VAST CROWD AT REVIVAL OPENING

Unusual Demonstration of Interest at Initial Service Last Night

That the Bulgin revival campaign is destined to have a far-reaching effect in Anaheim and Orange-co was demonstrated last night when the large tent at Wilhelmina and Claudina-sts was filled to capacity for the initial service. It was the largest gathering at a religious service in Anaheim in many years.

Dr. Bulgin, former first assistant of Dwight L. Moody and regarded by many as a peer of Billy Sunday, whose evangelistic campaigns all over the nation have repeatedly filled the largest halls and tabernacles in the largest cities, was all that his strongest admirers have said of him as a pulpit orator and revivalist. He is a profound and logical thinker and repeatedly sways his audience from laughter to tears.

It was evident last night that a striking feature of the campaign will be the music, the choir probably the largest ever assembled in Orange-co, showing the results of the few preliminary rehearsals. Only a few of the more than 300 chairs in choir loft were not filled by singers last night.

Alvin Carter, nationally known soloist and choir conductor, and Roy Gourley, talented pianist and singer, also contributed solos and duets. A negro spiritual, "Ain't It a Shame to Work on Sunday," made a tremendous hit with the vast audience. More such treats were promised. Tonight they will give a number for Rotarians and Kiwanians.

A piano improvisation of his own on "The Little Church in the Wildwood" by Mr. Gourley was also warmly applauded.

Mrs. O. Lee Shoemaker contributed an excellent solo from the soprano section of the choir.

The singers come from all the Protestant churches of the city.

Dr. Bulgin spoke last night on "What I Believe and Why." He said the best answer ever given Bob Ingersol was by an old colored mammy who washed for his mother at Ashville, N. C. She went to Ingersoll's hotel and told him: "It is just like God to have written the Bible and the Bible is just like God."

"The best definition of God, made several hundred years ago by an old Scotch Presbyterian, is wisdom, power, holiness, justice and goodness," said the speaker. "You can't add or detract from that definition.

"The Bible suits all advances of science. It makes a correct diagnosis and can affect a perfect cure for every social ill."

The evangelist enlivens his discourse with numerous funny stories. He told one about a gray-haired mother who held up a stocking she was knitting and asked her 45-year-old maiden daughter if she would be satisfied with what Santa Claus could put in it. The old maid replied she would be pleased with what would fill a pair of socks.

The evangelist went on to say that he had the most profound pity for an old maid and contempt for an old bachelor.

L. P. Dunlap, well-known Anaheimer of the bachelor persuasion spoke out in meeting from his seat well upon front: "I beg your pardon."

"Granted," said Bulgin. The crowd roared.

Another bit of comedy was the story of a dark preacher who offered to answer any question if a $5 gold piece was placed on the collection plate. A colored barber planked down the gold piece and then addressed the person: "When we got to heaven now will we get our robes over our wings?" The parson replied: "What you should worry about is how you're going to get your hat over your horns."

The evangelist announced his subject for tonight would be "Triumphs of the Cross of Jesus Christ."

Interest has been added to the revival campaign by opposition of certain Protestant ministers under the leadership of Dr. J. A. Geissinger, who has been devoting most of his time to politics for several months since his support of Bill Stark, former political boss and ex-saloonkeeper, was repudiated nearly two to one last spring's election. By far the biggest part of his membership already badly split on account of his political activities, was at the revival tabernacle last night despite the fact he had emphasized

Speeders, Beware San Jose Judge!

SAN JOSE, Jan. 12.—Speeders beware—

Police Judge Percy O'Conner has a brand new cure for auto drivers who use city streets for speedways.

His plan is to sentence speeders regardless of their position in society or business life to become artists.

He will give them a chance to exercise their artistic ability in repainting the white traffic signs on the streets as they become obliterated by traffic.

"If the situation requires I will adopt this plan," he said today. "The sight of a few prominent Californians down on their knees painting the signs they often disregard may have a salutory effect."

BIG MISTAKE SAYS GOV. DAVIS

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 12—Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, and his son, Russell, were charged in information in city court this morning, filed by Tinkham Veale, county attorney of Shawnee-co., with conspiracy and accepting a bribe in connection with alleged sales of pardons in Kansas.

With Veale going out of office, a change in plans was made at the last moment and the governor will be arrested within a half hour. He will be arrested, as Governor of Kansas, the first in the history of the state.

Col. A. M. Harvey and John Addington, the governor's personal attorneys will furnish the bond of both Davis and his son. The bonds are set at $1000 each.

The warrant was to be served on the governor by L. J. Hurley, marshal of the city court, and Deputy C. C. Lyttle who will hold the governor in technical custody thruout the inaugural ceremonies of Ben S. Paulen.

There is one charge against the governor and his son. In the language of the warrant, it accuses the governor of "accepting a bribe of $1250 thru his son, acting as agent, for the pardon of Fred W. Pollman."

Under the Kansas statutes, conviction carries with it sentence of from one to eleven years in the state penitentiary or, a fine of from $200 to $1000 or both.

Delay in the morning proceedings was caused by the rewriting and signing of the informations.

The sensational incidents of the morning showed but little on the surface of the inaugural ceremonies. The governor rode in the parade along Kansas-ave side by side with his successor.

The crowds were silent. At the auditorium where the inauguration took place, there was little applause and little comment.

"I guess they are trying to humiliate me," the governor commented as he submitted to technical arrest in the city court, where he went as soon as the charges were filed.

"I'll take the full dose and go thru with it. Of course, my family won't be there."

Nor were they. The day which they thought of as full of pomp and ceremony in which they would take the part of actors saying farewell to the stage, was one of sadness and sorrow. Russell Davis, with his mother, stayed in the family home.

There was silence as the outgoing governor made his farewell address.

"I came into the governorship a farmer," he said. "I am leaving the office a farmer. I have battled the best I could for what I thought the farmers and workers were entitled to."

His voice broke then—came back strongly and he went thru to the end of his set speech without

82 CARLOADS OF ORANGES SHIPPED

No. Orange-co. got busy last week on its navel shipments for the first time, moving 82 cars.

Fullerton with 22 cars, Placentia with 21 and Anaheim with 15 were the leaders, as usual, but Olive shipped 11, LaHabra, including Bastanchury ranch 5 and Yorba Linda 5. Garden Grove has few navels, shipping only 14 cars of miscellaneous varieties, including navels, at last season. It will not start shipping oranges again until March 15.

Optimism is growing over the frost situation. La Habra now puts its maximum damage at not over 10 per cent, and Yorba Linda declares damage trifling. The latter is a lemon growing district at that.

Last week's navels were the first shipped in January by Placentia, which also shipped only 9 cars all told during December. The latter's valencia season hung over however, the district moving 106 cars in November.

LAHABRA VOTES ON INCORPORATION

According to a check on the vote already cast up to noon today, it looks as tho La Habra would vote for incorporation by 2 to 1. A majority vote carries.

The assessed valuation of the new city, if incorporated, would be around $1,000,000.

The candidates are: For council—Dr. E. S. Boice, L. J. Wester, George Sutton, L. E. Smith and Walter Cooley; for city clerk—G. O. Stegman and A. C. Goodell; for city treasurer—Louis Muchow. Claude C. Campbell is among the candidates being written in for councilman.

POLICE SEEK TALL MAN AS BOMBSTER

Only Miracle That Many Frisco Officials Were Not Slaughtered

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12—Every police agency in San Francisco was engaged today in a hunt for a tall man dressed in black who is believed to have planted the picric acid bomb which exploded yesterday in the hallway of police headquarters.

He was seen leaving the telephone booth in which the bomb was planted a few moments before it exploded by Police Captain John Lackman. That and the slender clue furnished by fragments of a bottle believed to have contained the acid in the bomb which bore the label of a local drug store, were the basis of the police investigation but the motive of the bomber remained shrouded in mystery.

Only the fact that the rank and file of the detective bureau arrived on time and the other officials were late prevented a loss of life. Around 10 o'clock Sunday morning, the corridor of the hall of justice is usually thronged with detectives and officials arriving for morning conferences. This apparently was known to the bomber who timed the death machine so that it would explode at 10:05. There was a minute or two delay and it exploded at 10:07. At that time the hall way was clear.

The fact that Police Sergeant Wm. Malberg did not have a nickle saved his life. He paused at the booth to telephone a few seconds before the explosion and finding he had no change went to a nearby office to secure the necessary nickel.

The bomb was placed within 25 feet of the door of Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien's office. The bomb, work of an expert, was constructed of a length of two-inch pipe which had been filled with about 30 cartridges of 32 calibre so arranged to be detonated and scattered by a heavy charge of black powder. A dynamite cap was set off b ythe picric acid, causing the powder charge to explode. The effect was to spray the entire corridor with death and few would have escaped had the hallway been filled. The explosion tore a hole thru the heavy wall of the building, wrecked the telephone booth, shattered all of the glass in the corridor, wrecked a steam radiator and spattered the walls with lead.

The exercises are to be the same as on Sunday and Monday, but you are to increase your morning and afternoon walk to about one mile each time. You will be surprised at your increased strength and vitality. However, do not take any more exercises than I have prescribed or you will find yourself getting sore in the muscles and that will not do you as much good as if you are prudent and follow instructions carefully.

Miss Helm stated that there was an unusually strong cast for an amateur performance. In the tryouts recently the competition for parts was very keen, she asserted.

A mite box used to contain small subscription "to the needy," which happened to be about, contained a dime which hadn't been in it before.

Bureau drawers had been opened and every nook and cranny searched in the effort to find money, which was evidently what was sought. The whole flat was in confusion.

WHEAT FAMINE FACING COAST

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 12—The Pacific slope is today facing a wheat famine.

Market and grain experts pointed out here today that the Pacific Coast instead of sending big wheat shipments east, is forced to get its supply east of the Rockies.

Shortage of the 1924 crop coupled with heavy exports is given as the cause.

Willamette Valley and eastern Oregon farmers are in bad shape due to the recent cold snap which ruined winter wheat plantings.

Oregon grain growers may call on the federal or state government of financial aid in replacing their winter plantings.

SOCIETY

STATE LEADER ADDRESSES P-T.A. DISTRICT MEET

THT parents learn to love their children successfully, was the keynote of the address given by state president Mrs. Hugh Bradford, of Sacramento, at the Fourth District meeting of Congress of Parent-Teachers, in the high school auditorium here. Mrs. Bradford, put her heartiest efforts into an address on child welfare during the afternoon session, and stresses the hope that children will be allowed more and more to develop through their opportunities, rather than having the parents do too much for them. Mrs. Bradford urged as well that present members of the Parent-Teacher Ass'ns tell and re-tell the purposes and aims of the organizations, and at the close of her address urged that every member follow up ideals with action.

Mrs. Bradford offered many helpful suggestions in conducting the local meetings, among them that each meeting a speaker on some topic in particular be provided. That details, which frequently consume the greater part of the meeting, be left to committees, and that the children's program be limited in time and number. She suggested that each organization ask its speaker to handle a topic applicable to its particular school. It is the president's opinion that the teachers who attend the meetings are those who have welfare of the children closest to heart.

Mrs. W. W. Wilson, state chairman of child welfare, spoke briefly on her work. Mrs. C. C. Noble, state chairman of membership, told why every parent should be a member of the P-T. A., and gave some very pleasing reports of her activities.

Major Marks, of Fullerton, whose introduction was prefaced with a glowing tribute to his mother, by Mrs. Edmund Snow, district president, deviated somewhat from his child welfare topic which had been assigned, and gave some inside information to prove his point, that the parent is responsible for the child, and thru over indulgence, often becomes the direct cause of his doing wrong. Mr. Marks stated that the average age of the criminal of the present crime wave is under 22 years, and of the seven found guilty of murder in the past month, six were under 21 years.

He urged that "Dad" who usually is his boy's ideal, never fail in his respect for the law, and illustrated his point with anecdotes wherein fathers "might wink" at a speed law, if the motor cop was not in sight, etc. He also urged return of the old fashioned home life, with the children drawn about the family hearthstone while Dad and Mother do something for their entertainemnt or interest.

Mr. Marks also told of the child labor laws of the various states, and touched upon the proposed amendment for California now before the legislature.

Mr. Bert Steelhead, in his "New Year's Message," took his audience along the educational highway from the time of Ichabod Crane into the distance, when he visions near perfection.

Founders' Day, Feb. 17, will be nationally celebrated, when a birthday offering will be received from every state. California has held the highest membership in the nation for some time, consequently the offering has been more the combined figures of other states. Of this, $2000 will be used to advantage in the rural districts of California.

In closing the afternoon tribute was paid to Mrs. Estelle Higgins, expresident of national Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Ass'ns, whose sudden death shocked her friends and co-workers from east to west. Mrs. David Mears, her life long friend and assistant in national work, gave beautiful eulogy and Mrs. C. C. Noble, who also had known Mrs. Higgins intimately, spoke words of deepest feeling.

Reports were heard from several associations of the district, and nominations were made for officers to fill vacancies. Election will be held at the April meeting.

The attendance was unusually large and the good fortune of having so many notable members present added to the pep of the gathering.

LOCAL GIRL IS BRIDE OF SANTA ANA YOUNG MAN

FRIENDS of Miss Dorothy Ennis, the efficient little darkeyed bookkeeper for the Automotive Electric Co., will be happily surprised to hear of her marriage, which occurred Sunday evening, Dec. 14, almost a month ago, in the Mission Inn, at Riverside. Miss Ennis, her husband to be, Jack Neff, of Santa Ana; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ennis, a friend of the groom, Jack Henderson, of Whittier, drove to the Mission Inn city, where the minister of Miss Ennis' church performed the ceremony. She wore a pretty brown silk, suitable for the honeymoon as well, and on which they left at once.

A two weeks tour of the north preceded their establishment of a home in Santa Ana where the groom is district salesman for the Shell Oil Co.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis, and elder sister to seven adoring boys. She came here three years ago with her parents from Colorado, following her graduation from high school, and has been her father's valued assistant ever since his place of business was opened.

The wedding had been planned for the springtime, but an unforseen vacation which fell to the good fortune of Mr. Neff, gave rise to the opportunity for an earlier date, and plans were changed to meet the occasion.

Happy Social Event

Co-workers Bible class members held a monthly social Friday evening in the Sunday school room of the Presbyterian church, with quite half a hundred guests and members present. The pot luck supper which was spread on the big table, formed into "U" shape, became a real banquet as viands and dishes were added and brot forth much complimentary talk, especially from the gentlemen of the group.

Place cards were novel in kind and application. Half were questions, with answers to be read from the other half. Slips of paper were passed during the meal, which gave directions for efficient k. p. duty One series of slips requested owners to "clear the silver away"; another, "take the glasses to the kitchen"; still another, "assist with doing the dishes," etc., every one lending a helping hand and bringing out the true meaning of the name "coworkers."

The party then repaired to the bungalow where community singing, games and varied pleasures, were featured. Punch was served later.

The committee on dinner included the Messrs and Mesdames James Rodden; George Baker, Floyd Curtis, Louie Fischer, and on entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. George Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Leibe.

Tommy has but recently recovered from a serious illness, so the celebration was even the more joyous and he was heartily congratulated upon his health as well as his years.

A sumptuous spread was laid at noon at the Pressel home, with the best loved of his relatives as guests. The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pressel, and Mrs. P. E. Hoag, aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pressel; cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baum and tiny daughter, Anna Marie, Edgar, Arthur and Carl Pressel; Mrs. Edna Carson and parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hoag and brothers, Earl and Jack Hoag, and Mr. and Mrs. Vanatta made a dozen and a half about the table.

Tommy received many pretty gifts of which he is very proud.

The feast was of wild duck with all the trimmin's, topped off with birthday cake with pink candles. Pink and green were the colors of the day and used in dining room and elsewhere.

GRAB 16 CHINESE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Sixteen Chinese were arrested and opium valued at over $500 was seized in a raid today, made by San Francisco's Chinatown squad on a den located on Pine-st. The raid is declared by police to have been one of the largest made in months.

STOCK MARKET TREND UPWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—The general trend of stock prices was upward today, though irregular movements in the industrial stocks resulted from the desire of traders to take profits on the recent advances and the forward movements were confined to a small number of stocks in which the motors and oils predominated.

No definite country wide demand for U. S. Steel stock developed as the result of the extremely bullish monthly statement of forward orders published at the close of Saturdays market. But traders were in no hurry to take profits on steels and bears were not inclined to sell. For that reason steel common was unusually inactive, as also were the independent steel shares, though prices were generally firm.

All of the socalled Du Pont, including General Motors, Fisher Body and Du Pont common were active and buoyant. General Motors sold in unusually heavy volume from 70 the opening price to 73, for a gain of four points for the day and an advance of nine points from the low of last week Fisher Body on which the dividend was doubled last week, jumped 15 points to 274⅞ and Du Pont was up about two points to 145. Elsewhere the motor stocks were featureless.

The broad movement today was in the stocks of the independent oil stocks. Speculative attention has turned to the oils for the double reason that few of the stocks in this group hae participated in the rise in prices since November while conditions in the industry and sentiment regarding the same have shown a remarkable change for the better since the turn of the year. Cosden sold above 30 today on a heavy turnover, for the first time since its violent drop from around 38 early in 1924.

FILE AGAINST DRY COUNCILMEN

Nomination papers have been filed for Perry W. Mathis, Louis E. Miller, Anders W. Franzen and Wm. D. Grafton, endorsed by the U. S. A. club which is seeking the recall of Mayor E. H. Metcalf, Emory Knipe, A. A. Slaback and Dean W. Hasson, Anaheim's dry councilmen.

Miller will go on the ballot against Knipe, Franzen against against Knipe. Frazen against Slaback and Grafton against Hasson.

Several C. of C. directors got into the political fight today with a resolution urging the recall of the four dry councilmen who only last Thursday voted another $1000 for the support of the chamber. This made $3000 voted for this purpose in the eight months since the present council went into office, several times as much as any previous council ever contributed toward the advertising of the city.

The C. of C. resolution was signed by Harry D. Riley, William Falkenstein, H. A. Johnston, F. A. Backs, Leonard Evans, Sidney Prince, H. E. W. Barnes, William Stark, Frank Gibbs, R. B. Young, C. C. Lamb, Sid McGraw, George W. Reid, secretary. It was not presented to the C. of C. membership.

The resolution followed receipt of a letter from the U. S. A. club which includes the vote last spring supported the councilmanic candidacy of Al Pape, now facing gross charges of bootlegging in the federal court as the result of the recent Orange-co raids. It also includes all those who composed at last spring's election the so-called "Good Government League" which was defeated nearly two to one last spring in its efforts to reelect Anaheim's notorious political boss, Bill Stark, ex-saloonkeeper.

SO. CALIF. DEMANDS SEPARATE PRISON

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12. — The demand of So. Cal. for a separate prison came before the senate today in a bill jointly introduced by Senator C. H. V. Lewis and Cadet Taylor, both of Los Angeles.

The bill provides for the fixing of an adequate sum of money by the state board of control and leaves the selection of a site to be determined after the appropriation is made.

The site constitutes something of a problem, Sen. Lewis says, for a prison is not considered an asset to any neighborhood. Either a retreat in the mountains back of Los Angeles, or some island, preferably San Clemente some 20 miles off the coast, are suggested as being feasible.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Prospects for a final vote before nightfall on Muscle Shoals appeared certain this afternoon when Sen. Norris, Rep. of Neb., announced he would press for an early ballot.

Norris previously had objected to all proposed agreements for a vote today or tomorrow.

ANNUAL REPORT ON REFORESTATION

To the Members,
Tri-Counties Reforestation Committee,
Gentlemen:

The year just closed, deficient as it was in rainfall, has created public sentiment in favor of conservation of our water resources, which includes timber and brush and watershed cover to a greater extent than it would be possible to do by any other means. But the greatest difficulty seems to do by an yother means. But the greatest difficulty seems to be in crystallizing this public sentiment into concrete action. People are all enthusiastic about conservation and legislation which will bring about better conservaton of natural resources while the matter is under discussion. It remains to be seen whether or not public sentiment will back the legislation now pending in Congress and before the present legislation of this state, and assist in its enforcement, if enacted into law.

NATIONAL LEGISLATION

While the Clarke-McNary Bill was pending in Congress your chairman attempted to secure amendments which would give as great protection to growth on watersheds from which water is secured for domestic and irrigation purposes as the bill provides for protection to timbered lands.

These proposed amendments had the approval of Senator McNary, and Senator Shortridge stated that he would attempt to have the amendments incorporated in the bill, but unfortunately the bill passed without being amended. The matter has been taken up again with Senator Shortridge since the present Congress convened, both by letter and telegram, and we are in receipt of a telegram dated Jan. 7th from Senator Shortridge in which he states: "I am introducing bill to amend Clarke-McNary Act."

The matter of the establishment of a forest experiment station in California, to be financed and operated jointly by the federal and state governments has also been presented to Senator Shortridge, and I understand that he is attempting to secure an increase in the Department of Agriculture Supply Bill to finance this forest experiment station. I have requested the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the California Development Ass'n and the United States Chamber of Commerce to assist in securing this increased appropriation for the establishment of this forest experiment station, but so far have received no further word from Senator Shortridge concerning it.

It may not be out of place to say here that the Board of Fire Review, which sat in Los Angeles for three weeks investigating the great Monrovia fire, in its report states:

"The Board further recommends that an amendment to the Clarke-McNary Act be sought at the proper time to include the protection and acquisition of timbered or brush covered lands on watersheds from which water is obtained for domestic or irrigation purposes."

There is another proposed bill now pending in Washington providing for the appropriation of 10,000,000 for the acquisition of forest lands in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, the White and Appalachian mountains and a system of southern forests, aggregating between five and ten million acres of land, and it is stated in advocacy of this bill that "these forests as producers of lumber and pulp wood, as recreational areas, as protectors of streams and rivers, as game refuges, hunting and fishing grounds, as centers of forest fire protection and as a demonstration area and forest conservation, would directly serve a multitude of interests and more than ,000,000 people." It will be noted that no part of the appropriation is for the acquirement of lands west of the Mississippi river. Apparently the 35,000,000 people, the remainder of the population of the United State above the ,000,000 mentioned, are outside the consideration of eastern legislators, and, of course, no mention whatever is made of the necessity for protection of brush on watersheds.

STATE LEGISLATION

Bills have been prepared by the State Board of Forestry covering several phases of conservation of timber and brush covering several phases of conservation of timber and brush cover on watersheds. These bills have already been introduced or will be in the very near future, when they can be identified by number and they will be furnished to all who are interested in securing their enactment into law.

Among them will be a bill providing for the issuance of camp fire permits by the State Board of Forestry, for which a charge of .00 will be made, it being the idea that all who enter the forests will feel a greater responsibility if it be required that they secure a permit before building camp fires, and on the permit itself will be instructions how to build and care for a camp fire so as to prevent fires. The money derived from this source, which is an unknown quantity at present, can be used for fire prevention and suppression.

Another bill provides for the appropriation of $150,000 for the acquirement of forest and brush covered lands on watersheds from which water is secured for domestic and irrigation purposes. Through this means it is hoped to begin the acquisition of state forests and also to acquire tracts of land at stratigical points where it is necessary to protect watersheds.

Another bill will provide for the amendment to the Penal Code making it a felony to willfully or maliciously set fire to forest or watershed cover. When it is understood that there were 85 incendiary fires in timber or brush covered areas outside of the national forests in the state last year. It is apparent that more drastic measures must be taken to prevent the willful or malicious setting of fires.

Another bill will make it a misdemeanor for carelessly or negligently setting fire to timber of watershed cover. The Board of Forestry is differentiating clearly between intentional and unintentional setting of these fires, making one a felony and the other a misdemeanor.

Another bill will make it a misdemeanor to throw burning material or tobacco from automobiles. As there were 141 fires on timber and brush covered lands caused by burning tobacco in the state outside of national forests last year, it is evident that this cause of setting fires needs attention. One of the most unfortunate things about the matter, and one of the most difficult to overcome is that men have been caught setting fires and have given as an excuse that they wished to get employment in fighting fires. So long as that sentiment prevails to any extent it is evident that it will be practically impossible to prevent or suppress fires in our timbered and brush covered areas. At first glance it might seem that no punishment is too great to inflict upon a man who would stoop to such means of getting money, and yet, when we realize that a hungry man is potentially a criminal inside of 24 hours after he is without food or funds the difficulty of meeting this situation becomes more complicated.

In all of the state legislation proposed, your Chairman has taken care to have brush covered areas on our watersheds given equal prominence with timbered areas, and in this matter the other members of the State Board of Forestry have fully co-operated.

At the last meeting of the State Board of Forestry a resolution was passed to the effect that in future the state shall employ bona fide residents and tax payers and the men regularly employed, in fighting fires, and would not employ the wanderer or hobo except as a last resort.

Some of the friends of forest and water conservation, who give this matter only casual attention, have the idea that the whole program should consist of construction of fire prevention systems on our watersheds and timber lands, but when it is recalled that 60% of the firest are man-caused it would seem more efficacious to bring the citizens of the country to a realization of their own responsibility in the matter. It will be remembered that after the San Francisco earthquake and fire the city had no fire protection system of any kind but was under martial law and no fires or lights were permitted in the buildings. A light in a window was the taget for soldiers on duty, and during that trying time the city of San Francisco had practically no damage from fire.

BOARD OF REVIEW

Your Chairman was appointed a member of the Federal Board of Review and Mr. Wm. Starke of San Bernardino as an alternate. Either one was in attendance at nearly every session of the board which sat in Los Angeles for over three weeks in investigating the cause of the Monrovia fire and in attempting to devise better means of protection for that and other watersheds in Southern California.

Mr. E. A. Sherman, Associated United States Forester, presided at these meetings and I believe got a much more comprehensive idea of the value of our watersheds cover and the necessity for its protection than he had heretofore had. The report is a voluminous one but is available to any who wish to peruse it in detail. The quotation from it with reference to the necessary amendments to the Clarke-McNary act shows the trend in favor of greater protection.

The report recommends that the Angeles National Forest be divided into two forests, the westerly portion to be known as the Angeles National Forest and the easterly portion as the San Bernardino National forest. This would give the watershed of the Santa Ana river more direct and careful supervision by the Federal government.

In another place in the report it is stated:

1—"Fire protection, including suppression, should be regarded as a civil duty and the military should be called upon only for help in great emergencies when civilian labor of requisite quantity is not reasonably obtainable."

2—"To as great extent as practicable financial co-operation for watershed protection should be made a public rather than a private matter and financed through government units with taxing power."

3. Under the heading of "Needed Legislation," it is stated: "The adequate and justifiable fire protection of the Angeles, Cleveland and Santa Barbara national forests involves a special problem which presents much the same sentimental argument for federal participation in the protection of private values at stake as has already been recognized under the Weeks and Clarke-McNary laws. . . . In both cases federal financial participation would be contingent on not less than equal participation of local interests benefited."

So that it is apparent from this that the federal authorities believe that local interests should share in the expense of intensive fire prevention and suppression measures.

The board prepared a bill and will recommend its passage "To provide co-operation to safeguard endangered agricultural and municipal interests and to protect forest cover on the Santa Barbara, Angeles, San Bernardino and Cleveland national forests from destruction by fire and for other purposes" and provides for co-operation with the state of California, counties, municipalities, water users' associations, and other interests in the control and suppression of fire, and asks for an appropriation of one million dollars for this purpose. Of course we understand perfectly that under the present cry for economy in both federal and state governments, asking for an appropriation for one million dollars for fire prevention and suppression is not necessarily securing it.

Hon. Chester M. Kline, now state senator, for Riverside, Orange and Imperial-cos, has been requested to introduce a bill providing for an appropriation of $5000 for the construction and maintenance of fire lanes and trails in the Angeles forest, being the same bill that has been put through many sessions of the legislature.

WATER CONSERVATION

The work of the Water Conservation Ass'n has been carried on continuously during the year 1924, although only 96,769 inches of water were spread during the season. However, benefits from the spreading of water in years past were apparent in the elevation of water in and around the San Bernardino artesian basin. The average elevation of water in seven wells (which have been under observation monthly for over 10 years) for the past season (1923-24) showed 22.28 feet below the surface of the ground, the water maintaining a higher level during the past season than it did during the season of 1920-21 during which time the rainfall averaged 15.3 inches. The elevation of water in the wells under observation during the past season, as well as during 1920-21, following light rainfall, shows to great advantage as compared to the year 1909-10, just before the beginning of water spreading by the Water Conservation Ass'n, when the average depth to water in the same wells was 43.27 feet below the surface of the ground. While water dropped in the wells under observation during the past season, it is still less than one-half the depth to water in these wells than it was in 1909-10 before the beginning of spreading of storm water; while there can be no doubt that the draft on this underground supply during 1924 was greater than it was in 1909-10.

The financial statement of the secretary shows all the contributions paid during 1924 with a balance on hand of a little over $100.

The committee is indebted to J. B. Cook for a voluntary and unsolicited contribution for $100 toward its work during the past year.

Two new agencies for conservation of timber and water are being launched in the state at the present time. One is under the auspices of the California Development Ass'n with headquarters in San Francisco, which is inaugurating a division of conservation which of course will confine its work to activities within the state. The other is the National Reforestation Ass'n with headquarters in the Bradbury-bldg, Los Angeles. From its name it will be seen that it is a national organization and is working out a very ambitious and comprehensive program for the conservation of timber, brush and water in the whole United States. When this program is completed it will be submitted to this committee for consideration.

The state legislation above referred to will be pushed forward in every way possible if it is approved by this committee.

The national legislation referred to is a more difficult matter as it is a long way from Washington the three counties in California represented by this committee, and there are many other national problems engaging the attention of our delegation in congress. Possibly there will be better facilities for looking after these matters when the American Reforestation Ass'n gets into action.

Wishing all the members of the committee a Happy and Prosperous New Year, this report, is

Respectfully submitted,
FRANCIS CUTTLE,
Chairman.

VAST CROWD AT INITIAL SERVICE

at Sunday school yesterday morning that under no circumstances were they to go near the tabernacle.

A letter from Geissinger and other ministers, as well as the reply by Dr. Bulgin, follows:

Anaheim, Calif.
January 7th, 1925

Rev. E. J. Bulgin
Dear Brother:

The undersigned ministers of Anaheim wish you to know before the opening of your proposed Evangelistic meetings in our city the reason we find it impossible to associate ourselves with you and your company in these meetings.

We are making this statement to you thus early because we have information on the official stationery of the Ku Klux Klan and as well the public statement in our local paper of the cyclops of the Klan, the Rev. Leon Myers, that your presence here is at the solicitation of and under the auspices of the Ku Klux Klan and that the reason for this unusual presentation of the Evangel is necessary because it is impossible to secure [illegible] of the ministers and churches of Anaheim to [illegible] these meetings.

Neither the ministers nor the churches of Anaheim had any voice in your coming for they have neither been consulted nor previously informed.

Your coming under the auspices of the Ku Klux Klan, with which organization at the present time many of us have an issue, makes your coming open to the [illegible] that it is intended to befog the political issue under the cloak of religion and offers [illegible] a platform from which to make its political appeals under the pretense of preaching the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

We had hoped against hope that this criticism might not be justly laid at your door and it is not yet too late for you to repudiate the statement of the local Klan leader that your meetings are to be under the auspices of the Klan.

But if it is Klanism and not the Gospel you have come to Anaheim to preach, we, as ministers of that Gospel other than which no man may preach with the blessing of Christ, must sincerely and firmly decline to have part with you and do make solemn protest against your position. In all good conscience there is no other course open to us.

Therefore it is that we ask, as brethren in the ministry of our Lord:—

Is it or is it not true that you have been brought to Anaheim by the Klan or the leader of the Klan at this particular juncture for the express purpose of assisting in the re-election of the members of the City Council whose removal is being sought because of their Klan affiliations?

Is it or it it not true that you have come to Anaheim to carry forward this purpose?

We would esteem an early reply.

Sincerely,

My Dear Sirs:

Your letter of Jan. 7th reached me on arriving at my home of entertainment of Mr. Fred L. Sexton, 420 North Lemon St., just as soon as I entered your fair city.

I want to say at the very outset that it was a very great surprise to me and the very first intimation that I had that there was any political fight or any disturbance of any sort along the line of civic righteousness. I knew of no recall or political wrangle going on in Orange co. until that information was reached through your letter. Mr. Myers being an old friend and acquainted with my work, wired me that there were thousands of men in Orange county to be won for Christ and the Church, and he thought that now was the time for honest-to-goodness, sane, sound, constructive Bible revival. It was to be a laymen's movement of chosen men from all your orthodox churches, and they fell upon me to lead for such a movement and I made adjustments immediately to come to their rescue, feeling that it was a call from God. He said that I being a Presbyterian, no one could blame him for trying to make an ecclesiastical revival. I want to say that I am here to do good, to save souls, to build up the chruch, to preach civic righteousness, to love everybody, to hate sin and hew to the line. If you and your church believe in that kind of work you are invited to come in. I refuse to be made a political tool. I am neither Klan nor anti-Klan. I would not even take the stand that you have taken in the letter signed by you gentlemen as being anti-Klan.

I am neither one. I am an ordained Presbyterian minister, in good standing and I am here under the call of my Lord and Master and until I prove myself unworthy of the respect and co-operation of God-fearing men and women, I should have the help and co-operation of every American citizen and every Orthodox Protestant minister. It makes no difference to me, or to you, what private views the men may have on politics. Democrat or Republican, Klan or anti-Klan. Who brought me here? It reminds me of the God-loving old mother praying for bread who was overheard by two young infidels. They threw in through the open door the loaf for which she was praying. She jumped up and began shouting praise to God and thanking him for the bread. The wicked young rascals said "God didn't send it, we did." "It isn't so. God did send it, even if the Devil did bring it."

You certainly ought to be fair enough as Christian gentlemen to grant me the privilege of conducting my revival and delivering my message in the way I see best You certainly should not expect me as an American citizen to abuse and condemn a bunch of citizens in the community who call themselves Klansmen and Klanswomen because I may not believe in their peculiar tenets or form of dress as long as they behave themselves and obey the laws of the country. I am too much of a gentleman, to say nothing of a Christian to get up in a gospel pulpit and ram a dose of Klan gospel down their throats to people who cannot see their way clear to join that organization.

I believe in fair play, free speech and an open Bible, and I believe the greatest asset of any community is the church of Jesus Christ, and it wouldn't show good sense for me or any other [illegible] who desire to win men to the church of God by abusing any class of citizens whether [illegible] or anti-Klan.

I am a protestant minister, not Roman Catholic. I would allow the priest to preach on his doctrine as long as he does not interfere with my Government, or with my religious liberty, and I reserve the same right for myself. I always, in connection with my evangelistic [illegible] invite all secret orders and civic clubs to attend the tabernacle as invited guests. I preach a sermon to them seeking to get the gospel of Jesus Christ into their minds. I have the Odd Fellows, Masons, Knights of Pythias, the Klan, and the Knights of Columbus, and they always come in a body. In Boulder, Colorado, the Knights of Columbus came in a body, something about eight hundred or one thousand strong. I preached to them a sermon on Christian citizenship, and on why I am a protestant. Nobody got mad. I also invited the Klan within the tabernacle and preached them a sermon on what it means to be a one hundred per cent American. Nobody got mad.

I think it is time, dear sirs, for men in America to be too big to allow gospel of prejudice [illegible] to control their minds and lives. The same methods I have pursued elsewhere I will pursue here. I hope that Protestant ministers will become obstructionists when seeking to do good in your city. Anaheim cannot have much old-fashioned Bible [illegible] and it is not too late yet for you brethren to correct your error. The water is fine, come in.

I am here in your city as a credited evangelist, under ecclesiastical authority, ordained in the Presbyterian Church and if I preach any other gospel than the gospel of our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ, then you have plenty of action on me. I am here as a heart-broken father, fresh from the wounds of the tragedy of my son, and who was a friend of Rev. Walker's son. He knows as a father must know how the heart aches under such conditions. He would not feel a spirit of harsh criticism or would even think of allowing himself to be used as a political tool. I am not here for politics, but for religion.

I desire and I deserve the earnest co-operation of every true Christian and surely I would have the co-operation of every true minister of the Gospel.

Yours for fair play and for the salvation of souls, I am,
ELWOOD J. BULGIN

CHANGES IN CAL. DRY ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Sweeping changes in prohibition enforcement circles are being quietly made in California, it was learned definitely here today.

Samuel Rutter, present state director is to become permit division director in that district and W. W. Anderson enforcement director. Anderson recently was shifted from Chicago to Los Angeles.

National enforcement director E. C. Yellowly, now enroute to the coast, is understood to have been delegated the task of smoothing out the situation.

He is said to be carrying credentials for Police Captain Chas. Goff of San Francisco in the hopes of prevailing upon him to accept a post in the enforcement division at least for a time. Goff is understood to have been displeased by the fact that Anderson is slated to become enforcement chief, having understood that he was to occupy that position.

Modoc, Lassen, Sierra, Plumas and Nevada-cos of California, which have been under the enforcement jurisdiction of Nevada, will be returned to the California district effective as of Jan. 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Prohibition Director Samuel Rutter was in Los Angeles today and his office knew nothing of the proposed changes, E. C. Yellowly had not arrived in San Francisco today.

U. S. TO GET PART OF DAWES RECEIPTS

PARIS, Jan. 12.—It was learned from the British sources today that the United States will be awarded 2¼ per cent of the Dawes receipts from Germany in payment of America's war claims of $350,000,000.

CLAIM INSPECTOR AIDS RUM RUNNER

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12 —Sweeping investigation into charges that F. T. Zimmerman, inspector of the state motor vehicle department, was linked in rum running activities of Wm. Keefe, alias Geo. Turner, slain "king of the bootleggers," of So. Calif., was launched today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the motor vehicle department.

Marsh announced he had dispatched C. K. Harder, chief inspector of the highway patrol, and E. L. Bruck of the Los Angeles branch of the department to Santa Barbara to question Zimmerman and obtain any evidence which authorities of the southern city may have against him. The state probe was launched after Marsh had been notified that on the body of the slain rum runner who was killed by Irving Denton, hijacker, was found the following note:

"To state traffic officers—The bearer Geo. Turnar, is a personal friend of mine and any courtesy you can extend will be appreciated by me—F. T. ZIMMERMAN, Inspector."

Marsh declared that if Zimmerman wrote the note he would be discharged.

The motor vehicle chief denied that any other members of the highway patrol had been connected with bootlegging activities by the authorities.

MOTHER INDICTED

WOOSTER, Ohio, Jan. 12—Mrs. Blanche Tobias, 22, who confessed a few weeks ago that she choked her two-weeks-old baby to death at the Wayne-co infirmary, was indicted for first-degree murder by the grand jury here today.

JAILED AFTER CRASH

James Rensler of Long Beach was in the city jail this morning awaiting arraignment before Judge Kuchel on the charge of intoxication, and the possession of liquor. He was arrested by local police after he had turned his car over on Lincoln-ave., and practically wrecked it. Others in the city jail on charges of intoxication were I. Pico, and Rudolph Pico of Los Angeles.

GRANDPA MOODY

W. B. Moody, chief of police, is strutting about today as proudly as a turkey gobbler. And, like grape-nuts, "there's a reason." Mr. Moody became a grandfather today.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wright, 925 East Vermont-ave, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moody ,are the parents of a son, born this morning. The youngster weighs 8½ pounds.

The grandfather is geting along as well as could be expected. He says he doesn't know whether to make a policeman or a park superintendent out of the new arrival.

DAILY GREETING TO OUR READERS

And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me.—John 12.23.

The principle is that God is the ungrudging bestower of blessings, and that man are His stewards to distribute these blessings. So far as they enter into mind, the delight will be in spreading abroad, not in accumulating. Their reward will be continually growing knowledge of His character and purpose. Their treasure will be in whatever things are good, pure; their heart will be occupied with these.—F. D. Maurice.

"LEARNING TO SPELL"

The boys and girls of today have not had the reputation of being excellent spellers. The charge so often made that the schools are not paying sufficient attention to the three R's includes a neglect of spelling. Those of us who, in our youth, prided ourselves on our ability to "spell the school down" and who looked forward to the spelling matches as the chief social events of the season, are quite likely to be hypercritical of the youth of today and his ability to spell. But now that the Boston university has conducted a state-wide contest in spelling and announced the result we will have to draw in our horns. The conclusion reached by the professors in this contest is that the children of today are spelling better than their parents and their grandparents did when they were boys and girls. And the reason for this is the difference in the methods of education, it is claimed. Attention today is being directed to useful words, whereas a generation ago more thought was given to catch-words and to long and unusual words that were rarely used in conversation or writing.

"The tendency of the age is swinging toward practicability. It is said, and we will all welcome such a trend in educational methods, even if we must submit to being "spelled down" by our children and grandchildren.

They who effectively promote the cause of peace throughout the world deserve place in the Hall of Fame.

California will continue to develop and to thrive, despite all the calumny that is being emitted against it.

There is no excuse for illiteracy in this state. California brings the means of free education within reach of all.

The California Legislature may serve the state better by what it refrains from doing, than from what it does.

It does not do to become abstracted in the school room. The teacher in a high school class was an ardent billiard player in off hours. One day he said: "Now, we start with this formula."

He took up the pointer and advanced to the blackboard, only to be interrupted by a shout of laughter from the class. In his absence of mind he had first chalked the end of the stick, just as if it had been a billiard cue.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mr. S. E. writes: I am very nervous, have indigestion, low vitality and extremely underweight for my height and ... What shall I do to overcome this unhappy condition? Do ... work.

ANSWER: Your condition is caused mainly by your habits ... life, such as a sedentary occupation and insufficient physical culture exercises. Try a fruit fast from twelve to fourteen days followed by a starchless diet, including vegetables rich in mineral ...

QUESTION: Mr. J. R. O. writes: I am now on the fruit juice fast recommended by you; taking the juice of one lemon in a glass of water every hour, alternating each hour with orange juice. Since commencing the fast, I have a headache and feel generally "all in."

ANSWER: Never mix the fruit juices on the same day. Use the orange juice one day, lemon or grapefruit the next day, etc. The headaches (which only come at the beginning of a fast) are caused by stirring up bile in the gall bladder, and indicate that elimination has started, which is the object of the fast. Do not be alarmed, as the symptoms described are customary the first few days of fasting. You will feel better soon and have excellent results.

QUESTION: Mr. J. F. H. writes: I have just finished reading your book, "THE FAST WAY TO HEALTH," and as I am a Tubercular patient, would like to try the fruit juice fast and Salisbury steak regime. Is there any difference in my taking orange or grapefruit juice and how long shall I fast? What is a Salisbury steak and how prepared?

ANSWER: You may use either orange or grapefruit juice but do not mix the fruit on the same day. Fast from ten days to two weeks. If you have my book, turn to Page 195 on "Proteid Foods for fuller details regarding Salisbury steak. This steak is made by grinding round steak (that has all the fat removed) thru a food chopper and baking in oven, seasoning with salt when remover from the oven.

THE BEST OF ADVICE

A POPULAR MISNOMER

What people commonly call "Fate" is, as a general rule, Schopenhauer opined, nothing but their own stupid and foolish conduct.

There is a passage in Homer, illustrating the truth of this remark, where the poet praises shrewd counsel; and his advice is worthy of attention.

Schopenhauer said that if wickedness is atoned for only in another world, stupidity gets its reward here—although, now and then, mercy may be shown to the offender.

"It is not ferocity but cunning that strikes fear into the heart and forbodes danger; so true it is that the human brain is a more terrible weapon than the lion's paw.

"The most finished man of the world would be one who was never irresolute and never in a hurry."

On the other hand, we may regard the petty vexations of life that are constantly happening, as designed to keep us in practice for bearing greater misfortunes.

Schopenhauer said that a man should be a Siegfried, armed cap-a-pi, toward the small troubles of every day—those little differences we have with our fellowmen, insignificant disputes, unbecoming conduct in other people, petty gossip, and many other similar annoyances of life; he should not feel them at all, much less than take them to heart and brood over them, but hold them at arm's length and push them out of his way, like stones that lie in the road, and upon no account think about them and give them a place in his mind.

And, in general, Schopenhauer observed, if man takes misfortunes quietly, it is because that he knows that very many dreadful things may happen in the course of life; and so he looks upon a very small part of that which might come.

"It should not be forgotten that misfortune, be it great or small, is the element in which we live. But that is no reason why a man should indulge in fretful complaints.

"Our aim should be to look well about us, ward off misfortune by going to meet it, to attain such perfection and refinement in averting the disagreeable things of life—whether they come from our fellow-men or from the physical world—that, like a very clever fox, we may slip out of the way of every mishap, great or small; remembering that A MISHAP IS GENERALLY ONLY OUR OWN AWKWARDNESS IN DISGUISE."

Pat came to the dentist's with his jaw very much swollen from a tooth he desired to have pulled. But when the suffering son of Erwin got into the dentist's chair and saw the gleaming pair of forceps approaching his face, he positively refused to open his mouth. The dentist quietly told his page boy to prick his patient with a pin, and when Pat opened his mouth to yell the dentist seized the tooth, and out it came. "It didn't hurt as much as you expected it would, did it," the dentist asked, smilingly.

"Well, no," replied Pat, hesitatingly, as if doubting the truthfulness of his admission. "But," he added, placing his hand on the spot where the little boy pricked him with the pin, "begorra, little did I think the roots would reach down like that."

COMMENTS of the PRESS

What Editors Are Saying

PROBATION IN LIEU OF PRISON—San Bernardino Sun:

Not long ago a man who was executed while still under 30 years of age, declared that he never would have reached his low position in crime if most of his adolescent years had not been spent in a reform school. It is generally admitted that our reform schools are such only in name, and they are properly but juvenile detention schools, the primary grade of the penitentiary. It is taking us a long time to reach the state as a people, where we recognize the fact, and act upon it, that it is better to make good citizens out of errant boys, than criminals. Until less than a century ago we could do nothing with the insane except to lock them up, not for their own good, but to prevent them from injuring others. Now we have real hospitals for them, operated for the purpose of curing them if possible.

We are making still slower progress in the matter of handling the cases of those who commit offenses against society. We are still actuated by the purpose of preventing them from doing harm to society, rather than converting them into good citizens for their own good as well as the protection of society. So we still lock men up in degrading idleness, or, if we work them at all, it is for the purpose of helping to relieve taxpayers of the cost of their keep, rather than for the welfare of the men and women themselves. Society has the right to protect itself against those who would harm it, but it is morally bound to exercise this right with consideration for the welfare of those who menace it as well as for its own welfare. In the past, this obligation has weighed lightly upon us, even when recognized at all. The creation of a special place for boys and girls under 18 years of age, by courtesy called reform schools, was a recognition of this duty toward those who are a menace to society, but as operated, these institutions very poorly perform the function of reform or prevention.

Instead of the reform school, where the boy who proved to be a menace to the community has been sent, more to get rid of him than with any expectation of transforming him into a useful citizen, probation is now being tried, and great success is reported for it. Probation is not real probation unless it includes actual and intelligent supervision. Just letting a boy go under a suspended sentence and a warning not to do it again is of small value. Often it serves as an encouragement to other evil deeds. But probation to the care of some person, whose influence and example would serve to set the boy on the right track is quite a different matter. The Massachusetts Legislative Commission on Probation investigated the case of boys who had been on probation of this sort, and out of 300 of them 238 were carried through the probationary period without being recommitted and 60 per cent of them had been discharged from supervision. Of these 87 per cent had never been in an institution, which was very fortunate for both them and the state. A proper probationary system costs money, but so do reform schools, so called, and penitentiaries.

Gleanings from the Book of Life

COMPULSORY EDUCATION

Those who take honors in Nature's university, who learn the laws which govern men and things and obey them, are the really great and successful men in this world, it was observed by Thomas Huxley.

"The great mass of mankind are the 'Poll' who pick up just enough to get through without discredit. Those who won't learn at all are plucked; and then you can't come up again.

"Thus the question of compulsory education is settled so far as Nature is concerned. Her bill on that question was framed and passed long ago. But, like all compulsory legislation, that of Nature is harsh and wasteful in its operation.

"Ignorance is visited as sharply as wilful disobedience—incapacity meets with the same punishment as crime. Nature's discipline is not even a word or a blow, and the blow first; but the blow without a word. It is left to you to find out why your ears are boxed.

The object of what we commonly call education—that education in which man intervenes—is to make good these defects in natures's methods, Huxley points out. Its purpose is to prepare the child to receive nature's education neither incapably nor ignorantly nor with wilful disobedience; and to understand the preliminary symptoms of her displeasure, without waiting for the box on the ear.

In short, he says, all artificial education ought to be an anticipation of natural education.

"And liberal education is an artificial education—which has not only prepared a man to escape the great evils of disobedience to natural laws, but has trained him to appreciate and to seize upon the rewards which nature scatters with as free a hand as her penalties."

On and after Jan. 11, 1925, we will be located at 162 West Center St., Anaheim, and at our Santa Ana office, 602 No. Main St.

THINK HOUGHTON TO SUCCEED KELLOGG

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Diplomatic circles here believe that A. B. Houghton, ambassador to Germany, will be appointed to succeed Frank B. Kellogg at the court of St. James, it was learned today. While it was thought that the British government would accept this appointmen itt is understood that some of the "die hard" Toris fear that Houghton is oversympathetic toward Germany.

CRIMINALS RUN WILD IN LONDON

LONDON, Jan. 12—The city life of London was almost wholly disorganized today as the result of a 36 hour fog. Economic losses are estimated to have reached $5,000,000. One person is dead, scores were injured and criminal activities have greatly increased.

During the night bus and street car service was withdrawn, many busses and private automobiles were left beside the curb. The police force was depleted because some officers could not reach their stations. Others could not locate their beats. As a result, criminals worked unmolested in numerous districts.

Street collisions between motor and horse drawn vehicles were frequent, one person being killed and dozens hurt. Train service was badly disarranged.

The Paris aeroplane arrived in the midst of the fog and was forced to circle for a long time trying to locate the landing place. Rockets were sent up by the aerodrome. These were seen by the pilot and he took a chance and come down thru the fog, making a perfect landing.

London was dark as night today, altho the fog had lifted slightly. Several sections of the city reported it had lifted 100 feet, making street traffic easier nearer the river.

Scientists estimated there were tons of soot suspended over the city.

The weather expert of the Star said that the fog belt extended as far as Denmark and the Pyranese mountains. London was being showered with 80,000 particles of soot per square centimeter per second he said.

The bus companies sent out corps of pilots with flares to guide traffic.

WINNING GENERALS UNITE IN CAMPAIGN

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12.—8:15 p.m.—Flushed with their easy victory here Sun Shuan Fang and Chi Hsieh Yuan plan an immediate joint drive against See Chow and Nan King, it was announced tonight.

Despite anouncement of Chi that he is doing his utmost to clear up the situation in Shanghai, thousands of armed stragglers are still roaming the streets in the vicinity of the foreign settlements.

Widespread looting is proceeding in the native city. So far there have been no disturbances in the French concession of international settlement altho stray bullets are still falling near their borders.

All rail service out of Shanghai has been cut.

The defeated Pu Peh troops, in scattered bands, were even more of a menace than the victors. They were spreading terror as they looted in the Native sections of Shanghai.

Strong guards have been established around the foreign quarters. The British Carlisle has been summoned to reinforce the present naval detachment at Shanghai.

GREAT MISTAKE, SAYS GOV. DAVIS

Nor was there any reference to investigations to come in the inaugural address of Gov. Paulen. He had said last night he would stick to his prepared speech uninfluenced by the charges that have been flying around the capital city for days.

When Davis was thru he remained on the platform until the new governor had taken the oath and had completed his address. Then, with a few friends, he walked thru the crowd and went to his home.

Gov. Davis and his son will be arraigned Jan. 23. The date for their formal entering of pleas was set this afternoon immediately after the inaugural ceremonies for Governor Ben Paulen which formally made Davis a private citizen.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 12.—"They are making a big mistake and a mighty bad move."

This was the only comment today of Governor Jonathan M. Davis, regarding the indictment against him charging bribery and conspiracy which today awaited only his formal leaving of the office of governor for service.

The warrants name both him and his son, Russell, alleged acceptor of the bribe which is charged was in return for the granting of a pardon by Davis.

Deputy sheriffs plan to attend the inauguration ceremonies for Ben S. Paulen today and when the governor has turned over the affairs of his office they plan to serve the warrants. No governor of Kansas has ever been arrested and this method was decided on so that Davis would [illegible] ernor when the hand of the law reached out for him.

The arrest will only be technical as Governor Davis indicated today that he is prepared to make bond immediately. He declared again today that it was "all a frame up" and the "work of political enemies."

The informations and warrants were prepared last night after an all-day conference between Tinkham Veale, Attorney General Griffiths, witnesses to the alleged bribery, and Paul N. Heintz, judge of the city court in which the information will be filed.

Heintz at noon today succeeded Veale as prosecuting attorney of Shawnee-co, but Veale and his assistant, Paul H. Gaw, have been retained by the state as special prosecutors in the action against the governor and his son.

It was at first planned to make the charge "soliciting and accepting a bribe" until it was found that there is no penalty under the Kansas law for soliciting a bribe.

The charges are based on Russell Davis' alleged acceptance of $1250 when delivering a pardon from his father to a convicted forger. The man waiting for the pardon had witnesses listening in to the conversation he had with Russe, thru a telephone system, it is said.

When Russell saw he was trapped, the alleging witnesses state, he returned the money. Both Governor Davis and his son have decared that the executive knew nothing of the matter and that Russell "was trying to make a little money on the side."

HUGHES SURPRISES BERLIN DIPLOMATS

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Diplomatic circles here were surprised and puzzled by the resignation of Secy. of State Hughes at Washington.

A dispatch from the London correspondent of "Montagspost," commenting on the Hughes resignation, said:

"Kellogg's broad minded policy of increased world-wide activity opens a brighter prospect for the final settlement of the reparations and debts problems.

"Hughes' anti-Japanese, antisoviety, anti-entanglement policy has been a stumbling block to Anglo-American cordiality, would have isolated America and probably even driven it into war against Japan.

"Coolidge was warned by Kellogg and Hoover and realized that America must either prepare for the next war or seek an alliance with England. Hughes' position was shaken for the first time when Borah was appointed chairman of the foreign relations committee, which resulted in close political co-operation between Coolidge and Borah."

DRY PROBE MAY REVEAL SENSATION

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Samuel F. Rutter of San Francisco, prohibition director of California, was scheduled to arrive here today to assist Los Angeles officials investigating sensational revelations brought to light as an aftermath of the murder of William Keefe, known under the name of William Turner as California's "king of bootleggers" who was [illegible] ly grove near Santa Barbara.

CAST CAL. VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—California's vote for President Calvin Coolidge and Vice-president-elect Chas. G. Dawes, were to be cast today.

This ceremony and receipt of Governor Richardson's second biennial budget featured the program for the opening of the second week of the state legislature.

The assembly was to meet today at 1:30 and adjourn to attend the meeting of the thirteen Republican electors who assembled at the capitol to formally record the state's presidential vote. Senate members were also to be present.

It was expected that the budget would reach the legislators later in the day. It provides for expenditures of about $100,000,000 for the biennium, against expected receipts of from $102,000,000 to $104,000,000.

An interesting bit of gossip in connection with the forthcoming budget was the report that Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce, maker of the last budget, who has since left Governor Richardson's official family, would prepare another budget this year unofficially for purposes of comparison with that presented by the governor. This report was not confirmed.

Members of both houses were looking forward to the announcement tomorrow of the standing committees. There has been the usual scramble this year for important chairmanship. Speaker Frank Merriam is understood to have practically completed his selections, altho they will not be made public until tomorrow. He held a final conference with Gov. Richardson on their personnel. Lieut. Gov. C. C. Young, who names the senate committees, likewise has his list ready for presentation tomorrow.

Commissions are to be issued to the new railroad commission appointees tomorrow and Ezra Decoto and George D. Squires will take office immediately afterward. This step will give Gov. Richardson control of the commission.

FRED THOMSON IN LATEST WESTERN

He rides like a Mix. He's as nimble as a Fairbanks. He's as good looking as a Valentino and he has a personality that induces that warm glow of goodfellowship that you only feel for real friends!

Fred Thomson, we're talking about, and he's coming to the United theatre Tuesday and Wednesday in "Galloping Gallagher," the kind of a Western picture you've been hoping they would make.

Mr. Thomson is the world's champion all-round athlete — he holds records in every branch of sport, and he needs his ability in every one of these sports to be able to do the things he is called upon to do in this picture.

You're going to like "Galloping Gallagher." It's got everything that picture fans love and a whole lot of things they seldom get.

A new star made his appearance at the United theatre yesterday in a splendid Western picture "Trigger Fingers." You will be looking forward to this picture from now on, as he certainly made a decided hit yesterday. Baby Peggy was as sweet as ever in her latest comedy, "Stepping Some." This tiny starlet just seems to wind herself around the heart of everyone. This program will be shown again tonight.

BASES TALK ON BIBLE QUOTATIONS

Rev. Fletcher Galloway, pastor of the Nazarene tabernacle, spoke yesterday morning from the subject, "What does it mean to be a Christian?" The sermon was entirely quotations from the Bible. More than 50 Bible quotations were used.

Rev. Galloway made the statement at the outset: "The majority of men expect by some means or other to be finally saved but according to the Bible many will be disappointed. It is important, therefore, that we find what the Bible says on the subject." He said: "The reason that so many are running here and there after every new doctrine is because they d[illegible] the Bible."

He then proceeded with a number [illegible] bearing on the subject. A few of the [illegible] the following: Luke 13:3, "Except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish"; Jno. 3:3, "Ye must be born again"; II Cor. 5:17, "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature. Old things are passed away and behold all things have become new"; I Jno. 3:9, "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin"; I Jno. 3:8, "He that committeth sin is of the devil"; I Jno. 5:2, "By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep his commandments."

The message was well received by a large attentive audience.

SARGUM SPROUTINGS

The king is dead! Hail the new king! Strangler Lewis, for three years hailed king of wrestlers, is dead for a time as a wrestler and a new giant reigns in his stead.

The king had been careful with his title for many months, dodging real contestants and risking the precious ornament only where it was known to be safe. Then came "Big" Munn.

What did this college giant know of wrestling? His great strength was nothing when confronted with science. So Strangler, the king, risked his title again. But this college giant brushed the king's science aside, like a duck sheds gentle rain, and the king had risked once too many times.

The upset to the champion will be a great thing for the wrestling game. Lewis and his smart manager, Billy Sandow, went about the country building up one match after another that netted the champ and his manager fortunes but the people were paying for something that they were not getting, real championship contests. Lewis was dodging the real contenders.

It is hoped that "Big" Munn will be a real sport and give the real wrestlers a chance at the crown.

Tommy Carter, the boy who knocked the coast lightweight crown off the brow of Johnny Adams, lost said crown to Ace Hudkins at Hollywood. Hudkins hails from Nebraska, the state that grows 'em tough. "Big" Munn, Joe Stecher and Peseck, the world's three greatest wrestlers, hail from the state Bill Bryan made famous. Now comes Ace Hudkins, a mit slinger of no mean ability, for anyone that can flatten Carter has real class.

It would be a great thing for the fight game if some unknown would come along and knock the crown off the Dempsey head as Munn did the wrestling crown off Lewis. The people love a new hero. When one rules as long as Dempsey the fans lose interest in the game.

The Dempsey crown is safe from the unknown as that chap never gets a chance. To get a chance with Dempsey one must build up a great drawing power. Dempsey could draw $150,000 with most any reasonably known good man. If he would fight for such a figure and give every one a chance he would fight 10 times where he is fighting once now and in the long run he would make much more money than at present and he would be much more popular.

Jack will get his if he gives the boys a "come on." Look at what Bull Firpo almost did to him, and the Bull is a joke as a fighter. Tommy Gibbons outran the champ at every angle of their fight. Dempsey has dodged Wills for years and has finally sidetracked him altogether.

Jack Dempsey is a great fighter but there are other great men in the world. All they want is a chance. Jack's demands keep the crop of heavyeights down as it is so hard to break in to real money in the heavyweight game.

DENY RING LINKED WITH B. B. SCANDAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Public denial was made today by John A. Heydler, president of the National league, of a report that the name of Jimmy Ring, pitcher of the Philadelphia club, was linked with the baseball scandal which broke on the eve of the last world series. It was charged that a complaint was lodged with Heydler against the performance of Ring against the Brooklyn club Sept. 3 last when he allowed 12 bases on balls.

It was said that the complaint was made by John McGraw, but this was heatedly denied by officials of the Giants. Efforts to reach McGraw by telephone at his Pelham home resulted in the information that the service had been discontinued.

"There is always a lot of talk and all sorts of stories are circulated when things such as this occur in baseball," Heydler said, referring to the Dolan-O'Connell scandal. "I haven't the slightest reason for believing there is any truth in the story. My records will show anyone interested that McGraw made no complaint."

MUNN TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Plans were launched here today to bring Wayne (Big) Munn, new heavyweight king of the mat, to Chicago to meet a prominent contender for the title.

Allen Eustace of Wakefield, Kan., and Stanislaus Zbyszko will grapple at the Coliseum Wednesday night and the winner, according to present plans, will meet Munn.

Eustace is the favorite here for Wednesday night's setto and fans consider him the logical opponent for Munn.

LEWIS GOES HOME

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12. — Ed (Strangler) Lewis, who was seriously injured in the bout with Wayne (Big) Munn here Thursday night, was able to leave the hospital this morning. He was taken to his home in an ambulance. His physicians say rest is the only treatment for his injuries.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Edgar T. Appleby, international and national amateur 18.2 balk line billiard champion, today retains his eastern class A balk line title following his victory over Dr. Richard M. WILLIAMS CALLS ANNUAL MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—What may prove to be one of the greatest "history making" sessions in the annals of the organization got under way here today, when Pres. Harry Williams called the annual meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

Three important announcements expected to mark the gathering were as follows:

1. Sale of the Vernon Club by Ed Maier to H. William Lane, Salt Lake millionaire.
2. Purchase of Lane's Salt Lake City franchise by Chicago and Salt Lake interests.
3. The 1925 schedule.

While William Lane went so far today as to admit he might announce he had purchased the Vernon Club, declaring the deal was "as good as made," Walter Johnson, of the Washington Americans was busy in conference with various club owners, and he was said to be determined to purchase a coast club.

George Weiss, owner of the New Haven club of the Eastern League, accompanied Johnson, and will be associated with him if Johnson is able to make a deal. Johnson, it was said, first sought to purchase Oakland. His second choice was given as Seattle and his third as Sacramento, providing Lane had bought Vernon and there was no chance for him to bid on the Tigers.

Lane declared the sale of his Salt Lake Club had been made but he had not received the money as yet. He said he would go to Long Beach tomorrow to arrange for training quarters for Salt Lake, and that the Bees would open the season with a week's play in Long Beach.

Charles Graham of the San Francisco club was active in opposing the plan advocated by Cal Ewing of Oakland limiting the number of players on each club to 18 veterans and 12 rookies.

Graham also was attempting to reopen the question of giving San Francisco a second ball club.

Ewing made it clear to Johnson, it was said, that the Oakland club was not for sale, and advised the Washington pitcher to devote his time to attempting to buy Seattle or Sacramento.

Announcement was made that the new Los Angeles ball park to be built by William Wrigley, Jr., will be a double decker affair, seating 30,000. At the entrance there will be a mammoth tower, dedicated to soldiers of the world war.

Baseball Scandal Mystery Deepens

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—Publication of the testimony in the Dolan-O'Connell business by Judge Landis has served only to endow the affair with a deeper air of mystery, according to the findings expressed by our best minds today. O'Connell, without undue parley or preamble, freely admitted his complicity in the transaction and just as freely named a few names.

He charged Cozy Dolan with being the inspiration of the bright idea of fixing a pennant race already pretty thoroughly fixed by natural means, and cited Frank Frisch, Ross Young, and George Kelly as accomplices. All four denied the charge but Dolan's repudiation lacked both spontaneity and horse sense and he was convicted. The others issued denials of adequate emphasis and were absolved.

In brief, the testimony covered nothing beyond what the public has known for months. Yet, the feeling will not down that there is an insidious something lurking in the depths of the entire affair. I think it is safe to assume that Judge Landis feels the same way about it but his hands are tied by lack of a fresh or even a discernible trail.

On the morning the scandal broke the writer had the doubtful pleasure of routing the judge out of his bath in order to inquire for further particulars. Among other things he said:

"I have gone as far as it is humanly possible to go on the evidence presented. But I want you to understand that this case is not closed. It is merely marking time."

The testimony bears out Landis in every particular. On the face of it, there was nothing to be done beyond what he did.

PORTLAND TEAM GETS PAUL STRAND

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Paul Strand, former Salt Lake outfielder, has been sold to the Portland Pacific Coast league club by the Philadelphia Americans, it was announced here today. Strand hit 42 homers in the Coast league in 1923 but was a "flop" with Philadelphia.

Duffy Lewis, Portland manager, also announced a deal being considered with San Francisco which would send Pitchers Keefe and Gardner to the Seals.

FULTON TO TRIAL

ST. PAUL, Jan. 12.—Fred Fulton, accompanied by his manager, Jack Reddy, today is en route to Culver City, where they are to stand trial Jan. 18 on charges of violating California boxing laws, following a recent engagement between Fulton and Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight.

THIEF OF BAGDAD AT CALIFORNIA

The cast of Douglas Fairbanks' new picture, "The Thief of Bagdad," which commences a four-day engagement at the California theatre today, represents every country in the world with the exception of Siam and Greenland, and one of the three extras who claimed to be from Iceland admitted having spent two years in Greenland.

Being laid in an imaginary locale with fanciful settings and environment, it was essential that this picture include as many bizzare personalities as possible. Mere types would not answer this need for, strangely enough, every principal character in the production is what casting directors call "an acting part." This means that actual histrionic ability was as much a requirement as unusual cast of feature.

Doug is said to have spared no expense in finding the right people and the result is as polyglot a gathering of people as ever embarked upon common enterprise.

First of all, there is an Irish director, Raoul Walsh. This was a good start, for it required real Irish fighting qualities to control the battle of diverse temperament that raged very wildly at times. The leading woman was Julanne Johnston, a Swedish girl, recruited from the ranks of the Morgan troupe of dancers.

The Mongol slave, a part that required emotional subtlety and balance, was played by Anna May Wong, a Chinese girl, educated in America. Her Chinese name is Lew Wong Song, and means two yellow willows. When the picture was being filmed, Miss Wong almost walked out on her job because an enthusiastic press agent misunderstood the translation of her name and published it as "two yelling widows."

The other two slaves were played by Etta Lee and Winter Blossom, both of Mongolian extraction, while the Mongol magician was played by Sadakichi Hartmann, whose mother was Japanese and whose father was German.

The evil man was played by Snitz Edwards of German parentage, and Caliph by Brandon Hurst, an Englishman. The soothsayer was characterized by Toto du Crow, an Alsatian. In the part of the awaker was Charles Stevens, a Scotchman.

Thus, down the list the leading character is check off nations, until we reach Noble Johnson, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, and M. Commont, French to the core.

The difficult and important characterization of the Mongol Prince was the work of So-Jin, a very famous Japanese actor, who is perhaps the only great Shakespearean actor that Japan has produced. His counsellor was delineated by Kamayama Nambu, who was associated with So-Jin in his native land. The picturesque sworder was played by Sam Baker, a Senegambian. Of course, being Oriental in atmosphere, the production required many Oriental types for its mass scenes and it was not unusual for little groups to include seven or eight different nationalities of the Far East. Moroccans, Tripolitans, Arabs, East Indians and Senegalese predominated, but all the eunuchs were Abyssinians. There was one player in the cast, by the way, a full-blooded, 100 per cent American, who exemplified the rule set forth in the first paragraph—that acting ability was an essential requirement in the casting of the picture. His name is Douglas Fairbanks and he is quite well known in Hollywood.

NOW AT CALIFORNIA

SPECIAL MUSICAL, SCENIC PRELUDE

For the run of Douglas Fairbanks in "The Thief of Bagdad," which starts at the California today and will continue for four days, the management has arranged another of the novelty surprises that have become so popular with patrons of Anaheim's beautiful playhouse.

The special musical and scenic prelude as arranged by George E. Turner is one of the prettiest ever shown at the California. The stage settings which were built especially for this show are a direct reproduction of one of the scenes in the picture, and with the beautiful lighting effects as arranged by Frank B. McCowen, stage manager, the novelty musical selections by Mr. Turner, makes this prelude one that will not be forgotten soon.

The music score to fit the picture is the same that was played at Grauman's Egyptian theatre, where the picture enjoyed an unusual run.

INFANT BURNED

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 12.—The 15-months-old baby of Gus Ertsen, a longshoreman, was burned to death shortly before noon today and a second baby, Ollie, two and a half years old, is dying at the city hospital of burns suffered when the family home caught fire during the mother's absence.

Felix the Cat in a very funny cartoon and Pathe News complete the picture program.

GLOWING TRIBUTE PAID EVANGELIST

A. J. Young, Pacific Electric agent at La Habra, was one of the Evangelist Bulgin's first converts in Winfield, Kan.—possibly the first—and he entertained him at his home there 13 or 14 years ago. Young paid a glowing tribute to the evangelist today, declaring he was one of the greatest Bible students in America and had taken a leading part in putting the saloons out of business in Colorado before the prohibition amendment took effect.

Young was delighted at the opportunity of meeting him again and plans to attend the present revival in the tent at Claudina and Wilhelmina-sts.

BROKER KILLED

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Private messages received this afternoon in Broadway brokerage houses said that J. William Souther, Wall Street operator and husband of Georgette Cohan, daughter of Geo. M. Cohan, the actor, had died in Rawlins, Wyo., from injuries suffered in a fall from a horse.

Regents Will View Every Site Offered

"Full and fair consideration," of proposed sites for the Southern Branch, U. of C., by the Board of Regents is certain, according to Gov. F. W. Richardson, who in a letter to Secretary George W. Reid of the C. of C. received this morning says:

"Dear Sir:

"I have your telegram in regard to a site for the Southern Branch of the University of California. This is a matter that will be first taken up by a committee from the board of regents. After the committee has investigated the matter, it will be submitted to the board of regents of 23 members of which I am one. I feel sure that the regents intend to give every site full and fair consideration and I want to assure you that that is my purpose and idea.

"Whatever you have to offer should be submitted in writing and with as full detail as possible.

"With kindest regards, I am,

"Yours sincerely,

"F. W. RICHARDSON."

Yesterday the site committee of the Board of Regents inspected the new site of 1,000 acres on the Palos Verdes hills offered free to the Southern Branch. A committee consisting of representatives of 15 C.'s of C. of the vicinity greeted the visitors at Redondo.

OPPOSES AIRING OF DRINK CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Scott divorce case at Alpena, in which Mrs. Frank D. Scott, wife of a Michigan congressman, charged that members of congress smuggled liquor into the United States while on a junketing trip to Panama, had an airing in the house today.

"For heaven's sake, let us not permit the house to descend to the low levels of an up-country divorce court," said Rep. Tillman, Dem., of Ark., in opposing a movement for a congressional investigation of the charges.

Tillman was a member of the congressional junketing party.

DECLARED FATHER MUST HELP CHILD

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Prenatal agreements between parents, releasing the father from responsibility to support their offspring, were declared "illegal and void" by the state supreme court today in denying the petition of Deputy Atty. Gen. J. Charles Jones for a rehearing of the case of Lloyd S[illegible] of this city, who is alleged to have entered into such a contract with his wife.

"The mother of a child has no authority or power by agreement or release or waive to deprive her child of its legal right to be supported and maintained by the father," said the court, "or to relieve the father from the corresponding obligation imposed upon him by law."
