SIX LOST IN MONTEREY OIL FIRE

Estimate Damages From Conflagration at Three Millions

MONTEREY, Sept. 15.—This old seaport, one time capital of California and popular beach resort, today was under virtual martial law as a great oil fire which already has taken a possible toll of six lives and $2,500,000 in property damage roared on unchecked.

Military authorities at the presidio took charge of the situation when after a fourth explosion the oil fire started by a bolt of lightning which has been raging for 24 hours, spread into New Monterey and burned six homes.

Soldiers who have been on the fire line since early yesterday, and civilians turned hastily to the work of erecting dykes across all streets and other possible channels through which the burning oil liberated by explosions can run town and destroy it.

The whole population of the town spent the night on the hills fringing the bay, fearful that another gasoline explosion might shower a flaming rain upon the town andd estroy it.

Two of the known dead are soldiers, Private Robert Beles of headquarters Eleventh Coast Artillery and E. Watkins of E Battery, who perished late yesterday afternoon when the first of six great oil storage tanks bottled over emptying a flaming torrent of oil down upon 600 soldiers and half as many civilians who were working to remove government property from a warehouse in the path of the flames. Four others are reported to have lost their lives but their identity may not be known. Many are reported missing but authorities believed today that when the excitement dies down they will be found safe.

Scores are burned from being showered by blazing oil. All of the hospitals and sanitariums have their quota of burned persons and local physicians and nurses were kept busy treating others who were less seriously burned.

The gasoline tanks of the Standard Oil Company were still in the path of the flames early today. One exploded shortly after 6 o'clock shaking the whole country-side.

The fire presented an awe-inspiring spectacle. The giant 55,000 barrel steel tanks, as they burned gave off huge clouds of flame, tinged smoke. As the fire within literally boiled its way over the steel sides of the tank, tidal waves of fire were loosened on the Montery water front. Each of these waves took a fresh toll. First went the Association Oil Co.'s wharf and pumping plant. Then two big fish canneries, Monterey's chief industry, and swiftly the flames spread to the government wharves and warehouse.

The next to fall prey to the flames was Chinatown and early today the fire communicated to the newer portion of the city in one of its finest residential sections.

The fire started on the property of the Association Oil Co. and their loss was estimated to be more than $1,000,000.

Thousands of sightseers had narrow escapes and the word for soldiers and civilians to abandon their posts in the path of the flames came barely in time.

A gasoline reservoir in the path of the burning oil exploded with terrific force. The concussion being heard for miles inland. This spread the blaze to other oil tanks on the farm" and then late last night the sweep and burning oil into the ocean turned into the Standard Oil Co.'s neighboring plant, where additional gasoline tanks exploded.

The field of fire, covering approximately 20 acres from the base of the military reservation to the water front, throughout the night gave off a red glow which lit the sky for miles. Co-ed 3 of soldiers under command of Colonel Herbert J. Brees and other regular army officers kept back the venturesome and directed the work of throwing up embankments and dykes to turn back a possible flood of oil from the town.

The scorching heat of the flames can be felt for a mile. Waters of the bay are hot from the flood of burning oil poured on its surface. Only the lurid glow of the burning oil lighted Pacific Grove and New Monterey throughout the night, the sweep of the flaming oil having burned out the power transmission lines.

Thunder Showers in North. California

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15. "Pape" Pluvius retired to the seclusion of his quarters again today following a series of spectacular thunder showers throughout No. Calif. yesterday, accompanied by very light showers which the U. S. weather bureau described as being too light to afford any relief to parched areas of lands.

Precipitations reported by the bureau included:

Del Monte, .10; Paso Robles, .02; Mount Hamilton, .01; San Jose, thunder storm but no precipitation; Summit, .12. Sacramento showed only a slight trace of moisture after a thunderstorm.

FIRPO FACES DEPORTATION HEARING

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight prizefighter, appeared before Inspector W. W. Brown, chief of the law division of the Department of Labor at Ellis Island, to face deportation proceedings because of allegations that he brought a Cuban manicurist to this country and of perjury at a previous hearing.

The proceedings were secret. It was announced that final decision would be made by Secretary of Labor Davis in Washington.

It is alleged that "the bull of the Pampas" brought Blanca Lourdes Picart into the country from Havana in July, 1923, and attempted to bring her in a second time on the steamship American Legion on July 21 of this year. Miss Picart was held at Ellis Island and then sent on to Havana. Firpo was allowed to land.

He is charged with perjury because of statements he made at the hearing at that time when he denied he had brought the woman to the United States.

Firpo, looking glum, arrived at Ellis Island, accompanied by his attorney, Hyman Rudell, and his interpreter, Juan Homs. None of the three had anything to say for publication.

Canon Chase of Brooklyn, who has led the fight to have Firpo deported, also arrived with attorneys, witnesses and an armed guard to assist the government in pressing the charges.

Bernard Sandler, attorney for Chase, announced that Benjamin Greenberg, the armed detective present, was there "because attempts had been made and were still being made to intimidate government witnesses."

In addition to Canon Chase and William Widmer, formerly secretary to Firpo, witnesses included Madame Nita Pesci, landlady of a New York house, where Canon Chase alleges Firpo lived; Hugh P. Gartland, a Newark, N. J., fight promoter, who was with Firpo in South America; Bennie Brumel, an elevator boy at the New York house; Dr. Philip Palery, a chiropractor who treated Miss Picart, and Harry Finger, a roomer at the house.

Patient At Sanitarium Takes Cyanide and Succumbs at Once

An inquest was held at 2 p.m. yesterday at Backs, Terry & Campbell funeral parlors on No. Lemon-st, the verdict being rendered that he came to his death as the result of cyanide poisoning.

He had been a patient at the local sanitarium since Sept. 10, coming there for a minor ailment. He is said to have worried over how he was going to make financial ends meet for his wedding planned soon. He had been in ill health for a long time. DAVIS MAKES SMASHING ATTACK

NELSON'S FARM, BUNCETON, Mo., Sept. 15.—Charging the Republican party with placing special privilege, greed and corruption in high office, John W. Davis delivered a smashing attack here today upon the Harding-Coolidge administration in his drive to capture the grain belt.

Speaking before 75,000 Missourians at a barbecue on the farm of Dr. Nelson, Democratic candidate for governor, Davis drew a wide campaign issue between his own pledge for "honesty in government" and the record of Republican scandals in the last two years. He also renewed his pledges of governmental aid to distressed agriculture.

The rally was the largest ever held in Missouri's history. Twenty special trains rolled crowds into the town of Syracuse, four miles from the Nelson home. Five thousand automobiles were parked in nearby fields. The throngs crowded ten acres of land.

Davis left his special train at Syracuse and was escorted by automobile to the farm. During the last two miles of this race down rural highways, the nominee's car plowed through a line of people. As he came within view of the farm the crowds were banned for a mile and cards on both sides of the roadway.

U. S. WORLD FLIERS AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 — The three United States Army round-the-world flyers landed at Maywood field at 12:55 p.m. today while sirens, gongs, whistles and every noise making device in Chicago gave them welcome.

Thousands who had waited on the outskirts of the field for hours sent up a mighty cheer as the planes circled the field and glided gracefully, to the ground.

The planes flew into sight about 15 minutes earlier and were visible from the loop just as the towering buildings poured out their thousands for the lunch hour.

"There they are—"

It was the cry taken up and carried along by the jostling throngs.

Traffic in the loop was virtually suspended. Automobiles and street cars stopped. Factories waited momentarily at stations and the crowds forgot their customary lunch hour rush as they craned their necks and paid homage to the airmen.

Shrieking whistles of the steel mills in South Chicago first gave notice that the flyers were approaching the city.

They were escorted from the Indiana line by seven planes from Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.

The flagship, Chicago, piloted by Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, flight commander, was the first to land.

Major Gen. Harry C. Hale, U.S.A., commanding the Sixth Corps Area, was the first to greet the airmen.

Lieut Nelson climbed down from his machine was seized by an enthusiastic woman and soundly kissed, while thousands watched her.

For a moment the flyer seemed stunned and he half-struggled to release himself from the embrace.

"Why, Mrs. Palmer, what a surprise—," he said.

"My husband taught him to fly," said the woman, who identified herself as Mrs. O. S. Palmer.

Lieut. Wade received an ovation welcome The crowd automatically opened as the flyers' two sisters, father and uncle, rushed to greet him.

The girls, Ethel and Ana Gertrude, were the first to reach his side. They clung to him, tears in their eyes, as the father and uncle, F. D. Eberhardt, walked to him and shook hands. All had come today from their home at Petropolis, Mich.

"Yes, seem to have been slightred," someone remarked to Lieut. Smith.

"My time will come when we get to Los Angeles," he said. "My best girl—my mother—is waiting there."

The flyers were bundled into machines and were driven around the field.

Tomorrow, weather conditions permitting, the airmen will hop off into the west.

MARION, Ind., Sept. 15—Making about 90 miles an hour after leaving Dayton, Ohio, the round the world flyers passed over Marion at 10:06 o'clock, central standard time, today on their way to Chicago.

The three planes passed Ridgeville at 9:40 and Hartford City at 9:50. The planes maintained a perfect "V" formation, and were accompanied by an escort plane.

DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 15.—The world trail blazing flyers hopped out of McCook field at 10 a.m.,

NEXT CITRUS CROP TOTAL 3000 CARS

Authoritative, but rough preliminary estimates of California's 1924-25 orange and lemon crops, made public today, put the former at 60,000 cars and the latter at 13,750. The former would mean some 5,000 cars more than the 1923-24 total, while the latter is substantially the same as this season's aggregate.

Asked what he thought of the estimates Manager G. W. Sandilands of the Anaheim Orange and Lemon Ass'n said he regarded them as rather high. They also could only be considered as very preliminary, because the growth of the orange and weather conditions might alter them one way or the other.

Asked what the Anaheim district's crop would be Sandilands estimated it conservatively at 3000 cars or three-fourths of normal. "That is a good conservative figure," said the manager.

MOVIE ACTOR IN BAD FALL AT BEACH

Seriously and painfully wounded, Frank Simons, 30, is lying in Angeles hospital suffering from an accident late Saturday and rushed there in the Huddle ambulance the same evening, following emergency treatment, at the beach city.

Mr. Simons, a member of the Mack Sennett Co., was engaged in pictures and fell from a scaffolding 20 feet high, built on a cliff when a strong wave crushed the craft and the heavy timbers fell upon him. The exact nature of his injuries had not been determined but a broken back and internal injuries were suspected.

The afternoon was a very beautiful service beginning with the Lord's Supper. After this, in the presence of those who had gone so before was made apparent as Mrs. McClellan called attention in a very touching manner to their lives and contributions to the cause of Christ. H. S. Leavitt followed by bringing to mind those who had been called from the Bible school to the better home. Then followed a presentation to the minister of a beautifully mounted silk flag with a golden eagle with outspread wings on the staff. The presentation which was made by Klanswomen in robe called attention to the tireless efforts on the part of Mr. Myers in behalf of womanhood, the home, and childhood. It was an expression of thanks for his work for their beloved order.

This was followed by an address by the minister Chester Kline, recently elected by the locals of Orange co., on the subject, "The Old Days, the Old Ways and the Old Time." His address was a masterpiece of trite phrases and practical and pointed suggestions for church and state. He deplored the fact that the Bible was not read in the public schools of California.

This was followed by another presentation, this time by the Anaheim Klan, of a revolving book case, and an office chair for the office of the minister. The speaker of the evening was then ordered to the community and county by Mr. Myers' activity in behalf of a better city and county. An offering was then made that considerable more than 1000 men were as outspoken in their loyalty to this minister as their leader as was the church in their loyalty to him as minister.

During the day so touching were the tokens of friendship and so splendid was the spirit manifested that 26 people came forward and confessed their faith in Jesus Christ and its union with the church. In this evening, money necessary having been secured, Bruce Brown preached an acceptable sermon and evangelistic service.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Billy was wondering how he could get over the fence and into the pen where his wife and family were, when the elephant said he would help him.

He encircled Billy's body with his trunk and lifted him up from the ground and over the fence as easily as if he had been a feather. When he had raised Billy to the top of the fence, he unwound his trunk and dropped him over into the next yard where his family awaited him.

When the elephant turned to get Stubby and Button to put them over the same way, he found they had crawled through the hole the kids had made.

Such a smelling of noses, and licking of faces you never saw as when the Billy Whiskers family and their friends were once again reunited after this long separation while Billy had been in the war in Europe.

"Isn't it too bad, dear," said Nannie, "that we are all shut up in this yard with no hopes of getting out? And I was just saying to Daisy that if you were here, you would soon find a way to secure our freedom."

"And I shall, my dear. I shall just wait until the keeper comes in through the gate to look after the goats. Then I shall either butt him over as he comes in or butt down the gate when he takes the padlock and chain off. Anyhow, I shall find a way to get us out of here very soon, I am sure. Now we will think only of the present and enjoy every minute of being together. What fine kids the twins have grown to be! But imagine they are just as mischievous as ever."

"Can you wonder at it when you stop to consider who their father and grandfather are?" said Nannie.

"Oracious! What can be causing all that commotion over in the farther corner of the yard?" said Daisy.

"Where are the Twins?" asked Billy Junior.

"I don't know," answered their mother.

"Then I guess you will find that they are at the bottom of the fracas over there. I'll go see," said their father, and off he trotted to find out if the kids were in mischief.

Presently he came back, driving both kids before him. But what had happened to them! They were as dirty as dirt could be and both were crying.

"Oh, my precious darlings!" exclaimed Daisy. "Who has been hurting you?"

"No one has been hurting them. They need a good spanking! Where do you think I found them? In the middle of a ring of Angora goats, having a fight with two kids about their own size. It would have been all right to have had a boxing match, but they did not play fair. They lost their tempers and when they got the other kids down, they hooked and tramped them unmercifully."

"Come here, kids," said their grandfather. "If you will promise to be good all the rest of the day, I will tell you a story of the Great War and of some of the things that happened to Uncle Stubby and Uncle Button and myself when fighting in the army."

(But tomorrow the story is interupted by something very exciting.)

C. C. SECRETARY BACK FROM TOUR

Filled with impressions of the beauty of the northwest, Secretary George W. Reid of the Anaheim C. of C. and Mrs. Reid got back home last night. On the way Reid called on most of the C. of C. secretaries in the principal cities. At San Francisco he saw not only Secretary Lynch of the San Francisco C. of C., but Secretary Clagstone of the Western Division of the United States C. of C. and Advertising Manager Rastall of the California Development board.

He was most impressed with Klamath Falls, Ore., a city of 8000 people, with a trading territory which includes some 22,000 more. Located on a fine lake and river, with power possibilities just being realized, the slogan of "An Awakening Empire" appears quite appropriate, says Reid.

Crater Lake was the most impressive scenic spot visited by the Anaheim couple. Mt. Rainier, however, was a close rival, and Stanley Park, Vancouver, Can., and the Columbia River highway "The Dalles" were also wonders well worth looking at. "Anybody is crazy to take the rim road about Crater lake," said Reid. "We took it, and it's the worst road I ever saw."

Reid, in his Jordan, drove to Vancouver, Can., in five and one-half days, and didn't race to make time at that.

CHURCH ANSWERS WIFE'S STATEMENTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Norman W. Church, nationally known capitalist of Los Angeles, Chicago, and New York, today in his first public utterance in connection with the suit filed against him by his wife and naming Mabel Normand as one of three "women in the case," branded the charges as utterly and unqualifiedly false.

"I feel that I owe it to the accused women and to my friends and myself to denounce all imputations against their character, and mine as maliciously untrue," Church said. "They are absolutely without foundation in fact.

"I will fight the case in court and the true facts will be brought forth. This is the only course my self-respect will permit me to follow."

When the truth is made known and the real facts laid bare the fallacy of the allegations will be readily seen."

The statement was issued by Church thru his personal attorney, Albert G. Welch, following a long distance telephone conversation from his Los Angeles home. Welch pointed out that the women referred to in Mrs. Church's divorce suit are not named as co-respondents but "that their names are brought into the complaint only incidentally in connection with charges of cruelty that were made."

N." was sounded at intervals, also the Cosue phrase, "Every day in every way, I am getting better and better," followed by some humorous quips. BURBANK REDUCES COST OF DAHLIAS

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Sept. 15. Luther Burbank, who gilds the lily by showing Nature how to improve upon herself, has once more reduced the high cost of living—at least for people who plant dahlia beds.

Heretofore the bulbs necessary for a bed of dahlias have cost anything from a few dollars up. Hereafter, thanks to the new Burbank giant dahlia-flowering zinnia, just about the same effect can be produced for 15 cents.

The new zinna, larger and more nearly perfect than any at present known to the world, was announced a few days ago by the Santa Rosa plant scientist. He has developed it in a multitude of shades, including crimson, pure white, yellow, old rose, salmon pink, white shaded with lemon, white shaded with orange, and half a dozen different bronzes.

The new flower has already created tremendous interest. Burbank said recently at his Santa Rosa home.

Another of the scientist's late products is a new rainbow corn crossed with the gigantic Teosinte. It marks the advent of corn as a decorative plant. The new rainbow corn derives its name from the fact that the leaves are striped with many colors. The grain is not superior for food purposes, and the ears are small.

EARLY DECISION

The hearing against Foster was held after complaints had been made that Foster's patrons here had been fleeced of their earnings.

However, Foster took the witness stand and testified that he was not responsible for the losses here in view of the fact that he disposed of his local office to J. P. Childs and B. O. J. Finnegan before the alleged actions complained of took place.

U. S. BUYS TRAIL TO GRAND CANYON

FLAGSTAFF Ariz. Sept. 15.—(INS—The world famous "bright Angel trail," which leads from the south rim of the Grand canyon of the Colorado to the Colorado river, is to be sold to the federal government, it was learned here today.

Coconino-co, owning the trail, has agreed to turn it over to the government, which will build a highway connecting Old Trail Highway with the canyon.

One trail, a toll road, nets the county about $5,000 annually but turning it over to the government will relieve the county of building 64 miles of road and providing for its maintenance.

PRINCE LEAVES FOR RANCH SOON

SYOSSET, N.Y., Sept. 15—His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, busied himself today with a long-deferred task—the writing of innumerable letters and postcards to friends abroad.

To insure execution of this task, the prince rose early. He returned home at 1 a.m., in order that he might not be forced to sleep late and further postpone the dispatch of the letters and cards. For he plans to leave here Thursday for his ranch at High River, Alberta

The prince disappeared yesterday afternoon after finishing a round at the J. S. Cosden golf course. No member of his staff knew today where he spent the time between 1:30 yesterday and 1 this morning. He told his equerry, Captain A. F. Lascelles, merely that he had had a dinner engagement.

The prince planned to play polo today after finishing his correspondence. Tonight he is scheduled to attend a dinner at the Port Washington home of Rodman Wanamaker II.

State troopers guarding the Burden estate at Syosset, where the prince is a house guest, twice were forced last night to eject a stranger who told them he was a Canadian war veteran and wanted to see Wales.

The man was halted just inside the gate. He said he had "personal business" with the prince Later the guards caught him climbing a fence. He was unarmed.

SAYS PRINCE BAD EXAMPLE FOR BOYS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Criticizing the Prince of Wales as a bad example for American youth because of his all-night dancing parties, the Rev. Robert L. Jackson, Methodist minister, today expressed regret that the visitor "with the eyes of millions directed at him," had not found time to attend church on the Sabbath.

"It is to be regretted that the prince, with the eyes of millions directed at him, did not have time to spend a while at church on the Sabbath. And with the evil influence of all-night parties raging thruout the country, it is to be regretted he did not set a good example by not participating in them."

Rev. Jackson lauded the many good qualities of the Prince of Wales, declaring him to be democratic, a good sport and brave in war.

AUTO RACE DRIVER DIES OF INJURIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. — Norbert Wiley, auto racing driver, died today from injuries suffered yesterday when his machine crashed into and killed an unidentified negro as it tore down the home stretch in a 20-mile race at Hawthorne yesterday.

The negro was crossing the track and Wiley, attempting to avoid striking him, sent his machine crashing through the inner guard fence. It turned over, pinning him beneath the wreckage. Three other cars smashed into the wreck, but their drivers escaped without serious injury.

Three other accidents marked the races. In the 50-mile race, William Jeffries was injured when his car hit the back stretch fence and overturned.

Sky Banks was probably fatally hurt when his machine turned over near the grandstand. Casey Jones was injured when his car cut 40 feet of the fence away and overturned.

But, our prices are lower, our work better, and we give better laundry service. We are doing a profitable business, have countless customers and we see no reason why we should join a combine of laundry owners and associations in order to raise prices.

We do all classes of work. Wet wash, pound rates for family bundles, rough dry and regular work.

Try us once. Compare our work, our prices and our service. You'll be satisfied and your laundry bill will be less and your patronage will be appreciated.

DEFAMATION IS COMMON WAY TO RUIN MEN

The favorite way of ruining—or attempting to ruin—men and women by those who hold grudges or enmities against them is to assail character. Start a particularly nauseous report; circulate it thoroughly—and this is easily done, as there are multitudes who revel in peddling filthy gossip—and hurt is done. The victim may have the courage to stand out against this cowardly process, even though it be hard to fight it; or he or she may give up, let it break down courage and health, and, mayhap, pass to a premature grave.

This method of attacking men and women is all too common. It is used when other methods fail. It is used—pity to say—with too great measure of success, in so far as finding believers of the scandalous reports. No matter how hideous the rumor that may be started; no matter how innocent the victim may be, there always are those who will believe—or profess to believe.

But the law of retribution frequently works in this. The defamer himself may become the target of defamation. Usually he is a coward and a weakling, and when he is attacked himself, he runs to cover and plays his true part—the coward.

This big menace—for big menace it is—is a social cancer. It will be cured some time. But until it is, the murky stream of vicious scandalmongering will flow on and on.

The greatest sayings of the ages are in fewest words. Wisdom is condensed into few and simple terms.

INTERVENTION MAY BE MADE IN CHINA

The most disquieting world news today is from China. The conflict in that country, which was of local proportions at first, threatens to become nation-wide. Foreigners are imperiled. American citizens and American interests share in this peril. The United States government gladly would maintain an absolutely neutral, non-interventional attitude. But it is feared that this cannot be. Should the passions of the Chinese become inflamed to such extent that attacks should be made upon foreigners, this country would be forced to intervene. There doubtless would be joint action by several great powers, as there was at the time of the Boxer rebellion.

China is sorely distressed. It is impossible, it seems, for the old country to quiet fires of political ambition and interprovincial jealousies and hatreds. It is this condition which brought on the present armed conflict. The war is spreading and assuming the magnitude of a civil conflict, involving the whole of China.

POEMS THAT LIVE

WHEN SHE COMES HOME

When she comes home again! A thousand ways
I fashion to myself, the tenderness
Of my glad welcome: I shall tremble—yes;
And touch her, as when first in the old days
I touched her girlish hand, nor dared unpraise
Mine eyes, such was my faint heart's sweet distress.
When silence: and the perfume of her dress:
The room will sway a little, and a haze
Clog eyesight—soul-sight, even—for a space;
And tears—yes, and the ache here in the throat,
To know that I so ill deserve the place
Her arms make for me; and the sobbing note
I stay with kisses, ere the tearful face
Again is hidden in the old embrace.

WILBUR J. CARR

The recent selection of Wilbur J. Carr to be assistant secretary of state to Charles Evans Hughes is a reward for his efficient service over a period of 22 years. It is another indication that the United States government is swinging into the custom of European countries in training its men for diplomatic service.

Carr has been director of the consular service since that position was created in November, 1909. He was chief of the consular bureau from 1902 until appointed director under the new organization several years later.

Since the establishment of the bureau of the budget Mr. Carr has been budget officer of the department of state.

He was born near Hillsboro, O., Oct. 31, 1870, and educated in the Ohio public school and Kentucky university. After accepting a clerkship in the state department in 1892, Mr. Carr studied law at Georgetown university, receiving his bachelor's degree in 1894. In 1899 he received his master's degree from Columbian university (now George Washington), taking a post-graduate course in international law, political science and diplomacy.

TIMELY VIEWS

STEEL HEAD IS OPTIMISTIC OVER BUSINESS AND LABOR CONDITIONS

The day of the demagogue and the opportunity for politicians to influence the man on the street against his best judgment and his best interest are passing, in the opinion of Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, expressed.

Capital, said Gary, has reached the point where it expects to be subjected to government supervision and he went on record as saying that he favored such government supervision where it would benefit the people in general and injure none.

Commenting upon business conditions, he said that the recent improvement, "which can be viewed with satisfaction," was by no means artificial, but simply reflected the response of the growing feeling of confidence in all lines of business endeavor and the increased buying power of the world in general. Operations of the Dawes plan, in his opinion, will have a world-wide effect on business conditions.

In a formal statement on business conditions, Judge Gary said "the iron and steel manufacturers of the country have every reason to feel satisfied with the business situation. The business atmosphere, while not so strong as some would like, is nevertheless healthful and peaceful. The information which I get regarding present conditions and future prospects are rather favorable. Crop reports in general are very good. Comparing the present reports with information received 30 days ago, they are, I should say, surprisingly good. It seems apparent that taken by and large the crops will be much larger than anticipated and certainly the value of them better than the farmers had any reason to expect a few months ago.

"This improvement in the agricultural situation furnishes a good foundation for our business hopes and beliefs. The Dawes plan is practically adopted and apparently will soon be carried into effect. This, of course, will have a good influence abroad particularly, and in fact, include our own affairs.

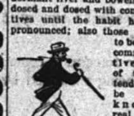

"There are no labor troubles of any kind that are at all dangerous or threatening. There seems to be very near harmonious relations between employes and employers. Money is plentiful and rates of interest are low. The amount of building throughout the country is still large and it seems to be increasing. I think every one must be surprised by the number of improvements at the present time. Our corporation is making large expenditures and improvements, more so than we supposed would be necessary or possible a few months ago. We spend about $5,000,000 monthly on extensions and improvements and our plans are to spend that much for the remainder of the year. This appears to be necessary to take care of the business on hand and the volume we expect to receive.

"The railroads of the country are commencing to buy for fall, winter and next year. They are already placing orders for substantial amounts of new rails, equipment and other materials. I read in the papers this morning that the Republic of Argentina has a bigger building boom than ever before in its experience. In the city of Buenos Aires, with a population of about 2,000,000 new building is being carried on extensively. That means that their crops are good.

SLAVES of the Laxative Habit Set FREE by "RED MIXTURE"

Those thousands of sufferers from dormant liver and bowels who have dosed and dosed with common laxatives until the habit has become pronounced; also those who dread to begin taking common laxatives because of the above tendency, will be glad to know that a real non-habit-forming Tonic Laxative has been found in "RED MIXTURE." Its originator was an ex-army surgeon of note. He discovered the remedy after years of experimenting, and introduced it 30 years ago in hospitals where it has been immensely successful. RED MIXTURE is its original hospital name.

The peculiar merit of RED MIXTURE lies in the fact that it builds up the system while giving relief; is a Tonic Laxative that does not gripe; acts smoothly and without irritation; gently stimulates the intestinal membranes to action while diluting and destroying the insidious toxin poisons that caused the trouble.

RED MIXTURE is positively non-habit-forming. Consequently, as a Tonic Laxative for expectant mothers, infants and children, RED MIXTURE is particularly beneficial. A remedy that strengthens while it eliminates. Are you afflicted with spells of gaseous stomach, headache, nervousness and other ills resultant from faulty elimination? If so, try RED MIXTURE. CANAL TEN YEARS OLR—Glendale News

It has been pointed out that, though we heard much about the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the great war, there was little or nothing said about the decennial of the Panama canal, which was opened to traffic August 14, 1914, and which was the greatest peace time achievement in history. The building of the canal, a constructive work, as against the era of destruction that opened in Europe at the same time, stands as a monument to Theodore Roosevelt, one of the greatest Americans, a much more worth while and lasting memorial than leadership in the war could have brought him.

The Panama canal carries more tonnage than the Suez, which was opened fifty-five years ago. The total cost of the canal is placed at $375,000,000 and the interest on the bonds is about $12,000,000 annually. The United States pays the government of Panama $250,000 annually for relinquishment of title. Revenue for the first six months of 1924 was $24,000,000. For the last fiscal year the surplus for sinking fund and applying to past deficits is more than $7,500,000, after deducting rental to Panama, interest on bonds and cost of operation. It is likely that the showing for the balance of this year will be still more gratifying, and it is expected that within the next fifteen years the entire cost of the project will be returned to the treasury of the United States.

Is not this a vindication of the foresight and courage and energy of Roosevelt in the face of tremendous obstacles, opposition and ridicule?

Gleanings FROM THE Book of Life
BY CLARK KINNAIRD

BRAVERY AND COWARDICE

Perfect bravery and thorough cowardice are two extremes which are seldom reached, it was observed by La Rochefoucauld.

The space between the two is great, and comprehends all other kinds of courage, between which there is as much difference as between countenances and dispositions, he pointed out.

"There are some men who expose themselves readily at the commencement of an action, and are disheartened and discouraged by its duration; some are content as soon as they have satisfied their reputation with the world, and do very little beyond this.

"We see some who are not at all times equally masters of their fears; others suffer themselves to be carried away by general panics; others go to the charge because they dare not remain in their posts.

"We find some in whom an acquaintance with petty danger strengthens their courage, and prepares them to expose themselves to greater ones.

"Some are brave when sword in hand, and yet dread the fire of musketry; others are steady under fire and dread the sword.

"All these different species of courage concur in this, that night, by augmenting fear and concealing good or bad actions, gives the privilege of being discreet.

"There is another species of discretion which is more general, for we never see a man perform as much in an encounter as he might do if he were sure of coming off safe; so that it is evident that fear of death subtracts something from courage."

* * * * *

Perfect valor, thought La Rochefoucauld, is to do unwitnessed what we should be capable of doing before all the world.

* * * * *

Love of glory, fear of shame, the design of making a fortune, the desire of rendering our lives easy and agreeable, and the envious wish of lowering the fame of others are often the causes of that valor so celebrated in men, says La Rochefoucauld.

* * * * *

It should be added: Vanity, shame, and above all, temperament, are often causes of courage in men, and of virtue in women.

Orange County Business College
SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA
32d FALL OPENING, SEPTEMBER 15, 1924

Attend a school that is well established, that owns its own building, that enjoys the confidence of the public—a school that will be here to help you after you graduate and are ready for employment. You take no chances if you choose the Orange County Business College; our thirty-two years of successful operation in this field should convince you that you are secure under our guidance. Several business schools have been started in Orange County since we organized here in 1892—The McDaniels Business College, The Way School of Shorthand, Barrow's Business College and others but where are they today? None lasted long enough to graduate the first class. You know what it means to begin in one school and have to finish in another—more time, more expense, more books to buy, new teachers with new methods—all to your detriment. You have tried that in the public school. The best is always cheapest. Then choose our Secretarial course, our Book-keeping Posting Machine Course, our Actual Business Banking Course or our Strong Course in Business Administration and Finance. It costs no more to attend this school than to attend a school of unproved merit.

SPECIAL OFFER FOR SEPTEMBER

The first ten persons residing in North Orange County who present this ad, in our college office before October 1, 1924, will be enrolled and trained in the course of their choice without the payment of a dollar for tuition until they have time to earn it after graduating. We guarantee to train you and to place you in a position, and then wait for our money until you can earn it in the position we secure for you. Is there anything fairer than this? Ask other schools you investigate if they will make you the same offer. We appreciate your patronage and want to be of service to you. Try to be one of the ten. Act today.

Orange to Stage Auto Celebration

Latest model autos of all the popular makes will be seen in the parade at the "Old Days and New Days" celebration to be staged at Orange on Friday, Oct. 3.

This unique celebration, which carries with it the idea to the developments along various lines, most certainly will serve to impress the thousands of onlookers with the advance in the automobile.

This, for the reason that the various dealers will be asked to endeavor to secure some of the older models for contrast with the latest designs.

Following the parade a large section of the Plaza in the center of the business square and in which the entire celebration will be held will be devoted to an auto show open to all dealers at a nominal cost per car entered.

Agencies interested should confer with the Orange Chamber of Commerce or with any member of the committee, namely, C. A. Sisson of Sisson's Garage, Curt E. Henderson of the Orange Studebaker Agency, or Bert Gridley of the Chevrolet agency.

Never Hope of Dry Battery's Success

The dry storage battery never was and never will be!

This is the opinion of a prominent local electrician, who quotes one T. A. Edison to confirm his conclusions. Edison declared a dry battery never will be practicable. The Anaheimer avers that until a type of dry battery is devised which doesn't require oxygen and hydrogen, it will never be successful.

"The dry battery is something that crops up periodically and has for the last 40 years," says this man. "I never knew of a dry battery concern yet that didn't go broke."

"The only praticable dry battery known is one used for laboratory experiments only, where an extremely steady flow of power is required. It is not a storage battery."

KING BORIS SIGNS DEATH WARRANTS

SOFIA, Sept. 15.—King Boris has finally given his approval to the application of capital punishment.

During the last five years, King Boris has steadfactly refused to sign death warrants, and has commuted all death sentences to life imprisonment.

Lawlessness and banditry has, however, increased to such a degree that the Ministerial Council has decreed capital punishment, and the King has reluctantly consented.

The King recently signed five death warrants on one day, the first that he has signed since he ascended the throne.

TERROR FROM RATS

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 15.—(INS)—An army of rats infested the cities and nearby districts causing terror in nearby districts.

Last night Violet Russell, 15, and her brother, Ralph, 14, children of C. A. Russell, were so badly bitten by two large rodents while they slept, that it was necessary to have the wounds cauterized and dressed by a physician.

The children were said to have been badly gnawed about the cheeks and ears.

NICHOLAS RAUCH HAS COVETED PRIZE

Nicholas Rauch is happily exhibiting a knife which he won in a swimming contest at Balboa when eight Boy Scouts and Scoutmaster Courtnay Clarke held a week-end frolic at the beach. The party was entertained in the L. P. Wilson cottage and the entertainment consisted of boat rides, contests, both swimming, other athletics and gastronomic. The boys returned last night.

Star Sales Boom In the Northwest

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 15.—Tremendous growth in sales of Star cars was announced here by Norman DeVaux, president of the Star Motor Company of California, after checking over the registrations of cars in Oregon during the month of July.

Star cars, the figures show, led all low-priced cars with three-speed transmission equipment in eight counties, tied for first place in five counties, and led all makes of motor cars in registration in one Oregon county.

The figures reveal also that Star, with a total registration of 162 cars in Multnomah county, the largest in Oregon, was a close second to its next competitor. The figure of 162 cars tops the combined effort of several of the largest California county sales records, it is stated, and almost leads the combined totals of San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda Counties of this state.

The recapitulation shows Star leading in Columbia, Coos, Douglas, Lane, Lincoln, Polk, Sherman and Wasco counties. In Lincoln county, it topped all makes of cars. Star tied for highest gear-shift car honors in the counties of Gilliam, Grant, Hood River, Morrow and Union.

DeVaux states, in making the announcement, that the figures also show the condition of business in the northwest generally and that the strength of the Star organization is growing rapidly.

Good business all over the Pacific Coast is reported at the same time. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Joaquin counties are particularly bright spots, leading in California at the present time, he added.

MAJOR GEN. HINES ASSUMES OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—Maj. Gen. John L. Hines, hero of the wars with Spain and Germany, today became chief of staff of the army, succeeding Gen. John J. Pershing.

Hines is a native of West Virginia and graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1891. He was succeeded as deputy chief of staff by Brig. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, a native of New York, who was commissioned at West Point in 1896.

Gen. Pershing will continue to maintain offices at the war department as chairman of the battle monuments commission.

HYPO KILLS FLEAS ON SOLDEIRS PETS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The mysterious disappearance of large quantities of hypo-photographic solution from the supplies of photo sections of the Army Air Service all over the country has at last been solved, and with the solution has come down the wrath of the chief of the air service.

The thefts first occurred in the twenty-second photo section, at Kelly Field, Texas, and it was not until a large 'possum was found wallowing in a hypo pan, free from fleas and with its fur long and glossy, that the mystery leaked out. What was good for fleas on a 'possum was good for fleas on his pup, thought the supply sergeant, and soon it was found that hypo worked like magic on the fleas of canines without number at Kelly Field and other air stations where the word was spread.

Accordingly an edict has gone out from General Patrick's office here that further bathing of dogs in hypo would constitute a court-martial offense.

And Kelly Field has another bed-time story. Recently, according to reports in the office of the Air Service chief here, a crew chief, while working on the tail-skid of a DeHaviland plane, surprised a large cat. Upon investigation, he found three kittens, only a few days old, housed in the fuselage. The ship has flown several times since the arrival of the kittens, and the personnel of the field has decided that they are entitled to the junior air pilot's rating.

TRUST FUND FOR AGED HUSBAND

Making three of her daughters trustees, the will of Mrs. Jennie E. Rumsey, who died in Fullerton August 30, leaving an estate of $19,000, was filed. Her heirs are an aged husband, who is left a trust fund of $9000, after whose death the fund will revert to the daughters. Five daughters will benefit as well.

ANTI-RICHARDSON LEADER CONTROLS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 15.—With arrival today of the vanguard of delegates to the state conventions of the various political parties which will be held here tomorrow, it appeared virtually certain that H. C. Nelson, an anti-Richardson leader, would be selected chairman of the Republican meeting.

Governor Richardson's forces, while opposed to Nelson, are said to feel that opposition would be useless and would only widen the rift in the party at a time when a factional fight means defeat of his presidential ticket.

So Calif. delegates, upon whom Richardson must rely in case of a contest, exhibit little interest in state issues, according to spokesmen today, taking the attitude that all members of the Republican party should unite to carry the state for Coolidge and settle their family squabbles at a later date.

Momentum which the LaFollette movement is reported to have gained is being used to whip leaders of various factions into line and to insure harmony in the state meeting.

There is no indication of a fight in the conventions of the Democratic, Socialist or Prohibitionists.

REV. GEISSINGER FLAYS REV. MYERS

Taking the topic "Christianity, Americanism and Klanism," Dr. J. A. Geissinger, pastor of the Methodist White Temple, last night launched a scathing attack on Rev. Leon L. Myers, pastor of the First Christian church, which had been dedicated only a few hours before, on the Klan and on the Plain Dealer, which for years had staunchly aided him in his work. In spite of the cool humor with which the address was filled, the Methodist pastor's sermon was anything but a dispassionate utterance.

Dr. Geissinger referred to but did not read a letter of invitation to the service extended to him by Rev. George L. Sniveley, dedicator of the Christian church, and declared it filled "with its insolence from start to finish." The invitation in the letter was confirmed by Pastor Myers in a note at its conclusion.

The Methodist pastor accused the Klan of having been sold for money, of being organized for mercenary purposes, and of spreading dissension in Anaheim. For example: "This slicker who organized the klan, and who bought it over, if there is 11,000,000, he gets a dollar a head. That is $11,000,000 right there. I do not believe it."

The letter follows:

9-14-'24.

Rev. James A. Geissinger,
Anaheim, Calif.

Dear Sir and Brother:—My attention is called to your announcement of a sensational theme for consideration in your pulpit tonight. It is presumed to be a denunciation of all things militating against peace, harmony and concord, in the community.

Today the First Christian church attempts to dedicate its beautiful costly, new church home. It needs in this attempt the sympathetic co-operation of all Christians and Christian sympathizers.

I am informed when your Methodist church was dedicated every church in the city accorded your brethren the honor of adjourning at least one service as an expression of good will and a desire to help you in your great enterprise.

I venture to predict, if you will postpone for at least one week, your contemplated denunciation of any spirit of division that may exist in this community and your appeal for fraternal love and fellowship, and unite with us in at least one service today in accordance with local procedure, your consecrated action will be more resultful of the peace, harmony, unity and concord you seek, than if you break this beautiful fraternal precedent and create the impression that you injured rather than helped the Christian church in this supreme hour of its crisis.

Earnestly hoping you will give to this city this practical exposition of mutual helpfulness; and assuring you of a welcome into our service,

I am yours fraternally,
GEO. L. SNIVELEY,
Dedicator.

Dr. Geissinger: Join most heartily with Mr. Sniveley in the sentiments and the invitation above.

LEON L. MYERS

FATHER AND SON IN FIST FIGHT

J. R. Marshall, arrested by the Fullerton police on a complaint charging assault and battery, was released on bail of $100 to appear before Judge French later. He is said to have had a fist fight with his step-son.

Joe Amaro, arrested on the charge of drunkeness and disturbing the peace, was turned over to the Brea police.

CLIMBING THE COMEDY LADDER

Admirers of Leah Baird, the fascinating screen star, and they are legion, will be eager to see her in her latest success, "The Destroying Angel," which comes to the United theatre on Tuesday for an engagement of two nights. Miss Baird has long been recognized as one of the most convincing and powerful actresses of the screen, but even her friends had hardly suspected the brilliant comedy talents she discloses in this fine picturization of Louis Joseph Vance's enthralling story. It is declared that in her adaptation of the novel Miss Baird has developed a humorous angle that materially heightens the entertainment value of the play, and that her characterization of the storm-swept heroine is a brilliant achievement. Miss Baird's friends, who have acclaimed her the Jane Cowl of the films, are now likely to allude to her as the Ina Claire of the silver screen, for certainly in this picture she is challenging comparison with the histrionic talents of both charming artists.

As a special added feature, Billy Sullivan, the handsome hero of many short comedy-dramas, will be seen in his latest series of the "Leather Pushers, "The Kid from Madrid." To the lovers of the great American sport, this will be a rare treat.

U. S. ROUND-THE-FLIERS AT CHICAGO

eastern standard time, circled over Dayton, stuck their noses into the air and were off for Chicago, the next stop on the history-making flight.

All three of the machines were working perfectly, as they flew away.

Lieut. Smith was the first in the air, followed a minute later by Lieut. Erick Nelson" and Lieut. Leigh Wade was third.

After gaining a little altitude, the three world planes formed a perfect "V" formation.

They were accompanied by an escort of three planes.

The flyers expected to make the trip to Chicago in five hours.

There was a large crowd at the field for the take-off. As the planes flew toward Chicago they gradually rose in the air to about 2000 feet.

Before the take-off, Lieut. Smith said:

"We are not taking any chances on this endeavor. Too much is at stake. We are not now flying on a schedule and will make the flight to the Pacific coast by easy stages.

"To jeopardize the success of the flight now would be folly; we are confident of ultimate success and will do nothing which might interfere.

SEIZE 100 CASES

LONG BEACH, Sept. 15—Raiding a floating machine shop, anchored here today, prohibition officers seized 100 cases of Scotch whiskey valued at $7000 and arrested J. D. Jones, a watchman, said to have been guarding the cargo.

According to the officers, the liquor was unloaded from a British freighter lying outside the international liquor zone, transferred to a fishing boat and later taken on board the machine shop barge.

BRITISH POLOISTS CHANGE LINEUP

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Stung by the crushing defeat handed them Saturday, the British polo-ists have decided to present new line-up when they take the field for the second game tomorrow. Two of the four who played Saturday, Captain Luis Lacey and Major F. N. Hurndall, will remain, while Kirkwood and Atkinson, who started Saturday, will be replaced.

The new line-up that will be presented will show Lieut. Col. G. P. Melville, in place of Kirkwood, at No. 1; Major Phipps-Hornby, in place of Major Murndall, at No. 2; Major Hurndall of Atkinson at No. 2, and Captain Lacey, who played so brilliantly in the first game, again holding his position at back.

It is very probable that the American line-up will be changed, with R. E. Strawbridge of Philadelphia, taking the place of Malcolm Stevenson, who was injured Saturday. Stevenson, who suffered a slight concussion of the brain and minor bruises, insisted he would play. His wife reported his condition as very favorable and said only doctors' orders would prevent him from playing.

In Saturday's play the British team appeared to be hopelessly outclassed and evidently the Americans should win the contest tomorrow, thus retaining the hold on the gold challenge cup.

The fact that the American four had the game well won is sufficient cause for them to play a purely defensive game in the last four periods. They kept their fastest ponies on the sidelines. Robt. F. Strawbridge of Philadelphia, who took the injured player's place, covered himself with glory. He is a fast, clever rider. His mallet work was of the gilt edge sort and he has played polo enough to be considered a first-class player in every respect.

TITLEHOLDERS LOSE EXHIBITION MATCH

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 15.—An exhibition match between William Tilden and Johnny Hennessy of Indianapolis, paired against Robert and Howard Kinsey, national doubles champions, prior to the opening of the state tennis tournament today, resulted in a defeat for the titleholders. The national singles champion and the local start won 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

ENGLISHMAN WINS

DEL MONTE, Sept. 15.—An Englishman reigned supreme in California goldom today.

By virtue of his crushing defeat of Rudy Wilhelm over the Pebble Beach course in the finals of the California State Golf championship, Captain A. Bullock Webster of Del Monte, British war veteran and formerly of the Sunningdale club, England, was crowned champion for the coming year.

Webster defeated Wilhelm 7 and 5.

PROPS IN TOURNEY

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Sept. 15.—Elimination play in the annual Professional Golfers' Ass'n championship meet started here today with 63 entrants teamed in threes for the first 32 holes.

The low men in all threes today will be paired for match play, which starts tomorrow.

The entrants include virtually all the stars of American professional golf. Among them are Gene Sarazen, present champion; Walter Hagen, winner of the British open title; Mike Brady, Metropolitan open titleholder; Willie Melborn, western open champion; Leo Diegel, Canadian open champion, and Jim Barnes, twice a P. G. A. champion.

Today's play will be over a course made fast and somewhat hard by lack of rain.

ELECTRIC STORM STARTS 5 FIRES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15 — A thunder and lightning storm, which brought rain that materially aided in quenching the disastrous Bloomfield fire in Tahoe National Forest, started five new blazes which were fiercely running through brush and timber lands today altho officials reported conditions for their control were promising.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15 — With weather conditions better today than for more than a week the California forest fire situation was described as "looking brighter' today by the U S. District Forester's office here, following a checkup of the three affected forest areas where tens of thousands of acres have been devastated in the last two weeks.

After more than 30,000 acres of brush and timber lands had been reduced to blackened wastes the San Gabriel fire in the Angeles National Forest was reported partially controlled.

Two additional experienced forest rangers were expected momentarily today from Arizona and New Mexico to assist Cal. ofrnia officials, it will be announced.

Altho the Monterey division fire in Santa Barbara National Forest was still burning today it had been controlled on the south and east sides ,the forester's office said, and conditions there look promising for complete control.

The blaze is still active in the Little Sur and Lion Camp regions. Twenty-five men are being held on the fire line.

More than 20,000 acres of brush and timber has been destroyed in this area, a survey revealed.

Grass Valley and Nevada City high school boys who were hurriedly impressed to fight the disastrous Bloomfield fire in Tahoe National Forest were released from duty today, and returned to school, which had suspended during the critical period of the fires, following the bringing of the blaze under control today.

FISTIC ENCOUNTER BEFORE CHURCH

A fistic encounter is said to have occurred last night about 9 o'clock infront of the newly-dedicated First Christian church between Howard H. Gates and Bob Beat, which is alleged to have knocking Gates down. John Beat, father of the younger Beat, appeared before Judge Kuchel today, and refused to enter a plea of guilty to assault and battery, but the Judge would not accept his plea. No complaint had been filed this afternoon, and it was said that none probably would be. Police said no action would be taken unless a complaint was filed. The fight is said to have occurred when Gates, who had just come from a meeting at the White Temple, made derogatory remarks about Rev. Leon L. Myers.

Mrs. Allen Myers, daughter of Mrs. J. F. McCracken, is visiting her people, at 425 North Philadelphia street. Mrs. Myers arrived here Saturday from Her home in Dodge City, Kansas, to remain ten days.

HEAVIES WILL BE WINTER FEATURE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—Heavyweights will be featured frequently at Madison Square Garden this winter if Tex Rickard can employ his persuasive eloquence to good effect on certain managers who are beginning to realize that the days of fabulous purses for ordinary fighters are passing.

Today Rickard will endeavor to talk Eddie Kane and Leo P. Flynn in to matching Tom Gibbons and Jack Renault for a November scuffle. Other prospective affrays will also be discussed.

Both Gibbons and Renault want Willis. Also Luis Firpo, who will linger here until next spring if he beats the deportation proceedings. He is under contract to Rickard for two more fights.

Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, a n d George Godfrey, Philadelphia black heavyweight, can be backed into Rickard's stall. These two, with Firpo, Willis, Renault and Gibbons, are the six most prominent "logical contenders."

Rickard should be able to arrange many interesting combination from tha: field. Wills should go well with Renault, Godfrey or Gibbons. So should Firpo. Tunney fits in with either Gibbons or Renault.

Wills and Firpo have ignored Godfrey. Renault won a ten round decision from him recently, but the colored man put up a great battle.

Neither Firpo nor Wills will fight until late in the fall or early in the winter. Firpo will accept any match Rickard makes for him. Wills may be more cautious.

The white boys have lost much of their feart of Wills since the Firpo fight. Eddie Kane spoke for himself, however, Wills is going to take a rest, so Rickard wants Kane to take either Renault or Tunney.

If Firpo is available he may be tossed in with Gibbons or Renault. No matches will be made for Firpo however, until he clears himself of legal entanglements.

Tagging All Bases

The Giants butchered the Cards again 8 to 2, and retained their lead of nine points over Brooklyn. Nehf and Gowdy, batery mates, knocked homers.

Vance won his fourteenth straight and his 26th game of the year by blanking the Reds with four hits, 2 to 0, the Dodgers increasing their lead over Pittsburg to two full games.

The Tigers turned on the Senators, a homer by Manush with the bases full winning the game 5 to 2.

The Yanks curled up before Hollis Thurston's shoots and dropped a game to the White Sox 5 to 2. The champions still trail the Senators by one game.

The Red Sox got good pitching when they didn't need it. Ross allowing only four hits as he mates battered Sisler's pitchers. Score, Boston 10; St. Louis 0.

"THE TOREADOR" AT FAIRYLAND

"The Toreador," a novel motion picture and which was produced in the arena at Madrid, Spain, will be the feature for today's program at the new Fairyland theatre. It is said to be the greatest bull fight picture ever imported to America and shows Gaona, Gallito and Belmonte, the three greatest toreadors in all Spain. Gallito and Belmonte are Spaniards, while Gaona is a Mexican by birth. "The Toreador" shows an audience of several thousand people witnessing a performance wherein each toreador kills two bulls.

Alexander Alt and Helen Howell also appear in two 2-reel comedies, entitled "In 24 Hours" and "You Can't Tell," which helps to make tonight's show as good a program as the Fairyland has offered the public so far this year.

BROKEN BARRIERS AT CALIFORNIA

It wasn't Reginald Barker who first said that "eyes are the mirrors of the soul," but his name is on the scroll of those who have given this optical quotation their fullest endorsement. This famous director, in casting his pictures pays as much attention to the color of the eyes as he does to reputed acting ability. For example, in casting his latest production for the Metro-Louis B. Mayer interests, "Brok. en Barriers", which is coming to the California Theatre tomorrow and Wednesday, Mr. Barker was guided by the following formula in order to bring to the screen the exact characterizations:

Pale Blue with shifting and unsteadfast gaze: Deceit, selfishness.

Gray and Greenish Gray: Impressionable, impulsive, unreliable.

Light Brown: Lack of constancy

Greenish Brown: Coquetry, lack of sincerity

Russet Brown: Affectionate, sweet gentle.

Dark Brown: Intense affection, passionate.

Very Dark Brown or Black: Extreme ardor in love.

Indefinite Color: Listless, cold disposition, selfishness.

"Please don't get the impression that, literally, I believe the color of the eyes always mirror the soul of their owner," said Mr. Barker regarding his formula. "While for example, dark blue eyes may mean purity of soul in many instances there are cases where, like dark brown eyes, they spell a passionate nature."

Lesson No. 9

Stance, Control and Distance.

Turn your left foot out toward the hole in an imaginary line your ball is to follow and the right pointing almost at right-angles to the ball. Keep your head down until your club head sweeps the ball away.

The distance possible to hit a golf ball with the wood club is from 225 to 275 yards, that is for true control and placement. The full carry is from 200 to 240 yards and then a little roll to make the extra yardage. On a very hard skin course your ball will roll further.

If you are hitting 175 yards to 200 yards in through control of direction, you are going exceptionally well. Greater distance will come through practice when you have mastered the proper pivot from the left shoulder and the timing of all your muscles as you hit through the ball.

In my own case, when I was just an amateur, not more than 14 years, I knew that as I grew older and stronger I could get the distances. My aim then was to hit true with control even if only 150 yards and practice every chance I got.

The kids used to get me out of bed at 5 o'clock in the morning by pulling a piece of string tied to my ankle. It was an awful job for me to get up in the morning. We kids walked 3 miles to the golf course to play. Often the wind was blowing and the grass very wet, but we have plenty of pep and didn't mind the elements.
