COAST-WISE GALE HITS NO. STATES

Terrific Wind Paralyzes Shipping on Northern Pacific Today

PORTLAND, Oct. 29.—Portland continued today to be the center of a coast-wise storm which last night swept over Oregon and Washington and caused damage in several localities.

North Head weather bureau station, off the mouth of the Columbia river, reported a wind of 70 miles an hour early today which whipped the bar and sea into mountainous waves. Few vessels crossed out and indications were that shipping would be considerably delayed for a day or more until the storm subsides.

High winds howled thru Portland all night and showed no signs of abating this morning. A driving rain accompanied the fall being recorded at .33 of an inch during the past 24 hours.

Hogpen were damaged in Tillamook, Ore., by an electrical storm. At Roseburg, a power line went out. The North Umpqua river is reported flooding and other small streams are swollen.

Eastern Oregon reported that the rain had greatly benefited winter wheat.

A light snow fell at Klamath Falls yesterday afternoon, following rainfall of 1.42 inches during the day.

RAINFALL ABOVE NORMAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—With rainfall already measuring more than three inches against a normal seasonal precipitation of .0144 inches, a steady downpour continued today.

Reports from the entire northern California district indicated that the drought was effectively being ended by general rain which had reached and passed normal seasonal course in all sections.

Livestock owners were jubilant and grain growers happy over the rain which came at a most opportune time.

Grazing this winter will be the best in four years, the livestock men predicted as result of the early continued rains.

The storm accompanying the rainfall whipped the bay into a choppy sea which made navigation difficult. A 50-mile wind which swept up Richardson's bay caused many fine yachts anchored at Sausalito to drag anchor and one went adrift.

Four youths whose boat capsized in the bay were rescued.

According to reports from the mountains snowfall was plentiful but in places the warm temperatures caused the snow to turn to rain.

The skies cleared during the day but the weather bureau said occasional showers could be expected this afternoon and tomorrow with probably clear and warmer weather Thursday.

Storm [illegible] have been changed southwest and are being continued from Point Arena northward to Tatoosh Island.

PLEASANT SHOWER IN NO. ORANGE-CO.

From .32 to .45 of an inch of rain fell last night and early this morning in No. Orange-co, bringing the season's total to around .50, against .26 last year at this date. However, the district is still behind the average.

That is the report of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n, the the gauge at Nebelung ranch showed .35.

A. G. Bradford of Placentia reported .45, making .47 for the season.

The Yorba Linda Citrus Ass'n gauge showed .44 making .47, also.

The La Habra Citrus Fruit Ass'n's measurement was .37 and Fullerton's total is believed to have been about the same as the ange & Lemon Ass'n.

These light rains help to set the fruit at least, says Manager O. W. Sandilands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n.

The trees also are washed off and the ground prepared for heavier rains to sink in more easily, if they come.

Closing of Border May Be Advanced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Positive assurances were given Congressman Phil Swing of California today by the treasury department that there would be no change in present closing hour of traffic on the United States-Mexican border, 9 p.m.

In making the announcement Swing declared that a veritable avalanche of telegrams of protest have been received by him and the treasury department, since the agitation began to set the closing hour back to 12 midnight.

Scores of women's clubs, individual and organizations generally made up the list that demands "for the good of American communities near the border," that the border close each night at 9 o'clock.

Swing predicted today that instead of there being any possibility of the lid being lifted, the border would probably be closed tighter, with a change from 9 to 7.

BEST PRICES OF SEASON FOR FRUIT

No. Orange-co. Exchange Moves 740 Cars of Oranges in Oct.

With oranges companding the best price of the season to date, the No. Orange-co Citrus Exchange will have shipped 740 cars of valencias during October, according to an estimate given today, and 10 cars of lemons, more oranges than in either September or August.

Another good piece of news for growers is that some valencias of the 1924-25 crop on the tree, are even now as large as some of the small sizes picked recently.

According to Manager G. W. Sandilands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n, oranges in the Anaheim district this season included the largest proportion of small sizes in 32 years past. Naturally a marked improvement next year is anticipated.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange is calling for estimates of the new crop of Nov. 1, and these are expected to be all in and compiled within a few days.

There is very little storage of lemons in California now and prices for them are expected to hold up well.

When the valencia shipping season of the old crop will close is uncertain, but may easily run until Nov. 10, according to the Southern Pacific. The offshoots fruit is always an uncertain shipment problem.

Eclipsing all previous seasonal price marks, Orange-co valencias yesterday sold on the New York auction market up to $10.45.

This is approximately 50 cents higher than any previous level.

In addition there were, on the New York market alone, two lots bringing $9.20 and $9.30, three lots selling at $8.20, $8.25 and $8.80, eight lots at $7.90 to $7.95 and nine lots at $6.00 and up but less than $7.00.

Five or six lots outside New York brought $7.00 or better and 13 lots $6.60 and up.

No. Orange-co fruit figured strongly among the leaders.

Nearly all the markets were steady or higher.

Lemons sold up to $7.50, but receipts were small.

BANDIT GANG MAKES RAID ON BANK

SOLDIER, Ia., Oct. 29.—A sensational raid was made on this town early this morning by a bandit gang believed to number eight or ten men, arriving in two automobiles. They first cut 11 wire communication lines into the town and then, in a thoroughly business-like manner, proceeded to throw a cordon around the Soldier Valley Savings Bank.

All were armed with sawed-off shotguns and revolvers. A lookout man, heavily armed, was posted by the bandits on the main street, into town to prevent surprise from the outside.

Inside the cordon of bandits around the bank, part of the gang worked calmly, under fire, placing a charge of explosives against the wall of the vault. With a deafening roar, which rattled windows in the town and woke up every citizen not already engaged in forming a posse to battle the bandits, the bank vault was blown.

The bandits then helped themselves to $4000 in cash and bonds and commenced their retreat.

MILEY TO DRILL 5500 FEET DEEP

The well being drilled by E. J. Miley for the Marland Oil Co. just west of Anaheim reached the 4500-foot mark today. This is the depth originally planned to test out.

There have been no oil showings encountered to this depth, according to D. M. Wallace, engineer for Miley. However, bosses of the easter drilling conditions that have been encountered recently, indicate that the Marland Company had authorized Miley to proceed to 5500 or 6000 if necessary.

With E. K. Allison as drilling superintendent, hole has been made at an average rate of 100 feet per day for nearly three weeks. The shale is getting browner now, giving rise to hopes that something may be found shortly.

Young Mother Shoots Husband Fatally Thru Door of Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—"I did it for you, precious; no one shall harm you."

Clasping her 12-months-old son a bit tighter, Mrs. Beulah Harris, 23, dry-eyed, calm and unremorseful at the county jail, today answered questions regarding her shotgun killing of her husband, Roy, by thus addressing the chubby, gleeful boy in her arms.

"I didn't mean to kill him," she added. "He was trying to break in the rear door of my little home. I told him not to. I telephoned police and then he smashed the glass and began to batter the door. I grabbed my brother's shotgun and just fired to scare him."

The charge of the shotgun caught Harris in the chest and he tumbled back down the back stairs dead.

The Harris' had been separated four months and Mrs. Harris had sued for divorce. She told police her husband had been cruel to her and had threatened her life and told her he would take the baby.

"It was his life or mine, I guess," she told police.

A charge of murder probably will be reduced to one of "justifiable homicide," police said.

SAYS G. O. P. PAYS FOR ACTORS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A diverting exposition of some of the "under cover methods" and "inside politics" of the presidential campaign now drawing to a close entertained the senate campaign investigation committee for two hours this morning.

Altho the chief reason for the calling of most of the witnesses was to clear up how much money they had handled or tried to handle in the campaign, the testimony for the most part did not deal with the collection or expenditure of large sums, but glittered with interesting sidelights on the activities of the party managers and ended at noon with a charge by Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Sen. Robert M. La Follette, that supporters of La Follette were being "bribed" to support the Coolidge-Dawes ticket.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The visit of a troop of actors, such as called on President Coolidge at the White House, was "offered" to the La Follette-Wheeler campaign committee for $50,000, Gilson Gardner, a Washington newspaper correspondent, today told the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.

His statement followed the disclosures to the committee by Rhinelander Waldo, police commissioner of New York and president of the Coolidge-Dawes non-Partisan League that the actors' visit was paid for by Republican campaign funds.

Gardner said the offer was made to him as publicity director for the La Follette committee by representatives of the "Shubert Theatrical Co." the delegation to include Al Joslon, John Drew and Charlotte Greenwood.

He turned down the offer, Gardner said, on the ground that the Progressives could not afford to pay $50,000 and suggested that the offer be made to the Republicans.

"I guess they accepted it," Gardner said, referring to the visit of Al Joison and other actors to the White House, made by the leadership of Col. Rhinelander Waldo, president of the Coolidge Non-partisan League.

Gardner said he had heard that the same offer was made to Robt. M. La Follette, jr., son of the senator.

He was put on the stand by Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Sen. La Follette, solely to bring out the story of the $50,000 offer.

Col. Waldo had previously denied before the committee that the actors who called on President Coolidge were "hired" to come here from New York and said he knew nothing of an organization which offered the services of actors for political purposes.

"How did it happen to call yourself a non-Partisan league" Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, the committee chairman asked.

"Some of our members are Democrats who will vote for Al Smith for governor of New York," Waldo said, "but the league regards the election of Pres. Coolidge as essential and is united on the Republican national ticket.

Waldo said he was a farmer.

"Do you mean you make your living by farming?" asked Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Sen. Robert M. LaFollette.

"Not entirely," said Waldo, "but I'm engaged in no other business at present."

"Do you plant?"

"No, I hire that done."

"You are a very wealthy man, aren't you?"

EXPERT TURNERS EXHIBIT TONIGHT

Turn Vereins or Turn Societies were started in this country in 3871 and have become one of the most popular gymnasium institutions in the larger cities. They are strictly 100 per cent American and are members of the American Gymnastic Union.

Los Angeles has one of the largest institutions of this kind on the coast, under the direction of Mr. Carl Mettler, who was the fore-runner of New York City. From there he went to the Normal College where the finest turners of the country are taught to be instructors. Finally he took charge of the Los Angeles Society and the club has proved very popular.

Seattle has a Turn Society larger than the Los Angeles society, starting with 12 members and steadily climbing until around 3,000 members were obtained.

The muscular system is very complex and the best method for the stimulation of every part is indeed a science. The turner's aim is to teach the masses thoro and systematic exercises. In each individual strength, ability, age and sex must be considered when taking exercises so that they may attain health, proper carriage, grace and vigor.

It is practically useless to be an expert in one line of gymnastic athletics as this method only gives unusual development to certain parts and neglects other parts which may need more attention. Special forms of athletics have a tendency to throw the physical system out of balance. It is only through a systematic set of exercises that we can give full development to the body, give all the muscles benefit of training and mold into a well-balanced, proper functioning healthy individual.

The turners, by easy stages and graduation in exercises, turn out efficient and expert athletes within a certain period of time. This is attained by all forms of apparatus work and games.

Graduates of turning will be seen at the Concordia club this evening.

Tickets are on sale at Lowen stein's Delicatessen store and Hammel's Music Store.

PLAYS HOLE IN ONE BY ELECTRIC LIGHT

BRIARCLIFF, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The one topic of conversation today about Briarcliffe Lodge was over the way in which Gene Sarazen, formerly national open golf champion, played a hole in one under artificial light at night.

EX-PUGILIST SLAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"Crooked Neck" Jack O'Brien, formerly a featherweight pugilist, but more recently, police say, manager of a "speak easy," was found murdered in front of his home and place of business on West 39th st here today. He had been shot four times.

Police began a search for Mrs. O'Brien, who was not about the neighborhood. They were not able to ascertain if she had spent the night at home.

RESUME PROBE OF SLUSH FUND

"No, I wouldn't say that."

It was brought out by Walsh that Waldo's organization paid for the recent visit of Al Jolson and a group of actors to the White House in the interest of Pres. Coolidge's candidacy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Methods of the La Follette-Wheeler committee in raising campaign funds were outlined today by the senate investigating committee by H. L. Brunson, of the International Ass'n of machinists. Brunson said he was in charge of collecting funds under the direction of Wm. H. Johnston, president of the association and one of the La Follette backers.

He reported the collection of $120,000 from the trade unions.

RADICALS COLLECT $17,818

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The National Progressive Committee Representative John M. Nelson, chairman, and the La Follette-Wheeler National Joint committee have collected a total of $171,812 and expended $157,122, according to a report received today by the clerk of the house of representatives.

This report, it is stated, does not include collections received by the Washington headquarters of La Follette and Wheeler.

The individual contributions of $100 or more reported by Nelson total $68,123; contributions under $100, $35,462 and collections at mass meetings, and thru state gatherings $48,118. These totals represent the collection and expenditures between Aug. 23 and Oct. 22.

Among the larger individual contributions were Frank P. Walsh, New York, $2000; A. T. Cole, Des Moines, Ia., $5000; Mrs. A. B. Leach, New York, $1000; Martin Ryan, Kansas City, $1500; H. L. Bronson, Washington, $1,500; J. A. Padway, Milwaukee, $1000; Representative Victor Berger, Socialist leader of Milwaukee, $100.

The Steuben National Campaign committee of New York, when in for La Follette and Wheeler, reported receipts of $18,536 and expenditures of $14,484.

Edward M. Sullivan, Rhode Island, liberal independent candidate for senator reported to the secretary of the senate expenditures of $75 and no contributions.

REQUIRED ENDORSEMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Indorsement of the Coolidge-Dawes candidacy was required of negro newspaper editors before they were allotted advertising by the Republican National Committee, the senate campaign investigating committee was informed this afternoon.

The witnesses were Carl Murphy and H. P. Arnold, editor and business manager of the Afro-American, a negro newspaper of Baltimore. The paper refused to make an agreement with the Republicans, Murphy and Arnold said, and the paper is now supporting Sen. La Follette.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The senate investigatin of campaign expenditures was resumed today with the probers continuing a search for Republican campaign funds in excess of the $3,000,000 spent by the Republican National committee.

The first witness, Col. Rhinelander Waldo, of Garrison, N. Y., testified to the collection of $15,000 in New York state for the Coolidge non-partisan league. This money is being used, Waldo said, to pay for Republican speakers and campaign meetings in New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

HOLD TWO CHINESE

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.— Two Chinese were under arrest today and two tear gas bombs and a sawed-off repeating rifle was seized as a result of a police raid on Chinatown, where the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs are at war.

Dr. Carleton Simon, special deputy police commissioner, who has successfully tried to effect peace, said he was fearful that the tongs were planning to modernize their feud on a large scale with tear bombs.

The bombs, police said, were found in the possession of Ling Wong Chue.

Another Hip Sing, John Sing, 65, was arrested and a repeating rifle and a box of ammunition in his laundry confiscated.

ADDITIONAL STARS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Famous names, familiar to all followers of baseball, are being added daily to the lineup for the Elks' benefit ball game to be played at the Brea bowl next Friday. The list already includes such drifters as Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth, the Meusel boys, Earl Johnson, Donnie Bush, Earl Fields, Eddie Brasier, Archie Hawkins, Perry Callahan, Herb Salverson, Jo Huarte, Rube Ellis, Sam Crawford, Ken Williams, Jimmie Austin, Harvey McClellan, Johnnie Mitchell, Tuffy Tyrell, and Harry Hughes.

While an enormous crowd is expected, the committee in charge of arrangements anticipates no difficulties in handling the crush. The natural amphitheatre at Brea will hold all comfortably. Reports from prominent Elks who have viewed the grounds, and sales of tickets so far are said to indicate that the reserved section will soon be entirely sold out.

Plans for an elaborate reception to the baseball players, both at Brea and Anaheim, are nearing completion. The Meusel boys are members of Elks' Lodge No. 1346, Anaheim, and Walter Johnson's former home was Olinda, in the No. Orange-co oil fields, while many of the other players have personal friends here.

GIRLS BASKETBALL SCHEDULE OPENS

The Girls' Basketball League will open tomorrow with three first team games: Anaheim at Tustin, Garden Grove at Fullerton and Orange at Huntington Beach.

Miss Irene Jacques, girls' coach, feels sure that both the first team and the skeeters will win their games against Tustin. Only Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange and Santa Ana have skeeter teams this year.

Remainder of the schedule for the season, two games being played, one by each team, where the opposing schools have two teams: Nov. 6—Anaheim at Santa Ana; Orange at Fullerton and Huntington Beach at Tustin; Nov. 13—Orange at Garden Grove, Huntington Beach at Santa Ana and Tustin at Fullerton, Anaheim drawing a bye; Nov. 20—Huntington Beach at Anaheim, Tustin at Garden Grove and Fullerton at Santa Ana; Nov. 25—Tustin at Orange, Fullerton at Anaheim and Santa Ana at Garden Grove; Dec. 4—Fullerton at Huntington Beach, Santa Ana at Orange and Garden Grove at Anaheim; Dec. 11—Anaheim at Orange, Santa Ana at Fullerton and Garden Grove at Huntington Beach.

The lineup for tomorrow's games tentatively arranged by Miss Jacques is: First team—Florence Winters, jumping center; Ted Bemish and Captain Grace Holdsworld; forwards, Lydia Moore and Ember Heyne; and guards, Esther Hile and Madeline Toussou; Skeeters (picked by Irma Young, coach) Catherine Meus and Mary Jane Van Booven; forwards, Alma Caller and Thelma Keller; guards, Iona McMurty and Evelyn Simms.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN F. BROWN

The wonderful work of "Red" Grange as a member of the Illinois football team in recent seasons has caused many followers of the Illini to class him as the greatest player ever to represent that institution.

All such assertions are merely topics for debate, but to me there seems to be but one man in Illinois history who must be weighed carefully with Grange before such a statement is accepted. That man is Harold Pogue.

Just 14 years ago Pogue, a halfback, stamped himself as one of the greatest men in grid history. He stood out as the greatest open field runner in the west, if not in the game at the time. The aerial game had not come into vogue then so that the open field runner was the leading main asset, especially against a heavy line. Pogue not only "worked" a broken field with uncanny skill but could hit the line on occasion with such force that he usually carried his tacklers a yard or two.

Old Illini men recalled one play designed to help Pogue in carrying the ball. This was a straight pass from center. Pogue took the ball some six yards back of the scrimmage. To give him a quicker getaway the center passed the ball a bit to the right or left as the play was to go. Pogue started before the ball reached him.

There are many men of the Orange and Blue who will give you an argument though on the relative worth of Pogue, and some of the later stars such as Walquist and Stanowicz, products of the Zuppke regime. Back in the more distant days was Carl Lundgren, Art Mall, Matthews and others.

Grange must be great to overshadow these men who have written many chapters of glorious football history before him. He is still writing his grid biography. With many games ahead of him he has a wonderful chance to place his name high enough to eliminate any need for discussion.

Have you ever played the favorites in a day's racing across the Board only to see or read of the long shot boys copping? Course you have. If you follow the ponies. Then you swore off the sire choices and started playing the wild ones, only to have the dope prove true to form.

This being the case with about every railbird in the game some facts collected regarding the outcome of the thoroughbred meets on the New York tracks the past season are interesting.

The results of 830 races were tabulated. These results showed that in 358 of the races favorites won. In other words 40 per cent of the time the dope was good. Second choices came through in 210 events—a percentage of 23.

Odds—on horses won 121 events. Also, 87 odds on horses lost.

Now, figuring a flat bet of $5 on each favorite on every one of the races the man who stuck absolutely to favorites would be out $1,150. The boy who played safe and put it on second choice would be out just $212.50.

On the daily card the second, third and fourth races seemed to be the best ones for the first choices. The sixth race seemed built for the second choice nags. These facts prove once more that all one needs to beat the runners is the dope on when the favorites are ready to win and when their turn has come to lose.

Wonder if there is any connection between the tendency of wives to shoot their husbands and the action of the University of Pennsylvania officials in resuming rifle shooting as a sport.

NEW YORK WANTS TO GLIMPSE FUENTE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Tony Fuente, sensational So. Calif. heavyweight, was today invited to box in New York City, according to his manager, Fred Wilson. Fuente should he accept the eastern invitation, will meet either Jack Renalt, Luis Firpo or George Godfrey.

BEARS KICK AT PLAYING OF COLE

BERKELEY, Oct. 29—U. of C. has protested to the U.S.C. against allowing Bill Cole, varsity tackle of the Trojans to play in the game between Cal. and U.S.C., in Berkeley next Saturday, on the ground that Cole has coached football at Santa Ana High school.

The protest was sent recently by Dean Joel Hildebrand of the U. of C. to Wm. H. LaPorte, director of physical education at U.S.C., it became known today.

"We have information in our possession showing beyond doubt that Cole has been engaged as a coach at Santa Ana High school," Dean Hildebrand said today.

"We have received an answer from Mr. LaPorte to our protest but no definite action has yet been taken by the U.S.C. authorities. However, we are certain that when we present our facts to U.S.C., they will comply with our request and rule Cole out of their lineup.

"Stanford University is also in possession of the same facts and I understand that they too will file a similar protest."

Coach Elmer Henderson of the Trojans said he was confident when University of California authorities had fully investigated charges against Cole, they would consent to his playing in Saturday's game.

"We have sworn statements from five Santa Ana H. S. authorities that Cole received no pay for coaching and when California's officials look them over, the complaint against Cole will be withdrawn, I am sure," said Henderson.

NOT PROFESSIONAL COACH

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Bill Cole, U. S. C. tackle, coached at the Santa Ana H. S., it was admitted here today by U. S. C. football officials. However, he contributed his services and never acted as a professional coach, it was said.

Affidavits from Santa Ana H. S. authorities setting forth that Cole received no money for his coaching there were forwarded to Berkeley today.

Airplane passenger and freight service is to be established between Leopoldville and Ritzabethville, Belgian Congo, a distance of 1200 miles.

STOCK MARKET OFF GENERALLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Stock prices were generally inclined to lower price levels in a dull and featureless market today. Selling pressure was directed against the industrial and specialty stocks and in the absence of buying power, prices showed slight losses from yesterday's closing level; but the movement was by no means uniform, since a number of prominent stocks like American Tobacco, Mullinson Silk, Montgomery Ward, etc., were strong enough to move against the general trend of the market and to record new high prices for the current movement. The industrial market leaders exhibited the same signs of nervousness which were in evidence on Monday and Tuesday and which, according to economic and business experts, is also apparent in industry and business.

The Iron Age said today that the election continues to influence the steel market, holding back some orders which might otherwise be placed this week. This is, of course, regardless of that 10-point rally in the market on Tuesday.

The underlying strength of the stock market was seen in the easy manner in which U. S. Steel, American Can and others of the high priced industrials which were thrown on the market in the first hour and in the prompt rally in price which followed the cleaning away of the accumulation of selling orders.

Efforts of the bear party to cause a general unsettlement of prices were unsuccessful and in the third and fourth hours the market approached the position of a stalemate with neither side able to make much of an impression on prices.

The quick rise of American Tobacco to 166½, up five points from the previous close, was due to the action of the directors in placing the stock on a 14 per cent dividend basis preparatory to splitting up the stock on a 2 for 1 ratio next month, Mullinson's Silk advance to a new high on the move at 27 reflected not only the recent improvement in the financial position of the company but also the current decline in the market for raw silk of which Mullinson is a heavy buyer.

Better records were made today by the motor stocks, while oils and coppers were reactionary under profit taking. Oils also showed the effect of the renewal of the gasoline price war in the west. Stocks of the Mercantile companies like Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Associated Drygoods, were in good demand and sold higher. Rails were neglected and so were the Equipment, Public Utilities, Shipping and Independent Steel shares Sugars were irregular with American Sugar and the Cuban Sugars at lower prices.

Call money ruled at 2½ per cent.

Stock sales today 591,000 shares; bonds $10,622,000.

OHIO HAS VERY LIGHT BACKFIELD

(This is the fifth of a series of football articles by Davis J. Walsh, who is making a tour of the leading collegiate camps, east and west.)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.— Dr. John Wilce, a scholarly soul and just a bit austere, had been reeling the writer in his precise way just what men had made a good team at Ohio State in 1924 out of a bad team in 1923. Subsequently, for purposes of accuracy, I asked:

"Just who were these men you esteem?"

"I esteem them all," said he and glanced out over the gridiron where two of his four varsity teams were engaged in legalized mayhem.

"Why you big palooka——"

The doctor was speaking. His tone was that of a man who inadvertently swallowed bananas oil in place of mayonnaise and a depressing silence fell upon all.

"I've been telling you for a week where to stand on that shift."

The doctor clutched the big palooka by the loose of his jersey and urgently but not infirmly showed him where to stand.

"Yes, I have a pretty good team," he continued reflectively. "It looks like our best since 1924, when we were beaten out of the conference championship in the last minute of the season. Oh, awful! Let me at him——"

They let the doctor at him. The latter was seemingly a very estimable young man who had just left the center to decorated block.

7. Marchers wear numbers in front on left shoulder.

8. All marchers on foot assemble on Kroeger and Topeka streets.

9. Vehicles place number on left side of car in plain view.

EXTEND VALENCIA SHIPPING SEASON

With Florida still holding off shipments, except in very limited quantities, So. Calif., particularly Orange co. will be able to ship until Nov. 10-15, according to G. W. Sandilands, manager of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n.

No final closing date has been set or can be set, said Sandilands, all depending upon Florida and the state of the market. Florida is benefiting also by waiting until its fruit is thoroly mature, Sandilands' view is that shipping won't be finished this week or next, as things look now.

This is very much the exception of other years, and Nov. 1 always has been considered the beginning of the new season.

Prices rose yesterday and again today, and a strong market to the end is confidently anticipated. The top auction mark yesterday, $5.45, at New York, was among the best prices of the season, while four other lots on the same market brot $5 to $5.70. Several markets passed the $7 mark.

With prices up, the packing association would be foolish to stop shipping yet, says Sandilands. The associations appear more likely to hold out now than the independents.

The suit may also contain a demand for damages for alleged slander, Fallon said.

TRAFFIC A SHAMBLES, STATISTICS SHOW

Traffic is becoming a shambles. Men, women and children are being mowed down in alarming numbers. A ghastly total of 14,412 deaths occurred in the United States during 1923 caused by automobiles and other motor vehicles. This represents a death rate, the country over, of 14.9 out of every 100,000 of population. But California, having the highest rate of all the states, showed 32.6 deaths per 100,000 population! This is more than twice ac great as the nationwide rate.

Why give these figures? Why comment upon them? Just to iterate and reiterate—just to warn and urge and startle the people into taking a hand in this great problem of making traffic safer. These tragic conditions will not become better automatically. Public opinion must be crystallized. The public must demand greater safety. The public must co-operate actively to bring about safety.

Success never comes through excess.

CAPITAL CRIMES ON THE INCREASE

Capital crimes are multiplying. Outrageous murders are so common that one shudders to read or hear about them. No section, state or locality is immune to these shocking crimes. Various causes are assigned. There are many contributing causes, no doubt. Use of drugs is a fruitful cause. Bootleg liquor helps along the bloody orgy. Against these twin evils—illicit sale of drugs and liquors—the forces of law and public sentiment must be directed until the appalling traffic is suppressed beyond the point of being a public menace.

But crime must be combatted in diverse ways. Just as the cause of crime lies in many contributory influences, so the fight against crime must take varied forms. For one thing crime and vice should be fought right at the beginning of their baleful influence among the children. Teach morals! Not apathetically—not perfunctorily, but with red-blooded earnestness. Make every crime a text for pointing a moral to children, at home and in school. Teach morals systematically. Inculcate respect for law. Cultivate consideration for human life and the rights of others.

Here is where the great work for the suppression of crime and vice must be done—among the children. Train up a generation imbued with clean morals—a generation fortified by training and example against crime and vice, and the shocking waves of crime and viciousness will assuage, and this will be a cleaner, safer country. There is too great laxity in looking to the morals of the young.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

BRIG. GEN. HUGH A. DRUM

Youngest general officer of the whole army of the U. S. and responsible for all plans and training for the combined armies of the country. This is the distinction which attaches to Brigadier General Hugh A. Drum. He celebrated his 45th birthday recently.

General Drum comes from a long line of fighting men, extending through several generations. His father, Capt. John Drum, of the Tenth United States infantry, was killed leading a charge in the battle of San Juan Hill, Cuba, in '98. He was the first officer killed in that battle.

Entering the army at the age of 20 as a second lieutenant, honors have come to General Drum rapidly and apparently easily.

From 1899 to 1901 he served in the Philippine Island participating in the P. I. insurrection. From 1912 to 1914 he was active on the Mexican border. Later he served as assistant instructor in military art at army schools and subsequently was aide to General Funston until the latter's death, Feb. 19, 1917.

When General Pershing succeeded General Funston, General Drum became assistant to the chief of staff and in that capacity accompanied General Pershing to France. The following year General Drum was appointed chief of staff of the first American army fighting on the western front. Although but a lieutenant colonel, he held or post usually assigned to a full major general.

About two years ago the army was without a textbook on higher command which incorporated the lessons that had been learned in the world war. The general problems on General Drum, who form which month had struck standard text for the wags two in Washington and all other throughout the American army.

A few of the honors which have been conferred upon him are the Distinguished service Medal from his own country, the Order of the Crown of Belgium, Commander of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre and Commander of the Crown of Italy.

Indefatigable study is given as the principal reason for General Drum's brilliancy and success.

Borne September 19, 1879, at Fort Brady, Mich., General Drum received his A. B. at Boston College 1898. In 1911 he was graduated an honor student from the Army School of the Line and the following year was graduated from the Army Staff College.

DAILY VIEWS

"LEAGUE PROTOCOL AN IDLE BOAST OF PEACE," SAYS INTERNATIONAL LAW PROFESSOR

Philip Marshall Brown, professor of international law at Princeton University, recently denounced the protocol of the amendments to the covenant adopted by the Assembly of the League of Nations at the recent Geneva conference as being nothing but petty politics. "It proves," he said, "how alarmed the league is for its prestige and how jealous it is of American leadership."

Dr. Brown former charge d'affairs at Constantinople and lecturer at the Institute of International Law at Vienna, said the league had been greatly weakened by the failure of Lord Robert Cecil's plan for disarmament, and that it feared President Coolidge might take the initiative in calling a world conference while the league accomplished nothing.

Forced Through for Boast

"The protocol was forced thru to enable the league to say that it had outlawed war for all time," Dr. Brown added. "Arbitration is to be compulsory and coercion is to be applied to any nation that refuses to accept the jurisdiction of the league. Japan was able to pledge the league to consider even questions of a domestic national character, such as immigration.

"No generous-minded person," Dr. Brown went on to say, "can deny the desirability of disarmament, but this action at Geneva is unworthy of serious respect. It is an ill-considered, hurried attempt to accomplish something spectacular with the object clearly in view of forestalling action by the United States. This is confirmed most conclusively by the extraordinary memorandum drawn up by bitter partisans of the league and circulated at Geneva, which was printed in the World of Sept. 29.

Europe in Shaky Condition

"Europe is now on the most shaky foundations laid by the peace conference at Paris. Disarmament cannot come until legitimate grievances have been satisfied. To seek to coerce them by resolutions and threats of coercion is evidence of insancere and dangerous statesmanship. It can only result in damage to the prestige of the league."

Dr. Brown went on to say that in his opinion the chances of the protocol being ratified by the most influential members of the league were very slight, naming England as one of the obstacles.

"In the meantime the protocol precludes any action by the U. S. for a disarmament conference in the near future. For all practical purposes disarmament is as far off as ever."

It takes years of dietary indiscretion to harden an artery, eternity to soften it.

COMMENTS of the PRESS
What Editors Are Saying

INTEREST IN LIFE IS LIVING—Stockton Independent

Former United States Senator Cornelius Cole of Los Angeles, upon the occasion of the anniversary of his 102nd birthday, attributes longevity to regular habits, peace of mind and the California climate. Doubtless they are all contributing factors. They are, however, more negative than positive. Life statistics show that there are certain long-lived stocks, and to be a scion of that stock is the surest way to attain a ripe old age.

Senator Cole's actions, rather more than his introspective observations, contain the real lesson of the fullness of his life. In an interview upon attaining his 102nd year, he discussed with great enthusiasm—not the past, but the future. He was as pleased as a boy over radio and its possibilities, and he confessed he had followed with eagerness the progress of the world fliers. "The flight," he said, "will be a great achievement, but the next time we must encircle the globe faster."

Interest in life is the greatest elixir of life. It does not actually increase the human span, at least it makes living worth while.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

It occurred to Pascal that we are so unfortunate that we can only take pleasure in a thing on condition of being annoyed if it turn out ill, as a thousand things can do, and do every hour.

"He who finds the secret of rejoicing in the good, without troubling himself with its contrary evil, would have hit the mark. It is perpetual motion. . . . .

"Those who have always good hope in the midst of misfortunes, and who are delighted with good luck, are suspected of being pleased with the ill success of the affair, if they are not equally distressed by bad luck; and they are overjoyed to find these protexts of hope, in order to show that they are concerned, and to conceal by the joy with which they feign to feel that which they have at seeing the failure of the matter.

"But it is not only the person himself who suffers from his busy habits, but his wife and children, his friends and relations, and down to the very people he sits with in the railway carriage.

"Perpetual devotion to what a man calls his business, is only to be sustained by perpetual neglect of many other things. And it is not by any means certain that a man's business is the most important thing he has to do.

"To an impartial estimate it will seem clear that many of the wisest, most virtuous, and most beneficient parts that are to be played in the Theater of life are filled by gratuitous performers, and pass, among the world at large, as phases of idleness. For in that Theater, not only the walking gentleman, singing chambermaids and diligent fiddlers in the orchestra, but those who look on and clap their hands, do really play a part and fulfill important offices to the general result.

"You are no doubt very dependent on the care of your lawyer and stockbroker, of the trainmen who convey you rapidly from place to place, and the policemen who walk the streets for your protection, but is there not a thought of gratitude in your heart for certain other benefactors who set you smiling when they fall in your way, or season your dinner with good company?"

Vote YES on Amendment Number ONE

TAX MOTOR BUSSES
As you do all other Public Utilities

This levies a state tax of 4 per cent on the gross earnings of Motor Carriers. They will continue to pay the Gasoline Tax.

Why this Amendment is Necessary

This amendment does not set up any new system of taxation. It merely brings the motor carriers within the system established thirteen years ago. The people in 1910 voted to divide state from county and municipal taxation — the state taxing the gross earnings of public utilities, while the taxes on other property are left to counties and municipalities. But there were no motor stages in 1910, and so they were not included in the list of public utilities then enumerated—steam railroads, street railroads, telegraph, telephone, gas and electric companies. This amendment merely adds motor stages to the list.

This Amendment — Number One on your ballot November 4th merely proposes to include the motor carriers among the other public utilities in the present established system of state taxation.

The last session of the Legislature levied a four per cent tax on the gross earnings of the motor carriers for the State; and permitted the motor carriers a refund of any license fees and taxes levied on their property by counties and municipalities.

Almost immediately, some of the smaller cities raised their license fees to beyond a reasonable amount, with the frank statement that it should be immaterial to the motor carriers to whom they paid their taxes as long as they did not pay more than four per cent.

You may readily see that this means a system of pyramiding taxes on the motor carriers with no certainty where it will end.

Still more confusion was brought into the present situation when the Superior Court in Fresno County declared this tax measure enacted by the last Legislature—unconstitutional.

The motor carriers cannot establish their industry as long as this taxation confusion continues. Consequently, they are asking the enactment of this measure — Amendment Number One on your ballot November 4th — which will put them in exactly the same tax situation with the other public utilities in California.

Why Four Per Cent?

Some figures had to be taken, and the most reasonable thing to do was to take the figure—4%—that the last Legislature, after considerable discussion, deemed fair and adopted. It may be that four per cent is too high, and it may prove too low. But any session of the Legislature may change this rate by a two-thirds vote.

Who Uses the Highways?

There are a million and a quarter automobiles in California. They use the highways—for the greater part—for pleasure. There are 1660 motor stages in California. They serve 786 towns in California that have no other common means of transportation. Last year they carried 29,000,000 passengers. These 29,000,000 passengers of the auto stages benefited by the use of the highways in the fares they paid that by the Kuhen rail fares. These fares are regulated by the Railroad Commission.

A Great Public Utility

The motor stages are a public utility, carrying passengers, freight, express and mail, and extending the use of the highways to all the people of the state for commerce as well as for pleasure. Declaring that commercial, agricultural and social benefits have trailed the auto stage, the California Railroad Commission says in its annual report:

The wonderful growth of automotive transportation in the common carrier field entitled it to a rank among the major utilities of the state.

Why Motor Carriers Advocate this Amendment

The motor carriers are willing to pay their full share of taxation. But they want to stabilize their industry, and they cannot as long as their taxes are uncertain. A large portion of the state is dependent upon the motor carriers. This demand is increasing. The motor carriers cannot render this public service economically unless they can finance their business economically, and they cannot do that as long as their taxes are uncertain.

Remember—the public utility acts as the tax collector for the State. This tax is paid by the people who use the highway transportation. All the motor carriers are asking is that they have the same certainty in taxation the other public utilities now have.

When you vote YES on Amendment Number One you will bring within the taxation system that has been in operation for fourteen years the common carriers that make the highways useful for all the people of the state.

MOTOR CARRIERS' ASSOCIATION

...AN TO REMEDY TAX ON CARRIERS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—The Motor Carriers' association, representing the 670 licensed operators of motor stage and truck lines now serving as common carriers in California, will have upon the ballot at the state election, Nov. 4, a constitution taxation amendment known as "Amendment No. 1" and officially designated by the attorney general "State Taxation of Highway Transportation Companies."

In some quarters misinformation as to the true purposes and effects of the proposed amendment has been circulated, particularly with reference to local taxation. In order to correct this and to give a fact basis for forming a correct judgment as to the merits of the amendment and a correct judgment as to the justness of the claims for its passage, the following brief resumé of the proposal is made.

The primary, and in fact the single basic purpose of the amendment is to bring the new form of common carrier that has developed with the advent of the automobile under the same provisions of the state constitution that already govern the taxation of other public utilities and common carriers (steam and electric roads).

The present state tax system sets aside for state taxation purposes exclusively the operative properties of these public utilities, and it is these utilities—the railroads, electric lines, gas and power companies, as well as banks, express and insurance companies—that supply the chief revenues of the state.

The non-operative properties of these utilities, as well as all general property of other property owners, are reserved for city and county taxation.

At the time this system was adopted by an amendment to the constitution, approved by the people in 1910, the motor carriers had scarcely appeared on the scene as a general utility. It is now one of the most essential industries in the agricultural, commercial and industrial development of the state, having transported 29,000,000 passengers during 1923.

If the motor transportation industry had been in existence as such at the time of the last constitutional amendment it would have been included automatically with the others.

The proposed amendment to be voted on in November will correct this omission.

REV. BODE READS INSPIRING PAPER

An inspiring paper by Rev. A. C. H. Bode of St. Michael's Episcopal church on "Mental Improvement" featured last night's monthly gathering of the Fireside club in the model cafe...the high school. George Hedstrom, ...ident, presided and Miss Marietta Neal, assisted by two ...bers of the cooking class served an excellent supper.

Pastor Bode showed how Wells' book "Outline of History" indicated that Gladstone at first had lacked an essential of culture, that of touch with the viewpoint of the common people. A person is not mentally developed who appreciates only art and literature, but he must know economic conditions, said the rector.

There was a 30-minute discussion afterwards.

RADICAL SUPPORT IN EAST GAINING

ABOARD LAFOLLETTE SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Oct. 29—Swinging thru New York state for the last time, Sen. Robert M. LaFollette today predicted that the Progressive ticket would poll as heavy a vote in the east as in the west, where admittedly it has gained strong momentum.

The response he has received from his recent Atlantic seaboard speeches has convinced him, La Follette said, that the Progressive movement is not sectional.

"I am confident that the vote cast for the Progressive ticket in the east, will surprise even the most enthusiastic supporters of our movement," added the independent presidential candidate.

His decision to turn eastward from Omaha, Nebraska, rather than to continue to the Pacific coast as originally planned, "already had been amply justified," LaFollette declared.

"The Progressive campaign in the east has gained tremendous momentum" he said. "There is no essential difference between the people of the east and the west. All are eager for our message."

"The only difference between the political viewpoints of the people of the east and of the west arises out of the fact that for 30 years the Progressives have centered their attention upon the west," added LaFollette. "But wherever the people of the east have had the opportunity to hear the Progressive message they have responded enthusiastically. They see as clearly as do the western people, that the monopoly system is making it harder and harder for them to make ends meet. As soon as they see this, they realize that their only hope for deliverance from economic slavery lies in the Progressive cause."

After his speech in Schenectady tonight, LaFollette will go to Boston.

BUY MORE LINES

Pickwick Stages have purchased three more lines, El Toquin and Fresno to Coalinga, and the new lines will be consolidated with the northern division.

This gives the lines a mileage of 3500. The lines extend from El Centro and San Diego on the south to Portland, Ore., on the north.

Caddies will not be needed if a new golf club with an adjustable head comes into general use.

OHIO MAYOR'S HOME WRECKED BY BOMB

NILES, Ohio, Oct., 29.—The home of Mayor Harvey C. Kistler was wrecked by a bomb early today. The mayor and Mrs. Kistler, asleep in a room on the second floor, directly above the place where the bomb had been placed, escaped with only minor bruises and a severe shaking up.

The wrecking of the mayor's home was believed by police to be the outcome of his refusal to revoke the permit given the Ku Klux Klan to stage an immense tri-state rally here next Saturday afternoon. Following the granting of the permit, Knights of the Flaming Circle, organized to fight the Klan, asked for a permit to parade at the same time. The mayor, fearing a clash, refused. Representatives of the Flaming Circle then requested that the Klan permit be revoked. This Mayor Kistler refused.

EASTSIDE P-T. A. DETAILS MANY ACTIVE PLANS

A VERY busy meeting resulted yesterday when the East Side P.-T. A. held a session in Central school kindergarten room, with president Mrs. E. H. Axup in the chair.

It was voted to change the meeting hour from 2:30 to 3 p. m., that all the teachers might attend. The meetings will be closed at 4:30.

Mrs. L. T. Cleary, past president, was given a vote of thanks for her efficient service while in the chair. Mr. Beri Steelhead was also accorded a vote of thanks for his co-operation in the recent P.-T. A. reception in the high school. The same courtesy was extended to the high school pupils who so ably assisted.

A membership drive was organized with Mrs. Wm. Sperber chairman of the committee, Mrs. Wm. Knoxt was appointed chairman of the Child Welfare magazine, and it is the ambition of the society to put a copy monthly into every home in Anaheim. A newspaper drive is another activity launched, with Mrs. F. M. Bungay chairman, and Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Mattis her assistants. Anyone having old newspapers to donate is asked to get in touch with one of these ladies. The school children will collect the papers. Proceeds from the sale will be used in purchasing play ground apparatus for the schools.

An emergency fund was started to use for any worthy emergency. A cooked food sale will be held Saturday, Nov. 8, in Schaefer's market, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. John Lee, chairman. Mrs. Wm. Sperber and Mrs. George Dean will be in charge and anyone having a donation will please call either of the ladies.

The next meeting will be held one week early on account of Thanksgiving day coming the same week, consequently Nov. 18 is the substitute date selected.

BUSINESS CLUB'S MASQUE PARTY IS SUCCESS

THE masquerade party and dance last evening held in the Angelina Roof Garden by the Business and Professional Women's club was another of the social successes of the club. A congenial crowd was present, everyone en masque, and some so successfully that identity was concealed until masks were removed at a late hour.

The prize for lady's costume was awarded to Mrs. A. Cohen, who wore a perky taffeta dancing dress. Dr. Jessica Raische wore an outstanding costume, "outstanding" being the correct term. The skirt was of quilled taffeta, interlined and panniered, made and worn just one century ago by a relative of Dr. Hargrave, of the clinic. With a tight fitting bodice, powdered wig, becoming black patches in prevailing style of the age, Dr. Raische was a charming Colonial dame, who handled her hoop skirt with all the grace of a lady of the period.

Roy Mabee, who was awarded men's prize, was a loveable old Southern mammy, who no one suspected of being the popular wrestling rancher of Anaheim until he removed his false face. Miss Alice Humphrey as a Chinese miss, Spanish senoritas, gypsy maidens, clowns were all attractive and unknown until unmasking time after prizes were awarded. A grand march opened the party in the prettily decorated hall, which was donated for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. M. Eugene Durfee. The seven-piece Stilwell orchestra supplied the best music in their repertoire. Serpentines and souvenirs were distributed. Punch satisfied the dancers' thirst, and later pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee were served.

Not the least popular was the fortune telling booth in one corner where swains and inquisitive maidens peered into their futures, and were told of the happiness in store by a gypsy, no other than Miss Johnanna Eriekson.

The club is congratulating itself today on the success and pleasure of the Hallowe'en affair.

Class Opens Contest

The Young Married Women's class of First Christian church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John Saenger at their home on Wilhelmina-st. Two important points of business claimed especial interest. Naming the class has been a topic for discussion for some time, and the pretentious name, "Argus," meaning eager desire to be up and doing, was finally chosen.

The class will open a contest to earn points in winning souls, visiting the sick, study of the Bible, each bringing a stimulated number of counts to the aides appointed by Mrs. Wright, for the Live Wires and Mrs. McElheney, for the "Up Streamers."

The contest will continue several weeks and the losers will award the winners with a chicken dinner.

The social portion of the evening was given to a Biblical "spell down" after the old fashioned spelling bee style. Mrs. McCullough captained one side and Mrs. James Baker the other. Mrs. Burroughs was successful in remaining on the floor to the last, and was awarded with a book of Biblical hero tales. The questions covered the quarterly lessons and served as an instructive review.

Present were the Mesdames Burroughs, Hubking, James Baker, Rollo McClelland, Adams, Ralph Dickenson, Harold Hartline, McKlejohn, McKay, McCullough, Sparks, Saenger, Mrs. Gillette Mrs. Long and Rev. Myers.

Last evening, Miss Gladys Rowland, Fullerton, entertained the Social club at her home on East Chapman-ave. Hallowe'en decorations and costumes featured the early and holiday games were enjoyed. WEALTHY FRISCO COUPLE ROBBED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. — Overlooking jewels twice the value of those stolen, two armed, masked bandits early today held up Mr. and Mrs. Phillip I. Jacoby at their returned to their fashionable home and compelled after locking the couple in a closet of the home with valuables estimated to be worth $10,000.

The robbers were lying in wait in the sitting room of the Jacoby home when Mr. Jacoby, who is president of the Standard Biscuit Co., and his wife entered. They stripped Mrs. Jacoby of a $5000 pearl necklace, a $1500 bracelet and other gems, forced the couple into a bedroom closet and left, warning them to make no outcry. So quietly was the robbery effected that two maids sleeping on the same floor were undisturbed.

About $3,000 in old coins, supposed to have been hidden by a relative, were found in his cellar by W. J. Barron of Port Carbon, Pa., when remodeling his home a few days ago.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON

HER PEOPLE INTRUDE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man for six months and we get along well, carefully avoiding the one point monopolize so much of his time when he comes to see me. He is too much of a man to say anything about it I know that he does not like it. My girl friend and I have about decided to get a room together. I don't want to allow him to come to the room, but at the same time I am wondering where I could entertain him if we did become engaged. It is very inconvenient to go to a show or park every night in the week and I just don't know how to manage things. Do you think it would be ethical to have a small crowd of young people in the room as long as the people of the house consent? UNCERTAIN.

I am sure it will hurt your parents' feelings deeply if you leave home and live in a room with some girl friend. Unless they are hard and unfair to you, I would advise you to stay at home. Attention would indicated remain on your part would appeal to the more than your independent spirit of wanting to be alone. In case you do leave home, you will find it more difficult to be alone with him. It would not be right for you to entertain him in your room when you are alone, as you yourself see, and you would certainly get tired of having friends present and of going to theaters and other places of amusement. It would be all right, however, to entertain groups of people in your room if the people of the house gave their consent.

OLD LOVE ENDURES

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Five years ago I was working in a certain place with a young man whom we were very good friends for many having been acquainted long, until there was a certain soldier came into our lives. I knew that I loved him dearly, for I often told her as much, but nevertheless she went with him a short time and they were married. This hurt me terribly. After a time they left here. But later they came back. I thought I had forgotten him until I met him on the street. Then I knew my mistake, for the old love was still there. Afterward I heard they didn't get along well. He had ceased to care for her in the least, and yet he has nothing against her so as to get a divorce, and she won't let him go. It seems to me she still cares for him, and thinks maybe he will learn to care for her again. Do you think he will? I see him so often, but never with her or the children. Always he is alone or has other men with him. He always speaks and smiles, which makes my heart jump with joy. Do you think he has ever cared for me and yet never told me? He was always kind and nice to me, even when he was going with her. Would it be right for me to go with him now that he has ceased to care for her? She is very generous and forgiving, and I am sure if she knew he cared for someone else she would give him his freedom, that he could be happy. She might keep so good to them. She is a good woman, but he just doesn't care for her any more. Please tell me what to do, for this man means the world to me, and I am lonely now that I have seen him again.

I would do almost anything to win him. OLD MAID.

Your letter makes us think that your soldier is a very selfish man. Not appreciating the love of a good woman, and indifferent to her happiness. Probably he has grown indifferent to her, but if anything happened that threatened to take her away from him he would love would be revived, and he would fight to keep her for his husband. We are like that. It is understanding and thanks for him by together. I hardly believe the man cared deeply for you in the old days, because if he had he

DOUGLAS CONCERN HIGHLY GRATIFIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — Representatives of the Douglas Fir Exploitation and Export Co. and the 107 defendants in the complaint brought by the federal trade commission of unfair methods of competition in the lumber industry, today expressed themselves as "gratified" over the dismissing "without prejudice" by the commission of the charges.

"We are naturally very much gratified at the decision of the federal trade commission, yet we do not see how they could have reached any other conclusion from the facts," said Atty. J. B. Carter, who was associated with Frank and Joseph N. Teal in the defense.

Both sides were agreed today that there will be no noticeable curtailment of the lumber export industry on the Pacific Coast as a result of the decision because no clear cut issue was drafted.

The dissenting opinion of Chairman Huston Thompson intimated strongly his belief that the defendants were violating provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The brief for the defendants in the long drawn out case revealed that the charges originated in a fight for control of the profitable China export lumber trade, between members of the so-called "independent" lumber groups and the Douglas Fir organization which controls more than 85 per cent of the cut on the coast.

Charles E. Dant, of Portland, Ore., and the Inman-Poulsen, St. Johns, Eastern and Western, Northern Pacific and Clark and Wilmot Lumber Co., made up the independent group, which, according to legal records, engaged in a struggle with the Douglas Fir organization for control of the China export trade.

Dant, who is head of the China Import and Export Co., was said to have practically controlled in conjunction with members of the independent group, 94 per cent of the lumber export business to China.

The Douglas Fir interests claim in briefs filed that while they controlled more than 85 per cent of the production they were only able to secure six per cent of the business prior to their expansion in 1918, because of price cutting by the "independents."

Then the Douglas interests put out the famous letter "67" which figured prominently in the case.

CO-OPERATION IS MARKETING NEED

"The future of our marketing of agricultural products lies in the co-operative principle."

This is one of several things said by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in an address before the American Dairy Federation recently, to which packing house managers here are pointing as an admirable text for orange growers.

Among the advantages of co-operation emphasized by Hoover are: Power to mobilize economies in distribution which are not open to its competitors and equal skill in administration. The simple problem of improved marketing is elimination of waste material and motions between producer and consumer; wastes include unnecessary number of purchase and sale transactions, transportation of unsalable and inferior products, uncontrolled distribution by which gluts and famines succeed each other with consequent price fluctuations and cost of speculation and hazards in distribution.

In 1922 the government paid more than $10,000,000 for deterioration and losses and freight rates had to meet this loss. Commission men should be mobilized at terminals to avoid the wastes mentioned.

PLAN DAIRY DAY AT WESTMINSTER

The first annual dairy day will be held in Westminster, under the auspices of the Westminster Farm Center, Saturday, November 15, at the Johnston-Kaffel ranch, one-half mile east of the town. The celebration will start at 10 o'clock in the morning with a program of interest to the dairy industry, inspection of a modern dairy plant, viewing dairy exhibits and a stock judging contest by members of the dairy calf club.

The three ladies' clubs of Westminster have joined their efforts to provide a noonday luncheon on the grounds at a nominal charge, and during the afternoon a kangaroo court will try the scrub bull. Judge F. C. Drumm will preside at the court and a prominent "cow attorney" will be imported to prosecute the bull, before a jury of selected ranchers.

The defense of the bull will be handled by local "pen" talent but it is stated that a strong defense is being arranged. The conditions are different in this county than elsewhere and it may be shown that the scrub bull is not a menace in this county.

The general public will be invited to the dairy day celebration. The dairymen hope to impress the public with the fact that this is an industry conducted by "white" men who have invested time and money in an effort to provide a food for local consumption.

Traffic in the Sabine-Neches canal in Texas was broken for three weeks by the sinking of an Italian motorship in the channel, the delay to shipping causing losses estimated at a million dollars.

This letter declared that unless an organization gave them $5 per cent of its business, they would not sell to it for export purposes.

Letter "67" was withdrawn before the complaint was filed, however, the records revealed.

Defense of the Douglas Fir interests was based on provisions of the Webb-Pomerene act of 1918, which permits organizations to band together in the export business without coming under the restrictions imposed by the Sherman anti-trust law.

The entire case can be brot up again by the commission, according to Chairman Thompson, should investigation reveal that the Douglas Fir organization has committed breaches of the law.

FAVOR OVERHEAD SPRINKLING HERE

Installation of overhead sprinkling systems, which already have been tried out successfully on approximately 18 acres at Yorba Linda, is being seriously considered by two Anaheim ranchers. While the initial cost is heavy, amounting to some $200 per acre, the benefit in large fruit, practical elimination of red spider, etc., is said fully to warrant the improvement. Mainly thru saving in labor costs the system pays for itself in a few years.

The system is becoming more and more popular thruout the country, says Manager G. W. Sundlands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n. The system enables the entire tree to be sprinkled and the ground doesn't have to be specially prepared in advance. One man alone can take care of 10 acres.

One Anaheim rancher figures he can save $700 per year on 10 acres by means of the system.

A stand pipe for each tree is necessary, the system differing from the ones employed with vegetables, but one thing the pipes cannot be left in the way when fumigation is necessary.

VIEWS IN BRIEF

This brings to mind the appalling fact that more than 85,000 Americans have been murdered during the last ten years. As the murder rate is increasing faster than the population, the next ten years may be expected to witness close to 150,000 of our people done to death in the same manner. Pistol toting, laxity of criminal procedure and too much liberality in granting paroles and pardons will continue to contribute to this gruesome result.

Free distribution of fifty million trees and shrubs to prairie farmers by the Canadian government during the past few years has proven to be a far-sighted and beneficient public policy. This sort of paternalism accomplishes great good, without giving much opportunity for dishonesty.

Some sections are now witnessing a three-cornered feud between prohibition officers, bootleggers and highbinders. The latter group holds up and robs the bootlegger and the enforcement officers are after both. Several innocent citizens have been shot recently by being mistaken for one of the other. All of them are entirely too handy with their pistols.

VOTERS DISPLAY LITTLE INTEREST

LONDON, Oct. 29. — The first serious disorder in the British general election today was reported from the East End at noon. An auto, flying the union jack, and bearing Capt. R. M. Denny, was attacked and stoned. The chauffeur was wounded. Police drove off the attackers.

Good weather brought out a heavy vote especially on the part of the women. In some districts more women than men voted.

The outcome was shadowed in doubt when the balloting began, despite the rival claims of victory. Many impartial observers looked for a Tory victory, owing to the incident of the Zinoviev letter.

Laborites believed they would gain seats at the expense of both rival parties, particularly the Liberals.

Disorders were reported from some districts, especially in constituencies where the Laborites were making a hard fight.

Winston Churchill, who has met with consistent failure in recent elections, is making another try for commons.

Forty-two women are among the 1425 candidates in the field. Thirty-two of the candidates are being returned without opposition.

The Tories and Laborites each have more than 500 candidates in the field, while the Liberals have only 339. Total number of commoners to be elected is 615.

If Labor gets a majority, the present cabinet of Premier Ramsey MacDonald will remain in power. If the Conservatives obtain a majority, the present government must resign. If neither the Tory nor the Labor party gets a majority the Liberals will again hold the balance of power. The Liberals may coalesce with either of the other parties. If they join the Conservatives the Laborite government can be voted out of power.

In such an event, it is likely that King George will call upon a Tory—perhaps Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Tory party—to form a new government.

QUESTIONED ABOUT SAN DIEGO MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Held on suspicion of being a fugitive, Guy Unthink, a cafe worker taken into custody here today for questioning in connection with the investigation of the mysterious murder of Mrs. Lillian Williams.

According to the San Diego officers, Unthink was a friend of Mrs. Williams, found dead in San Diego Oct. 18.

Officers denied Unthink had anything to do with the sensational murder of Mrs. Williams, famed for her beauty, who was found strangled to death on the floor of her bedroom in her bungalow, described by police as a "love nest," they said he was merely to be questioned.

Unthink told detectives here he last saw Mrs. Williams a month ago when she visited him in Los Angeles a few days before he had visited her in San Diego, he said. Unthink denied any knowledge of the woman's murder, but edge of the woman's murder, but said he would answer any questions to aid the San Diego officers in attempting to solve the mystery surrounding Mrs' Williams' death.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 29.—Guy Unthink, arrested at Los Angeles in connection with the strangling of Mrs. Anna Williams in San Diego, was one of a dozen admirers of the pretty murder victim.

Police have been searching for Unthink following disclosures by girl chums of the dead girl that he had wooed her in San Diego and induced her to return his visit to Los Angeles a fortnight before her body was discovered.

There has been nothing disclosed by the extensive police investigation to indicate that Unthink was directly connected with the murder. He was merely one of many persons to be questioned.

DESIRE FOR PEACE SPIRIT OF U. S. A.

What is the spirit of America?

Some foreigners, for instance, have said that it was the spirit of money; the chase of the illusive, fluttering banknote and the rolling gold-piece; the very essence, in fact, of the almighty dollar. Perhaps these critics have been influenced too much by the fact that many of the Americans they see have usually been occupied in tossing rivers of wealth abroad, spending easily and rushing home to make more money to spend.

Some people, perhaps, would tell you that the spirit of America was the spirit of victory in battle.

But neither of these views would be correct. True it is that, as some eminent statesman has said, America has "never lost a war or won a conference." But it is hard to conceive of the United States getting into a war unless the only older alternative was national humiliation and the destruction of the world's civilization. So America's spirit is not that of victory, per se. And sufferers through all parts of the world—in the Balkans, Armenia, Russia, Germany and Japan—can joyfully attest that American pocketbooks are open to all sorrow and destitution. Therefore it cannot be money that actuates this great country.

The answer to the question may be found in Emory Johnson's latest screen classic, "The Spirit of the U. S. A., which will be shown at the United Theatre tonight and tomorrow. This picture portrays in no uncertain terms the fact that the real guiding motive behind American life today is, as it always has been, a love of peace.

Tom Mix in Zane Grey's The LAST of the DUANES

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT CALIFORNIA

Because of Hallowe'en and also because this is the third anniversary of the opening of the California theatre, the management has personally picked for the Thursday vaudeville, the five best acts obtainable.

Adair who is billed as "Comedy Triple Bar Novelty" is a young man who performs a routine of stunts on the triple bar, which is not only novel in its presentation, but so original in conception as to mark him as an extraordinary performer in his line.

Art Phillips, "The Merry Entertainer," presents comedy singing talking and music. He plays a novelty one string violin, sings and tells some stories. He has a good voice and pleasing personality and is a top notch entertainer.

George Stanton and Girls in "All Round Dance Revue," a dance novelty. Each member of this trio is an artist in dancing. They present many styles of snappy dances and are sure to please.

Hafter and Paul in "Even as you and I", offer an eccentric comedy number that is fast and snappy. Miss Paul has a very good voice and Bob Hafter does an acrobatic dance that is extremely funny.

The headline act for the bill is he "Seven Flashes," who present a "Satire on School Days," a comedy act that you will surely enjoy. These four Boys and Three Young Ladies have an act that is noted all over the vaudeville circuits for its laugh provoking stunts and we know that the patrons of the California are going to have a treat.

A capacity house should see the first showing of Tom Mix in "The Last of the Duanes" at the California Theatre Thursday. This production, with the famous William Farnum, is a picturization of Zane Grey's tale of the same name with scenes laid in Texas in the days of border outlawry. Tom Mix never has been seen to better advantage in a western character role than in his portrayal of Buck Duane, son of a feudist. This young Texan refuses to fight until forced to kill a man in self-defense. He then becomes an outlaw until, through the love of a girl, he receives a pardon. Action that he help clean up a leading band of cattle thieves.

Marian Nixon, as the girl, is fine, both as an actress and as a feast for one's eyes. Tom Mix should keep this leading lady in his pictures, for she is a splendid complement to the Western star.

Lynn Reynolds has done a neat bit of directing.

Final times tonight of Cecil B. DeMille's "Feet of Clay" with the personal appearance of Miss Vera Reynolds at the evening show and Miss Georgia Moore's Juvenile Dancers.

MANDAMUS JOHNSON TO RELEASE BONDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The state supreme court today issued a writ of mandate to compel State Treasurer Chas. G. Johnson to show cause why he should not release $2,000,000 worth of Veterans' Welfare bonds to the Anglo-Paris Co. and the Bank of Italy, purchasers. Johnson contends that the sale of the bonds was illegal in so far as that they were not properly advertised.

The writs was made returnable on Nov. 7, at which time Johnson is scheduled to appear before the supreme court in Los Angeles.

TOKYO, Oct. 29.—Despite the fact that Kasumigaura airport authorities reported they had reported they had received a wire to discontinue all preparations for his flight, Major Zanni, Argentine round-the-world flier, today renewed his efforts to find vessels chaterable for the far north Pacific over which he will attempt to hop to North America. Zanni declared the flight had not officially been abandoned.

ADDS TO COMPLAINT IN DIVORCE ACTION

Denial that she was accustomed to the use of intoxicants and that she would remain out all night at places not known to her husband, as he charged in a cross-complaint to her divorce suit, was made in an answer filed in the superior court at Santa Ana today by Mrs. Nora Szarfinski of Anaheim, who is suing Joseph Szafrinski, golf professional of this city.

At the same time she added to her complaint the charge that her husband smoked opium, when he would go to bed, making sleeping conditions unsatisfactory to her.

Szarfinski, in his answer, had denied he often came home intoxicated, as his wife alleged, but admitted she locked him out of the house one night. Mrs. Szarfinski admitted she locked the door, but stated he was intoxicated when he returned, that he broke through a window and attacked her with his fists when he finally gained entrance.

ADMIRAL WON'T REVEAL SECRETS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29—Rear Admiral Luther E. Gregory, chief of the navy bureau of docks and yards, refused to answer questions of the witness stand here today in the government's suit to cancel contracts of the E. L. Doheny interests in the Elk Hills oil reserve as to plans of the U. S. navy for fuel oil storage facilities.

Gregory said answers demanded by the questions would force him to reveal navy secrets.

The admiral, however, did reveal that the navy has prepared a plan for submission to congress which contemplates expenditures of $102,000,000 for building such facilities.

Gregory testified briefly regarding preparations of plans for the Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, project, awarded to the Pan-American Petroleum Company, one of the Doheny companies, producing a map showing location of fuel oil tanks which Doheny had built for the navy, but he then refused to reply to questions of Owen Roberts, government counsel, as to the entire navy fuel oil storage program.

He said he was bound not to reveal the navy's war plans.

When questioned further, Gregory admitted that detailed plans for oil storage were prepared by the war plans board of the navy as a means of the nation's defense in time of war.

Gregory's testimony was regarded as emphasizing the extreme importance from the viewpoint of national defense of the work done by the Doheny interests in providing fuel oil storage for the navy at Pearl Harbor, key to naval control of the Pacific.

Cross examination of Gregory was expected to occupy the afternoon court session.

GET TWO BOTTLES AFTER THIRD RAID

E. W. Jones, 35, owner of a barbecue, wayside market and gasoline filling station at Seal Beach, was at liberty today under $1000 bail, after officers raided his place last night and took two pint bottles of asserted moonshine whiskey. A charge of possession was lodged against the beach man, who was brought to the jail at Santa Ana, but released by Justice Jack Landell had been aroused from his bed to fix and accept bail.

Swooping down on the place were Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff; Constable Jesse Elliott and Deputies C. Moncrief and Joe Scott from the Orange-co sheriff's office. They were augmented by Sergeant Hill of the dry squad at Long Beach.

It was the third time within a week the place had been raided, the first two by federal officers who failed to unearth evidence on which to arrest Jones, the Santa Ana deputies declared.

Several cases of empty bottles and corks were taken from a carcase at the rear of the establishment and confiscated.

COPELAND SPEAKS TO REALTY BOARD

D. H. Copeland, manager of the California Service Bureau at Chicago, which represents California realtors in the Mid-West, was today's speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Anaheim Realty Board.

The bureau maintains an exhibit and is constantly working to attract people to the coast.

Copeland told the board that there never was a better time than now to attract Eastern and Mid-Western people to California to live.

An office is just being opened downtown in Chicago, and will try to reach the people of six states—Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa Indiana and Missouri.

Copeland and his aides will try to help inquirers to get just the sort of property they want, whether ranch, home, lots, apartment houses or businesses.

A photographic display of each community in the state is being prepared, according to the speaker, in an attractive leather album of some 100 pages. Schools, churches, clubs, hotels and public buildings will be shown.

On the streets within a radius of several blocks of the offices will be distributed raisins, figs, prunes, olives, almonds, walnuts, apples, grapes etc.

No commissions on sales are received said Copeland.

In addition a daily list of prospects who visit the bureau and show interest is mailed to subscribing realtors. A careful description of the desires of each prospect is given. Furthermore, excursions are run to California and often 25 people in a party go along.

H. H. Nixon of Fullerton reminded realtors of the coming inauguration of President-elect Everett A. White Nov. 8 at St. Ana's Inn, Santa Ana.

Former Horticultural Commissioner Walts of Imperial-co was present and promised to speak at the next meeting on "Why I located in Anaheim."

U. S. CONTINUES HANDS-OFF POLICY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Recognition of soviet Russia by France has not changed the attitude of the United States government toward Russia in any way, it was ascertained today in official circles.

Charlie President Coolidge has declined to comment on France's action and state department officials are reticent to discuss the matter at all. It has been definitely ascertained that neither the president nor Secretary of State Hughes have changed their minds concerning the resumption of friendly relations with the Russian Bear.

The principal objection of the administration is not that Russia is governed by the Communists, but is based on the assumption that Russia is not sincere in her international relations and will not, or cannot, carry out her commitments with those states into which she enters into diplomatic agreements.

MAINTAIN PEACE AND PROSPERITY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—If elected, President Coolidge will "continue those policies which have brought peace and prosperity to the nation," he told a group of 45 advertising men who had breakfast with him at the White House this morning.

The president attempted no elaboration of what the policies were. He spoke only a few minutes extemporaneously, and in reply to Frank B. Presby, president of the ad men's club who had assured him that the big advertising interests of the country were "for Coolidge and Dawes first last and all the time."

George Brownell, jr., aged 13, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., has become a stockholder in a local bank thru saving his earnings as a newsboy.

Pat Duncan, outfielder just purchased by Washington from Cincinnati, was bought by the Reds from Birmingham a short time before Washington purchased Manager Harris from Buffalo.

TO BUILD BRIDGE WITH DAY LABOR

The county itself will build a bridge across the Santa Ana river on the coast highway near Newport Beach, buying its own materials and hiring its own workmen.

This decision was made late yesterday by supervisors after it rejected all of eight bids offered by contracting firms to construct the span. The bids ranged from $31,000 to $40,000.

On advice of J. L. McBride, county highway superintendent, and others consulted, the supervisors decided the county could save money and have just as satisfactory a product if it proceeded with the work itself, it was made known.

Bids will be called for and opened three weeks from yesterday for the paving of Central-ave, for a half mile south and west of La Habra, under a decision the supervisors made yesterday. At the same time bids will be opened for paving a similar stretch on Hacienda drive, north of La Habra, when the supervisors opened a hearing on the project.

The supervisors expressed approval of the proposed new weir and ordered an improvement district formed in that vicinity.

COURTHOUSE DOINGS

Clyde A. Dorsten, 18, Orange, today was ordered by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm at Santa Ana to be committed to the state school of industry at Ione for three years, following his plea of guilty to a statutory charge involving a 13-year-old Orange Mexican girl.

Ethel M. McBride, his wife, constantly accused him falsely of associating with other women when in reality his work in the oil fields kept him out late at night, John W. McBride alleged in a suit for divorce on file today in superior court at Santa Ana. They were married in Los Angeles in 1909. The mother is to have custody of an 11-year-old son and a property settlement has been made, McBride stipulated.

Asserted by officers to have committed many similar alleged offenses recently, Gilbur Anderson, 25, of Garden Grove, was ordered by Justice Jack Dandell at Santa Ana today to spend the next 25 days in the county jail, following his admission that he was drunk when deputy sheriff arrested him at Garden Grove last night.

Congressman Sol Bloom of New York will propose a law to place organized baseball under federal supervision.

FILM STAR WILL MAKE APPEARANCE

Miss Vera Reynolds, latest De-Mille find and star of "Feet of Clay," now showing at the California theatre, will make a personal appearance at the California tonight.

A nervy little tomboy who shocked the neighbors of those days by playing baseball with the boys on a Los Angeles sandlot, has risen overnight to the center of the cinema spotlight.

Cecil B. DeMille focussed the attention of the film world on Vera Reynolds a few feet one, petite, assured, when from obscurity he picked her overnight to play the leading feminine role in "Feet of Clay."

"I don't know how it all happened," says little Miss Reynolds, "but perhaps my nerve being afraid helped a lot. I'm almost shocked at myself as I look back at the little torn stockinged kid who ran the bases and went flying while my boy friends looked on—but I'm glad I grew up that way. It gave me assurance when most girls are awkward. It enabled me to be natural. I'm awfully small—but I've never been afraid as I have faced various directors. And because I was just myself perhaps my chances were improved over those other girls who, after hours of careful preparation, lost everything through sheer stage-fright."

Little Vera got her first chance as a girl dancer with Wallace Reid and Cleo Ridgely in a Lasky picture. Then the 12-year-old chubby, comical, disobeyed child-actor candidates and unbeknownst to him played on comedy lots for several years until his consent to leave high school was finally granted. Then came serious parts in "Prodigal Daughters," "Shadows of Paris" and "Icebound"—to the moment when Cecil B. DeMille saw in this player of semi-character parts a type he wanted, the flapper grown-up to marriage and sophistication.

Miss Reynolds" is very well known here in Anaheim as she spent many of her days here with her aunt, Mrs. F. S. Goodrich.

OVERRULE PROTEST

Fullerton trustees last night overruled protests of Raymond Smith and four others against the assessment on the South Side drainage district. The assessment was approved.

Outfall sewer agreements were signed by the mayor and city clerk, motion was passed limiting tonnage going over the Rasanchuy-rd and Richmond-ave bridges to four tons, and over the Brea-ed bridge to five tons, pending adjournment was taken.

ANOTHER BAFFLING MURDER MYSTERY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Yet another baffling death mystery puzzled police here today, following the finding of the nude body of a man with a silked cord around his neck. The corpse was discovered by a company of motion picture actors on location on a park at the edge of the city.

Police believe the man was murdered.

KEEP TRIAL AT HOME

Indications that the city of Fullerton and William French, its recorder, would fight the attempt being made in the superior court by J. C. Wilson, physician, to have a charge of reckless driving transferred from the Fullerton justice court to that at Santa Ana, as evidenced today, when the recorder filed an answer to an application for a writ of prohibition.

SKELETON FOUND

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. — Attempts were made here today to identify the skeleton of a man found in lonely Topanga canyon by a party of picnickers. The skeleton had been in the canyon two years, police said.
