LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER SATURDAY

Books Will Close For Recall Election Coming Feb. 3

Last call to register for the recall election Feb. 3!

Registration books close tomorrow evening. If you haven't registered don't fail to do so tonight or tomorrow. If you have any question whatever about your registration, the best way to make certain that you will not be challenged is to register over again.

However, if you have registered since Jan. 1, 1924, and have not moved into another precinct, you should be fixed up all right. If you have voted in the last 12 months and have not moved, that should be proof of your registration.

For your convenience, there will be a registrar tonight and tomorrow night, after 7 o'clock, at the city council campaign headquarters on the second floor of the Odd Fellows-bldg., or you may telephone 825 and a registrar will be dispatched to your home. Don't delay!

While dry forces who labored so long to upset the old wet political machine and to put into office men who believe in living up to the oath of office by enforcing the law against all classes, including so-called prominent citizens and exclusive clubs as well as humble Mexican known that when expressed fully at the polls Anaheim is overwhelmingly in favor of good government and recognize that apathy only is to be feared.

If all dry voters go to the polls Feb. 3, the four dry councilmen, Metcalf, Knipe, Hasson and Slaback, and Harry Turton, candidate against G. J. Stock, last of the old wet political machine, will be given a much greater vote of confidence than at last spring's election.

That voters are rallying to the law enforcement program of council, is evidenced by the large registration. One registration deputy at city council campaign headquarters has registered more than 300 since petition of dry forces to recall Stock was filed.

One entire church, which has always foresworn politics, is now registered to the last member of the congregation, it being declared the present issue is one of right or wrong. It was first made a matter of fervent prayer. Righteous indignation at the efforts of the former wet political machine to regain control of the city government by injecting all the discord of a recall election into the community prevailed over the denomination's usual scruples against going to the ballot box.

Mrs. Rebecca Gilliland, 87, of 417 E. Adele-st., has registered and will cast her first vote for the present dry councilmen and Turton. She has always let her husband, Hugh R. Gilliland, children and grandchildren do the voting for her family. But not so this time.

"This is a matter of right or wrong. I don't know of a better issue on which to cast my first vote," said Mrs. Gilliland.

Many instances of citizens who have lived here from four to eight years registering for the first time have come to the notice of the registrars.

A widow who had always left voting to her husband and who had not registered altho she has been alone for several years sought out a registrar the other day.

"It would be a shame if our dry councilmen were kicked out now after making such a wonderful record and doing so much to protect our boys and girls," she declared. "They try to make out business is rotten. I acquired a little shop last May; went into debt $800. I have been meeting payments of $50 per month on a home and have cut my indebtedness to $100. I guess business isn't so bad if you attend to it, instead of playing politics.

One woman and daughter, after registering the other day, were asked if the husabnd and father were registered. The wife said:

'We are not urging him to register because he is a 'wet.' I am sorry to say. He is much better off in more ways than one, we all are, since the present council made it almost impossible for him to get any liquor. It has made a wonderful difference in our home since something was done to eliminate the bootlegger."

Similar pathetic instances by the score have come to the attention of the dry forces.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Federal enforcement of the prohibition law will go "on trial" before the Couzens senate committee early in January, it was announced this afternoon by Sen. Couzens, Rep. of Mich., chairman, following a secret session attended by government officials.

While the investigation will deal chiefly with defects in the legal machinery for enforcement of the Volstead act, Couzens said the committee also will inquire into notorious liquor scandals wherever the violations appear to involve irregularities on the part of government agents. The investigation, he added, was "welcomed" by both the internal revenue commissioner David M. Blair and Prohibition Director Hayes, who attended the committee meeting.

INQUEST ON VICTIM OF UPSET

An inquest will be held at 3:30 this afternoon in the death of C. W. Cole, 28, of 90[illegible] North Sabina-st, instantly killed around midnight Wednesday night, when the Dodge car in which he was driving was upset near Huntington Beach.

The body was removed to Santa Ana at first, but later brought to the Huddle Funeral Home here.

Cole was accompanying E. L. Loftus, also of Anaheim, who was driving. Loftus started to light a cigarette as they approached a corner, when Cole spied another car coming and jerked the wheel to one side so suddenly that the car was upset, turning over several times. Loftus escaped with a few scratches and will be the principal witness this afternoon.

Cole's widow survived him. His parents are Mr .and Mrs. W. W. Cole of the Yarnell lease, Yorba Linda.

The young man was employed by the Midway Petroleum Co. and he and Loftus were on the way to Huntington Beach at the time, driving from Costa Mesa.

ANAHEIM IS VERY DRY NEW YEAR'S

That Anaheim is pretty well cleaned up of the liquor traffic, was indicated by the few New Year drunks, according to local officers.

There were 14 police on duty New Year's Eve and last night. No one was seen in an intoxicated state or looking as they even desired to be on New Year's Eve night, it is said.

Two "drunks" were picked up yesterday, but both were from Los Angeles. They were George W. Huskins charged with possession of liquor, and Tom Choat, charged with intoxication.

Huskins was fined $100 by Judge Kuchel this morning, and Choat was fined $50. Both went to jail in default of payment.

Judge Kuchel said that his court is going to do all it can to put the liquor traffic out of business.

The funeral of Y. Mendoza, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Mendoza of the Chapman ranch near Placentia, took place this morning at St. Boniface's church, the requiem mass being celebrated at 9 o'clock. The interment was in Holy Cross cemetery under the direction of the Huddle Funeral Home.

The young man died at the home of his parents after a lingering illness Wednesday afternoon. He attended the public schools of Placentia where the family is well-known.

HARTWELL INFANT BURIED WEDNESDAY

Ernest Hartwell, jr., three-months old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hartwell of 721 No. Sabina-st., died Wednesday afternoon. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon in the Huddle chapel, Rev. COUNTY PUTS UP TAXES $200,000

Assessed Valuation For Taxation Purposes Up $13,000,000

After declaring an increase of $13,000,000 in the assessed valuation of Orange-co, officials collected $200,000 more in taxes in 1924 than during the previous 365 days, a check at the office of W. C. Jerome, county auditor showed today. A total of $5,580,890 in taxes was collected in 1924, compared with $5,380,853 the year previous.

Altho a greater amount had to be collected this year than last, the delinquent list was no larger. Approximately $99,500 in taxes was declared delinquent last year, and it was expected the total this year would be no greater, Jerome reported.

In school district delinquency, Anaheim reported the highest total, this being $4061. Fullerton was second with $3862, and Santa Ana third with $3659.

Anaheim paid for its school system a total of $185,812; Fullerton $230,422 and Santa Ana, $278,817.

In city taxes, Fullerton paid $190,919 and Santa Ana $296,805. The taxes of these cities are collected by the county.

For taxation purposes, the county's assessed valuation this year was $154,244,895. Included with property assessed and taxed by the state, the total was boosted to $173,296,561. Last year the grand total was $160,769,513, and of this amount the county levied taxes on $144,298,445.

Orange-co spent $1,268,171 to build new highways, pave some and repair others during the year 1924, according to a report today by J. L. McBride, county highway superintendent.

In all 55 miles of road were paved or graveled, 20 being paved and 35 graveled.

In addition, the state contracted to spend $700,000 in building the new coast highway from Seal Beach to Serra.

The county built three bridges on the coast highway and one east of Orange, the total cost being $168,000.

BRITISH ASK FOR SAME PAYMENTS

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Great Britian has made an "informal suggestion to the U. S. government that when France begins making payments on its debts to the United States it "shall make equal and simultaneous payments to England."

This information was learned in unofficial quarters today by Int- News Service.

The British suggestion is said to make no mention of the question of a moratorium for France or a lower interest rate than England is paying America.

WANT YOUR PULL

If any Anaheimer thinks he may know anybody friendly with the members of the Board of Regents of the U. of C., Secretary George W. Reid of the C. of C. can furnish him with the names of such members.

Anaheim is working with Fullerton to persuade the board individually that the latter city's offer of a site for the Southern Branch is the most advantageous.

Reid has written to Dr. Edwin Gwinn, superintendent of schools of San Francisco whom he knows personally enclosing the booklet showing Fullerton's advantages.

FIRST BUILDING PERMIT TO HEINZE

The first building permit of 1925 was issued today to E. E. Heinze for a house to cost $5,000 in St. Catherine's Tract, lot 12, block C.

Building valuation for 1924 amounted to $1,026,548.50 with 424 permits. In December 26 permits were issued, representing a valuation of $32,455.

PROBE COLLAPSES

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—The McClintock death probe went into official collapse today with the formal announcement of Coroner Oscar Wolff that "nothing abnormal would be found in the examination of the vital organs of Wm. McClintock."

SAYS MORTIMER "PAL" OF HARDING

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Ellis H. Mortimer, the "pal" of chief executives of railroads, who called President Harding "Warren" when referring to him in personal conversation with others and who introduced his wife as the president's niece—

This was the picture of the government's star witness drawn today by B. H. Dahlberg, president of the Celetax Co., a Chicago lumber concern testifying for the defense in the Forbes-Thompson bribery and conspiracy trial.

Dahlberg was associated with John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, and James Black, his deceased partner, in a $100,000,000 development project in Colombia.

ANAHEIM P. O. RECEIPTS ADVANCE

Receipts at the Anaheim postoffice during 1924 showed an appreciable gain over the boom year 1923, while December's total was $298.08 larger than in the corresponding December.

The latter is always the biggest month of the year, and January is often another big month.

The total receipts for 1924 were $46,855.29 and for December alone $8,044.82.

The dull period of the year came in the second half, but the tide appears now to have definitely turned toward better things, in the opinion of Postmaster J. H. Whitaker. That is the most significant aspect of the latest month's showing.

If January and February also exceed the receipts of the corresponding months of 1924, the public can feel certain that the wave of prosperity is rising again, the postmaster believes.

Certain quarters of 1924 exceeded the similar quarters of 1923 by approximately $1,000 and $700.

The receipts in the final quarter reached $15,241.51.

FRANCE READY TO TALK ON DEBTS

PARIS, Jan. 2.—"France considers itself on the threshold of conversations with America on the subject of Franco - American debts."

The foreign office in making this statement today added, "while the note of Finance Minister Clementel to the United States is not binding and is only semi-official, it serves as a point of departure of negotiations."

Terms speified in Clementel's "semi-official note" were learned by International News Service. Clementel suggested a 10-year moratorium after which payments would cover a period of 80 years, with interest at one-half of one percent. All payments would be completed at the end of the 50 years.

The full text of the note will be made public, it was said, following a conference in Paris next week between Clementel and Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC CRIMES SERIOUS

MANILA, Jan. 2.—The question of whether the Philippines have a prohibition law or not is again disturbing the public mind here today.

Yesterday the ship Advistus, carrying 4000 cases of assorted liquors, arrived in Manila from Hong Kong without a bill of health from the American consul at Hong Kong because of the so-called Philippine department of state anti-liquor law.

After some delay the liquor was finally allowed entry when the ship's master paid a nominal fine for having arrived without all necessary ship's papers.

It is reported here that the Island department of state will soon retire the anti-liquor importation law, or at the most let it stand and consider it merely as a dead letter, awing to th ereluctance of Philippine officials to co-operate in its enforcement.

Crimes due to the liquor traffice in the Philippines are worse than the excesses committed during the Russian revolution," averred Judge De Joya today before the annual convention of the island W. C. T. U. in Manila.

Judge De Joya has been active in having a liquor ban law put into effect thruout the Philippines.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—A chauffeur using a pipe for a revolver, captured two Spanish bandits who held up a cafe in the Levallois district and fled after beating up the proprietor. The captives will be arraigned today on a highway robbery charge.

LIONS HEAR AVIATION TALK

The speaker declared that aviation, like the submarine and poison gas, originated in America, but had been developed and utilized by Europe.

Col. Hartz condemned the sale to individuals of planes "junked" by the government, implying that many accidents were due to that one fact.

The European countries had junked the former planes and replaced them, but the United States hadn't built the newer planes.

LIQUOR SHIPS LOST IN STORM

LINER SUNK TO PUT OUT FLAMES

Disaster Averted Off Delaware Coast Early Today

LEWES, Dela., Jan. 2.—The 207 passengers and 40 of the crew of the Clyde liner Mohawk, taken from the ship after a six-hour fire in an after hold, were landed here safely this afternoon.

The wireless received from the Mohawk at 8 a. m. revealed the fire was brought under control.

The boats reported standing by are the Merchants and Miners liner Persian, two tugs from Lewes, the coast guard cutter Kickapoo from Cape May and a cutter from here.

A radio received at 6:30 a. m. indicated that the rescue of passengers was imminent, if not already taking place despite the gale that is raging.

The message received from the cutter Kickapoo by the Clyde agents said:

"Fire has spread to the after salon. Will take passenger off."

The shivering passengers were lined up on the deck ready, according to reports received here.

After the passengers and crew were removed, the skipper beached the Mohawk of Brandywine light, seven miles from here and scouttled her to drown whatever fire might have remained in the holds. The ship may be salvaged, sailors said.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The 207 passengers and 40 members of the crew of the Clyde liner Mohawk, which has been afire off Delaware bay have been taken off by a coast guard cutter and two tugs, according to word sent to the steamship company here this afternoon.

The survivors, said these messages, are being taken to Lewes, Dela., where a special train is being made up to take them to their destination, Charleston, S. C., and Jacksonville, Fla.

Captain J. M. Staples, the skipper, is preparing to beach the vessel on Delaware breakwater to prevent its loss.

The fire was extinguished at dawn. Captain Staples kept 35 of the crew aboard to man the ship.

When the passengers were aroused by stewards soon after discovery of the blaze, they made their way to a forward deck. There were 105 women among them. Men in the group volunteered their services and helped the sailors quench the fire.

The Mohawk is a 6000-ton twin screw vessel. It left New York yesterday. It was the cutter Kickapoo and the tugs Killer and Mars that took the passengers and sailors off. The Mars is still standing by the Mohawk. It and the Killer and Kickapoo were standing by before dawn broke.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Officials of the Clyde line today reported receipt of a message from Captain J. M. Staples of the steamship Mohawk stating a fire started in the hold of the vessel at midnight but was under control at 4 a. m. today.

MAY BOOST P.O. RATES FOR YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A temporary increase in postal rates, effective for a single year, appeared today as a compromise solution to the administration's problem of financing the $68,000,000 wage advance to postoffice employes.

Under the plan, administration leaders would materially amend the postoffice department's new rate schedule in the Sterling bill, which would place the burden of rate increases upon American newspapers and magazines. The compromise would sharply reduce the department's recommendations for increases on second class rates, which apply to newspapers and publications. This action was virtually decided upon by administration leaders because of the great opposition levelled at the department's schedule by publishers and other large users of the mails. The condemnation convinced administration leaders that the Sterling rates could never be enacted into law. Sen. Moses, Rep. of New Hampshire, chairman of the senate committee in charge of the bill, proposed the compromise.

"I believe that any changes in postal rates at this time should be of temporary character," said Moses. "Congress should initiate an investigation of the whole rate structure before making any permanent changes. That is why I offered a compromise plan, which could be adopted to provide increased revenues to meet the pay increase for the coming year. Permanent changes could be made by the next congress, after sufficient time had been allowed for a thorough study of the rate structures."

The Moses plan incidentally would meet one of the chief objections raised by publishers, which was that they had not had enough time to study the Sterling bill. They also contended that the Sterling rates did not take into consideration the problem of public service, for which the postoffice department was founded.

The senate postoffice committee met today to study the Moses compromise and to draft a report on the Sterling bill. Its work was hurried at the request of administration leaders, who want the omnibus measure reported to the senate by Monday so an effort can be made to substitute it for the postal pay bill, vetoed last spring by President Coolidge. Under an agreement, the senate votes next Tuesday on the question of overriding the veto but if the substitution is made, the president has indicated he will approve the pay increases because congress will have provided the additional revenue.

ADVENTURER ON STAND FOR CROWN

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Debonnair and immaculately clothed, Montagu Noel Newton, adventurer, who was referred to in the first Sir Hurri Singh blackmail trial as the "greatest scoundrel unhung," took the stand today against his alleged fellow conspirator, Wm. Cooper Hobbs.

The two men were in vivid contrast in the crowded courtroom. Hobbs is elderly and jail life has imprinted itself indelibly on his wan and weary features.

Newton, witness for the crown, testified that Mrs. Chas. Robinson, Sir Hurri's mistress, was the first person to suggest that Sir Hurri be blackmailed.

He was called to Mrs. Robinson's room in Mayfair, Newton testified, and there the plot was outlined. Afterward, Captain C. W. Arthur, aide to Sir Hurri, was called into conference, he said.

Sir Hurri was "mean," the witness said, Mrs. Robinson told him, and that "he should be made to pay for his meanness."

There were many meetings before it was definitely decided just how Sir Hurri Singh was to be entrapped.

Captain Arthur told them Sir Hurri would pay "anything to avoid publicity," Newton testified.

He related that he was chosen to play the part of Mrs. Robinson's husband because "Robinson was not exactly the type of man who would be mistaken for a society woman's husband."

Mrs. Robinson gave him a key to her home and he got a key to Sir Hurri Singh's house from Captain Arthur, he said.

Following the chronology of the conspiracy Newton related that Mrs. Bevan was to be the mistress of Sir Hurri's secretary whom he knew as Major Jung.

"After the arrival of the party in Paris, Mrs. Robinson showed him her bedroom and arranged for him to find her there with Sir Hurri early in the morning, Newton said.

When the time came to distribute the money from Sir Hurri, it was decided not to give Robinson much because he became fearful and wanted to back out when with Mrs. Robinson, the remainder danger of arrest seemed near, Newton recited. Hobbs was authorized to arrange a settlement being divided between Hobbs, Newton and Captain Arthur, the witness said.

DIVIDEND ON DEPOSITS

The Anaheim National Bank on Wednesday declared the usual semi-annual dividend of two per cent on deposits, effective Jan. 1. The usual stockholders' dividend was not declared because of the cost of improvements to the interior.

This bank was the only one of the five in the city which did not declare its stockholders' dividend.

The first marriage in Anaheim last year was performed by the Rev. Leon L. Myers and he maintained this record yesterday when Miss Hazel L. Pearson and Mr. James Roseman, both of Long Beach, were the happy ones.

The couple was accompanied by the groom's brother, J. T. Roseman, and wife and left immediately after the ceremony at 2 p. m. for a short honeymoon. Both are natives of Missouri.

Pythians Greet New Year

Dancing until an early hour New Year's morning, the Knights and Pythian Sisters greeted 1925 in characteristic manner with a midnight supper served as bells pealed, whistles blew and noise reigned supreme.

The Pythian Sisters are looking to the next meeting on Wednesday when public installation of officers will be staged. A good program is planned and all members are asked to be present.

DAILY GREETING TO OUR READERS

Worldwide apart, and yet akin, as showing that the human heart beats on forever as of old.—Henry W. Longfellow.

PUBLICITY FOR LICENSE TO MARRY

Getting married may be made more difficult in California. But not annoyingly so for those who are proceeding lawfully and properly. Various juvenile welfare agencies in Los Angeles and other parts of the state are formulating proposed legislation which will be asked of the Legislature at the forthcoming session. Among the requirements which are suggested are: Publication in a newspaper of general circulation of all applications for marriage licenses two weeks before license is issued; those intending to marry will be required to maintain a residence of thirty days in the county in which they apply for a license. Restrictions of this nature are put forward as the most positive means of preventing the increasing number of runaway child marriages, undesirable elopements and bigamous marriages.

The police juvenile bureau in Los Angeles has dealt with at least a dozen cases recently in which girls of 14 and 15 have run away with older men and married them. This evil can not be coped with under state laws as they stand. There is need of special legislation to cover this and other forms of abuse of the marriage relation.

The suggested legislation should be wholesome in effect. There is need of reform along these lines. The number of unhappy marriages and blasted lives might be reduced under the workings of a reformative law of the nature suggested.

Slandering a state or section, with deliberate intent to injure such state or section, should be made illegal and a punishable offense.

There is nothing quite so satisfactory, in business and social relations, as candor and straightforwardness.

DINNER STORIES

Bernard Shaw, who is not overfond of music, now, probably because of his early career as critic, happened to be beguiled to a musicale given by a prominent London society woman, who, during the evening, found the author sitting disconsolate and bored in a corner of the room.

"Now, really, Mr. Shaw," said the hostess, "don't you think this orchestra plays beautifully, These men have been playing together for eleven years."

"Eleven years," repeated Shaw. "Haven't we been here longer than that?"

"Jock," said he, "ye have given me a fine two weeks. I've slept in your bed, eaten your food, had good sport, and I'm grateful to ye. What do ye say to a drap whusky in the pub yonder?"

After they had had the drink the man continued: "Now, Jock, let's match and see who pays."

An old negro, who had almost attained the century mark, nearly blind, almost completely disabled, without friends, relations, or money, felt himself about to die, and stealthily made his way into a farmer's barn, where he burrowed into the haymow. But the farmer had observed the man's entrance, and after getting his shotgun, he hurried to the barn.

"I got you!" he cried savagely. "Dog gone you! I got you!"

The derelict thrust his black face from the mow, and showed his toothless gums in a grin, as he answered

"An' a great git you got!"

A captious traveler in Northern Arkansas stopped by a fence to criticize a sear cornfield which met his disapproval. "Mighty small corn you have there!" he shouted to the man who was "superintending the growth" from a shady corner.

"Yes," said the Arkansan. "Planted the small kind."

"Looks mighty yellow to me for this time of year."

"Yes. Planted the yellow kind."

"Well," said the traveler, severely, "I can't understand your method of farming. You won't get over half a crop there."

"No," said the Arkansan, cheerfully. "You are shore a good guesser, stranger. Half a crop exactly, that's mine. I planted this on shares."

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Author of "THE FAST WAY TO HEALTH"

CHILDREN'S DIET

When it is necessary to wean the child from the mother's milk, the best substitute is raw cow's milk. A child of ten months, when he is being weaned, should be given from five to eight ounces of cow's milk every four hours. Each feeding of milk should be preceded by one or two teaspoonfuls of sweet orange juice. Start out by giving baby five ounces of milk and gradually increase to eight ounces, stopping only when the child shows it is getting too much by having some of the curd come up in its mouth.

Follow this up by four feedings a day of from twenty to thirty-two ounces of milk in addition to the orange juice used. If constipation exists, try increasing the orange juice to three or four teaspoonsful before each feeding. If this does not bring about the desired results, reduce the orange juice to one or two teaspoonfuls as before, and add one teaspoonful of milk of magnesia to each quart of milk, shaking the magnesia up in the bottle each time before pouring into the nursing bottle.

Sometimes you will find that a child of ten months cannot take enough milk at a time to get a sufficient quantity in four feedings. If this is the case, give the feedings every three hours, using only four or five ounces at a time. Under no circumstances should any other food be added to the milk, and never dilute it with water. This milk diet may be continued until the child is about two years of age. If any other food is added before that age is reached it should be only cooked non-starchy vegetables. Small portions of meat or starchy food given to a child who is using milk will often bring about serious digestive trouble.

90-MILE WINDS SWEEP ENGLA

LONDON, Jan. 2.——Unre ting gales and rains which made the holidays a season of ror for coast towns and river points, continued today with 90-mile gale sweeping England.

Havoc in the trail of this late storm mounted higher than the damage previously exacted. England's storm bill for the week of gales will be enormous.

UBLISHERS WIN POSTAL VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—American publishers won a sweeping victory today when the senate postoffice committee adopted a new postal rate schedule, sharply reducing the administration's recommendations for increases on second class mail.

The new rate bill, including also provisions for a $68,000,000 salary increase for postoffice employes, will be reported to the senate late this afternoon. It was drafted as a compromise to meet the storm of opposition raised against the new schedules proposed by the postoffice department which would have made publishers bear the burden of the salary increases.

Administration leaders hope to substitute the compromise measure for the postal salary bill, which President Coolidge vetoed, before the senate reaches a scheduled vote on it next Tuesday.

The new rates would become effective April 15, and would terminate automatically Feb. 15, 1926. In the meantime congress would authorize a joint committee to study the rate situation and recommend a new permanent postal schedule. The committee's schedule would levy slight increases on some kinds of second class mail, reduce other existing second class rates and levy increases in both third and fourth class mail and various special service and special delivery.

On second class mail the increases would apply only to the advertising portions of of publications and only then in the first and second zones. In the third and fifth zones existing rates would be continued while decreases would be effected on the sixth, seventh and eighth zones.

The reductions of present rates were agreed upon, it was said, in the hope of getting large magazine publishers to resume distant mail deliveries, which of recent years have gone to private express companies.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF GAS HEATER

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2—Another victim was added to the already long list of persons who have died here within the last two weeks from carbon monoxide poisoning when Jack Glavey, a motion picture director, was found unconscious on the floor of his home in Hollywood. He died later at the police receiving hospital, it was reported today. Fumes generated by a gas heater in a tightly closed room caused his accidental death, detectives said.

FRENCH PROPO PAYMENT PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The French government thru Premier Herriot and Finance Minister Clementel have submitted to Ambassador Herrick in Paris, a definite proposition on the funding of France's $4,000,000,000 debt to the United States it was officially announced at the state department this afternoon. The terms proposed, however, were said to be so indefinite that no comment be made upon them at this department received today a fairly detailed report from Herrick on his conversations with the French officials but more communication will be necessary before officials here were certain of just what the French propose.

No note has been received direct from the French government on the matter, it was said at the department.

Ambassador Herrick has advised the state department that a note is being sent, embodying the details of the French proposal. When this communication is received Secy. Hughes will turn it over to Secy. Mellon who, as chairman of the American Debt Funding Commission, will call a meeting of the commission to consider it.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Great Britain's note to the United States contesting the right of this government to share in the proceeds of reparations secured from Germany under the Dawes plan, was received at the state department today.

It was in reply to a note recently sent by Secy. Hughes, claiming the right in equity for America to share in these payments in satisfaction of American claims against Germany.

While the British reply was not made public, it is understood to be conciliatory in tone.

ELABORATE IS WEDDING AT GRIMSHAW HOME

SUBTLE in lighting, artistic in arrangement, exquisite in detail were the arrangements for the elaborate wedding ceremony of Miss Beulah Waterman, of Hollywood, to Mr. Edwin L. Miller, which occurred last evening at eight at the home of Mr Miller's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Grimshaw, 112 West Broadway, in the same home wherein occurred the marriage of the groom's parents more than 30 years ago.

The Rev. Robt. McAuley, of Sacramento who, with Mrs. McAuley, made the journey here to officiate, is a long time friend of the groom, and was his roommate in Occidental college. He is now pastor of Fremont Park Presbyterian church of Sacramento. The Grimshaw home done in a pink and green color arrangement under the efficient hand of Miss O. Stechart assisted by Miss Eleanora Parker, cousin of the groom. Garlands of greens studded with pink blossoms of variety, were supplemented by potted pink cyclamen, azeleas, and great baskets of pink fragrance in bloom. Especially pleasing to the bride were two very large French bouquets arranged in baskets, each having places of honor near her during the ceremony.

Preceding the rites Mr. Edward Backs, cousin of the groom, sang "At Dawning" (Cadman) with Miss Lois Stratton, of Hollywood, chum of the bride, at the piano. Miss Alice Grimshaw, also the groom's cousin, sang, "Oh Promise Me" and "I Promise Thee," (de Koven). Mendelssohn's Wedding March heralded the approach of the bridal party, lead by the manly little ring bearer, Master Bobby Knapp, Los Angeles, cousin of the bride, so proper in his black and white velvet suit and carrying a white satin pillow on which reposed the circlet. The Misses Vera and Verna Waterman, twin sisters of the bride; Miss Leah McKee, Hollywood, her very close friend, as maid of honor; the dainty flower girl, Beverly Kraemer, cousin of the groom, with fluffy pink dress, preceded the lovely blonde bride and her father, Mr. G. A. Waterman.

At the altar they met the groom and his best man, Mr. Arthur W. Turk, former Anaheim boyhood chum of Mr. Miller. The ceremony was performed in the den which had been improvised into a garden of palms and ferns, banked with rare pink poinsettias, and overhung with a large wedding bell of carnations and ferns, under which the young pair stood. The bridal party entered through an avenue lighted by candles, into their places in the softly lighted room. The bride was given away by her father. Miss Stratton played softly throughout the ceremony, music from the same book used for the nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, sr. Another romantic feature and an omen of good luck was in the bride's wearing the orange blossoms and veil worn by the groom's mother at her marriage.

Her gown was of rare beauty fashioned from white du Bois over satin, and she carried a round front shower bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and maidenhair fern. The beauty of her coiffure was remarked upon, in that she has a wealth of natural curls piled high on her head, and in which her father admitted his pride.

Miss McKee's gown was of pink georgette draped with point lace, she carrying a shower bouquet of orchid sweet peas and Russel rose buds. Miss Vera Waterman wore a gown of green charmeuse trimmed with cream lace, and carried an arm bouquet of pink sweet peas and pink butterfly rose buds while her sister, Miss Verna, had yellow charmeuse with cream lace and carried orchid sweet peas and Ophelia rose buds. Miss Stratton, pianist, in beaded yellow georgette, wore a corsage of yellow rose buds.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple successfully evaded their friends and drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Muckenthaler, where their honeymoon garments had been previously taken. From there they left for Riverside, thence on a journey of short length. They will probably make their home in Los Angeles.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Waterman and, having lived in Anaheim for many years, has countless friends here She is a graduate of Hollywood high school and was a student in Mills college, Oakland. Later she studied under Miss Freda Peycke. She is a member of the junior section of the Hollywood Woman's club and of the National Dramatic Society. She is director of the Holly Players club and has directed numerous presentations there and in nearby cities. During the past three years she has been in concert work, and frequently entertained with planologues over the radio.

Mr. Miller was a resident of Anaheim from his birth until he graduated from the local high school and entered Occidental college. His college course was interrupted at the close of his junior year by two years of service in the world war. Mr. Miller was among the first hundred thousand Americans to land in France and served 18 months there with the One Hundred and Seventeenth Engineers corps, a part of the Rainbow Division.

Upon his return here he completed his course at Occidental and shortly after graduation became associated with the Southern California Telephone Co., and is enjoying a decided promotion given him as a holiday gift. He has a wide acquaintance throughout Southern California and has acquired a great many friends thru his college, army and business associations. Mr. Miller is a member of the Owl and Key fraternity and a member of the University club, of Los Angeles.

One hundred and fifty guests responded to the two hundred invitations. The bride deftly cut her cake which was brought to her on a valuable tea wagon, one of the wedding gifts. An array of silver, cut glass, pictures, ornamental articles sent by loving friends were the objects of admiration of the guests after the wedding as well as many who dropped in at the Miller home this morning where they were yet on display.

Both Mr. Miller and his bride have been complimented guests at several pre-nuptial social affairs and showers, and their home coming is eagerly awaited.

Out of town guests included:

The Misses M. Snyder, Sarah Louise Mayer, Helen Brundage, Betty B. Smith, Ann Priscilla Risher; Mrs. Boyd Smith, Mrs. A. M. Risher, Mrs. Hopkins, Stanley Sheldon and Leonard Eilers, all of Hollywood; the Messrs and Mesdames W. C. Lilly, George Van Yorst, Sidney Root, W. REELS OF THRILS AND LAUGHS IS "THE FAST WORKER" AT THE UNITED

From all indications the patrons of the United theater started the New Year right yesterday, when they were given enough laughs to overshadow a whole week of troubles. Laughs and thrills that's what "The Fast Worker" is composed of. It opened a three day engagement at the United theater yesterday. That popular pair Reginald Denny and Laura La Plante, are seen in the leading roles. These two are the most popular pair of comedians on the screen today.

It is a story with thrills galore, alternated with as many laughs, and dished up with all Denny's whimsical humor and Laura La Plante's blonde loveliness. The action ranges from a chase with a sheriff to a climb on a five-story pergola—and from start to finish the audience is kept in a whirl of excitement and mirth. And it all happens because the hero was daring enough to pass as the husband of a lady he did not know.

The cast is especially notable, besides Reginald Denny and Laura La Plante, Ethel Grey Terry is seen as the wife, and Lee Moran of Lyone-Moran fame, is seen as the sheik. Others are Betty Morrison, Margaret Campbell, Baby Muriel Dana and Richard Tucker.

On the screen also will be seen the concluding chapter of "The Wolves of the North." Those who have followed this daring chapter play will be very desirous of seeing the spectacular ending.

BEARS END GREAT YEAR; WIN 14 to 0

California's attack was bewildering and virtually swept the vistors off their feet. Pennsylvania's goal line, crossed but twice thruout the eastern season had never been crossed by straight, plunging football.

Yesterday the line of this same mighty Pennsylvania squad was romped over twice by California—not by sweeps around the ends and not by forward passing, but by straight, gruelling, plunging, Army football.

The only two scores of the game were made by the Blue and Gold fullbacks, Young and Griffin, by rushing football.

"Tut" Imlay, diminutive California halfback, who rated Walter Camp's third all-American team this year, was one of the outstanding stars of the game. Bert Griffin, sophomore Bear fullback, also played remarkable football.

Capt. McGraw and Jesse Douglas, for Pennsylvania, put up a splendid game and were loudly cheered for brilliant playing.

Continues to Play With Broken Ankle

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—Harry Stuhldreher, fighting quarterback of the Notre Dame champion football game, broke an ankle bone early in the sensational East-West contest won by his team yesterday, but continued to play nearly the entire game, despite the excruciating pain, it was learned today. Stuhldreher's ankle was placed in a cast at the Pasadena hospital.

ROCKNE DECLINES GAME WITH BEARS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—"The football season is over," declared Coach Rockne today in refuting reports that a game is being arranged between his eleven and that of the California University.

"I have not been approached with any proposal to hold a game in Los Angeles Jan. 10, and don't know who would make it," the leader of the American football champions said.

"Notre Dame came to the Pacific Coast for one game, and one game it will be," he continued. "I'm taking my boys back to their studies and will meet no other western eleven."

IRISH PAT EACH OTHER FEEBLY

PASADENA, Jan. 2.—When Blasco Ibanez penned his yarn about the "Four Horsemen," he automatically reserved parking space in anybody's five-foot shelf, but who is the soul today brave enough to rise and say the creations of the Spanish novelist will ride down to posterity with louder hoof beats than the galloping buchanneers turned out by Knute Rockne on the banks of the Wabash far away.

Two thousands miles from home in a strange setting of golden tinted orange groves and winter-blooming beds of crimson poinsettes, Rockne's four horsemen rode wild to the end of the trail here in the annual New Year's Day east-west football clash and with a 27 to 10 score defeated Fullback Ernie Nevers and ten other Leland Stanford men. It was a thrill-packed fight that proclaimed the Irish ramblers America's gridiron champions and branded them one of football's supreme outfits. It was the first eastern victory at Pasadena since 1920 when Harvard beat Oregon.

With shamrocks tucked in their socks and horse-shoes in their hair, the Irish were further aided and abetted by two intercepted forward passes and one of those things, known down thru the ages as a costly fumble, at the buttery hands of Stanford's quarter, Fred Solomon. A regular chamber of commerce "golden" sun beat down on the invading easterners thruout the game, but any damage done to Notre Dame by the humidity was balanced by the turns of fortune's wheel.

Yet allowing for the smiles bestowed by Lady Luck on her fightin' Irish eyes, Notre Dame proved better than the best in the far west and galloped home to the oats box with little use for the whip. Superior ability in following the ball, speed usually seen only at track meets and a back field more powerful than any that ever kicked the turf behind the broad Pacific was plenty to humiliate the big red machine from Stanford.

While 60,000 California hearts thrilled at their dashing work the mounted raiders—Layden, Crowley, Miller and the all-American quarter, Stuhldreher, went thru their paces with the regular chug-chug of engine pistons, running the ball for four touch-downs only one of which was earned, while the westerners bucked their way once across the Irish line and kicked a field goal.

So swiftly moved the horsemen that Stanford's huge players, heavier ten pounds to the man, looked like Percherons, afflicted with elephantitis. Save for Nevers and an occasional flash by Ted Shipkey, Stanford end, the westeners were as range stock chasing thoroughbreds.

Every big game has its hero and the New Year's classic which placed the laurel on the Catholic machine, did not shed its glorified mantle on the trim shoulders of Quarterback Stuhldreher or on Don Miller or Crowley or the fleet-footed Mr. Layden. Instead, it wound itself around and tied a knot sprinkled with stardust on the brow of Ernie Nevers, the greatest back the Pacific coast has ever produced.

With a limp in both feet, almost wallowing in fat from an inactive season due to injuries and practically alone in his brilliant performance, Nevers was largely responsible for the red shirters' offense and defense. Not content with figuring in every round of the battle, Nevers stood behind his line and heckled the visitors by calling out their plays before the ball was snapped.

The Cardinals completed 12 foorward passes against two for Notre Dame! they gained 180 yards from scrimmage while the Catholics did 133! they made 18 first downs while the Irish accomplishel seven. And in each play netting Cardinal yardage, Nevers was the outstanding figure.

Once Nevers carried the ball, largely thru Notre Dame's center, Captain Adam Walsh, to within less than a foot of the Irish line it was his plunging which showed Notre Dame's line inferior to that of Stanford.

Analyzing the game from a coaching angle, Glen Scobey Warner, Stanford mentor, today need not doff his hat to Coach Knute Rockne. Warner's reverse play, varied in short bucks and wider criss-crosses stood the test against Rockne's famous shift and placed the Cardinals in straight football, ahead of the team which spilled the Army, Wisconsin Princeton and Nebraska and other leaders in the east and middle west.

Warner's back field was miserably weak in contrast to the great quartet — Stuhldreher, Layden, Miller and Crowley.

These four, while the setting sun rang down forever their football curtain, batted each other's backs rather solemnly at the end of the game, as Southern California Irish citizenry and some thousands of others hardly less elect howled their shouts of victory. They had made their last ride.

Maybe the greatest football combination of all time had passed on.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF BREAKS

PASADENA, Jan. 2.—"It is one thing to get the breaks and another to take advantage of them. Some might say that we were lucky, but you will admit that it takes a smart team to know what to do with the breaks after it gets them," "Col." Coach Knute Rockne of the famous Notre Dame football team stated today.

"Stanford was well coached and gave us a real battle, and we certainly admire their great fighting spirit."

"I congratulate Notre Dame on her victory and on the way they took advantage of the breaks. It was a great exhibition of football and the Irish have a wonderful team, but I think I have a better one "Coach Glenn "Pop" Warner, of the Stanford squad, stated today.

"While the Irish did not show to advantage in defense, the 'four horsemen' were too fast for us when they had the ball!"

ELIMINATE KAPLAN OR KRAMER TONITE

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The old Quensberry pot in which the featherweight championship has been stewing since last summer comes to a boil tonight in Madison Square Garden to eliminate either Kid Kaplan or Danny Kramer as a title aspirant.

Kaplan and Kraemer two Jewish youths who have fought their way thru the lists at the direction of the New York boxing commission. Now they find themselves facing each other in a 15-round struggle to decide which is worthy to succeed Johnny Dundee.

General opinion favors Kaplan, altho Kramer is recognized as a dangerous hitter and an awkward man to fight because of his left handed posturing. The betting is eight to five on Kaplan. Neither is a native or a resident fo New York. Kramer hails from California but has been operating in Philadelphia for about three years. Kaplan's home is in Meriden, Conn.

"GIFT NITE" SAT. AT CALIFORNIA

The management of the California have a beautiful array of gifts to be given away Saturday night at the California that will run in value to over $100.

Richard Dix's first Paramount starring picture, "Manhattan," with Jacqueline Logan, Gregory Kelly, George Seigmann and others playing in support, will be shown at the California Theatre Friday only. The story is an adaptation by Paul Sloane and Frank Tuttle of the novel, "The Definite Object," by Jeffery Farnol. It is R. H. Burnside's first work as a screen director.

The story opens on Peter Minuit (Dix), a wealthy young bachelor who tires of the uneventful routine of his daily life and ventures out into Hell's Kitchen section of New York City in search of adventure. He finds it—with a vengeance!

Peter had read in the paper of a gang fight outside of Bud McGinnis saloon and in another column of night of "Gentleman" George, a safeblower sought in four states. Things began to brighten a bit. Here was excitement after all.

Minuit dons some old clothes and, posing as the notorious "Gentleman George," hies himself off after a thrill. After a series of actionful scenes we find him more or less firmly established as one of the Kitchen's respected gangsters, only to be "bumped off" by one who believed him a "bull." Spike, a youngster with whom he had teamed up, brings him to his home—and that's when the trouble begins. For Spike has a truly beautiful sister an, on first sight, Minuit decides that there is that "something" worth living for.

But there's a villain in the case, Bud McGinnis, (Seigmann), also in love wtih Mary, played by Miss Logan. He plays Peter all kinds of dirt—even tries to "finish him," out Minuit comes up smiling, wins the girl, reforms her wayward brother, reveals his real identity and they all live happily ever after in his home on the avenue.

Here's real entertainment. Dix has always been a prime favorite with the fans and in "Manhattan," a story all his very own, he's going to prove more popular than ever. See if we're not right.

Another of the Go-Getter Comedies, "A Miss in The Dark," an Aesop Fable "A Message from the Sea" and Chapter 8 of "Into the Net" complete the program.
