesies afforded tourists by the So. Calif. Auto Club.

Both business and climate are fine in California, which for its progressiveness in developing its resources, is setting an example for the entire country, according to the visitor.

"The popular conception of California," said Mr. Easton today, "is that the entire state, at least most of it, is a semi-tropical garden of flowers, oranges and lemons. That is incorrect. California is a great desert of sand and dry river beds. A very large portion of this desert has been reclaimed by irrigation. In such sections there is an abundance of flowers and fruit."

"As Los Angeles, several years ago, at an expenditure of more than $20,000,000 which then seemed gross extravagance, made provision for a tremendous quantity of fresh water, brought by aqueduct hundreds of miles from the Sierra Nevada mountains, it practically monopolized the water supply of Southern California and this meant its supremacy as it traded water for expansion by annexation of scores of outlying towns. It has been able to largely develop the country within a radius of 25 miles outside of this area Southern California almost altogether remains a burning waterless desert without habitation."

"Los Angeles is enjoying a great boom. Thousands of easterners are flocking there, believing that somewhere in or about Los Angeles is the 'promised land.' As a result, real estate promoters are unloading thousands of acres of what was formerly considered a waste land in the form of city lots at fabulous prices. It is said to be the greatest real estate boom in the world's history."

California has the natural resources comparable to those of New York state or of Ontario county. If they possessed a beautiful island body of water such as Canandaigua lake or land of such natural productivity as we have in Ontario county, it would advertise these facts to the end of the earth. Lacking such resources, it advertises sunshine and sells off thousands of acres of its desert land.

"It certainly does have sunshine in abundance. It shone faithfully every day we were there. The shady side of the street was a luxury on both Christmas and New Year's day. Nevertheless, the children eagerly looked forward to their return east where they hoped to find an abundance of snow."

According to Mr. Easton, the school and public buildings in Southern California with their splendid lighting and ventilating facilities, are a model for the entire country and even the smallest towns have school buildings which would be a credit to the large cities of the east. The children are counted as California's greatest asset and nothing is too good for them in the matter of health and education.

Now comes word that one "Bucky" Horne may be the second sacker Ty Cobb has been seeking for. In these many moons, Bucky played with Davey Robertson, old Giant star, at Richmond last year and made good. He is a former semi-pro star from Lynn, Mass.

To brave every hazard in order to obtain the almost unattainable (and you will say they succeeded beyond expectations.)

Where is the "Land of Whispering Hope," you ask? We do not wonder you are curious. You have never before and never will have the opportunity of knowing. So do not miss the greatest unmanufactured picture ever set to motion, tonight at the United Theatre.

Also, as an added attraction, or rather as an atmospheric prologue, Mr. Nickle, has secured the services of Dode Rieco, a sensational and daring Spanish dancer, who will give many interpretive dances here on the stage in person.
