THOUSANDS AT REVIVAL SUNDAY

Hundreds Unable to Get Into Tabernacle After 7:10 p.m. Last Night

Attendance at the three great services at the Bulgin tabernacle yesterday aggregated many thousands. The 11 a.m. service was very largely attended. At the afternoon lecture on "Immortality," the tabernacle was packed. At 7:10 p.m., long before Bulgin was scheduled to speak, the last foot of standing room had been taken and hundreds were turned away afterwards.

Some planks were brot in and placed on chairs immediately in front of the platform for improvised benches. One long row went down with a crash, while Carter and Gourley were singing. No one was injured, all picking themselves out of the sawdust in good humor. Bulgin quickly quieted the crowd which began to rise with "You can't expect three chairs to hold up 19 fat women."

It was found impossible to go ahead Saturday with plans to greatly enlarge the tent and seating capacity, without interfering with facilities for the Sunday services. The expansion program was being carried out today.

In addition to his services at the tabernacle each night this week, the evangelistic party will go to four other cities in the county. At 10:30 a.m. Tuesday the party will conduct a service at the plaza in Orange. At the same hour Wednesday the evangelists go to Santa Ana and Thursday to Buena Park. Sunday at 1:30 p.m. they go to Brea.

The crowd came so early last night that singing started at 6:30 p.m. The great chorus which packed the choir loft to the last seat, with many sitting on the floor of the platform, was never better.

Mrs. H. McFarland and Mrs. D. Lee Shoemaker, soloists, each sang a verse of "When the Veil is Lifted," which was edited by Dr. Bulgin's son who was killed before its publication.

Carter and Gourley sang a negro spiritual, "I Didn't Hear Nobody Pray." Carter sang alone "God, Give Us Homes."

Bulgin announced his theme for tonight would be "God's Yardstick, or His Measurements of a Man." Tuesday night he will speak on "Is There a Bible Hell?"

Bulgin, who started out to be an attorney, practicing four years before he became an evangelist 29 years ago, stated: "It will be a lawyer's examination of the Bible on this subject. If anybody asks you what I'm going to talk about Tuesday night tell them I'm going to give them hell."

Saturday night Bulgin announced he would speak to men only on "The Man of Galilee." The meeting will be especially for members of secret societies, including Masons, Klansmen, Odd Fellows, K. of P.s, etc.

Bulgin announced that the children's Bible chautauqua held Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons were attracting an increasingly large number. This afternoon, he said, Gourley, juvenile director, would change sawdust into water, and drink it. "And if any of you youngsters can tell how he does it, I'll give you a dollar," said Bulgin.

Shortly before the sermon began, the audience stood and joined with the chorus in mighty volume for two verses of "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

Bulgin's text last night was 2 Sam. 23:10—"And his hand clave unto the sword," referring to Eleazer, one of the three mighty men of David's army, which greatly outnumbered and vanquished, was being led away by their conquerors. However, they had not been disarmed. Eleazer suddenly drew his sword and with a battle cry led his defeated cohorts back to victory.

His subject was: "Will the old book stand; is the Bible the inspired word of God?"

"You can't take a little bit of the Bible like a society woman lifts something with two fingers. I'd just as soon shake hands with a dead catfish as some of these society women.

The Bible is the sword of the

5 SUSPECTS HELD

BOMBAY, Jan. 19.—Five persons were held today, suspected of having been implicated or participated in the murder of the rich young merchant, S. Obdir Kadir Bawla, and the disfigurement of his consort, the beautiful Mumtaz Begum, a Nautch girl.

The fifth person was arrested today. He is a young man connected with a firm dealing extensively in the district of Indore. The Nautch girl was a consort of the Maharajah of Indore and deserted him for the young Bombay merchant.

Police said the man arrested today sent an official telegram to Indore notifying officials there of the murder.

THROWGUARD ABOUT DRY PROSECUTOR

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—With assistant U. S. Atty. Mark Herron under constant guard as the result of a "death threat" letter, the writer of which was sought today by federal officers, plans were completed for the trial tomorrow of the "millianaire rum ring" which has dragged thru nearly two years of court delays and postponements.

Chief among the thirteen defendants to be tried in federal court on charges of abetting in the landing of 166 cases of liquor on the Curtis Packing Co. wharf at Long Beach on the night of March 23, 1923, is Alexander B. Stewart, reputed millionaire and head of the Curtis Co., fish packers.

Following is the letter received by Attorney Herron, head of the "bootleg" prosecutions of the U. S. district attorney's forces:

"Mr. Herron: Lay off the Ace in the Hole, when you try the Aleck B. Stewart booze case. He is a man and not a long hair. If you send him and these boys to the pen you will be taken care of good and plenty. You know what we mean. Look at Frisco, dynamite; look at Torchia, look at Turner. Lay off the surprise or graveyard for you-watch your step. Uno Who.

"The Surprise" referred to in the letter is believed to be certain testimony recently unearthed by government investigators and relied upon to cinch the case against the "rum ring" which is declared to have ramifications along the entire Pacific Coast."

DEATH CLAIMS LOCAL RANCHER

Gustav F. Altnow, 66, died late Saturday after a long illness, at the family home on East Santa Ana-st. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Josephine Altnow, and nine children: Miss Marguerite Altnow, yet at home; and Mrs. Lillie Durfee, Mrs. Esther Maddox, Mrs. Clara Curtis, Fullerton; Mrs. Rose Wemmer, Carleton, Wash.; Mrs. Ruth Bonnet, Fresno; Mrs. Violet Hunton, San Diego, and George, of Seattle and Walter, of Long Beach.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the Backs, Terry & Campbell chapel, with the Rev. G. G. Schmid officiating. Interment will be in the family plot in Anaheim cemetery.

Mr. Altnow came to Anaheim 14 years ago from San Diego, where he resided but a short while, and settled on the ranch. He was a member of the Evangelical church of this city.

TWO POLICE LESS IN FULLERTON

Jake Diest, patrolman, and Lee Martin, motorcycle officer, were relieved from the Fullerton police force, as the result of the recent order of the board of trustees that one patrolman and one motor cop be dropped.

Rudy, the other motorcycle officer, had been working longer than Martin, and was continued on the job. Diest, however, had been on the force a long time, but had been in ill health and it is thot that this may have been responsible for his release. Arthur Eells, marshal, refused to make any comment.

EXPECT JAM FOR PFAU MEETING

Retired Capitalist Wil Make Charges of Graft on Broad Scale

The Newport school auditorium is expected to be jammed tomorrow night at the public mass meeting called by Lee Pfau, retired capitalist, and others, when revelations will be made of alleged graft and connivance with bootleggers that have been going on for a long while past.

Pfau is the man who charged that Captain Sherman, well to do Beach resident who was seized with his power boat Nigger Boy and 310 cases of liquor, had been rum running with 50 cases twice each week, plying between the Beach city and a big craft anchored 25 or 30 miles out in the ocean. The Newport police knew nothing of Sherman's doings. Neither did the sheriff's office, expert in breaking up nests of obscure Mexican bootleggers, and the raid was made by federal officers, as the county-wide 150 warrant raid had been earlier.

However, the alleged connivance in liquor operations will be only a small part of the charges Pfau will make.

Wm. Starbuck, from whose ranch home the great Orange-co. booze raids were directed, briefly addressed the Santa Ana Men's Brotherhood yesterday. Starbuck had been invited to address the Brotherhood at length tomorrow evening at the weekly luncheon on the story of the raid. However, he begged off for that date suggesting that nothing be done to detract from attendance at the Pfau meeting which, he asserted, would be of interest to all citizens. He was released from the engagement. The Pfau meeting was news to the Santa Anans as the Santa Ana paper had published nothing about it.

A petition filed by 93 Santa Anans has been filed with the Santa Ana high school board asking permission to hold a law enforcement rally in the high school auditorium, Jan. 23. The school board will call a special session this week to consider the matter.

Letters of Sympathy Pour In to Slayer

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19. From all parts of the United States letters and telegrams with messages of sympathy and friendship poured in today at the city prison for Dorothy Ellingson, the "daughter of jazz," who slew her mother.

One of the letters, from an 82-year-old grandfather, told Dorothy she had been "more sinned against than sinning."

One church and several mission workers' societies wrote to the "jazz queen" asking her to take up religion and "save herself from hell."

"Three days ago Dorothy would have delighted in this world-wide attention," said Policewoman Katherine Sullivan, "but today she does not care—she's feeling kind of sorry for herself now and has cried most of the day."

APPOINTMENT OF STONE APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—After a delay of two weeks, the senate judiciary committee today unanimously approved the appointment of Atty Gen. Harlan F. Stone to the U. S. supreme court. The appointment had been held up on requests of Sens. Borah, Republican of Idaho, and Walsh, Democrat of Montana, who desired to investigate Stone's connection with litigation of J. P. Morgan & Co.

It was said that both Borah and Walsh were satisfied that Stone's activities were purely professional.

The committee's decision assures Stone of confirmation by the senate.

The committee found that Stone was not guilty of "unprofessional conduct" as charged by Colonel James A. Owenby, a Colorado mining man. Owenby contended that Stone had engineered litigation for the Morgan interests which ultimately deprived him of his mining property in Colorado.

The committee, however, again postponed a decision on the appointment of Chas. B. Warren as Stone's successor. A further delay was asked by Senators Borah and Walsh to permit a complete investigation of charges that Warren was connected with an illegal beet sugar trust in 1911 and with the sugar lobby scandal of 1913.

FALLS FROM TREE

TUESDAY YOU START CHANGE OF EXERCISE

ARTICLE No. 16
INSTRUCTIONS FOR JAN. 20
By DR. FRANK McCOY

TOMORROW morning (Tuesday) continue with the same exercises you are now taking with the addition of the following exercise:

LYING FACE DOWNWARD

1. Clasp hands behind back—then raise head, shoulders, and elbows as high as possible, at the same time raising both legs, keeping knees stiff.

Following the exercises with a cold shower bath

BREAKFAST: One coddled egg, three or four pieces of Melba toast, small dish of stewed prunes.

During the morning take your usual walk, walking at least two miles.

LUNCH: Cooked summer squash or Zucchini (Italian squash), raw celery.

During the afternoon take your usual walk of at least two miles.

DINNER: Small portion of lean mutton, dish of cooked cucumbers, salad of lettuce and tomatoes.

Repeat the exercises before retiring. Take a warm sponge or shower bath, followed by an enema of one quart of warm water.

The following recipes explain the preparation of foods prescribed in the above diet. These recipes will not be repeated.

SUMMER SQUASH—Cook in just enough water to cover them so that too much of the flavor is not cooked out in the water. They may then be mashed, and butter and a little salt added, if desired.

ZUCCHINI — This vegetable may be prepared in the same manner as summer squash.

MUTTON AND LAMB—You will find some difficulty in being able to obtain a leg of mutton in the butcher's shop, as the butchers at the present time seem intent on selling only lamb, and will give you this immature lamb meat when you ask for mutton. It is always advisable to pick out the largest leg of mutton you can find, as this will usually indicate that the animal was more mature when butchered, and consequently that the meat will be more easily digested, immature meat being always more difficult of digestion. Mutton chops may be broiled, but the most desirable method of preparation is in the form of a leg of mutton. Roast with a slow fire, and on no account flavor the meat with onions, garlic or salt or any other seasoning.

COOKED CUCUMBER—Cucumbers may be prepared in the same manner as squash and Zucchini Cucumber may be cooked with or without its peel, but if the peel is removed most of the strong acid, which is apt to irritate a delicate stomach, is removed along with it.

OH, DOCTOR! WHY DON'T YOU TALK?

You Tell 'Em Why Your Gang Should Resume City Hall Control

Unable to uncover any U.S.A. club candidates or spokesmen who dare to accept the challenge to meet Mayor Metcalf on a public platform for a free and full discussion of the cowardly attacks made against the administration, law enforcement advocates announced today that a mass meeting would be held next Monday evening.

The mayor, Councilmen Emory E. Knipe, Dean Hasson, and A. A. Slaback, as well as Harry Turton, dry candidate against G. J. Stock, last of the old wet political ring, will be given an opportunity to address the voters

As a further effort to "smoke out" some of those who have been particularly active in forcing the city into the strife and discord of a recall election, the City Council Campaign5 Committee today directed the following statement to H. A. Johnston, one of those to whom Mayor Metcalfe particularly addressed his challenge:

"To Dr. H. A. Johnston:

"A few months ago you headed a committee composed of yourself, Harry D. Riley and Charles Eygabroad at a conference with Mayor E. H. Metcalf which you declared was in the interests of peace and harmony. At that time you agreed that a recall election would be a disastrous thing for the community. To avoid it you made the insulting proposition that the four dry councilmen elected by overwhelming majorities, resign, one at a time. Their successors were to be selected by "representative men from the C. of C. and certain luncheon clubs."

"By some oversight you did not suggest that G. J. Stock, wet councilman retire.

"At that time Mayor Metcalf rightly asked what better right had a few "representative men from the C. of C. and certain luncheon clubs" to name Anaheim's city councilmen than did the entire electorate which had spoken so effectively only a few months previously. You could not answer that question then and you cannot now.

"You and Riley and Eygabroad were very active before last spring's election in the efforts of the so-called "Good Government League," to re-elect Bill Stark, political boss, and a ticket that would continue to saddle its style of government upon the city of Anaheim.

"You have changed the name of your organization but not the clique that is running it nor its aims and purposes. Then it was the "Good Government League" Now it's the U.S.A. club.

"Your U.S.A. club has made cowardly attacks upon Anaheim's first dry council. You know the present council has given the most businesslike administration and the best enforcement of law the city has ever had. And yet you have charged extravagance, that the council is controlled by the Ku Klux Klan, that city employes have been discharged without cause, etc., ad nauseatum.

"If those charges are true you can prove them.

"The people generally are well

BILL WOULD SHIELD WATER PROJECTS

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—The creation of a state constabulary, that could be used in policing and protecting municipal aqueducts and water projects, is asked for in a bill introduced today in the senate by Sen. Harry Chamberlain of Los Angeles.

The measure is designed to aid Los Angeles in protecting its water project in the Owens Valley, and to guard against the recurrence of the dynamiting episode of last May and the raid made by Inyo farmers on the aqueduct last November.

The state police created by the constabulary measure would only be deputies for specific service when such a controversy as the Owens Valley water fight comes up, and only at the request of the authorities of one county.

HERE IS CHALLENGE U. S. A. CLUB FEARS

"I RESPECTFULLY challenge any one of the five candidates of the U. S. A. club for the position of city trustee to a joint public discussion of the questions involved in the coming recall election. In the event that this is not accepted, the challenge is extended to any member of the U. S. A. club who is a resident voter of Anaheim, and more specifically to J. A. Geissinger, Thos. H. Walker, Harry D. Riley and H. A Johnston. A prompt reply is requested, and if the invitation is accepted, Dr. E. E. Long will be my representative to make such preliminary arrangements as will be mutually satisfactory to all concerned.—E. H. METCALF.

The north-bound Dixie Flyer barely missed calamity last night when it stopped just before reaching a washed out fill at Mosey creek, on the Central of Georgia Railway. The washout was caused when a dam burst near Fort Valley, Ga

AQUEDUCT ROW IN HANDS OF BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Reports were current in the capitol today that Gov. Richardson is considering the appointment of a neutral board to investigate the Owens Valley-Los Angeles water controversy and propose a compromise with a view to effecting a settlement of the long standing dispute.

State Engineer W. F. McClure sounds a warning against "harsh measures" and declares that "the people of Owens Valley have a real grievance against the City of Los Angeles."

"With more than 200 miles of conduit in desert, uninhabited country, a whole community antagonistic—some injury occasioned in May last to the aqueduct by explosion—the opening of the waste gates in November—both acts in protest against the policy of the city—what may come next?"

No penalty that may be imposed on the persons who participated in opening the waste gates" can in any way compensate the city for the loss of confidence and friendship of the people of the valley", the report concludes.

Fined for Drinking

Edwin L. Lester of Long Beach, 38, was arraigned before Judge French this morning on the charge of intoxication, entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $50.

SOCIETY

GROW YOUTHFUL ON BIRTHDAY OF HOSTESS

TURNING Father Time's clock back to conform with the youth of the New Year, the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Rosa Brown, 523½ West Center-st., was observed with a "kid's" party. The guests, all close friends and relatives of Mrs. Brown, were informally dressed to represent children from those of sedate, wellbred mein to the romping, rollicking young American with freckles on his nose and bumps on his bow legs. Mrs. George Shaw, whose naturally curly blond hair was worn in long curls, rivalled her grammar school daughter in appearance, but to enumerate and describe is impossible.

Nurery rhymes, childish games and prattle, with an occasional race around the house, occupied the "children's" attention for a time.

After admiration and inspection of all the costumes, it was voted that Gerald Murray, in his rompers of black and white, with the huge white collar and socks and pumps was the best, and he was awarded accordingly. A buffet supper was served, composed of viands most liked by children, and of course the most attractive article was the fine big birthday cake. Gifts to the honoree also were carefully "tried out" by the "little folks." Among the children might be mentioned the "French doll" — Miss Marguerite Shaw, with whom everyone wanted to play.

The happy family consisted of the Messrs and Mesdames George Shaw and four children; Wm. Chapman, sr., and daughter, Keziah; Wm. Chapman, jr., and two children, Patricia and Ruth; Edgar Chapman, all of Los Angeles; Miss Helen Shaw and Tom Meehan, Hollywood; Mrs. Katherine Clark and Miss Billie Clark; and the Messrs Odell Petty, Edward Cordee, Herbert Noske, George Edward Brown, and the hostess and her daughter, Miss Rosamary Brown, who assisted her mother throughout the evening.

Guests of Cooks

Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Cook, 832 South Los Angeles, entertained a small company at dinner Saturday. The guests were out of town folk and included Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Kittle and Miss Marjorie Kittle, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strock, Santa Ana; J. M. Kittle, Los Angeles; Harlan Kittle, of Hollywood. With Dr. and Mrs. Cook and their daughter, Miss Josephine dispensing their usual hospitality the affair was a decidedly successful one.

Amaranth Advance Night

Liberty Court, Order of the Amaranth, will observe officers Advance night tomorrow, when Mrs. Etde Brewster will be acting royal matron, W. C. Brown, acting royal patron, Mrs. Kittie Smith associate matron and Mrs. Blanche Daniels, associate conductress.

Mrs. Helen Kellogg will be in charge of the social meeting to follow ritualistic work and all members are urged to be present at the specian occasion.

Daughter at Doubles

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Double, of Red Gum-st., in the Golden State Tract, are proudly announcing the birth of a daughter, weight 6½ pounds, who was born at 4 a. m., yesterday. Master Edward, aged 11, is about the proudest member of the family, for he now has a playmate. Everyone, even "Dad," is getting along nicely. The parents are wellknown in this vicinity and the news comes as a very pleasant surprise.

Club Executives Meet

Miss E. Kate Rea, president of Anaheim Ebell club, has called the executives to meet at her home, tomorrow at 2 p. m., sharp. Chairmen of all committees are urged to be there as well as the board of directors. This is an important meeting and the best results may be obtained only when all concerned are present.

Spanish Luncheon

The Sunbeam Circle of Amaranth will serve a Spanish luncheon Thursday in the Masonic temple at 12:30 and invited everyone in Anaheim with a real good appetite to come and partake. The afternoon will be devoted to cards. A small charge is made for the luncheon and privilege of playing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Swingle of Hermosa visited Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wilsey Wednesday.

Juniors Hold Party

The girl of the Junior department of the Sherwood Music school were entertained with a most delightful party in the studio, 206 Fisher-bldg., Saturday afternoon. This was a special party given for the girls alone and their teacher. Miss Stella A. Schwentker, had many things planned for their entertainment. One thing of special interest was a musical cross word puzzle arranged by Miss Schwentker and all had to do a lot of hard thinking.

A short musical program was enjoyed after which more games were played and refreshments served.

The prize for the most gold stars for December was awarded to Janey Schaffer. Miss Schwentker is having a spirited contest between the Junior girls and boys and at the end of February the side having the highest grade will be given a special party. The boys almost equal the girls in number and both sides are very optomistic about winning.

Pleasant Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Planting entertained in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Collins with a surprise party and chose five hundred as the game of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Collins were fortunate enough to win prizes and Mrs. R. E. Coffman and Msr. George Minter received second prizes. Mrs. Collins was presented with individual gifts as well, being douby honored.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Baked Beans—Soak the beans overnight in cold water. In the morning pour off the water in which they were soaked and put on fresh and cook until the skins will roll up when you put a few in a spoon and blow on them. Add to beans a tablespoon of molasses, teaspoon salt, one pint strained tomatoes or one can tomato soup, one teaspoon mustard dissolved in a little cold water. Bury a quarter of a pound of salt pork in the middle of the beans and bake slowly for about four hours.

Veal Loaf—Three pounds uncooked veal chopped fine with one pound pork, six butter crackers rolled fine, two beaten eggs, salt, pepper and a little sage. Mix well together, put in a greased baking pan and baste occasionally while cooking. Bake two hours.

Chocolate Sauce — One cup sugar, one tablespoon flour or cornstarch, quarter teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cocoa or two squares chocolate, one cup boiling water. Mix first ingredients together and gradually add the water, boil up, add one teaspoon butter and serve over cake.

SUGGESTIONS

When ironing pongee blouses or drapes, if you do not dampen them the material remains soft and lustrous and the results are much more satisfactory.

When cleaning linoleum, polish with sweet milk. It gives a very brilliant shine.

By covering a well greased pan with cheesecloth when baking a large fish, it will be found very easy to lift out of the pan without losing its shape.

SENATE TEMPEST AROUSES HUGHES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Aroused by the tempest in the senate over the reparations agreement signed at Paris by Secretary of State-designate Kellogg and the charges that the United States has been "duped" there, Secretary of State Hughes broke a precedent here today by issuing an official statement concerning the agreement, in which he denied that the United States is "legally or morally" obligated to help the allied powers collect war damages from Germany.

Hughes' statement was issued in the face of a gathering revolt on the part of the old senate irreconcilables against the Paris agreement, and an anticipated "demand" from the senate for full information.

His statement follows:

"The portion of the agreement reached at the recent conference in Paris, which relates to the participation of the United States in the Dawes annuities has already been published in the newspapers. The full text of the agreement is on its way to this country and will be published as soon as received. In the meantime it may be said:

1—The conference of finance minister held at Paris was for the purpose of reaching an agreement as to the allocation of the payments expected thru the operation of the Dawes plan. In view of the inglusive character of these payments it was necessary for United States to take part in the conference in order to protect its interests.

2—The conference at Paris was not a body agency or commission provided for either by our treaty wit hGermany or by the treaty of Versailles. In taking part in this conference there was no violation of the reservation attached by the senate to the treaty in Berlin.

3—The agreement reached at Paris was simply for the allocation of the payments made under the Dawes plan. It does not provide for sanctions or deal with any questions that might arise if the contemplated payments should not be made. With respect to any such contingencies, the agreement at Paris puts the United States under no obligation legally or morally, and the United States will be as free as it ever was to take any course of action it may think advisable.

4—The agreement at Paris neither surrenders or modifies any treaty rights of the United States."

The second paragraphs of the statements was in reference to the charge, that in designating American delegates to attend the Paris conference, the state department had violated the mandate of the senate of two years ago when it was stipulated that the executive should not send official American representatives to any European conferences having to do with the Versailles treaty without the express consent of the senate.

MURDER MYSTERY

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 19.—Police here were confronted with a new murder mystery today following the finding last night of the body of August Tims, 24, captain of the San Pedro terminal island ferry, "Real," at the rear of his home in East Eighth. Tims is said to have been seen to enter the rear of the place where he lived at 7 p. m. and detectives claim they found evidences of a struggle in the back yard. The young skipper is thought to have been dead about an hour when his body was found.

Tims had been making his home with his sister, Mrs. Edelbert Lutz, who could give no reason to detectives why her brother was murdered.

Haydon and Sanderson have just completed a stucco bungalow in Mission Gardens.

FEAR OPPOSITION MAY WRECK PLAN

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The British foreign office today viewed the opposition U. S. Sen. Hiram Johnson voiced to the Paris agreement as presaging a serious situation. British officials were fearful lest the whole agreement by wrecked by American opposition.

The British view is that the United States is committee to nothing in a political sense by signing the financial agreement and can withdraw from it any time the country pleases.

Winston Churchill, it was learned unofficially, faces trouble in the cabinet on account of unfavorable reaction forseen in the U. S. The speech of the chancellor of the exchequer after the signing of the document in Paris, extending a welcome to the United States in returning to an active participation in European affairs, is considered by many to have been indiscreet.

Ambassador Kellogg, who becomes secretary of state on March 4, apparently was annoyed today by the attacks in the senate on the Paris financial agreement but declined to comment on Senator Johnson's demand for its text.

Kellogg holds that since the Dawes plan provides for the control of all of Germany's resources, the United States' only chance of collecting its claims against Germany is under the Dawes plan The Paris agreement merely provides for division of the funds realized from Germany.

Kellogg emphatically holds that the agreement provides for nothing else and commits the United States to nothing.

CHRIST WILL GIVE YOU CLEAN HEART

The Sunday morning sermon at the Undenominational Church of the Lord (Holiness), 511 North Olive-st, was preached by Miss Heughan, assistant pastor, on the new covenant of grace. Miss Heughan took as her text Ezekiel 36:25-27: "Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean: from all your filthiness, and from all you idols will I cleanse you. A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh. And I will put My Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in My statutes, and ye shall keep My judgments, and do them."

The text brot out the complete redemption from sin provided for a soul in this life, "clean water" being a type of the Holy Ghost cleansing power; "filthiness," the carnal natures; "idols," the prides and lusts of the carnal heart. From all these, He says, will I cleanse you. The replacing of the stony heart with a heart of flesh represents the complete regeneration of the soul, and the next verse brings out the filling with the Spirit of God, or the baptism of the Holy Ghost, after that the soul has been justified and thoroughly cleansed from sin. Then, He says, ye shall walk in My statutes, keep My judgments and do them. The laws of God written on our hearts by the Spirit and its our second nature to keep them

The afternoon sermon was preached by Mrs. Elsie Richards from Phillipians 2:5. "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

Today's Puzzles Fail to Arrive

Nonarrival of the Plain Dealer's cross word puzzles has made it impossible to use the usual Monday puzzle and Saturday answer today. They will be printed tomorrow, if they arrive in time, if not, just as soon as they come. In the meantime, solutions may be worked and held until the answer arrives. The delay is much regretted, as the cross word puzzle is a popular feature with Plain Dealer readers.

OH, DOCTOR! WHY DON'T YOU TALK

aware, Dr. Johnston, that you are always somewhere in the background in the manipulations of the old political machine but you always stay under cover and let the other fellow do the dirty work in the open.

"Here is on chance when you can demonstrate to the people of this community that you are not afraid to air your charges where all may see and hear them challenged as they certainly will be next Monday evening.

The U. S. A. club, which announced after weeks of canvassing that it was justified in forcing a recall election upon the city, today had another house-to-house canvass under way. Acknowledging that they had greatly miscounted their strength and alarmed at the strong swing toward the support of the four dry councilmen since no good reason has been advanced for their recall, the U. S. A. club resorted to another last desperate effort to round up votes. It has not yet been disclosed what excuse would be given by canvassers this time, whether solicitations were being made for a new city directory, subscriptions for the Ladies Home Journal or what. The last time canvassers used many subterfuges but the one they favored most was that they were shaking in their boots and a big saving to the taxpayers.

Likewise, C. of C. directors also were shaking in its boots and were attempting to justify their high handed departure from the purposes for which the C. of C. was organized by delving into partisan politics. The directors were attempting to round up support for their action—after it was done. Such support was extremely reticent.

Anaheim political rule or ruin cliques, which have not only ceased to boost the city, but are spreading abroad reports that Anaheim is worse off than other towns of the Southland, would do well to take a few pages from the books of travelling salesmen visiting here. Recently a prominent Los Angeles theater is actually said to have shown a picture of a vacant business street, taken evidently on Sunday entitled "Anaheim on a busy day."

Two of the salesmen referred to were in the city today, and both gave a very different impression. One, the representative of a very prominent drygoods house of Los Angeles, declared that Anaheim was, if anything, better off than most of the other towns of Orange and Los Angeles counties. The fact of the matter was, however, that the Southland was involved in a general condition, due to the marked decline in oil production and other causes. This man was seen today at Sebastian Bros.' store.

The other man, a hardware salesman, told M. W. Martenet, that it was nonsense to make an exception of Anaheim and declare that other towns of the county were prosperous, while depression reigned here. Martenet himself, quoting from reports of hardware dealers all over this section, members of the West Coast Hardware Dealers' Ass'n, said that they all told the same story.

Martenet pointed out that while Long Beach and Whittier for example, had seen failures in the hardware business, Anaheim had not.

Another drygoods salesman who was in Anaheim recently asserted that he sold more goods here than in any other city in the county, not excepting Santa Ana.

Just before Christmas certain local merchants, when asked how the holiday trade compared this year with last, were so optimistic in favor of this year's business that the Plain Dealer itself was skeptical. They insisted, however, that business really had been better than before Christmas 1923.

Even at that time the same story was circulated that business was dull. Yet an Anaheim grocer of years' standing, in spite of the marked increase in competition in the grocery business, declared that he had enjoyed the best business in his history.

THOUSANDS AT REVIVAL SUNDAY

spirit and a sword is used offensively as well as defensively. Take all the Bible or none. It's every bit God's word or none of it is; the Old Testament, too, or else Jesus told a lie.

"Charlemagne said earthly kingdoms will rise and fall but the man of Galilee has raised up a kingdom which has not fallen and will not fall. His kingdom has gone, the Roman empire fell, the kaiser has gone.

"I believe the Old Book is the inspired word of God because it has withstood the assaults of Huxley, Paine, Ingersoll and that tribe for 2000 years and it is the greatest selling book in the world.

"We get all basis for morals from the Bible. If that is so, I don't see why the Bible isn't on the desk of every school teacher. It's there in Kentucky and old Oklahoma and Indiana are coming along, too In Kentucky, every teacher not only must read from the Bible at the opening of each school day, but she must pray.

"I believe the Bible is inspired because it is always scientific. We have only recently realized with the discovery of the radio that light waves are sound waves of greater rapidity. We have only lately perceived what Job meant when he said 'God maketh the morning stars to sing.' They do sing, and when we can 'fry' down the vibration of their light waves we will hear them.

"We have only comparatively recently discovered that at least 19 diseases originate from pyorrhea, which comes from the breaking of the enamel of the teeth. And yet Job said 2000 years ago 'I am saved by the skin of my teeth.'

"It was only a few hundred years ago that men demonstrated that the earth is round and yet Job and Isaiah 4000 years ago declared God made the world a sphere.

"Dr. Harvey, the noted physician, comparatively recently discovered the circulation of the blood stream, and yet old man Solomon said not to wait 'until the blood circuit is slow.'

"Naham centuries upon centuries ago said 'horseless chariots will jostle each other in the city of Jerusalem and news will be flashed as by lightning.'

"Today Jerusalem has its auto traffic problems and its radios.

"I believe the Bible is divinely inspired because it is beyond human comprehension and hence beyond human invention. Man cannot invent what he cannot comprehend. When my wife graduated from Queen's college, England, Dr. Gladstone wound up his commencement day address with: 'I am over 70 years old and have read the Bible for 35 years. I want to say to you that there are depths in it I cannot understand.'

"I believe the Bible is divinely inspired because it deals severely with the sins of its greatest heroes. Human authors don't write that way. It was written either by good men, bad men or by God Good men didn't write or they would have glossed over the sins of its heroes. Bad men wouldn't have written it. Only God could be the author.

"I believe the Bible is inspired because of its influence on human history. In Cuba only five per cent of the people can read and write. The safeguard of our flag is education and religion. A democracy isn't the best government for every people. It isn't safe without the Bible and education. Don't you let anybody drive out the Bible and your free public schools.

"I believe the Bible is inspired because it is the greatest literature. I dare you to find any other literature worth while that does not draw from the Bible for its inspiration. For instance the tenor of Shakespeare is the majesty of the moral law. That came from the Bible.

"Herbert Spencer claimed the Bible did not solve the eternal questions of time, space, matter, force and motion. That is all in the first verse of the first chapter of the first book: 'In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.' It's all there, time, space, matter, force and motion. I dare you to find a place where it isn't scientific.

"It is the key that unlocks the universe and tells who am I, where am I, where did I come where am I, what am I doing and where did I come from. I can only come to the conclusion that the one who made the universe and the one who wrote the book are one and the same.

"Water never rises above its source Neither can literature. No other book can lift a man out of the gutter and make him respectable.

"I believe the book. You are generally honest when you are face to face with death. It's the best book to live by. It's the only book to die by."

Immediately following the sermon, Carter sang "There is a Dear and Precious Book." Bulgin invited all those Christians who would resolve to live a better life to stand. Hundreds arose. He invited those who had not professed to be christians but whe believed it was the right way to live and would resolve so to do to arise. About 100 did so, among them several gray-headed men and women.

Some Bulgin broadsides:

"Some people like to see enthusiasm in business, politics or what not, but they dislike it in religion. Where do we get the word 'enthusiasm? En-theus—God in you. En-theus-iasm—God working out of you.

"Prayer is the divine radio.

"Poul must have been a Methodist. He could never preach a sermon without telling his own experience.

"There is no neutral ground in a moral issue. You can't compromise with green flies and buzzards.

"You say you can't interfere with a man's personal liberty. Why, bless you, as soon as Eve landed in the Garden of Eden Adam's personal liberty ceased and it became a matter of civil liberty. When Friday hooked up with Robinson Crusoe personal liberty ceased.

"A man's personal liberty leaves off where another's personal injury ceases. You've got a right to spit but don't spit in my face.

"You can't control the smell of a dead hog.

No man liveth to himself or dieth to himself.

"A dying man asked his wife to see that his Ford was buried with him. The wife asked why. 'Because I've never been in a hole yet a Ford couldn't get me out of.

"God pity the preacher who is the catspaw for dirty politics.

"I will never preach a compromise gospel.

"In New York City a 14-year-old girl was made drunk, attacked and murdered at 2 a. m. in a roadhouse. The morning newspapers carried a description of her. TROUBLES NEVER COME SINGLY

Maintaining a gasoline service station at the outskirts of Tustin is proving a difficult proposition for A. L White, he told sheriff's deputies today, in reporting another accident at his place of business.

Several weeks ago the palatial limousine of Mrs. D. Mann of San Diego swerved from the road, knocked down two gasoline pumps at the station and both it and the expensive car were consumed in a spectacular fire.

Yesterday the car of M. L. Fouch of Yucaipa swerved from the road, broke off White's gasoline pump and did damage to new concrete work White had placed preparatory to erecting his new building.

PRIVATE LAWYER FOR "JAZZ BABY"

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19 — Public Defender Frank J. Egan, dropped the defense of Dorothy Ellingson, mother slayer, late today, when it was announced a defense fund was to be raised for the "jazz maniac."

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old red headed "daughter of jazz," who murdered her mother, wept in the city prison today while lawyers wrangled over her defense.

A "tiger girl" turned to a broken flower, Dorothy hung her head so that her red bob dropped over and hid her face and declined to become interested in her fate

"I killed my mother and am ready to pay the price," she sobbed. "Lawyers and everybody else leave me alone—that's all I ask."

Outside the women's prison ward waited Alexander Moslin, San Francisco attorney, who asserted the girl's father had employed him, and Public Defender Frank J. Egan, both claiming they had appointments to see the mother slayer.

Egan said the girl wanted him and no one else to defend her, and Moslin declared he would have charge of her defense.

With the attorneys battling as to who would prepare the girl's defense, the outstanding developments of the day were:

1—Keith Lord, Los Angeles orchestra player, was to be arraigned on a charge of contributing to the girl's delinquency.

2—Detectives probed the "jazz maniac's" age, the authorities asserting if it was found she was 18 years old, the death penalty would be demanded.

3—San Francisco police and clubwomen united in a campaign to bring strict police supervision of "jazz palaces" and amusement places where Dorothy whetted her pleasure-loving appetite.

4—Dorothy was again to be questioned in an effort to make her confess she killed her mother, while Mrs. Ellingson's back was turned, because she had threatened to place Dorothy in a correctional institution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—A broken blossom, Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old mother slayer, awoke today to await the last steps down her jazz-mad trail.

Wilted by the restraint of four days in prison, the "butterfly girl," appeared to realize for the first time the enormity of her crime and listlessly listened, as though dazed, to plans for her defense.

Gone was all the bravado and sangfroid which for days amazed police after they placed around her the net of the law in California's first recorded case of matricide.

Beneath her titian bob, Dorothy today lifted reddened eyelids, stained with night tears, as she faced her battle in the courts. Public Defender Frank J. Egan arranged with the child-defendant, a series of conferences in which details of her fight to stave off a long prison sentence will be outlined.

Practically penniless and with only "charity" counsel, Dorothy will face the law, her father, viking featured tailor, announcing all financial aid and proffers of six San Francisco attorneys to defend his daughter having been refused.

This placed the girl's fate, as far as her defense was concerned, entirely in the hands of Public Defender Egan.

"As she has requested, I will handle her case," declared Egan, "and there will be no array of allenists and scientists in court.

"The county has no money to employ these and if I am going to defend Dorothy there must be no defense fund. That is true because I am permitted to handle only the cases of persons without funds."

Egan said he would make a fight to have the "jazz mania" girl's preliminary hearing take place in juvenile court and not in police court.

"The girl is 16 years old," the public defender said. "There is no question about her age and we can prove she will not be 17 until April 1.

"The law is perfectly plain in this case and there is no reason to make an exception here. The law states cases against persons under 16 years of age, shall be tried in juvenile court. The other courts have no jurisdiction."

At the same time the district attorney was determined, he said, to bring the confessed mother killer into police court Thursday.

If the girl is taken into police court and there her age determined as under 18 the case might be then referred to the superior court, meaning Dorothy would receive a long prison sentence if convicted.

Should Defender Egan win his fight to keep the case in juvenile court the matricide defendant, if she is found guilty, would be sent to the girl's school at Ventura and kept there until 23 years of age.

Plans for the defense of "jazz baby Dot" were closely guarded.

"There will be plenty of time to discuss the girl's defense after her preliminary hearing," Egan said. "I refuse to reveal any plans for her defense until after Thursday."

However, it was learned that the girl's family history was being closely investigated. Her father denied there had been any evidence of insanity or mental disorders in his family or in that of Mrs. Ellingson, but Earl, brother of the girl, who with her father became reconciled with Dorothy after her breakdown at the coroners inquest Saturday, declared "mental illness" might be Dorothy's defense.

"I have been told that Dorothy may be suffering from 'mental illness'," he said. "If that is the case I believe it can account for her shooting her mother, I think it is only fair and square that it should be determined whether Dorothy is normal. She has always appeared normal to me but physicians may believe otherwise. I am not an expert in these lines and know nothing about what the doctors call "mental cases."

Dorothy spent a "weepy" Sunday. For the first time in months her Sabbath Day was quiet, far from Chinatown's noodle palaces and down town "jazz joints."

Invited to attend religious service in the prison, Dorothy refused and remained tear-eyed and sullen at the side of Policewoman Katherine Sullivan. From a distance she heard the singing of "Rock of Ages," and other hymns, and the sound of voices raised in prayer.

Bowed with grief, the father and brother visited the girl during the day. Their greeting to the "daughter of jazz" was almost formal and there was not even a handshake between the trio.

Dorothy asked her father to press and patch a small hole in her "extra street suit" and her brother, at the girl's request, promised to bring her a copy of Tennyson's poems to the prison.

"Earl and I will do what we can," said Ellingson, "but we insist Dorothy tell the truth. We believe she has done so up to this time and during her trial we want the whole truth without her attempting to hide anything."

Lord, the banjo played betrayed to police as Dorothy's friend thru loving entries in her little red diary, was unable to furnish bail in the sum of $20,000. In his jail cell he declared Dorothy told him she was 19 years old and she looked and acted the part," Lord said.

"Later her mother told me Dorothy was only 16," declared the banjoist, "and when I heard that I dropped the girl completely and went to Los Angeles. I wrote Dorothy from there—just a friendly note, and I did not, as police charge, invite her to come down there on 'wild gin parties'."

Arraigned in police court, Lord's preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 29.

PLOT EXPLOSION UPON BATTLESHIP

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A plot to blow up a British battleship at Portsmouth, England's chief naval base, was alleged today by police with the arrest of five men and one woman.

The Evening News today said that the alleged plot contemplated the blowing up of several English warships. The two men detained are petty officers, it said. The News declared that Irish extremists were responsible for the alleged plot and that their hope was to provoke trouble between England and the Irish Free State.

The woman under arrest was mentioned in several letters, according to the police.

An official statement issued by Scotland Yard said that six arrests had been made under the official secrecy.

The statement said those under arrest were connected with the Irish Republican organization.

The names of two of the suspects became known when J. J. O'Leary and J. D. McGough were arraigned charged with violating the official secrets act. They were remanded or a week.

Two of the men in custody are said to have naval ranking. The other three are reported to be Irish.

The arrests resulted from reports that government naval secrets were leaking out of Portsmouth. Police for some time have been, it was said, intercepting letters passing between reputed Irish Republicans and residents of London and Portsmouth.

Twenty-four police officers took part in the raids which netted the six persons. The raids covered a large area of London as well as Portsmouth.

DAILY GREETING TO OUR READERS

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold. —Proverbs 22.1.

The worst effect of sin is within, and is manifest, not in poverty and pain and bodily defacement—but in the discrowned faculties, the unworthy love, the low ideal, the brutalized and enslaved spirit.—Edwin H. Chapin.

WOMEN LEGISLATORS IN NEBRASKA

Nebraska has fallen in line. It has elected women to its Legislature. This is the first time that fair ones have been represented in the lawmaking body at Lincoln. The three women members were recognized by resolutions of greeting from the men members.

Women in legislative bodies are not uncommon now. The states are assuming the same attitude toward according women a fair show in governmental positions and activities. There is no question as to fitness of women to hold important official positions and to function in governmental activities. Their talents are to be drawn upon, as are the talents of men. There is to be a more complete ignoring of sex in the official life of the country in future, as women turn more and more to public service. The cause of good government will not be hurt by this. On the contrary it should be helped. By putting aside sex distinctions, electors will be enabled to choose from the best talent of both sexes. The public service thus should be elevated in tone and in efficiency.

Moderation makes for health of body and peace of mind.

LEGISLATURE'S WORK IS IMPORTANT

There will be the usual number of factional struggles of the California Legislature. There will be much sparring and maneuvering among rival political camps. The people are not deeply concerned as to these things, except as they may influence the policies and methods of the Legislature itself.

But the people are interested in having a snappy, business-like session of the lawmakers. The people yearn for sound laws, economical budget and all-round efficiency in fostering good government without extravagance or waste. This Legislature, like those which have gone before, must make its own record—establish its own status. It must determine in, by and for itself whether it is to be thoroughly representative of the people and sincerely devoted to their interests, or whether it shall tread paths that lie far distant from what the people want, need and have right to expect.

ARAB WISDOM

The Arab gets his education in conversation with his elders. He acquires his philosophy in meditation in the desert wastes, with sand and sky as his founts of wisdom.

Yet the common wisdom of the desert man, given expression in the proverbs of Araby, is not distinct from that of other people. There is so little real wisdom that all peoples have found it, but each has a different way of expressing it.

Here are some Arab proverbs:

It is only a wise man who despises himself, it is only a fool who trusts his own judgment.

POEMS THAT LIVE

NIGHTFALL IN DORDRECHT

The mill goes toiling slowly round
With steady and solemn creak,
And my little one hears in the kindly sound
The voice of the old mill speak.
While round and round those big white wings
Grimly and ghost-like creep,
My little one hears that old mill sing:
"Sleep little tulip, sleep!"

The sails are reefed and the nets are drawn,
And over his pot of beer
The fisher against the morrow's dawn
Lustily maketh cheer.
He mocks at the winds that caper along,
From the far-off clam'rous deep;
But we, we love their lullaby song,
Of 'Sleep, little tulip, sleep!"

Old dog Fritz in slumber sound
Groans on the stony mart!
To-morrow how proudly he'll trot you round
Hitched to the new milk-cart!
And you shall help me blanket the kine
And fold the gentle sheep,
And set the herring a soak in brine,—
And now, little tulip, sleep!

A Dream—one comes to blanket the eyes,
That wearily droop and sink;
While the old mill buffets the frowning skies,
And scolds at the stars that blink.
Over your face the misty wings
Of that beautiful Dream—one sweep,
And rocking your cradle, she softly sings
"Sleep, little tulip, sleep!"

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

tion of an extra amount of sugar, which is not only unnecessary but actually produces an almost sickening flavor. You will find that any of these fruits may be prepared in the same way as the prunes, without the addition of any sugar. They may be served with a small amount of cream if desired.

STEWED FRUITS make an excellent desert, if one is desired, but you must see to it that this is not added to a meal which has already made you feel full. The addition of this kind of dessert should not be made if it causes you to feel stuffy, as it will set up digestive disturbance no matter how perfect its combination may be with the other food.

ICE CREAM is generally made with about the same mixture as puddings, namely: eggs, cream, corn-starch, sugar and usually some fruit flavoring. If made this way it is certainly not a wholesome food. However, it may be made at home from a combination of pure cream and eggs, with the addition of only a small amount of sugar. A small dish of this dessert may be used by the average person occasionally without fear of harm, but there is always a tendency to chill the stomach and retard digestion unless the ice cream is eaten very slowly.

CUSTARDS may be used as a dessert if made properly, or thay can be used as the main part of a proteid meal. Although it is not ordinarily advisable to mix two kinds of proteids together, if eggs and milk are properly mixed before cooking the proteid elements in the two seem to combine freely. I do not find this to be the case where they are used uncooked. No corn-starch or sugar should be added to this custard, but a few raisins may be used if desired, in order to impart a slightly sweet flavor. In place of the raisins a small amount of lemon juice can be added, and beaten up vigorously with the egg and milk. The custard should be cooked in a slow oven, otherwise the egg and milk will separate, but it is well to have the dish warm in which the custard is cooked before it is put in the oven, so that the cooking will start more quickly. If the egg and milk separate before the cooking is completed, the custard may be taken out of the oven and beaten up again. It might even be necessary to do this two or three times during the cooking, in order to cook thoroughly through.

What Editors Are Saying

AMERICA AND THE WORLD COURT—San Diego Union

Dr. Levermore will come one step closer to the second $50,000 of the $100,000 peace prize he won from Mr. Bok last year, if the Congress of the United States is moved to accept the proposal just placed before the Senate by Senator Willis of Ohio. Senator Willis has introduced a resolution for American entry into the World Court of International justice, with reservations similar to those first set forth by President Harding. Dr. Levermore's prize-winning peace plan embodied practically the same modifications.

The Bok award specified, you remember, that the second half of the $100,000 prize should be given the winning author only after the Congress of the United States should have accepted the plan in substance.

The introduction of the Willis resolution as an administration measure is a distinct advance, but the resolution's emphasis on reservations indicates how distrustful the American attitude toward the League and all its creatures continues to be. The principal reservation—that the United States shall not be bound by any advisory opinions of the court—is wholly unnecessary and meaningless. Dr. Levermore no doubt included it in his plan for the same reason that led President Harding to emphasize it—as a sop to allay the suspicion that American public opinion inherited from the Wilson regime.

As a matter of fact, advisory opinions of the World Court are rendered only upon request of the council or assembly of the League of Nations; only by courtesy of the League organizations could the United States get an advisory opinion from the court, if one were wanted; and when such an opinion were given, it would not be binding on anybody—in the League or out of it.

Even in the matter of formal judgments, the jurisdiction of the court includes only those cases submitted with the consent of the interested parties, cases specified by certain treaties, and cases between those nations which have agreed to compulsory jurisdiction by the court.

The United States might join the League of Nations, its council, assembly, its court, and everything else in sight, and yet never submit a single case for adjudication by the court, nor be bound by any opinion handed down by the court. The court does not go out of its way to interfere in the international affairs of the nations, but considers only those questions in which its arbitration is actually sought by the parties. Many of the leading powers, including Great Britain and France, have not yet agreed in advance to any compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court. Fears that the United States will be "forced" to submit to any such jurisdiction are foolish and mostly artificial.

The United States must either finally enter into close relations with the League of Nations—via the World Court or otherwise—or it must finally abandon any purpose of being effective in the cause of peace among world powers. The latter alternative is unthinkable. We might as well forget the foolish fears that delay the former development.

Senator Willis' resolution—reservations and all—is a step in the right direction.

REMODEL HOUSE TO QUIET GHOSTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—The ghosts that walk by night in the old Surratt house, at No. 604 H-st, Northwest, where John Wilkes Booth, the mad actor, and his co-conspirators plotted the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, are to be driven out, and the picturesque old building will be remodeled into a restaurant, with a modern front to hide the outline of the haunted house.

When Irvin Swartzman of Alexandria, who owns the property, finishes the remodeling, the historic house will lose much of its interest to hundreds of sightseers, and neighbors will be convinced that the last of the weird tappings of ghostly fingers of the men and women who killed Lincoln have been heard in the little parlor on the second floor.

Before the Civil war flamed out, Mrs. Mary Surratt, a widow from Surrattsville, Md., moved to Washington and took the house on H-st as a rooming and boarding house; and it was there, according to the testimony given at her trial later, that Booth, his mind twisted and distorted by hatred of the man who had held the Union together, came on the afternoon before he killed Lincoln and arranged with Mrs. Surratt to provide him and other conspirators with horses for his flight through Maryland and Virginia, ended when he was shot and killed by Boston Corbett, after being cornered in a barn.

Mrs. Surratt, with full knowledge of the plot against the president's life, left immediately in a buggy for Surrattsville, her former home, to make the necessary arrangements. She was accompanied by Lewis Weikman, one of her boarders, whose testimony afterward convicted her and led to her execution.

And the next night Booth killed Lincoln as he sat in the presidential box at Ford's theatre

Days before the assassination, Booth, Mrs. Surratt and her son, John Surratt, had also sat in the house on H-st and evolved a wild plan to kidnap Lincoln, but Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered the Confederate cause to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, and it was too late. It was then that Booth, bitter at the loss of the southern cause, made up his mind to kill Lincoln

From the time of Lincoln's assassination the house has gradually fallen into decay. Families moved in, but soon moved out; and more and more the rumor spread that the ghost of Mrs. Surratt flitted through the murky interior, passing through closed doors that creaked, and tapping on window panes.

More than two years ago the steps which led up to the second story fell down, and since then the house has been a tumbling, grim reminder of the most tragic event in American history.

"BRITISH LABOR PARTY RECEIVED SETBACK, BUT IS BOUND TO GROW," SAYS EDITOR

"The absurdities of their Russian treaty negotions were mainly responsible for the defeat of the labor government in England." So declares Sir Campbell Stuart, K. B. E., director of London Times, who came to the United States recently. It is widely believed that had the labor government followed the advice of Mr. Snowden, their chancellor of the exchequer, they would never have made their astonishing, foolish Russian blunder. But American observers must not think that because labor has received a setback they are a thoroughly discredited party. The movement is bound to grow in strength, and some day we shall certainly have the Labor party in power as well as in office," he continued.

"Naturally finance is a subject which looms large in the minds of the British public. They know that it is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and that it is very easy to mishandle. Because of the ignorance of financial questions which prevails among labor men, they are apt to s all sorts of wild things without knowing the import of what they are saying, or being able to measure its effects. Thus the opposition in the last Parliament has frequently been able to pour ridicule upon those labor projects which in any way involve questions of finance. Some of the more far-seeing of the labor leaders realize this, and are very anxious to pursue a moderate program. The danger really comes from the noisy, wild men of the party; but unless I misread the situation entirely, the great moderate element of the Labor party will find means for short-circuiting, in one way or another, the activities of this group. The average Britis vohter is opposed to extremism in all its forms. It is important to realize this in order to understand the tendency of modern British political evolution.

Expect Gold Standard Back

"There are high hopes in England that we shall be able to return to the gold standard within the next 18 months, but of course much depends upon what happens in the United States. If America enjoys a further burst of prosperity the rest of the world cannot fail to gain, directly or indirectly, for it would facilitate the return of Europe to the gold standard, which, as you know, is just as important to the United States as it is to Europe. I have noticed that America is taking more interest in foreign securities, particularly European. I hope this will continue, for it is a step in the right direction for America to relieve London of some part of the enormous capital demands which are made upon it.

"It is also a wise and proper use to make of America's gold reserve and credit-creating power to make loans for reproductive purposes abroad. The embargo on the export of gold from Great Britain will expire at the end of 1925. It is hoped that it will not be necessary to renew it. Many factors, of course, enter into the problem of whether or not it will be safe to dispense with the embargo then; but, as I have said, more depends upon the course of economic conditions in America than upon conditions elsewhere. There will certainly be no fresh inflation in Great Britain to postpone the return to a free gold market."

WOMAN LOCATED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19. — A nationwide search for Miss Marget Lydia Boyd, 34, a Canadian, who mysteriously dropped from sight at Redondo Beach near here on Nov. 16, 1923, was believed by Sheriff Traeger to have been cleared up today when he received a message from Sheriff Hewitt of San Angelo, Texas, asking if the woman was still wanted as he believed he knew where she may be found.

Sheriff Traeger immediately wired back details concerning the woman's disappearance with instructions "to find her" A reward of $250 was offered for news of her whereabouts.

BRIDE OF PUPIL DEFIES VILLAGE

CANBY, Ore., Jan. 19—Mrs. Rosamond Lee Shaw Samuelson, Canby high school teacher, ousted because she married one of her pupils, is going to stick it out with her husband, despite "what other folks think."

This militant little woman, who is about 10 years older than her 16-year-old husband, LeRoy Samuelson, doesn't think it is any of the school board's business whether she marries a high school boy or not.

Though the school board voted to oust her, she remained in her classroom until the town marshal ordered her to go. It was the domestic science class.

COUGAR KILLS BOY IN FIERCE COMBAT

WENACHEE, Wash., Jan. 19—Will a cougar attack a human being?

This moot question, subject of dispute between woodmen and hunters, seems in a fair way to have been definitely answered in the affirmative with the death near here recently of James Felhaber, 13-year-old orphan boy.

The boy's body was found at the bottom of a cliff, with unmistakable signs that he had been clawed and chewed to death by a wild animal. Above the cliff were found blood stains, bits of the lad's torn clothing and a blood smeared jack-knife.

Young Falhaber had gone out in the snow-covered territory between Brewster and Okanogan to bring home some cattle. He did not return. Charles Shuttleworth, Canadian cougar hunter, led a party in search of the boy, came upon the grim reminders of the tragedy and finally located the body. It is believed the lad was set upon by the cougar and attempted to fight the animal off with his jack-knife. The blood on the knife indicated that the boy had plunged it into the cougar's stomach.

Hunters, accompanied by dogs, set out in search of the man-eater and a few days later sighted a huge cat, measuring about 10 feet in length. It was a female, with two kittens. The hunters reported that the animal had refused to "tree." They were unable to track the cougar for any distance due to the heavy fall of snow and huge drifts in the woods.

WANTS TO MEET NURMI AT 10,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Barring the use of a first class horse whip, the only possible way to give Nurmi a beating was uncovered today with a defi from Willie Ritola for a meeting at 10,000 meters which happens to be Ritala's distance to the literal fraction of an inch.

The latter, it seems, aired his views on the subject following his noble effort yesterday breaking the world's record for five miles on Saturday night and the immediate reaction of officials of the Finnish-American A. C. was to open immediate negotiations for the big race. It is almost certain to take place on a local track some time next month.

"I don't want to take anything away from Nurmi's wonderful performances since coming to this country," Ritola said, in effect, "but I must point out that I have been given none the best of it in meeting him in comparatively short races. I knew I didn't have a chance when I went to the mark with him at 3000 meters at the municipal games. The distance is far too short for me because I lack Nurmi's speed. Unless he is off form, which he never seems to be, I haven't much of a look-in with him at 5000 meters, either. Double that distance, however, and I think I will be able to give Nurmi all the running he wants."

This is no idle jest. It is the one distance at which Nurmi has yet to convince the doubters that he stands supreme to all others. Previous to July 6, 1924 he held the world's record of 30:401-5 for the distance but on the date mentioned Ritola stepped out and won the 10,000 metre race at the Olympic games by all of 300 yards, bettering Nurmi's mark by around 12 seconds, which is quite a few.

JEM DRISCOLL ILL

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 19.—Jem Driscoll, one of the greatest featherweight boxers of all times, is critically ill with pneumonia, it developed here today. The former pugilist is fighting the greatest battle of his career, a fight for his life, and the attending physicians are grave over the outcome.

Driscoll, having established himself as the greatest boxer in Europe, went to America a decade or more ago and quickly demonstrated his superiority over men in his class there. Altho past his prime at the time he defeated some of the best men in the lightweight and featherweight classes, including Abe Attell, then featherweight champion. It was not a title fight, however.

PUZZLES ARE PART OF LATIN COURSE

AUBURN, N. Y., Jan. 19—Condition: High school students rushing to take Latin, and studying it for hours.

Result, High standings.

Cause: Latin cross-word puzzles.

Recognition of the cross-word puzzle as a medium of educational value today became an established fact when Latin cross-word puzzles appeared in classes at high school for the first time. Adoption of the new method of instruction for this subject was hailed by students as a revolutionary step.

Should the new idea prove effective in raising the scholastic standard in Latin, the cross-word puzzles may be adopted for use in other foreign languages, it was stated.

The system in use, one teacher explained, is distribution of puzzles to students to fill out with Latin words. The meaning of the word in English is given, and it is the task of the student to ascertain the meaning of the word in Latin.

Some of the puzzles are constructed largely of simple words, despite the fact that they have a complicated appearance. In order to complete the work on one of the lessons an hour usually is necessary. Thus teachers are sure that their pupils are spending the required amount of study on the subject.

The Latin cross-word twisters are solved much the same as are the English puzzles. Each white space represents a Latin letter.

Teachers impress upon the students that they must not spend too much time on the larger words at first. The pupils are advised to get the small words, and these will give leads for the big ones.

UNITED THEATRE

Scene from "K" the Unknown

Got the blues? Well, drop into the United Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday where theyre playing "His Darker Self," and lose them. There's a comedy that will delight your heart. It's Lloyd Hamilton's first full length picture and it's a side splitter.

The inimitable "Ham" has the part of Claude Sappington, an amateur sleuth who disguises as a darky to catch a murderer. The murderer is caught all right and Hamilton has a jolly time in burnt cork and negro habiliments. The picture is full of action and funny situations, with just enough pathos to serve as a foil for the humor.

Judging by this pictre, Lloyd Hamilton is destined to join the ranks of Chaplin and Lloyd in making feature comedies. Hamiltons' talents are aptly suited to this field. He is equally comical in both white or black face and his droll pantomime is shown to the best advantage. Tom OMalley as Uncle Eph and Lucille La Verne as Aunt Lucy do some expert character work. Sally Long is both clever and beautiful to look upon as Claude Sappington's sweetheart, and Tom Wilson is excellent as the bellicose Bill Jackson. Others in the cast who deserve praise are: Irma Harrison, Edna May Eper, Kate Bruce and Warren Cook.

The picture, based on an original story by Arthur Caesar, called "Mammy's Boy," was directed by Jack Noble. It's the greatest little laugh provoker we've seen in a long time.

15 RACES CARDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Fifteen races are on Paavo Nurmi's "future book" for the remainder of the indoor track campaign, it developed today. Most of them are in and around New York, the Finn being averse to traveling far from the Atlantic seaboard.

In addition to tentative engagements on local tracks, Nurmi's list includes possible appearances at the Boston A. A. games, Jan. 31; military games at Buffalo Feb. 12; American Legion games, Portland, Me., Feb. 13; Georgetown games, Washington, D. C., Feb. 21; Johns Hopkins games, Baltimore, Feb. 23, and the national championships at Louisville, Feb. 28.

STECHER TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Joe Stecher, former world's champion wrestler, will be the main attraction tonight at another local revival of wrestling under the auspices of Jack Curley. He will meet Dick Lutze, former Notre Dame athlete, in a bout that is expected to start the ex-champion on the way to a championship meeting with Wayne (Big) Munn, the sensation of the hour since his defeat of "Strangler" Lewis.

EVER SEE A WASHTUB IN A BEAUTY SHOP?

You never saw a washtub in a beauty shop because washtubs and beauty don't go together. In fact the beauty shop is often called upon to smooth out the wrinkles from washday worries. But you can escape them both—the wrinkles and the worry—by using our Rough Dry. Your bundle is carefully washed and all flat work ironed. The remaining articles are starched and dried ready to iron. And the cost is very moderate. Send us your bundle this week.

BAPTIST WOMAN EVANGELIST HERE

At the afternoon service at the Bulgin tabernacle, which was filled to overflowing, Mrs. J. S. Norvell, noted Baptist evangelist and returned missionary, was discovered in the tent and brot to the platform, where she was introduced to the audience. She was called on to lead in prayer, after which, at Dr. Bulgin's request, she made a brief talk.

She said there was a time when, greatly prejudiced by slanderous stories concerning the doctor, she would have nothing to do with him, but having become convinced that he was a man of noble character and blameless life, she not only thoroly believed that he was a true man of God and a great preacher, but she became one of the evangelistic staff, in the great fight for God and against all kinds of evil in Oklahoma City, helping to gain great spiritual victories against rum and unrighteousness in that state. She had to accompany him in his movements about Oklahoma to keep him from being shot. No southerner will shoot at a man when accompanied by a lady. She has a bullet that was fired at him.

Next Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Norvell will address a mass meeting of women at the First Christian church.

Dr Bulgin's text yesterday afternoon was from Job 14:14—"If a man die shall he live again?"

"The answer to this question, yes, a man shall live again in heaven or in hell and this is the biggest fact in the universe," said the evangelist.

"The best and only definition of life is that it is something that goes out of a fellow and leaves him dead.

"There is no transmuting of one species of life into another. The human race will not descend from a monkey. Each type came from God."

Bulgin and Gates, one of his helpers, were lost on the San Bernardino desert. Gates succumbed, but with the suspenders of both, Bulgin dragged Gates 30 miles. He himself began to have mental trouble. He sought something to stabilize his mind and saw a little violet growing near him. That it should be able to live under such circumstances gave him courage and revived him.

"We have a mind, a subconscious mind and a superconscious mind. We think with the mind, with the subconscious mind we dream and with the superconscious mind we commune with God.

"Living things do not respond to imaginary things. The pumpkin seed in the dark cave reaches out to real water, to real earth and to real light. The soul reaches out to God. 'As the heart panteth after the water brooks so panteth my soul after thee, oh, God!'

"God does not lie to the birds that instinctively fly north in the spring and south in the fall. God does not lie to honey bee, nor will he lie to me, who was made by him, for him and who will rest only in him.

"The dying McKinley believed there is a future home of the soul when he requested that they sing 'The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere.'

"God does not lie to the 80,000 seeds that fall into the earth in the closing months of the year. In the spring they come forth in their own particular garments.

"The brain is not mind, it does not secrete thot. It is the ego that thinks. Take away my eyes, ears, hands and feet, and the ego still exists. The brain is only a part of me as is any other member of the body. Every seven years we are charged physically but the personality remains.

"The rich man could think in hell but his brain was in the earth.

"Life here is inadequate for justice. The Busch gardens in Pasadena cost more than a million dollars and are marvelously beautiful. But there are hundreds of homes where there are penury and suffering because the men of those homes gave their money to Busch. Another world is necessary for administering justice."

Bulgin said he had time to give only half his sermon on this subject and would give the remainder some other time.

MANY ATTEND PLAY

A large attendance turned out for the presentation of the Fullerton J. C. sophomore play. The cast was made up of members of the sophomore class; and the presentation made a big "hit."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

There were few speedier men in the Texas league last season than Outfielder "Chink" Taylor, drafted from Beaumont this year by the Chicago Cubs. Bill Killifer has a penchant for Texas league ball players as is evidenced by the fact that the majority of his players have at some time or other worn a Wichita Falls uniform. Taylor's chances for remaining under the big tent are regarded as exceptionally bright since Killifer already has a number of young gardeners on his roster, none of whom is any too certain of landing a permanent berth.

Taylor's greatest asset is his fleetness of foot, though he is no slouch when it comes to peppering the pill. Last season he rounded out the campaign with a mark of .324 for 146 games, garnering 182 blows out of 562 trips to the plate. Among the 182 safeties were 37 doubles, 13 triples and 12 home runs. He scored 106 runs and batted in 93 others.

He had an average of .810 in base stealing, being nipped only four times out of 21 attempts. That he did not have more thefts to his credit is due solely to the fact that Beaumont was a "hit and run" club. He led the league in this department in 1920 and has always been among the top-notchers.

Taylor played the majority of his games for Beaumont in left field, compiling an average of .959. He was second in the league in collecting fly balls in that pasture, sparing 308 in 134 games.

Taylor has been in the Texas league off and on for five years. Originally, he was the property of Fort Worth, but was turned over to the West Texas league for more seasoning. When he went back to the Texas loop, it was as a member of the Beaumont club.

He bats and throws left handed.

Out of respect for "Pop" Geers, grand old man of the light harness game who died last year, the heads of the Grand Circuit paused in their annual business meeting and paid tribute to him. A motion carried that called for those present to stand silently for a minute in his honor. But it was several minutes, however, before many of the older members could bring their thoughts back to the present, clear their throats of the suspicious lumps, and resume the business affairs of the circuit.

Joie Ray, veteran American distance runner, now takes rank with William Jennings Bryan.

Bryan still believes that he could win the presidential nomination if he went after it. Joie Ray still believes he could beat Paavo Nurmi, Finnish running wonder, despite the superb class Numi showed in setting a world's record while beating Ray and the field in his first appearance in the U. S.

Nurmi's showing in his first appearance in this country proves that if you have the stuff and the heart to carry on, conditions mean little in athletics.

Nurmi was a stranger in indoor running when he came to the U. S. His first efforts at training were disappointing to him. The hard track stiffened his muscles. Mind conquered matter, however. He set himself to his task. When he got away for his first race it was Nurmi, Finland's hero and the wonder runner in action, and not Nurmi, novice at the indoor game. He just set himself to his task.

DICK SMITH MAY BE OREGON COACH

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19.—Stunned by reports from Eugene that Dick Smith, attorney, who has been away from active coaching for 20 years, is to be made head football coach at Oregon, Portland alumni of the state university today were laying plans to urge selection of a man thoughly versed in football sentiment generally crystallized in favor of Edward J. "Slip" Madigan, brilliant mentor of St. Mary's college at Oakland, Calif. Oregon fans who saw Madigan's teams perform here the past two years, acclaim him as one of the coming coaches in the country.

A meeting of the Oregon athletic committee was scheduled to take place late this afternoon on the Eugene campus. It is believed the committee will be urged by Virgil Earl, director of athletics, to name Smith as coach. Since 1904, when Smith coached Oregon, he has not coached a college football team, other than assisting at times at Oregon in popping up the varsity for important games.

Portland alumni assembled today in small groups and were outspoken in their conviction that Oregon must secure a coach who thoronghly understands the intricate modern game, if the state university is to successfully compete with California, Stanford and other coast conference teams.

They point to Madigan or Nibs Price at California as men who have the class to cope with rival coaches.

PROSPECT OF PEACE BRIGHTER IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19.—Prospects for peace were believed brighter here today after the defeat of Chi Hsieh Yuan, formerly military governor of Kiang Su, by Lu Yung Hsiang, Peking peace commissioner, in a battle engaging 15,000 troops near Chin Kiang.

Nineteen foreign vessels remained watchful in the harbor here, however.

Lu's vigorous attack resulted in the capture of Chin Kiang, and the rebels were reported completely routed. The defeated forces were moving toward Chang Chow, looting as they fled. Chi has drawn up his reserve line at Soo Chow in hopes of staying the troops of the Peking provisional government.

In the foreign colony, it was believed that Chow could not forestall the collapse of his army.

SHIP TOTAL LOSS

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19.—One ship is believed to be a total loss and another is being repaired today as a result of a heavy week-end storm off the north Pacific coast.

The little French sailing ship, Raita, is thought to be a total loss after pounding upon the rocky shore of the west coast of Vancouver island. The captain, mate and crew abandoned the ship in a life boat, with heavy seas running. The Raita had been undergoing repairs at Winslow, Wash., and left Saturday with a cargo of lumber for Tahiti.

The lightship at the mouth of the Columbia river is being refitted with moorage chains at Astoria today. A 75-mile gale tore the ship loose from its moorings. It will not be ready for duty until Tuesday night, it was reported.

STOCKS FAIL TO CONTINUE RALLY

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Stocks with few exceptions failed to continue today the rally which occupied the most of the Friday and Saturday sessions of the market. Trading was devoid of special feature, with the possible exception of the 15 point jump in Nasn Motors and the activity in American Beet Sugar, following the publication of a report on the financial condition of the company which practically promised dividents on the stock in the not distant future.

Bullish forces had all of the "breaks" in the industrial and commercial developments of the day, added to which was an enthusiastically buoyant grain market with May wheat above $1.90 a bushel; July wheat up nearly four cents and rice up four cents on the Chicago board. Steel operations showed another increase; copper metal was marked up to 15⅛s a pound; sterling exchange made further improvements.

Industrials were marked up sharply in the first hour, with U. S. Steel strongly in the lead. The stock sold up to 126¼, nearly one point above Saturday's close. But the heavy profit taking sales poured into the market all day and rallies which were attempted in different parts of the speculative list made very little progress because of this liquidation.

The motor equipment and other of the specialty stocks which have been prominent of late dropped almost entirely from view.

Stocks sales in the first three hours aggregated 854,000 shares, which is considerably below the volume of the early sessions of last week.

Good cash buying of industrial and railroad stocks in odd and full lots was reported by New York and out of town commission houses, a fact to which bearish traders owe a good part of their unwillingness to "pound" the market as they otherwise might.

Mexican Seaboard lost four points on announcement that the directors had passed the quarterly dividend. Mexican Seaboard's problem is one of local production and has no relationship to that of oil consumption. Atlantic Refining led with a gain of about three points and slightly better prices were secured today by Shell Union, Simms, Pan-Americans, Pacific Oil, Skelly and other of the popular independent oil shares.

A movement in universal Pipe sent the pfd stock u pfour points and the common two. Utah securities led the coppers with a rise to 51¼, the highest in its history. Gen. Motors topped its best previous record on this movement. International Nickel was in good demand at slightly higher prices.

Stock sales today 1,741,000 shares; bonds $13,144,000.

BEAUMONT'S STORY, "DIXIE," ON SCREEN

"The Dixie Handicap," Reginald Barker's new production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which is coming to the California for Wednesday and Thursday, is a screen version of Gerald Beaumont's "Dixie," a story that appeared in the Red Book magazine in 1924.

In the picture the leading role, that of Judge Roberts, is played by Frank Keenan. Claire Windsor appears as his daughter. Lloyd Hughes is the "Dancin' Kid," while others in the cast include John Sainpolis, Otis Harlan, Otto Hoffman, Edward Martindel and Ruth King.

Waldemar Young made the screen adaptation.

SHOT EIGHT TIMES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Police today investigated the finding of the bullet riddled body of a Japanese near a San Francisco golf course.

The man, believed to be Shigeo Furukawa, had been struck on the head and then shot eight times at close range.

The authorities were inclined to believe Furukawa was murdered as a result of a feud between gamblers in Los Angeles, San Francisco and other Pacific coast cities. Two Japanese were slain recently in Los Angeles in the same fashion.

Clippings from Seattle and Tacoma newspapers were found in the slain man's pockets.

An efficient health department is of more importance than an efficient fire department.

Sunshine and fresh air are two very good doctors; paving and drainage, two very able assistants.

SOMETHING NEW IN LOVE TRIANGLE

A motion picture story of a decidedly different sort is promised for the California Theatre where King Vidor's "Wife of the Centaur" opens for today and tomorrow.

Adapted from the sensational novel by Cyril Hume, the picture tells, rather than the typical love story, the story of a man with many loves; a man who hates himself for his infidelity, but who can not resist temptation.

That every man, like the centaur of mythology, is "half man and half beast" is the theory on which Hume based his story. The "centaur" played by John Gilbert, is a romantic, picturesque figure, in which conflicting emotions are always struggling. He holds a high idealistic love for one woman, but cannot resist the attraction of others.

Vidor has filmed the story, it is reported, with remarkable fidelity to the book, and has given it a screen translation with many striking scenes and contrasts.

Eleanor Boardman and Aileen Pringle are cast in the leading feminine roles, as the two women with whom the "centaur" is in love.

The supporting cast, which is an unusually large one, contains the names of such well-known players as William Haines, Betty Francisco, Philo McCullough, Jacquelin Gadsdon, Kate Price, Kate Lester, Lincoln Stedman, William Orlamond and others.

"Wife of the Centaur" was adapted to the screen by Douglas Doty. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering.

A Mermaid Comedy, "Wedding Showers" with Lige Conley in the leading roles, and Educational Film completes the picture program.

George E. Turner, concert organist will play another of those popular musical novelties, "Melody in F."

IT CAN'T BE DONE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—At best, it is a heart-rending task to break into the movies but when complications with an alleged theft to pay expenses are brought up it is impossible, according to Mabel Moore of Virginia. Miss Moore was held in the city jail here today awaiting the arrival of Baltimore officers to return her to the eastern city where she was accused of selling two diamond rings said to have been purchased on credit. The money was used by the girl to come to Los Angeles in search of film work, it was charged.
