FINANCES IN BEST SHAPE IN CITY'S HISTORY

ANOTHER BIG CROWD AT REVIVAL

Largest Number Yet Hit Sawdust Trail at End of Great Sermon

About 2,300 people last night heard Dr. E. J. Bulgin at the big tabernacle at Claudina and Wilhelmina-sts, preach on whether or not Moses was scientific.

His text tonight is "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" or the part that a Christian should take in the world.

Saturday night he will preach on "Neighborhood Scraps," and a special invitation was extended every man who has been having trouble with his mother-in-law.

Three services are announced for Sunday morning, afternoon and evening.

Several selections were given by the choir and the audience, and Gourley played a stanza of "A New Name in Glory." Frank Leonard, bass singer at the First Christian Church, sang "Oh Make Me Pure."

Carter announced that the high school boys band would give a short concert tonight at the tabernacle beginning at 7 o'clock.

He also announced Mrs. Sexton's death the previous night.

Visitors were present from Santa Ana and Highland Park, and the Highland Park people sang: "When We All Get to Heaven," the audience joining in the last chorus. Prayer was led by the Highland Park Presbyterian minister.

Carter read a letter from Cleve Sedoris of Santa Ana to Dr. Bulgin commending the latter on the work that he is doing in Anaheim. He said that Dr. Bulgin had received a number of letters which were not signed, and that these had not been read. Bulgin said nobody but a moral coward would send an unsigned letter. He said that all who wished their names to be held in confidence say so, and it would be done.

Rev. V. K. Ledbetter of the Calvary Baptist church announced the prayer services which he said were growing in interest and attendance. He said that there is not a demon in hell big enough to stop the power of prayer.

Bulgin was assisted by Carter in the reading lesson, Bulgin reading prophecies from the works of Mises and Carter reading their fulfillments in New Testament. Moses the Woman, the Lamb of God and Shiloh, the last Jewish lawgiver, and there is no place on earth today as big as Orange-co that is ruled by the Jews. Why? Because the Word of God has said that it shall not be so. They rejected Christ, their last law-giver, and today they are without a sacrifice and without a Messiah.

Carter sang "A Cross Upon a Lonely Hill."

Bulgin said that he was in Los Angeles yesterday and met a man who was going to address the Los Angeles C. of C. The man was talking to him about Anaheim. Bulgin told the man that newspaper reports that the people of Anaheim are flying at each other's throats are a bunch of lies, that Anaheim is peaceful and asked the man if he would tell the Commercial club that. The man replied that he would.

Bulgin said that he had decided to pay no more attention to the attacks made on him by the Bulletin, that he had defended his character already, and that he did not believe that there is a man or woman in Anaheim that believes the lies that newspaper publishes anyway, an dthat he felt that the best way to uphold the dignity of the ministry is simply to ignore it. This brot a cheer from the whole tabernacle.

Miss Randall, of Santa Ana, a mission worker, led in prayer.

He discussed Moses as a prophet, as a teacher, as an emancipator, as a legislator, as a doctor, a scientist, as a lawyer and as a type of Christ. He said that a revival of Bible reading would knock the pegs from underneath the higher critics, that those who criticise it most are the most profoundly ignorant of it. If you are an honest doubter and want to believe the Bible read the Bible, was his advice. The 20th chapter of Exodus he held out as enough to knock the pegs from underneath infidelity. Read that and then explain where Moses got that law if he didn't get it from God.

Believing Moses and the Prophets won't save you, but if you believe them, you'll believe Christ. The greatest and most damning sin is not a sin against the law, but the sin of unbelief which is a sin

AWARD JUDGMENT TO BANK OF ORANGE

Despite the plea of Forrest F. Sullivan, a defendant, that some one had forged his name on a note for $3,500 executed to the National Bank of Orange by Harry Zabel, Judge Z. B. West at Santa Ana gave judgment to the bank in the civil suit at the conclusion of the trial in his court late yesterday.

Bank executives of Santa Ana, Orange and Anaheim declared on the witness stand that the signature found on the note was that of Sullivan, head of the Appleby Motor Co. of Anaheim and Santa Ana. Zabel, it was understood, has disappeared.

NOME SENDS OUT APPEAL FOR HELP

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 30.—Diphtheria-stricken Nome, in a frantic cablegram received here shortly before noon today, declared that dog teams racing from Fairbanks with a small supply of antitoxin cannot possibly reach the stricken city before Feb. 13, and pleaded for a United States army airplane to speed the precious serum to Nome. A plane leaving Seattle could beat the malamutes in the race against death by fully a week, the cable said.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 30.—Covering the snow and ice packed trail in better time than ever made in Alaska, exceeding even the famous Derby records, mushing dogs arrived at Ruby today in their mad dash northward with antitoxin for 150 diphtheria sufferers in Nome.

John Folger and J. Nicolai were the drivers in the last relay, carrying the life-giving serum in the race in the face of death from Hot Springs to Ruby.

Three minutes after they arrived at Ruby, reports here stated, another musher grabbed the frozen sled handles and hurried onward to meet Leonard Seppala, champion dog driver, at Kaltag. The temperature is close to 50 degrees below zero. Both dogs and men suffered from the cold.

With Seppala is a famous racing team which will make the last dash of 300 miles across frozen Norton sound and bay to Elim.

The Nome Derby runner made 400 miles in 72 hours and 35 minutes, while the racers on this flight against the Nome scourge has hung up a record of 500 miles covered in 72 hours.

With near 700 miles clipped from the 1000 mile trek it was believed the time between Nenana and Nome of nine days would be cut to six days by the fleet dogs, establishing an almost unbelievable record. Time figures on the last 200 miles are not known.

HEROINE OF EPIDEMIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Miss Emily M. Morgan, formerly of Wichita, Kansas, is the heroine of the diphtheria epidemic in Nome, Alaska.

According to radio dispatches received here today by the American Red Cross, Miss Morgan has been working night and day among the suffering men, women and children in the far northern town and has performed yeoman service.

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 30.—This diphtheria stricken city appealed to the world for aid today. Conditions are serious and antitoxin rushed here by airplane is essential to save hundreds of lives, Mayor George Maynard declared.

The conditions in Nome were regarded as critical by Maynard and dispatching of serum by airplane was regarded by him as the only course to be taken to save the sufferers.

"We are advocating that action be taken immediately," declared Maynard, "And want antitoxin from Nenana.

While appeals for aid were sent ouut from Nome, Derby-winning Siberian mushing dogs were speeding northward along the snow-covered Alaskan trails with a supply of the precious antitoxin but it will require days for the fast dogs to reach the sufferers. It was also believed the supplies of serum carried by the dogs was so small it would only last a short time and prove inadequate in the battle against the deadly disease.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Nome, Alaska, the city stricken by an epidemic of diphtheria, today appealed for aid in a radiogram re-

100 TURNED DOWN FOR BANQUET

Unprecedented Interest Shown in Efforts to Land University

All reservations for the University night banquet of the Fullerton C. of C. at its regular membership meeting tonight at the Fullerton Masonic Temple had been taken this morning and about 100 persons turned down, George A. Raymer, secretary of the C. of C. announced. Mr. Raymer said that while there was no more room at the banquet which opens at 6:30, as many more as possible will be admitted to hear the program which begins at 7:30.

Senator Chester M. Kline of Riverside-co will be one of the principal speakers, and an address is also to be made by S. C. Hartranft, assemblyman. The main address of the evening, however, is to be made by H. H. Merrick, president of the Greater Los Angeles, Ass'n. Other speakers include: Senator A. B. Johnson of Pasadena, Thomas L. Dodge, assemblyman, Los Angeles; Walter J. Little, assemblyman, Hermosa Beach; Charles H. V. Lewis, senator, Los Angeles; Cadet Taylor, senator, Pomona; Frederick M. Roberts, assemblyman, Los Angeles; Howard W. Davis, assemblyman, Los Angeles; Tom B. Talbert, chairman Orange-co. board of supervisors, of Huntington Beach; W. A. Johnstone, president of the Los Angeles-co Farm Bureau, of San Dimas; C. E. Kelsey, president of the Ventura-co Farm Bureau, of Santa Paula; and Ed C. Thomas, assistant to the president of the P. E. Ry., of Los Angeles. These last named are five minute talkers. There are also to be remarks by C. C. Chapman, toastmaster of the occasion, on "Fullerton as a possible site for the University."

Musical selections are to be given by Ted Corcoran on the xylophone, accompanied by Alice Corcoran on the piano. Selections are also to be given by Rollin's saxophone quartette composed of Willard Hoosier, Alberta Rollins, Agnes Troeller, and Lillian Corcoran. Songs are also to be sung by Leslie Gaze of Long Beach, accompanied by Mrs. Gaze.

MRS. F. L. SEXTON IS LAID TO REST

Anaheim and Santa Ana friends of the late Alberta Lobdell Sexton, wife of Fred L. Sexton of Anaheim, united today at 10:30 a. m. in the funeral services which were held at Winbigler's funeral chapel, Santa Ana. The place was filled with friends, relatives and kin of the family, which had resided 15 years at the county seat.

There was a profusion of floral tokens.

Mrs. Sexton died Wednesday night after a stroke of paralysis.

She had been hostess to the Bulgin evangelistic party at the Sexton home, 420 North Lemon-st.

Evangelist Bulgin preached on a text taken from the 23rd Psalm, dwelling on the thought of Christ as the Good Shepherd and the one door to eternal life.

Alvin Carter, director of music at the revival, sang a baritone solo "The Golden Bells" and Roy Gourley and he sang "The Church in the Wildwood," Mrs. Sexton's favorite hymn.

Rev. V. K. Ledbetter, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church of Anaheim, said the prayer.

The bearers were William Wellman, A. A. Slaback, Frank Edmiston, A. Zimmerman, George Weatherwax and W. J. Sebastian.

Interment was in Fair Haven cemetery.

Granted Probation

D. S. Bickmore of Westminster, found guilty of selling liquor to investigators prior to the recent dry raids, today was granted probation for two years by Superior Judge Z. B. West. Both Bickmore and Mrs. Bickmore, the mother of two children, had denied on the stand they ever saw the two dry investigators who secured the asserted evidence against them. The jury, however, returned a verdict against the man.

It was this jury on which were the two men who created a mild sensation in court when they quaffed the liquid in a gallon demijohn that was handed them to smell. It was during this case, also, that J. M. Wagner, an investigator, was brot from smallpox quarantine in Los Angeles to testify of his purchases.

Another Attempt At Intimidation

The latest attempt at intimidation by the "resolution squad" of the U. S. A. Club was the circulation today of another petition. This one urges the recall of Anaheim's first law enforcement council.

Businessmen were being "high-pressured" to affix their signatures. The U. S. A. Club boycott was threatened if they did ont sign.

The petition was presented by some of the same little coterie which forced the recall, has indulged in the most reprehensible campaign of misrepresentation and mud-slinging ever seen in an Orance-co. political campaign, has imported ex-convicts in a conspiracy to besmirch the reputations of good men, in fact, has stopped at nothing.

FELDER AND MEANS ARE GUILTY

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Gaston B. Means, detective, and Thomas B. Felder, his lawyer, were found guilty of conspiracy to bribe government officials in a sealed verdict returned today in federal court. The jury recommended extreme clemency for Felder.

The offense carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Means received the verdict with his familiar dimpled smile.

Felder turned pale, licked his dry lips and gulped, while he sat immovable in his chair.

Judge Lindley sentenced Means to serve two years in the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000.

It was the maximum penalty.

Felder was fined $10,000 but given no prison sentence.

Means seemed to take the jury's finding as a joke. He had bet a newspaper reporter five cents, at even money, that he would be convicted. "Well," he said, with a grin, "I guess I win five cents."

The government, in bringing the conspiracy charge, complained that Felder, Means and the latter's confidential man, Elmer Jarnecke, who pleaded guilty and testified against them, conspired to bribe former Atty-Gen. Harry M. Daugherty, once Felder's law partner, United States Dist.-Atty. Hayward, his assistant, John Holloy Clark, and Wm. J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice under Daugherty.

The defendants, it was charged, obtained $65,000 from certain defendants in the mail fraud case growing out of the Crage Co. sale of stock in the Glass Casket Co. Means, Felder and Jarnecke, the government alleged, told the defendants that they could obtain dismissal of the indictment against them. Felder and Means' defense was that Jarnecke Isaac Padorr, of Chicago, and the latter's financial backer, Samuel Schmidt, conspired to swindle the Casket defendants using Means' name for that purpose without the detective's knowledge.

AVIATORS SEEK MISSING COMRADE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—A search party of two airplanes, carrying four persons, was to start from Clover Field here this afternoon in search for Leo Nomis, missing aviator, believed lost somewhere between here and Rhyolite, Nev. Nomis, with two other pilots, left Rhyolite yesterday and failed to put in an appearance here, altho the other two planes arrived on time. Nomis, and the other flyers had been engaged by a local film company in making a picture in Nevada and were returning here. One of the planes was a government mail carrier.

It was announced the government will be asked to send a searching party of planes from San Francisco.

F. T. WAUTROUS DIES

The body of Fred T. Wautrous, 77, who died at Orange-co. hospital, is at McAulay & Sutter's funeral parlors where funeral will be held at 2 p. m., with interment in Loma Vista, Rev. W. E. Spicer of Brea officiating. Decedent is survived by his widow, Kate Wautrous of Brea canyon, a stepson, William Hodkins, and two step-daughters, Mrs. H. J. Turner and Mrs. Arthur Everhart, all of Brea.

CLIQUE AGAIN OVERSTEPS BOUNDS

Fewer Vacant Offices, Stores, Apartments Than Six Months Ago

In the desperate effort to discredit Anaheim in every way possible the little clique that stops at nothing to attain its political ends again has overstepped.

Secretary Geo. W. Reid of the Anaheim C. of C. heralds to the world thru the U. S. A. Club organ that there are some vacant houses, stores, apartments and offices in Anaheim at present. He neglects to mention that other So. Cal. cities are in the same condition, most of them far more so, tho they are not advertising it.

He also neglects to state that despite the fact there has been new building coming along all the time, there are fewer vacant stores, fewer vacant apartments and fewer vacant offices now than there were six months ago. There are more vacant houses now than six months ago but there have been a great many new ones constructed in the last half year, the local building trades union last week reporting 25 under construction. Conclusive proof that more houses are occupied in Anaheim than ever before is the fact that attendance at the Anaheim grammar schools is much larger than a year ago.

Going to the same source of information as Secretary Reid, Postmaster J. H. Whitaker gives the following figures on vacant property today and six months ago:

Vacant.	Today.	6 mos.
Houses	106	70
Stores	28	39
Apartments	88	110
Offices	17	20

The U. S. A. Club organ, quoting Secretary Reid, declared last evening that "building permits have dropped from $186,132 in January, 1924, to $25,470 in January, 1925."

That paper neglects to mention the little fact that with one exception January, 1924, happened to be the heaviest building month of that entire year, in fact from twice to 14 times as large as any other months—yes, with three exceptions, from around 4 to 14 times as large.

If he had selected June, 1924, instead of January, he would have found a total valuation of $13,600 and 21 permits. This might be compared with 22 permits and a valuation of $24,470 up to the 26th of this month. Other months in 1924 ranged from $32,000 up to $45,000 or $50,000.

Another little thing not mentioned is that three buildings alone, even in the very advantageous month (for the purpose of comparison by the U. S. A. Club) of January, 1924, represented a valuation of $69,500.

This was true in many months of 1924. A few large business buildings sent up the total building valuation. Anaheim's building record, principally on this account, compared repeatedly with cities of from two or four times its size, including Santa Ana.

Another thing—one of those things discussion of which is carefully avoided by the U. S. A. Club—is that the orange industry is one of the most speculative in existence, that Anaheim is still a one-industry town, owing largely to the preoccupation of the Anaheim C. of C. with a variety or other things.

It doesn't explain that when the oil fields were at their height of production a semi-official estimate put the number of workers of the Standard Oil Co. alone residing in Anaheim at as high as 1,000 and that building of homes continued apace here; that scores of apartments, stores and offices have never been occupied, simply because the decline from the peak of the speculative boom here came in the midst of their erection. Nor is anything said about the fact that certain retail lines for two years have been notoriously overdone here.

Yesterday M. W. Martenet, prominent hardware merchant, quoted authoritatively from an organization covering the South, showing that all of the Southland alike had felt the collapse from the wild speculative period.

Today a local contractor told of conversing one day last week with a salesman of the Consolidated Lumber Co. of Wilmington. This man declared that eight trucks and trailers had been taken out of service just recently and seven drivers laid off. These men and

GRAIN PITS BOIL AND BUBBLE

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—With the pits boiling with buying and selling transactions and brokers squirming, speculating and gesticulating and almost fighting with one another to fill orders, the grain markets on the board of trade opened today with prices generally slightly lower than they closed yesterday.

May wheat opened at $2.03¾ to $2.04, but the news from abroad was bullish. At noon the May option rose to $2.05.

Small traders almost to a man had sold out their wheat. They were looking for a break.

Sentiment on the floor of the pit was decidedly bullish but cables from Liverpool told that wheat there, after opening off, had worked to around the close of yesterday. At Winnipeg wheat opened slightly higher and was strong.

The public has taken the market from the professional board of trade men, whose opinions, while considered worth something in the past, are wrong on the market.

They talked of threatened big breaks and wag their heads, but the market goes up and leaves them behind without any wheat, fidgeting uncomfortably like a fish that has swam too near the shore and was left stranded by an ebbing tide.

As a matter of fact, the belief in the minds of the rank and file that the break would set in at the outset today probably represented hope more than conviction. They wanted to buy back cheaper wheat than they sold yesterday.

Corn was strong after a slight setback at the opening. That grain looked as though it was getting under way for a big advance. Oats were strong, slightly above yesterday's close, but this grain has been heavily oversold, especially the May future.

Toward noon all the markets were strong. Most of the futures were higher than yesterday and confidence in the trade was growing steadily. At that time a fair bulge in all the grains before the close did not look impossible.

NEW YORK CITRUS

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Eleven cars navels and three cars lemons sold. Market unchanged on navels and lemons. Navel averages ranged from $2.50 to $5.40; lemons $3.75 to $5.55.

PHYSICIAN FREED OF SPEED CHARGES

After more than three months of legal sparring, in which J. C. Wilson, Los Angeles physician, succeeded in having a speeding charge against him changed from the justice court at Fullerton to that at the county seat, the case was dismissed against the doctor yesterday by Justice K. E. Morrison, when it was shown that the complaint before him was not the same as that to which the physician originally answered.

Dr. Wilson, who was arrested at Fullerton, was represented in the proceedings by counsel for the Auto Club of So. Calif.

CANARD OF "LAME DUCKS" IS NAILED

Another canard put out by the "lame ducks" and "political soreheads" who forced the recall election upon Anaheim was nailed today by Dr. E. E. Long, campaign manager for the law enforcement candidates. Following up a report credited to J. M. Gunnett, local ticket agent for the Pickwick Stage Co., of Los Angeles, that the Pickwick Co. was delaying construction of its station here to see how the recall election resulted, Dr. Long stated today:

"Chas. Wren, president of the Pickwick Stage Co., tells me over long distance telephone from Los Angeles that J. H. Gunnett has no authority whatever to speak for the company and that the coming election has nothing to do with plans for building here. Mr. Wren stated further that the company was not interested in any way in the election here Tuesday and had nothing to do with it.

"It must be remembered that Mr. Gunnett is one of the political sore-heads who have been active in forcing the recall upon the city. Last spring when the city council was considering the appointment of a city recorder, Mr. Gunnett was one of several applicants for the position. The council did not see fit to appoint Mr. Gunnett and he has now aligned himself with the 16 former officeholders and those others who were disappointed last spring.

WOMAN LOSES SUIT

Efforts of Sadie E. Allison to gain title to a bungalow at Brea formerly owned by Grant Allison, her divorced husband, failed in the superior court at Santa Ana late yesterday, when Judge F. C. Drumm gave judgment to Martha E. Brown, present owner.

Mrs. Allison claimed her husband sold the property, but official records showed that Mrs. Brown had purchased the bungalow from a third party, from whom it was claimed. Allison bought the sales contract and paid it out. Mrs. Allison claimed a community interest.

Absence of proof of the transaction resulted in the court's judgment against the divorcee.

GOOD CHANCE OF CUTTING TAX RATE

Over $101,000 in General Fund Compared With $51,000 Year Ago

The city's finances are in better shape than ever before in the history of the city, despite the fact that the present council in nine months has purchased more new equipment than any previous board of trustees in any four-year term. A last minute attempt to juggle figures and confuse the voter, desperately attempted by the U. S. A. Club organ last night, was nailed today by Mayor E. H. Metcalf and Councilman Emory Knipe. Their statements follow:

BY MAYOR E. H. METCALF

The tax levy of the city of Anaheam for the current year is just the same as for the year preceding, 1.45 for each hundred dollars of assessed valuation.

Of this amount 61c per hundred dollars is set aside for the general fund from which all the current expenses of the city are paid. Most of the balance is for bond redemption and interest including also library maintenance, etc.

The general fund is the real barometer of the city finances, and the following table shows the status of this fund commencing May 8, 1924, the first regular meeting of the new council:

May	$34,702.25
June	27,436.77
July	44,560.01
August	44,812.39
September	42,287.53
October	40,704.81
November	69,777.55
December	91,899.13
January	101,874.00

For purposes of comparison the corresponding months of December, 1923, and January, 1924, after tax collections had been completed, are taken, showing as follows:

December, 1923	$ 55,547.96
December, 1924	91,899.13
January, 1924	51,000.09
January, 1925	101,874.00

There yet remains to be paid from the general fund for equipment and park improvement a little in excess of twenty thousand dollars, leaving in the general fund approximately $80,000.00 to carry the city until the next tax paying period.

For the first six months of the present administration the current income derived from water, lights, the recorder's court and other city departments exceeded expenses at an average rate of $1000 per month, and is perhaps a reasonable criterion as to what may be expected during the present year.

From the condition of the general fund, expenditures could exceed income more than eight thousand dollars per month and still leave a balance when this year's taxes begin to come in.

The "financial statement" in the "Knockers Delight," printed last night, is intended to confuse and is maliciously misleading. The finances of the city are in the best shape that they have ever been in our history and the story of a deficit of a hundred thousand dollars at the close of the year is utterly false. There is not the least probability of a prospective increase in the tax rate, and should any change be made it will be less rather than more. This is merely another sample of the malicious lies that are being circulated by the U. S. A. Club and its dupes.

BY COUNCILMAN EMORY KNIPE

The tax levy of Anaheim is $1.45 per $100 of assessed valuation. Of this $.6111 was for the general fund—the variable factor in the equation of city finance—used for the ordinary expenses of the city, the balance being for redemption of bonds and interest and for the public library, each fund having been set aside for its particular purpose by resolution.

The redemption moneys do not affect the general fund nor does the moneys of the general fund affect the moneys in the redemption funds.

The proposition, clean-cut, is this: The financial standing of the city depends only upon the general fund since the various amounts for redemption of bonds and interest thereon must be set aside as guarantee to the investors holding those bonds. Consequently, we have only to consider the money spent out of the against the love of Christ and the mercy of God.

ANOTHER CROWD AT REVIVAL

Several songs were sung at the close of the sermon and the largest number yet hit the sawdust trail.

"The simplest possible interpretation of the text is that if today you are not willing to be convinced of the divine reality of Christianity, the supernaturalness of the Bible, and the superhumanness of our Lord Jesus Christ, you would not be convinced if a dead man came from the grave. I bring you God's method of evidence — Moses and the prophets.

"Christianity is not proved by a chain of evidence, as some people say. A chain is only as strong as its weakest link. Christianity is proved by a mighty cable of evidence, if you break one strand you still have all the other. The first strand is Jesus Christ and you cannot break that. The next strand is the historical effect of His church on the world. Another is the inspiration of the Bible. God is in it, and the reason infidels have not knocked it out of the world is that they can't knock God out and it is His word.

"Moses was the greatest prophet who ever lived. The first prophetic utterances ever made in this wicked world 'The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head and thou shall bruise his heel' was fulfilled when Christ came in the fullness of time. I dare any infidel to find a single flaw in the whole prophetic life of Moses. He uttered more predictions about the coming of the Deliverer, and all were fulfilled.

"Except Christ, Moses was the greatest teacher who ever lived. He was not divine but human, but he did so much that his works occupy a great book. He was able to harness his thought and make the other fellow see it. He lived in a time of many gods, but he knocked down these gods by bringing on the people plagues for which their gods stood and taught that there is but one God, Jehovah.

"Take Moses as an emancipator. He led the world's first great emancipation movement. Never had the world heard of a man who could move an army of 3,000,000 people. He had no armor, no guns, no provisions. He just took a jackknife out of his pocket, went into the bramble bushes and cut a walking stick, and leaped into the job of liberating 3,000,000 people with it. He was without gold or silver or government bonds and without an army to lead them from bondage into liberty.

"He was the greatest legislator that ever lived. If his principles were practiced now they would bring peace and plenty to this land. We have combines and monopolies holding up and controlling the necessities of life, making the rich richer and the por porer.

"Moses as a legislator brought law to bear on such conditions as we have. He was the father of our American republic. The basis of democracy and republicanism is government of the people, by the people and for the people. Where was that idea of government originated? Not by Washington or Lincoln. Moses originated it.

"Take him again as a doctor, and find that he heads the list in medical science. He led the word in those principles of hygiene and health practiced by all civilized people. His principles of temperance, if put into practice to day, would solve all our problems of temperance. He ruled the cony unfit for food ,and we know now that it carries leprosy germs. Moses knew it 4,000 years ago, and we found it out a few years ago.

"He breathed on Sinai in ten sentences the principles of law and justice practiced by all civilized nations today. If God didn't originate them in the mind of Moses, you have a bigger miracle, because you have not been able to improve on them in the twentieth century. Moses without God is a greater miracle than Moses with God.

"Moses was a type of Christ, born in poverty, persecuted in infancy, suffering affilication that he might liberate the people. Moses died that he might deliver his people and the spirit of his work went on in reformation. Jesus Christ came to break the shackles of slavery and free every sinner, to deliver the race of Adam and set it free. He died and went to His home in glory and the Holy Spirit followed up the work until the islands of the sea and the continents of the globe are blessed by that spirit."

All the C. of C. needs to do to fill up every house and business block in Anaheim is to discover another oil field or, failing in that, to quit meddling in politics and get down to the business for which it was organized, namely, the development of industries and payrolls, a matter which it has consistently overlooked in the many years it has been in existence.

In this connection it was authoritatively reported today that the radical departure into politics 12 directors have attempted to take on behalf of the local businessmen's organization has been discussed by the Los Angeles C. of C. and it was the majority opinion of the leading development organization of So. Cal. that the Anaheim C. of C. might expect to forfeit its membership in the United States C. of C. However, that won't bother the "rule or ruin" coterie that is responsible for the disruption of Anaheim.

Camp Fire Girls Pick New Yorker as the Typical American Miss

Miss Marguerit Churchill of New York City, has been chosen from among thousands of members of the Camp Fire Girls as "the typical American girl." The contest was in progress for several months.

SONG WRITER IN FULLERTON JAIL

George Edmunds, who gave his residence as San Francisco, and his vocation as "poet, songwriter, author and inventor," was lodged in the Fullerton jail this morning on the charge of vagrancy. With him was Henry Hall who, however, laid claim to no higher vocation than that of a laborer. The two jumped uninvited onto the car of Dorsey Ellis, police patrolman, to "mooch" a ride, and he drove them to the police station.

Edmunds when brot before Judge French exhibited specimens of his poetry in defense, and the judge told him that he too was something of a poet, and exhibited to Edmunds some of what he affirmed was his own verse compositions, and suggested that they go into partnership together, to which Edmunds readily agreed. Edmund's genius saved the day, and instead of 30 days in the Orange-co jail Judge French gave them 30-day suspended sentences, advised them not to get uninvited into anyone's car, and get a job as quickly as possible, and sent them on their way well-pleased.

Leonard Duncan, 15, of Artesia, a runaway boy, was returned to his parents.

DOG TEAMS PUSH ON WITH SERUM

ceived by International News Service, San Francisco.

The mayor's message said:

"Advocate rushing antitoxin to Nome from Nenana. Conditions very serious."

Mayor Maynard's radiogram here contradicted a statement made by public service health officials in Seattle, who declared late yesterday that conditions in Nome were "markedly improved."

Mayor Maynard's message did not state how many persons had died in Nome. The latest reports gave the number of epidemic victims as five, but it is believed scores are dying.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 30.—United States public health service officials, arranging for a shipment of antitoxin to be sent from here tomorrow by steamer to diphtheria-stricken Nome, Alaska, said today they had not been advised conditions there were serious. The latest messages from Nome to the health officials here stated conditions were improving and reported the number of dead in the epidemic as five.

Dr. G. M. Magruder said that he had been informed plans to send the serum to Nome by airplane had been abandoned. He said he expected advices from Nome later today.

ON THE TRAIL, NEAR TANANA, ALASKA, Jan. 30.—Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning Dan Green, third relay man in the dash with diphtheria serum to Nome was 42 miles below Tanana.

He passed Tanana at 12:30 o'clock after driving all thru the night.

The weather was 45 degrees below zero.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 30. If the race against death into disease stricken Nome is won, the glory will fall to the mushing dogs of the north who carried the Yukon sleds bearing the antitoxin serum over the snows.

The grooming and care given the finest blooded race horses is necessary to produce champion dogs such as James Kalland, Dan Green and Leonard Seppala used in their northward flight.

The dogs are generally fed only once a day. The meal consists of a portion of boiled rice and dried salmon.

Once a day at least, it is necessary to dress the dogs' feet which are cut by the "spear" ice of the frozen trails. Moccasins and bandages are worn by the dogs and these must be carefully watched.

While the dogs are being fed on a race such as now in progress the drivers massage the muscles of the racers' legs and then wrap them in canvass for a brief cooling off. This is also done after the relay is finished.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 30. With strained muscles and harness in an effort to bring life-giving antitoxin into diphtheria-stricken Nome, the strongest, fleetest dogs in Alaska sped relief today in their "death race" northward.

Over snow and ice covered trails in the bitter cold of the Arctic region Dan Green, the third champion dog racer of the north, relaying serum to the disease ravaged city.

In the light Yukon sled which Green's dogs are pulling, rested a 20-pound package of the 1,000,000 antitoxin units, which will save hundreds of lives at Nome, providing the race against disease is won. The package was heavily wrapped in blankets to prevent freezing and breaking of the containers.

Green, who is one of the best known of Alaska's weather hardened men famous for their fast traveling dog teams, expected to reach Ruby tonight, where Leonard Seppala, three times champion of the Yukon dog derby, is speeding southward from Nome.

Seppala's team is led by the famous derby winners, "Scotty" and "Togo," will receive the serum from Green at Ruby and turning tail, make the final dash of 200 miles back to Nome traveling across the snow voated ice of Norton Bay. Wireless reports here today said the madly racing mushers would not make a detour around Norton bay on land but would speed across the ice from Bonanza to Elim, a distance of 100 miles.

With frozen hands and face and dogs so tired they could hardly lift their ice coated legs, James Kallans, the second relay driver, arrived at Hot Springs. A kettle of hot water was required to free Kallan's hands from the handles of his sled and the fur around his face was frozen solid in a cake of ice.

Kalland, however, was not seriously hurt, altho his hands were badly frozen.

He raced northward for a distance of 20 miles in a face-biting wind with the temperature 40 degrees below zero. Kalland made only one stop, halting only to feed his dogs.

RESCUE 45 MEN FROM SUBMARINE

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 30.—All of the 45 officers and men from the stranded U. S. submarine S-48 were rescued today by coast guardsmen from the Wood Island Life Saving Station.

Twenty-five members of the crew were taken from the undersea boat after being imprisoned aboard all night in a howling northwest gale. Later the skeleton crew of 20 men was removed.

The last twenty men were taken off by the coast guardsmen after the big submarine began to fill by chlorine gas seeping out of the storage batteries as water from a hole in the submarine's bow penetrated the interior of the craft.

By this time rescue ships had come up. It was deemed wise to take off part of the crew. The 20 men left aboard were manning the pumps. It was thought that the S-48 had a crack in one of her seams and leaking rapidly.

Giant seas were breaking over the submarine as she lay riding out the gale a mile and a half off shore.

The rescued crew were taken in power boats from the Woodlands Life Saving Station to Fort Stark. None of them was injured but they were worn out from their all night battle in the sea and went to bed.

The S-48 lies hard and fast on the mud flats of the Little Head breakwater. At high tide she drifted off the rocky reef on which she first stranded, floated around a bit and then brought up on the mudflats.

Great waves were breaking over her as the three coast guard lifeboats came alongside and rescued the submersible's crew.

Until the gas from the S-48's storage batteries leaves the interior of the undersea craft, it was impossible for any person to go aboard to learn the full extent of the damage.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 30.—Part of the crew of the stranded U. S. submarine S-48 were rescued today by coast guardsmen and tugs.

They were taken off the submarine as she left the rocks at the mouth of Little Harbor here and drifted a mile and a half off shore in a howling northeast gale.

A skeleton crew of about 20 officers and men was left aboard the undersea boat.

Radio messages from the ships standing by the stricken naval craft indicated that she was in danger of going down and that she had a stove in her bottom.

The S-48 was en route from New London, Conn., to the local navy yard when she crashed on the rocks.

The submarine tender Chewink and the submarine S-51 accompanied the S-48 here. The other two craft are safe.

Lieut. Commander Stewart Bray of New London, Conn., was in command of the S-48. The submarine's displacement is 1100 tons. She has a cruising radius of 8000 miles.

The first S-48 of the United States navy sank in Long Island sound off Fairfield, Conn., in December, 1921, while undergoing a trial trip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The navy submarine S-48, which went aground near the entrance of the harbor at Portsmouth, N. H., last night, drifted off the rocks early today and entered the inner harbor, according to a dispatch to the navy department.

Advices to the chief of naval operations from the commandant of the Portsmouth navy yard indicated that the submarine had freed itself without assistance and without material damage to the hull.

No injuries were reported among the crew of 35 men aboard the submarine, altho some of the sailors were believed to have suffered from exposure as the little ship bobbed about in the icy winds during the night.

Reports to the United States coast guard said that two cutters went to the assistance of the submarine early last evening, but that heavy seas prevented the crews from getting a line aboard the stranded vessel. Another navy submarine the S-19 is aground off Chatham, Mass., having been on the rocks since Jan. 13.

REPORTS OCCUPY ASSOCIATED C. of C.

The regular meeting of the Associated C.'s of C. of Orange-co was held last night at the Tea and Tiffin restaurant at Laguna Beach. The address of welcome was given by Joe Skidmore, and the response by Tom B. Talbert of Huntington Beach. The main address of the evening was given by Stanley McMichael of Cleveland, O., on loyalty to one's home town. A report was made by George A. Raymer, secretary of the Fullerton C. of C. on what had been done, and is being done to bring the university site, Southern Branch, to Fullerton. Reports were also made by the harbor highway, and other committees. The highway committee reported favorable progress on the coast highway, and said that concerte is being poured for the new coast highway bridge between Huntington Beach and Balboa. Tom B. Talbert was elected Orange-co representative, or district advisory counsellor, to the California Development Ass'n., which corresponds to the State C. of C.

EXCELSIOR SELLS CERTIFIED MILK

Pure, raw cow's milk—certified milk—may now be secured by the residents of Anaheim from the Excelsior Creamery Co., it was announced here today by officials of the Arden dairy. This dairy has a herd of 600 carefully selected tuberculin-tested Holstein cows. The milk is sealed with special caps and the filled bottles are on ice ten minutes after milking. All bottles, of course, are sterilized before the double capping process, thus assuring absolute purity.

Johnson's Bayou (Tex.) man reports six dead whales washed ashore at that place. And still they say that moonshine liquor causes blindness.

NOTED SPANIARD IN "BANDOLERO"

One of the most interesting features of "The Bandolero," which will be the feature at the California Theatre for Saturday only, is said to be the bullfight scenes. These were made by Tom Terriss, the director, in Granada, Spain, near the famous Alhambra, while the Grand Fair of that nook of the world was in progress.

Things were looking mighty black so far as special bullfight scenes were concerned when Canero, the most renowned annoyer of bulls in Spain, came along with his ten thousand dollar white horse. Canero said he was willing to do his act, for which he usually receives one thousand pesetas, for nothing. That looked to Mr. Terriss like a very fair basis from which to begin bargaining; and as a result Canero and his ten thousand dollar nag soon were at work on a bull.

As Canero's specialty is not allowing any one except himself and his horse to get into danger— [illegible] ing bull on horseback at the last possible moment, and then, for good measure, hurdling over the bull's back—Mr. Terriss got not only the different sort of bullfight that he was seeking, but also one that while packed with thrills, was innocent of those details that make most bullfights not only censurable, but also not highly diverting to most Americans.

For the rest, "The Bandelero" was photographed for the most part in Cuba and Spain, and is a Metro-Goldwyn picture. It was adapted by Mr. Terriss, who also directed it, from the novel of the same name by Paul Gwynne. The cast includes Pedro de Cordoba in the title role, Renee Adoree, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Manuel Granado, Gordon Begg, Dorothy Ruth, Arthur Donaldson, Marie Valray and Jose Rueda.

Saturday night is gift night and there are over $100 in valuable and useful gifts that will be given away at the evening performance.

Another of the Go-Getter comedies and an Aesop Fable complete the program.

KLAMATH FALLS—W. S. Pate, John O'Shea and Pete Sullivan charged with first degree murder and robbery in connection with the murder of Oscar Erickson, went on trial here today.

SAN DIEGO—After 43 years of wedded life, Mrs. Margaret E. Thomas decided her husband was cruel to her, and was today granted an interlocutory decree.

CITY'S FINANCES IN BEST SHAPE

general fund to determine whether the city is in good financial condition.

From the general fund money is used to pay labor, to buy equipment without voting bonds, to repair equipment, to repair streets, to pay for electric energy purchased from the Edison company, to pay for work on the sewer farm orange grove, to pay for extension and repair on electric light lines, and, in general, to pay for all other services incident to the operation of the city's business.

The various incomes for the general fund accrue from fines from the recorder's court, from collections from light and water users, from money for oranges sold from sewer farm, from permits sold, and from taxes paid on fiscal property for fiscal year.

In the lop-sided statement in the Bulletin is included the moneys paid out of the redemption funds, payments out of the sewer fund for the outfall sewer, payments for every conceivable thing.

The attempt to confuse the voters by misrepresentation of the city's financial condition is in accord with the entire campaign of the little clique which has been so desperately attempting to get back into the city hall from which it was ejected last spring, declared political observers today.

Not one good reason has yet been advanced for the injustice of trying to withdraw Anaheim's first dry council in the most vicious recall attempt ever seen in California, it was charged today. The small group of disgruntled politicians who forced the recall on the city have stopped at nothing, not even to importing ex-convicts in a conspiracy to "frame" law enforcement candidates. Every charge made against the dry councilmen has been successfully refuted and these officials stand out in bolder relief than ever before as the result of the failure of the U. S. A. club to make a case before the public.

No wonder public sentiment is more than ever crystallizing for the dry councilmen, political observers stated today.

Anaheim's financial condition is in better shape today than ever before because economy has been the watchword of the administration from the day it went into office. No group of councilmen ever gave more time to Anaheim's civic affairs. Never before was it possible to step into the mayor's office any day and find him at his desk. Incidentally, it was pointed out today: What one of the opponents of the law enforcement candidates, even if he were willing, could devote as much time to the city's affairs as has Mayor Metcalf? What one of them could stand on a platform on any public occasion and so ably represent the city?

Interest in the campaign today was pointing to the second big law enforcement rally Monday evening. Another great demonstration of public sentiment was assured at the gathering on the eve of the election.

Heretofore, J. A. Geissinger has carried the burden of the speaking campaign for the recall agitators. However, his church membership openly rebelled at further use of the pulpit for bolitical purposes and he has been devoting his energies to writing for the U. S. A. club organ, his articles being declared the most disgraceful efforts at mud-slinging ever seen in an Orange-co political campaign.

Harry D. Riley has now taken up the burden of oratory. Last night he told some funny stories at the Concordia club as reasons why Anaheim's first dry council should be recalled and elected in their place the candidates supported by the same voters who last spring lost out with Bill Stark, former political boss and ex-saloonkeeper, and Al Pape, whose Packard auto was seized when he was arrested by federal officers on serious charges of bootlegging.

SEATTLE—Nick Holvan, 43, broke his neck when he fell down the stairs at his home today. He was dead when picked up.

SEATTLE—Found guilty of murder in the second degree, Gus Marth, who killed John Yonna, 72 on Oct. 3 last, was awaiting sentence.

HEAVY SNOWFALL HITS NEW YORK

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Eighteen hours of continuous snowfall yesterday and today buried Syracuse under its heaviest blanket in 26 years. Thousands walked to work thru three feet drifts this morning. Train, trolley and taxicab service was suspended.

More than 60 trolleys were stalled. Estimates placed the number of abandoned automobiles at 1500. Three hundred and fifty persons narrowly escaped death when the roof of the Elmwood Theatre caved in two minutes after the close of the last performance.

Blanketed under a foot of snow and with a wind blowing at times 50 and 60 miles an hour, all traffic in Albany, including trolley, rail and automobile was competely demoralized. Streets were blocked by huge drifts in some places eight and ten feet deep.

Heavy falls of snow in the Rochester, Syracuse and Utica section caused delay in the arrival of west bound trains in Buffalo this morning. New York Central and Lackawanna trains were delayed from one to three hours.

Binghampton was practically snow-bound, more than 20 inches of snow lay over the city.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—New York skidded and sloshed to work today. Following an inch and a half snowfall late yesterday, heavy rain last night turned streets and sidewalks into treacherous paths of slush and ice.

PLEADS GUILTY TO STATUTORY CHARGE

Tommy Hill, 18-year-old scion of a wealthy Santa Ana family, today was sentenced to spend the next three years at the Preston school of industry, when he pleaded guilty to a charge involving an 8-year-old girl before Superior Judge F. C. Drumm. At the conclusion of this term the prisoner is to be referred to Judge Drumm for further disposition.

After pleading guilty, the original charge involving a more serious crime against the girl tho not carrying a more serious punishment, was dismissed.

CUT INCREASE ON PARCELS POST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The new omnibus postal bill providing a $68,000,000 wage increase for postoffice employes and a temporary advance of postal rates, was passed by the senate late this afternoon.

The bill was sponsored by the administration as a substitute for the postal salary bill vetoed by President Coolidge.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The administration suffered a defeat this afternoon when the senate unexpectedly cut in half the new sur-charge on parcels post packages proposed in the Moses postal bill.

An amendment offered by Sen. McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, reducing the sur-charge from two cents to 1 cent per package, was adopted by a vote of 40 to 39. This reduction would slash $15,000,000 from the amount of revenue postal experts estimated the new bill will provide.

Administration leaders were fearful that in its present form, the bill would again meet a veto by President Coolidge.

Party lines were broken on the vote and the desertion of a number of Republican senators resulted in the administrations defeat. Nine Republicans and two Farmem-Laborites joined the Democrats in supporting the decrease. The Republicans were Sen. Brookhart of Iowa; Couzins of Michigan; Frazier of North Dakota; Gooding of Idaho; Howell of Nebraska; Johnson of California; Norbeck of South Dakota; Norris of Nebraska and Stanfield of Oregon.

Only two Democrats voted with the administration. They were Bayard of Delaware and King of Utah.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson I am a girl in my teens. About two years ago I went with a young man and loved him very much. After I found he was going with another girl I got angry and told him to keep her for all I cared. A few months after that he joined the army and while he was in Texas he wrote me three letters askin for my friendship again, saying that the other girl meant nothing to him, but I did not answer. He came back a few months ago and he said that he was sorry that he wrote the letters and that he would try to forget me. Now I love him again and want him back. What shall I do?

ANNA G.

You have let your opportunity slip by and now will have to take the consequences. In the first place you were wrong in obecting because the young man went with another girl too. He was not engaged to you and therefore you had no right to interfere in such a matter. If you know his address you might send him a New Year's greeting. That would show that you feel friendly toward him and if he is still interested he will reply to you.

* * *

M. G. R. Have a physician prescribe an iodine treatment for your goiter. If that does not help, you may have to have it removed by a surgeon.

LOVES AUNT'S STEP-SON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 19 years old and have been married but my husband and I have separated. I have fallen in love with my aunt's step-son who is 21 years old. He has a daughter five years old who stays with her daddy as he and her mother only lived together a few months. There is no one knows of our love for each other except my chum—not even my aunt. Do you see any harm in loving and going with him because he is my aunt's step son? He has not proposed to me yet, but I have an idea he will. Do you think it will be too big a responsibility to care for his child five years old. I love him so that I am almost willing to do anything he asks. I haven't any children of my own, but dearly love them.

CONTENTED.

If you have a shadow of a doubt regarding your ability to mother the child, do not marry the father. It is easy to love her now and be charming to her, but after you are married you will see her in a different light and unless you are sincere in your love for her you will spoil her happiness, the father's and your own. Since you are only 19 I would advise you to give your love the test of a year's time so that there will be less danger that you are making a mistake. The fact that the young man is your aunt's step-son is not a drawback.

WANTS HIM BACK

Dear Mrs. Thompson. I am a girl 17 years old. At one time a boy was crazy over me and wanted me to go with him. I went with him a few times but I didn't like him very well and so I stopped going with him Now I realize that I liked him very much and would like to go with him but he goes with another girl. Could I win him back? If so, how?

DICKY.

You had your opportunity to go with the young man and failed to grasp it; now the only thing for you to do is to make the best of your mistake. Make up your mind to forget about this boy and enjoy yourself in the company of other friends.

PROPRIETY

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My boy friend is having a party on his birthday and he invited me to come to his home for dinner. He is also having two other couples I told him I would let him know in a few days whether I could come or not. Would it be correct for me to go since I was not invited by his mother?

DOUBTFUL.

It would be all right to accept the young man's invitation to dinner since he is giving his little dinner party and other guests are invited, too.

Sweet Sixteen: Write an informal note, giving your address, the date of the party and the hour, and stating that you would like to have the person to whom you are writing come. On the left-hand side of the letter, after you have signed your name, write R. S. V. P., which means that you would like to have an answer so that you will know how many guests to expect. It would not be in good taste to say that it is your birthday or to let any one know. Do not expect presents. You might give the party from 8 to 11.

Discouraged Flossy: You might call on a few doctors and tell them of your experience in nursing. Very often they are glad to get nurses with your type of experience. When you are active in your work you will not be so lonely and discouraged. The man you left in the other city may feel that you do not care for him since you disregard his wish and left him. If he loves you, however, he will forgive you in time and will want to see you again. Doubtless your family is simply neglectful, not realizing how lonely you are and that you are worried about them.

FORMER EL CENTRO MAN A SUICIDE?

HONOLULU, Jan. 30.—With the finding today of the body of B. L. Westkamper on the slope of Diamond Head, the famous extinct crater back of Waikiki beach, authorities started an investigation into the possibility that Westkamper committed suicide as the result of his suspension yesterday as assistant superintendent of mails of Honolulu on charges of having sent obscene matter thru the mails.

Westkamper was seen walking in the direction of Diamond Head late last evening and stopped at the base of the crater for a few minutes to play with a group of children, the authorities learned today.

He came to Honolulu in 1921 from El Centro, Calif.

HOLD CANADIAN IN MURDER CASE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Extradition papers for Owen Benjamin Baker, wanted in connection with the murder of two men on a schooner at Sidney island, near Victoria, B. C., are at Washington awaiting action by the secretary of state.

This was learned today from U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock before whom Baker was arraigned on Dec. 31 and Jan. 28. On the latter date he waived examination. The papers then were sent to Washington and Baker was held here in custody of the U. S. marshal.

The murder in connection with which Baker is held, was committed on Sept. 16, 1924. In December an inspector of the British Columbia police caused Baker's arrest and arraignment for extradition. It was said at that time that two other men were being sought here for the same crime.

SOCIETY

BODE ELECTED CHAPLAIN OF BROTHERHOOD

THE Rector and delegates from St. Michael's Episcopal church have been attending meetings of the annual convention of the Diocese of Los Angeles in St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, this week. On Teusday Mesdames H. M. Adams, J. M. Duell, Ernest Zitzmann, Thos. Lumsdon, V. D. Loly, Joseph Helmsen, L. B. Easton, and R. W. Balch were present at the meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary and gave a good report for Anaheim. At the meeting of the Brotherhood of the Diocese Rev. A. G. H. Bode was elected Chaplain.

On Wednesday the annual convention opened with a great service and a long whiterobed procession at St. Paul's Cathedral. Bishop Johnson spoke of the three great churches just completed—St. Paul's Cathedral, St. John's Los Angeles, and All Saints', Pasadena. The Anaheim delegates present were Messrs. Thos. Hill, V. D. Loly, J. M. McDuell and J. H. Whitaker. It was announced on Thursday that the campaign for the general church program had gone over the top this year. Elections were held for delegates to conventions and Rev. A. G. H. Bode was elected to the Synod of the Pacific Province. He also moved a resolution of greeting to the assembly of the Salvation Army meeting in Los Angeles, which was carried unanimously. Tonight the Episcopal convention ends with a dinner of the Girls' [illegible] Society to which Miss [illegible] Hill, Miss Margaret Hill, Mrs. A. G. H. Bode and Misses Caroline and Dorothy Bode are delegates.

The most striking feature of the week's meetings was the dramatic presentation of the philanthropic work of the Episcopal church. Instead of the usual reports, demonstrations were given by the little folks of the Church Home for Children, showing breakfast at the home, and by the Seamen checking dunnage and receiving mail after a voyage and helping in a concert at the Institute at San Pedro. The Nurses of the Good Samaritan Hospital showed some of the work, and other institutions contributed to make a most interesting evening.

Negro Singers

"The Cotton Blossom Singers" of The Piney Woods School, Braxton, Miss., will be at the Presbyterian Church Monday evening in a program of negro folk songs, [illegible] and melodies. A rare treat is in store for all who hear them. They have sung to crowded houses all over the country.

During the business hour reports of reciprocity bureau meeting of the past week and of "Founders' Day" celebrated on last Saturday at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, were given by Mrs. Prof. C. C. Smith and Mrs. R. B. Young. The remainder of the time was taken up by a discussion of the educational work and in closing all joined in singing folk songs.

Letters From People

Anaheim, Cal., Jan. 27, 1925.

The Plain Dealer: The following is a copy of a letter I have addressed to "Uncle John," radio broadcaster for the Los Angeles Times.—J. G. GLADHILL, 912 No. Olive-st., Anaheim, Cal.

Uncle John:

Dear Radio Friend: The other night you urged over the radio that we write eastern friends some truths about California to counteract the lies published in eastern papers about California.

I think it would be well for the people of Anaheim to write to friends in Los Angeles about the way the Los Angeles Times is publishing untrue stories concerning Anaheim. They might well be called dirty lies.

In proportion, there are fewer stores vacant, fewer houses for rent and more homes being erected now in Anaheim than in Fullerton, Santa Ana, Los Angeles, Glendale or any other So. Cal. town. I am a salesman and cover Los Angeles and Orange-cos. When customers ask me if it is really so that Anaheim is going to the bow-wows I say no and ask where they got their information. They say the Los Angeles Times. So, I think we had better start right here in So. Cal. to print the truth.

We like the Times radio programs as well or better than those from any other broadcasting station on the Pacific coast. Especially do we like our old friend, Uncle John, and his associates.

Very truly yours,
In Kindness, Happiness and Joy,
J. G. GLADHILL,

Tell him to take Cod Liver Oil for a couple of months and get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man.

Tell him, it's the only way to take those grave-like hollows from his cheeks and neck.

Tell him he won't have to swallow nasty oil with the nauseating fishy taste, because the McCoy Laboratories, of New York, are now putting up Cod Liver Oil in sugar coated tablet form.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets at Heying's Pharmacy, Jackson's Drug Co. and Orange Co. Drug Co., and every druggist worthy the name sells them—60c tablets—60 cents. TURBINE ENGINE MADE IN ANAHEIM

The Ross turbine engine, which its manufacturers believe will revolutionize the steam engine field, will be constructed in Anaheim within a few days, according to announcement made by officials of the Ross Turbine Engine Co.

The new company has purchased the plant and some stock in the Anaheim Metal Industries, but has nothing to do with the liabilities of the old company, President W. J. Ross declared.

In addition to the president, other officials of the Ross corporation are John Q. Ross, 1st vice-president; Julius C. Kettel, 2nd vice president; Albert A. Henning, secretary; Theodore Boge, treasurer. The personnel of the company is well known to many Anaheim residents, all men with standing in the community.

William Henke, superintendent of the new Anaheim plant, has had a life-long experience in mechanics in general, and is well versed in the latest shop methods. Karl Leetman, mechanical engineer and draftsman, came to California one year ago from Germany, where he acquired his education and valuable experience. E. M. Ploessel, who for 12 years was foreman of the Forge shop of the Panama Canal, will have charge of the Ross blacksmith shop. C. M. Klassen, formerly with the United Pacific railroad, in actual charge of construction of the motor railway cars that now pass through Anaheim, will have charge of the sheet metal and structural iron departments. Other employes will be added as required, with preference given to residents of Anaheim, and to those willing to make Anaheim their home, President Ross stated.

Farmers Must Control Distribution

"I believe I am safe in saying that no country in the civilized world has permitted its agricultural industry to sink into as low estate as has the United States," said Benjamin F. Yoakum, railroad financier, in praising the Curtis-Aswell bill, now before congress. As Yoakum explains it, the chief purpose of the bill is to authorize a closely knit economic and commercial organization of American farmers to be formed under a federal charter and to function as a national organization without any interference from the goverament or any of its agencies.

"Although in the matter of production we are still the world's greatest agricultural country, at the same time our agricultural industry is harder pressed financially than can be asserted of the agricultural industry of any other country," continues Yoakum.

A Grave Problem

"I know I am on sound ground when I add that because of this paradoxical condition the United States today is faced by the gravest economical problem that is vexing the statesmanship of any other country.

"The cause is wholly due to the fact that our statesmanship has for more than a generation neglected agriculture while fostering carefully every other of our great industries. It has failed utterly to respond with constructive legislation and administration to the constantly growing demands of agriculture to be kept abreast of modern economic and commercial progress and methods.

"Because of this neglect American agriculture today presents the grotesque spectacle of a great industry being pauperized at the production and while piling up huge profits at the distribution end. Production and distribution are twin factors of commerce. They are the Siamese twins of modern business. The death of one involves the death of the other. In our agriculture one of the twins is sick and rapidly wasting away. If the disease is not speedily cured it soon will be communicated to its mate. So intimately interwoven are all the factors of our huge business structure that every one of them will be sure to suffer with the completion of the processes of bankruptcy that are bringing the agricultural industry to ruin

"We hear a surfeit of talk about 'the farmer's dollar' and the part it plays in American commerce. But we hear very little said concerning the part the farmer gets of that dollar. For none of his products does the farmer get more than one-third of that much vaunted dollar. Some authorities contend that he averages considerably less than a third.

"When the control of distribution is brought under the management of the farmers, just as now production is under their control, the dealer no longer will have the farmer at his mercy in the vitally important matter of fixing prices. It is known, of course, that at present the farmer has absolutely no voice in determining the price he gets for his products. He has to accept whatever the distribution element offers him. Then, in turn, the distribution element determines what the consumer must pay.

OFFER LOW PRICE ON LUCKY STRIKES

Having been especially stocked with Lucky Strike cigarettes in tins of 100, local tobacco merchants are conducting special sales of this package in co-operation with the American Tobacco Co., manufacturers of this brand.

The manufacturer offers Lucky Strikes in tins of 100 for the actual price of the cigarettes themselves, the company paying the United States tax. Thus the package costs but 45 cents instead of the normal price of 75 cents.

The special sale price is limited, however, to the present stocks of these packages. As soon as retailers sell their present supplies of Lucky Strike 100s the regular price will automatically become effective.

Some $10,000 will be expended by the two on improvements and changes.

ANTI-FAT REGIME

ARTICLE No. 25
By DR. FRANK McCOY

INSTRUCTIONS FOR JAN. 31

MORNING exercises as usual followed by a cold shower bath.

BREAKFAST—Small dish of cottage cheese, stewed raisins.

LUNCH—One pint of lemon milk.

DINNER—Roast veal, cooked string beans, raw carrots, jello.

Take your regular long walks and exercise before retiring at night. Enema if required of one quart of warm water.

RECIPES OF FOOD ADVISED ABOVE WHICH HAVE NOT BEEN GIVEN BEFORE

LEMON MILK—This is a kind of sour milk or substitute for buttermilk, made by adding the juice from one-half to one or even two lemons to a pint of milk, and shaking the lemon juice and milk together vigorously. An egg-beater may be used in beating the mixture up, but the simplest way to prepare this lemon milk at home is probably to put the pint of milk in a quart bottle and then add the strained lemon juice in any quantity desired to suit the taste. Put the cap on the milk bottle and shake vigorously, churning it up and down to mix the milk and lemon together. This mixture tastes different than any other sour milk that you have ever used, and is relished by almost everyone. This must be mixed fresh each time you use it, as the curd and whey will separate after a time if not taken when prepared.

ROAST VEAL—This meat should be roasted the same as beef without adding any seasoning or using any gravies.

JELL-O—Jello is a mixture of gelatin with artificial fruit flavoring and is one of the most convenient ways in which to use gelatin, the addition of the artificial flavoring not appearing to be harmful. It is usually prepared with a larger amount of sugar than is necessary, and you will find it will have a very agreeable flavor if only a small amount is used.

Foreign News

CONSTANTINOPLE—A disastrous fire occurred today at Mersina, Adana, Asia Minor. The fire destroyed 180 shops with damage estimated at $500,000.

DUBLIN — Energetic efforts were being made today to prevent tiphus developing in the famine area of West Ireland. The Irish Free State is creating a fund to feed the famine sufferers.

MADRID—Leon Cases, the anthor in a speech today, urged electoral reforms to allow representation in parliament for 2,000,000 Spaniards in America pointing out there are 14 life senatorships now vacant.

RIGA — The anti-Roumanian movement under the new soviet commissar of war, M. Frunze, is taking a dangerous turn, according to advices here today. Detachments of troops have been moved hurriedly to the Dneister railway junctions and roads are being reconstructed for troop movements in the frontier zone.

For future captains of industry, we must depend upon our present infantry, and we can't produce captains from dirty milk.

HOLD TWO WOMEN FOR CONSPIRACY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 30.—Charged with conspiracy in the murder of Ariel Eggers, Canadian and Atlantic coast rum runner who was killed here in the post-office building in a gun and ammonia attack, Egger's sister, Mrs. Erma Brown of Seattle and Mrs. Milo Eggers, the dead man's sister-in-law, were held in jail today without bail.

Theodore Eggers, recently escaped from officers at the gates of Atlanta, Ga., federal prison and Milo Eggers, brother of the slain rum runner, and Wm. Barlow, confederate, who are still at large, were charged with conspiracy in the murder in a complaint issued by United States Commissioner Krull.

Developments in the sensational shooting and escape of Ariel and Milo Eggers as they were being brot into court for a final hearing on extradition to Canada, where they were wanted for rum ship piracy, were as follows:

1. Hours of questioning today failed to obtain a confession from the two women said to be involved in the plot.

2. The three men still at large are believed to be in San Francisco and their arrest is expected hourly.

3. Milo Eggers was killed by a bullet from the gun of Theodore Eggers, the officers believe, when Theodore shot at Deputy U. S. Marshal John Donnelly.

Theodore Eggers, it was believed, same to San Francisco to stage the escape plot after being whisked away from prison gates in Atlanta several weeks ago as he was about to be rearrested for Canadian authorities on charges of "hijacking."

JAPAN COVERED BY RECORD SNOWFALL

TOKYO, Jan. 30.—All of Japan was covered today by a record snow fall one of the heaviest in many years. All communication was temporarily blocked by the storm. Telegraph and telephone lines were put out of commission and train service into Tokyo was blocked.

Service by tramcars and buses in the city was at a standstill due to the deep snow.

The storm was reported general thruout Japan. Despite the inconvenience caused to residents, the country welcomes the snow as it will mean an end to threats of a water famine.

Officials of power companies who planned to plunge Tokyo into darkness because of the threatened water and power shortage announced the storm would make such a step unnecessary.

In the mountains the storm was reported particularly heavy meaning a storage of moisture and assuring power facilities.

EXECUTE SLAYER

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Jan. 30.—Peter Virgolini was electrocuted early today for the fiendish murder last September of nine-year-old Anna Tomisch. He walked with a steady pace to the death chamber, apparently unconcerned as to his fate.

LUCKY STRIKE

IT'S TOASTED

Facts About Taxes on Cigarettes

TO the general public, we believe it will be surprising to learn that nearly half of what they pay for cigarettes goes to the government for taxes.

The internal revenue stamp on a package of twenty Lucky Strike cigarettes costs you six cents. On a 75c tin of one hundred the revenue stamp costs you thirty cents.

So nearly one-half of what you pay for cigarettes is spent by you for taxes.

This is certainly the heaviest tax on an article of daily and universal consumption.

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business is with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $309,014,050.84.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $182,715,735.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strikes—it "Wins More Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it generous, to attract attention.

Super-quality

Only by immense volume can we produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

Cleanliness and Care in Manufacture

Every Lucky Strike factory is a model of sanitation. Read how Alfred W. McCann, the noted food expert, describes one of our factories: "White walls and ceilings, floors as clean as freshly chiseled marble, cutting machines and wrapping machines that take away from the human hand all detail and leave nothing to the human supervision but the watchfulness of trained eyes."

GIRL TRIED IN SUPERIOR COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Again the "Tiger girl," 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, prepared today to fight for the sweet years of her womanhood.

The "jazz struck" flapper who calmly confessed she killed her mother and then went out to dance and drink gin with "sheiks," viking blood of her forebears asserting itself flashed her eyes as she got ready to meet her attorneys who will battle to keep the girl out of San Quentin prison for life.

Juvenile Judge Frank Murasky ruled late yesterday the mother slayer must stand trial for murder in superior court. With the tranquillity and sanfroid that has marked her bearing most of the time since her arrest two weeks ago, Dorothy showed the same fortitude when her hopes for a short term in a girls' reformatory were slashed. A few tears turned aglowing beneath her red hair, filled her eyes. Then she clenched her hands and quietly walked to prison.

The "jazz maniac" probably will be taken at once to Ingleside jail, to be placed behind cell bars while waiting the month or two elapsing before her trial.

Under instructions of Policewoman Kathryn Sullivan, the child murderess packed her belongings ready for transfer from the comfortable city prison.

Unmoved, she crammed into a suitcase the copper colored dress she wore when she shot down her mother from behind. With the same hands that killed, she rather tenderly brushed a rust colored hat given her as a birthday gift by the dead mother.

On top of her clothes she packed in a copy of Oscar Wilde's poems and a package of letters written to her from all parts of the country.

"Her tender years should be taken into consideration," pleaded Walter McGovern, one of Dorothy's three attorneys as he protested against the young matricide's removal to Ingleside jail. But Sheriff Tom Finn prepared a cell to receive Dorothy and announced she would be treated as any other prisoner charged with murder.

In the re-telling of Dorothy's crime, the first of its kind recorded in California, nothing new was brot out by the testimony before Judge Murasky except that police officers who obtained the girl's confession shortly after her arrest made admissions which hay result in an investigation of their tactics.

The officers testified they had not cautioned the 16 year old child that anything she might say would be used against her.

Instead, it was testified, the girl was rushed before two policemen and in the hours of dawn, alone and unguided, she dictated the mother-slaying confession.

Just before she signed the document, she was told it would be used as evidence against her, the officers testified.

Attorneys for the girl fought bitterly to prevent introduction of the confession at Dorothy's hearing yesterday and it was regarded as certain that at her trial an effort will be made to cast it out of the evidence.

No efforts will be made to obtain bail for the "jazz maniac," her attorneys announced today.

"She is better off in jail, away from the crowds," Atty. Alexander Mooslin said, while waiting signing of commitment papers sending Dorothy to the county jail.

Judgment Day at Hand, She Says

Christobel Pankhurst, once the most militant advocate of equal suffrage, declares the women's cause in politics is "a lesser one" now. The reason is that the end of the world is near, she says. She has come to New York from her home in England to conduct a revival and proclaim the nearness of Judgment Day.

SEEK DECISION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The state of Oregon, thru its attorney general, Isaac Van Winkle, today petitioned the United States supreme court for an early decision on the validity of the Oregon law requiring children in that state to attend the public school and prohibit those within specified ages from attending private schools.

The law would go into effect next September if declared valid and time is required, the brief said, to make provision for its enforcement and provide for increased number of pupils at the public schools.

RAPS PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—President Coolidge's influence on legislation was condemned from the floor of the senate this afternoon by Sen. Copeland, Dem. of New York, in an attack on the Moses compromise postal rate bill.

Copeland declared the postal measure was "unfair" and "outrageous." He urged his colleagues to shake off the White House influence in voting for the bill and declared he hoped the president's yacht Mayflower, would soon be used exclusively for pleasure.

IDA. TOWN FLOODED

NAPA, Ida., Jan. 30.—This city was under several feet of water, many were homeless, dance halls and pavilions are being used as sleeping quarters and a number of families have been forced to the second floor of their homes as a result of Indian Creek overflowing its banks.

The main streets are under four feet of water.

Property damage and loss of livestock will run into several hundred thousand dollars.

When one partakes of too much food he must indulge in sufficient exercise to consume it—or pay the price.

Monroe Doctrine Must Be Maintained

"The foreign policy of the United States," said Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois recently at the moment he was being mentioned for the ambassadorial post at Rome, "may be repugnant to some of us, it may be acceptable to some of us, or, again, some of us may approve its general tendencies and broad purposes while we criticize it in detail. There is, none the less, an American foreign policy influential upon the course of events in Asia, in Europe and in the two Americas. It is the traditional foreign policy of the United States.

"This traditional foreign policy of the U. S. is a policy not of isolation, but of independence; a policy of collaboration, and not of alliance. It is primarily an American policy and not a European policy or an Asiatic policy or a world policy.

"It was the senate which resisted the annexation of the Dominican Republic; it was the senate which first declared against the annexation of Cuba; it was the senate which ratified, with Monroe-like reservations to preserve our traditional American policy, the acts of Berlin and Brussels, as well as The Hague treaties; it was the action of the senate which made the Panama canal an American canal and not a neutral canal and which made it possible to guard the canal, both by fortification in Panama and by the establishment of a naval base at Guantanamo.

People's Desires Mirrored

"The senate acted thus, if I read aright the history of the country, in response to the common judgment of the American people, who are unwilling to assume political responsibilities in Europe or Asia and who increasingly resented the activity or the intervention of great powers in the Caribbean area, and, indeed, by threat of war expelled the French from Mexico, as, by actual war, they expelled Spain from the Antilles.

"By that war we drove an European colonial power from the Americas. With the establishment of Cuban independence, we gave evidence that we no longer cared to acquire sovereignty over peoples and territories to the south of us, but, at the same time, inaugurated that policy under which we have made ourselves the protectors of the Carribean states, not only against enemies from without, but against revolutionaries from within.

"The treaties under which we advise and participate in the government of Hayti and the Dominican Republic are born directly of the policies under which we excluded the British from the isthmus and excelled Spain from Cuba and established what is tantamount to a protectorate over the Caribbean.

Nation's Influence Strengthened

Under international law one of the weaker European states might transfer the remnants of its West Indian colonies to one of the greater European states, but we would not permit. We would not submit that right of transfer under international law to The Hague court.

"We are not less influential, but more influential, because that is our policy. Our detachment from European complexities, our aloofness from the international Tammany and our attachment to American independence make alike for our security at home and our influence abroad in solving the most urgent foreign problems. When we consent to join in their solution.

"The United States exercises its greatest influence because it is responsive to the judgment and conscience of American people."

CAUGHT IN CHASE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Charged with the possession of liquor distilling equipment, three alleged desert moonshiners, T. J. Middleton, H. P. Warren and Geo. Haner, captured by officers in the Mojave desert yesterday after a thrilling rifle battle, and a 15-mile auto chase, were to be arraigned in justice court at Lancaster today.

Search for the desert stronghold, which started two weeks ago, culminated after the leader of the band sent word to the officers to "try and get us. We are ready to die fighting."

E. H. METCALF
EMORY E. KNIPE
DEAN W. HASSON
A. A. SLABACK

The following is a statement of the grounds in which the removal or recall is sought, to-wit:

That the said above named persons, acting in their respective capacities as Members of the Board of Trustees of the City of Anaheim, have:

(1) been subservient to the influence of the officers of the local organization of the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan;

(2) permitted the use of the city park by the above named organization, to hold mass meetings, at which meetings large numbers of our citizens and tax payers have been insulted and held up to scorn and ridicule by reason of their religious faith;

(3) permitted the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Klansmen's robes, to patrol the streets and direct traffic thereon;

(4) permitted and countenanced the defacing of the city streets by painted letters "K.K.K." and "K.I.G.Y.";

(5) refused to heed or act upon petitions presented to the Board of Trustees, by large numbers of citizens of the City of Anaheim;

(6) embarrassed competent men in the employ of the City, because of religious affiliations, or because of their refusing to join the Ku Klux Klan;

(7) employed and paid police officers without authority of law;

(8) illegally contracted for municipal work; and

(9) generally conducted the municipal affairs with disregard for the wishes of the great majority of the citizens of Anaheim.

ANSWERS TO CHARGES CONTAINED IN PETITION FOR RECALL OF

E. H. METCALF
EMORY E. KNIPE
DEAN W. HASSON
A. A. SLABACK

We, Trustees E. H. Metcalf, Emory E. Knipe, Dean W. Hasson and A. A. Slaback, deny that in any single instance, we have been controlled by the Ku Klux Klan in our attitude toward city employees or any other policy of administration.

We further deny that the rights of any citizen have been abrogated in any respect. The only request ever received from the Ku Klux Klan has been to impartially enforce the law. This was in accord with our own desires and the platform upon which we were elected.

We point with pride to the manner in which we have conducted the City's business and submit the record of these transactions as proof of our fitness to be continued in office.

REASONS SET FORTH IN RECALL PETITION DEMANDING THE RECALL OF GODFREY J. STOCK

The statement of the grounds on which the removal or recall is sought is as follows:

(1) Wilfully refusing to sign legitimate demands against the City of Anaheim, as a member of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees of said City, in payment of expenses in enforcement of the Liquor Ordinance.

(2) Failure to co-operate with the other members of the Board of Trustees of the City of Anaheim in the conduct of the affairs of the City.

(3) Generally incompetent to serve as City Trustee because of indifference and neglect of duties.

REASONS GIVEN BY GODFREY J. STOCK TO JUSTIFY HIS COURSE IN OFFICE

FIRST: It is stated that as a member of the Finance Committee I wilfully refused to sign legitimate demands against the City in payment of expenses on account of enforcement of the liquor ordinance.

I refused to approve illegal demands which were not itemized as required by law and did not contain the name of the person who served the City or the character of his services and that the Tax Payer's money should not be spent excepting on demand disclosing the cause of the expenditure, and by whom the money was originally earned or claimed.

SECOND: It is stated that I failed to cooperate with other members of the Board of Trustees.

The complaint here made is because I refused to endorse their policy, which has not been an open policy, but adopted by them in secret so far as I have been able to learn.

THIRD: It is charged that I am generally incompetent because of indifference and neglect of duties.

This statement is untrue. I have faithfully discharged every duty as City Trustee.

NOTICE to the GENERAL PUBLIC

January 27, 1925

To the Industrial Committee,
Anaheim Chamber of Commerce,
Anaheim, Calif.

Gentlemen:

This is to explain the relations of the ROSS TURBINE ENGINE COMPANY with the Foundry Company.

The former firm has arranged to purchase the plant and some stock in the Anaheim Metal Industries and are to pay mostly in cash over a three years' period, and partly in stock in their own company. They have not purchased any of the concrete tile machines, patents or other assets relating to the tile machine business. The Ross Company has nothing to do with the liabilities of the old company, except that, if they go ahead, the proceeds of their purchase price will be paid into a trust for distribution to mortgagees and creditors according to priority to secured claims and pro-rated to the unsecured.

The old Anaheim stockholders and balance of claims of unsecured creditors are to be cared for by the company which is being organized to take over the tile making assets that have been created through the operations of the Anaheim Metal Industries. In addition, if Anaheim goes ahead with the ornamental lamp posts, both the Ross Company and the Anaheim Metal Company will have not only business, but casn assets. This lamp post work, if it comes, and some ten thousand dollars worth of tile machines, etc., I am planning to turn over to the Ross Company, if they go ahead.

I am writing the foregoing in an endeavor to clarity the situation and am not urging the Chamber to get behind the Ross Company, as I feel that they will act on the merits of the proposition and for the best interests of all concerned.

Yours very truly,
JOHN Q. ROSCOE

To Whom It May Concern:

Owing to the fact that there are so many people in Anaheim and vicinity who misconstrue the relations between the ROSS TURBINE ENGINE COMPANY in the purchase of the Anaheim Foundry and Machine Works, I take the liberty of publishing the following letter which was addressed to the Industrial Committee of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, which committee the Ross Turbine Engine Company representative called on on Tuesday evening at 4 p.m., and placed before said committee all facts pertaining to the relations between the Ross Turbine Engine Co., and the Anaheim Metal Industries and their representative, John Q. Roscoe. We have done this in order to have the whole people in the community, in addition to the Chamber of Commerce, understand all facts pertaining to the matter, so that when the Ross Turbine Engine Co. opens the plant here in Anaheim, it can expect the full co-operation of all the people in the community.

In addition to the letter referred to above, I am enclosing a copy of the company's personnel, which is to have complete charge of the operation of the plant.

You may have heard it said that every great institution is but the lengthened shadow of one man. Here is an enterprise where one man of exceptional ability has drawn around him others who would prove vital contributing factors to the success of any enterprise, however large.

Specialization is the order of the age. Each man in the Ross Turbine Engine Co., Inc. is a distinct specialist in his line. He knows what he knows because he has studied it well—he has mastered it.

The Ross personnel was built for the future, of man-material that endures. All the company officers and directors are men of proven business acumen and sound judgment. They are successful. And success is contagious. They bring to the Ross organization a record of accomplishments.

It is not too much to say that anything short of an overwhelming success for the Ross enterprise would be well-nigh an impossibility.

I am, yours very truly,
ROSS TURBINE ENGINE CO., Inc

DAILY GREETING TO OUR READERS

Let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow.—Isaiah 1.18.

I said it in the meadow-path,
I said it on the mountain stairs—
The best things any mortal hath
Are those which every mortal shares.

GOVERNMENT IS SOUND AND HONEST

The country is shocked—and quite properly so—at revelations of corruption in the state government of Kansas as it was in the gubernatorial administration just ended. Misconduct in public office should be reprehended strongly. The guilty should be punished. The people always should be keen of conscience as to these things. Public sentiment always should be antagonistic and condemnatory toward the corruptionist in office. But—

Judgment as to these things should be based on common sense and common fairness. Condemnation should be reversed for those who are found guilty of corruption, beyond reasonable doubt. Because here and there an unfit man gets into public office, the grievous mistake should not be made by the public of condemning public officials by wholesale. Public officials, generally, are honest, conscientious men, who gave faithful service to the public. It is cruelly unjust to class them with the comparatively few who are corrupt. The public, too, should take to heart the origin and the reason for corruption in some official positions. The people themselves permit the nomination and election of the men who prove to be unfit for office. Let the reformative agitation be directed toward the great numbers of good citizens who demonstrate bad citizenship by neglecting to vote.

One confirmed pessimist, running at large, is capable of turning a great many persons into optimists.

There are persons yet living who can remember the time when it was safe to walk across the street.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

RAFAEL SABATINI

English is an adopted language for Rafael Sabatini, whose novel "Scaramouche," a story of the French Revolution, was awarded the $10,000 Zukor prize as the best novel produced as a motion picture in 1924.

His father, Vincento Sabatini, married an English woman who lived in Italy, and is now more fluent in Italian than in English. Italian was the language of Sabatini's youth; his father spoke no English and his mother taught him only a few phrases.

The historical romancer studied at the Ecole Cantanole in Zug, Switzerland, and at the Lycee of Oporto, Portugal. He began early to feel intense interest in history. He showed great facility in learning languages. This, he believes, nearly caused his ruin.

"The fact that at 18 I spoke and wrote five languages with almost equal fluency, and possessed the foundation of a knowledge of a sixth (English) seemed to my father, who knew nothing about such matters, a splendid equipment for a commercial career," Sabatini says.

So he entered business in England, and, for a few years was diligent. Then the urge to write came upon him. First he wrote for magazines and was overwhelmingly surprised to find that he could sell his stories. His first book, "The Loves of Yvonne," was published in 1902.

Since that time Mr. Sabatini has been wholly devoted to literature. He is a British subject and married an Englishwoman. The Sabatinis have two children, a boy and a girl, both in their teens.

It was almost twenty years after the first book was published that Mr. Sabatini at last struck gold in "Scaramouche." Eight of his earlier novels had been imported into this country, but "Scaramouche", so the legend runs, was declined by seven publishers before it was undertaken by an eighth.

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
Author of "THE FAST WAY TO HEALTH"

ICE CREAM is generally made with about the same mixture as pudding, namely: eggs, cream, corn-starch, sugar, and usually some fruit flavoring. If made in this way it is certainly not a wholesome food. However, it may be made at home from a combination of pure cream and eggs, with the addition of only a small amount of sugar. A small dish of this dessert may be used by the average person occasionally without fear of harm, but there is always a tendency to chill the stomach and retard digestion unless the ice cream is eaten very slowly.

CUSTARDS may be used as a dessert if made properly, or they can be used as the main part of a proteid meal. Although it is not ordinarily advisable to mix two kinds of proteids together, if eggs and milk are properly mixed before cooking the proteid elements in the two seem to combine freely. I do not find this to be the case when they are used uncooked. No corn-starch or sugar should be added to this custard, but a few raisins may be used if desired, in order to impart a slightly sweet flavor. In place of the raisins a small amount of lemon juice can be added, and beaten up vigorously with the egg and milk. The custard should be cooked in a slow oven, otherwise the egg and milk will separate, but it is well to have the dish warm in which the custard is cooked before it is put into the oven, so that the cooking will start more quickly. If the egg and milk separate before the cooking is completed the custard may be taken out of the oven and beaten up again. It might even be necessary to do this two or three times during the cooking, in order to cook thoroughly thru.

THE BEST OF ADVICE

A SOUND BASE OF HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

Ancient traditions, when tested by the severe process of modern investigation, commonly enough fade away into mere dreams: but it is singular how often the dream turns out to have been a half-waking one, presaging a reality.

Ovid foreshadowed the discoveries of the geologists; the Atlantic was an imagination, but a discovery represented in history by Columbus, found a western world; and though the faint forms of centaurs and satyrs have an existence only in the realms of art, creatures approaching man more nearly than they in essential structure, and yet as thoroughly brutal as the goat's or horse's half of the mythical compound, are now not only known but notorious.

Thomas Huxley was first to emphasize that it is a truth of very wide, if not of universal application, that every living creature commences its existence under a form different from, and simpler than, that which it eventually attains.

The oak is a more complex thing than the little rudimentary plant contained in the acorn; the caterpillar is more complex than the egg; the butterfly than the caterpillar; and each of these beings, in passing from its rudimentary to its perfect condition, runs through a series of changes, the sum of which is called its development.

In the higher animals these changes are extremely complicated; but within the last century, the labors of such men as Huxley, Von Baer, Rathke, Reichert, Bischoff, and Remak, have almost completely unravelled them, so that the successive stages of development which are exhibited by a dog, for example, are now as well known to the embryologist as are the steps in the metamorphosis of the silkworm moth to the schoolboy.

Huxley says that exactly in those respects in which the developing Man differs from the Dog, he resembles the ape.

"Thus, identical in the physical processes by which he originates—identical in the early stages of his formation—identical in the mode of his nutrition before and after birth, with the animals which lie immediately below him in the scale—Man, if his adult and perfect structure be compared with theirs, exhibits, as might be expected a marvellous likeness of organization. He resembles them as they resemble one another—he differs from them as they differ from one another."

* * *

Thoughtful men, one escaped from the blinding influences of traditional prejudice, will find in the lowly stock whence Man has sprung the best evidence of the splendor of his capacities: and will discern in his long progress through a past a reasonable ground of faith in his attainment of a nobler Future.

What Editors Are Saying

HONESTY, COURAGE, COMMON SENSE—Sacramento Bee

Recently there was dedicated on the battlefield of San Juan, Cuba, a monument to Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

It is a simple bronze pedestal, expressive of the gratitude the Cubans feel toward that great American, not only for the services he rendered in their war for freedom, but also for his steady and friendly influence in Cuban affairs while President of the United States.

At the dedication ceremonies these words of Roosevelt, were read:

"Honesty first: but honesty is not enough. Courage; but courage is not enough. If a man is a natural born fool, you can't do anything with him. The effective citizen must have three qualities—honesty, courage and common sense."

Roosevelt said many true and vigorous things in his long career of public service; but few more worth while remembering than those words.

And he exemplified them in his own career.

Honesty and courage were his pre-eminently; and to these he surely added that measure of common-sense which gave balance to his policies and character.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

BE BRIEF

Brevity is the soul of wisdom, too.

Ten words can be more potent than 10,000. Brevity is the reason why La Rochefaucauld, Frenchman, is one of the great writers of all times. A few less than 1,000 maxims is the sum total of his literary labors; but these brief jabs and terse peerings into the soul of humanity make him an immortal.

These are some of his maxims:

Those great and brilliant actions which dazzle our eyes, are represented by politicians as the effects of great reigns, instead of which they are commonly the effects of caprice and often the passions. Thus the war between Augustus and Anthony, which is attributed to the ambition they had of making themselves masters of the world, was, perhaps, nothing but the result of jealousy.

We have all of us sufficient fortitude to bear the misfortunes of others.

It requires greater virtue to support good, than bad fortune.

We have more power than will; and it is often by way of excuse to ourselves that we fancy things are impossible.

We promise according to our hopes, and perform according to our fears.

We have not strength enough to follow our reasons.

Truth does not do so much in the world as its appearances do evil.

Everyone complains of his memory, and no one complains of his judgment.

The head cannot long play the part of the heart.

Men are more often guilty of treachery from weakness of character than from any settled design to betray.

We often do good, in order that we may do evil with impunity.

The only good copies are those which exhibit the defects of bad originals.

We are never so ridiculous from the qualities we have, as from those we affect to have.

The world more often rewards the appearance of merit than it does merit itself.

When our vices quit us we flatter ourselves with the belief that it is we who quit them.

VICE ADMIRAL JOSIAH McKEAN

Rear Admiral Josiah McKean, now Commandant of the Mare Island Navy Yard, has been selected to command America's scouting fleet, with the rank of Vice Admiral.

He will succeed Vice Admiral Newton A. McCulley, who has been designated to proceed to Brazil and become head of the United States Naval Commission at Rio de Janeiro.

Admiral McKean was appointed Commandant at Mare Island in 1921. He served as Assistant Chief of Naval Operations in 1919 and later commanded battleship division No. 6 of the old Pacific Fleet.

The birthplace of Rear Admiral McKean was Mt. Hope, O., and he was born on May 30, 1864. He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1884 and took his LL.B. degree at the University of Michigan in 1888. His marriage to Miss Julie Hawxhurst of New York City took place in 1901. His first promotion was to assistant engineer in 1889 and he was transferred to the line as lieutenant in 1899. McKean was made temporary rear admiral in 1918 and permanent in 1920. He served on the Charleston during the Spanish-American war, and from February 15, 1918, to September of that year he commanded the Arizona.

TIMELY VIEWS

"WASTE MUST BE REDUCED IN DISTRIBUTION OF COMMODITIES," SAYS COMMERCE HEAD

"It has become apparent to business men, manufacturers, producers and merchants, as well as to the general public, that an important field of economic study lies within the range of marketing activities that have to do with the transfer of goods from the producer to the consumer. So said Richard F. Grant, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, in calling a conference on distribution January 14 and 15 in Washington.

"Viewed at long range, methods of production are being constantly improved. Costs of production are being reduced thru better management and organization, the perfection of new processes and the wider use of machinery. This accomplishment has been due in no small measure to a better knowledge of conditions affecting manufacture and production.

"The distribution of commodities and articles of common use is as important a factor in the fixing of the price to the ultimate consumer as the producing of them. The system that has been built is the only system we have, or can have, for many years to come. Before we can pass upon it intelligently or reply effectively to any criticism a better understanding of it is necessary. Undoubtedly, the processes of distribution are undergoing constant change and improvement, but these changes are often lost sight of because they are not immediately reflected in a reduction of prices to the consumer.

"Statements and counter-statements are made as to what is wrong. The consuming public frequently attributes the price spread between producer and consumer to excessive profits. Injudicious buying suffers with injudicious selling, the blame for what appear to be excessive costs. The producer, the wholesaler and the retailer are collectively criticized for conditions beyond their single control.

.... Complet

Competent Survey Needed

"The problem of distribution cannot be weighed intelligently, nor can improvements be made in existing methods, until there has been a competent survey of conditions of distribution and a compilation of facts relating to it necessary to a conclusion. This can best be accomplished by those who are themselves engaged in or familiar with distribution."

DEMPSEY QUITS KEARNS MAY 20

(Copyright I. N. S.)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—The greatest alliance ever known to the sport world, that of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns will come to an end on May 20 of this year when Dempsey perhaps the greatest boxing champion ever known leads Estelle Taylor film star to the altar and takes her for his bride.

Such was the exclusive statement today from Dempsey as he made known his plans for the future.

"I will never fight again," the champion declared. "That is one of the arrangements Miss Taylor and I have agreed upon. My ring career is ended. And with it ends my contract with Jack Kearns, who has been my manager for more than eight years."

"Mr. Kearns and I will continue our ownership in the hotel we have here for the present.

"But so far as Kearns and I are concerned, we are through. We never were friends. Our association was purely a business one, those of a boxer and his manager. But I'll say this for Kearns. He is a manager par excellence—the greatest in the world. But, with my marriage just a short time off, we are shaping things up for the great finals.

"I have said and repeat again that I am thru with the boxing game. It's no business for a married man.

"Miss Taylor and I are going to settle down and be regular married people. I'll probably go into some kind of business and continue with the interests I now have. But as a boxer I am thru."

May 20, the date set for the wedding, it was revealed, is Miss Taylor's birthday.

"Unless I can persuade her to marry me sooner Miss Taylor and I will be married May 20," the champion continued. "Estelle is a wonderful girl. I have never known a woman like her. She is no child and will be 26 on her next birthday. She has seen the seamy side of life and judges it at its true value. She is no milk and water woman, but a real genuine girl who wants a home and children.

"Estelle is unlike other girls because one does not tire of her after a short acquaintance. I have known her for nine years now; long before I was champion, and the longer you know her the better you like her. It takes a woman of character to hold a man like that."

Just where Dempsey and Miss Taylor will pass their honeymoon, Dempsey would not tell.

Dempsey said he and Miss Taylor first met in New York thru a telephone conversation.

"I wondered what she looked like," he said enthusiastically. "You know, I have a preference for dark haired women. Sure enough when I did see her, she was a beautiful brunette."

Dempsey and the acretss have been betrothed for more than a year, but for business reasons they have kept it secret, Dempsey revealed.

"I proposed during a dreamy waltz while we were dancing at a hotel here one evening," Dempsey laughed boyishly. "I had wanted to ask her for a long time before that but when the lights dimmed I felt myself grow cold all over and thought to myself, 'It's now or never,' so I just asked her right then and there."

"What did she do?"

"She gave me a most heavenly smile and whispered: 'Why, of course, Jack, didn't you know?'

"And she had cared for me all the time and I had never thought that she cared enough to marry me."

GIBSON'S LATEST IS GOOD COMEDY

For those who want to step out of the routine of workaday life into the atmosphere of refreshing comedy one can do no better than to see Hoot Gibson's latest feature, "Ride for Your Life," which will be seen at the United theater tonight and tomorrow.

This is the first western that Gibson has appeared in for several months and it carries the flavor of the west in colorful abundance.

Gibson has the role of a youthful cowboy, romantic but indolent. His sweetheart, ripe with the adolescence of romantic and healthful girlhood, does not respond to his attentions as a Romeo. She is thrilled with the thoughts of a gallant young bandit who robbed her of a ring for a keepsake. The cowboy is "among those present" when said bandit breathes his last, gives the lad a decent burial and accepts in return for his act of courtesy the bandit's picturesque regalia.

Gibson, as the cowboy, then plays bandit to win the love of his girl. Gibson plays the droll cowboy and the dashing bandit elect with equal cleverness and the picture as a whole is full of fun. Laura La Plants as the winsome heroine, is exceedingly charming. In the cast are such well known members of the silver screen as Robert McKim, Tarry Todd, Howard Truesdell and Clark Comstock.

William Desmond and Eillen Sedwick will be seen in that mysterious and thrilling chapter play "The Riddle Rider." An interesting news reel winds up this exceptionally fine program.

LOOKS LIKE END OF B. B. PROBE

NEW YORK Jan. 30.—If, as the young man himself has been at some pains to imply, Jimmy O'Connell will not appear in New York for the official investigation of the baseball scandal, the local district attorney's probe will die a painful death of malnutrition. There can be little done without O'Connell, the only man mentioned in the expose from whom a confession was obtained. Local officials made no attempt to conceal this state of affairs today, as they prepared to make the best of Jimmy's sudden refusal to do business with them.

Barring extradition proceedings, the district attorney's office has no alternative beyond proceeding with the hearing of minor witnesses from whom there is no hope of getting to the bottom of the affair.

Without actually saying as much, local officials have intimated they will not attempt to extradite O'Connell. He would have to be indicted by the grand jury in the first place, and in the second, they have no assurance that an attempt at extradition would be successful.

They believe that the governor of California would not consent to O'Connell's extradition.

In coming here to testify, O'Connell would lay himself open to possible imprisonment, if convicted in the eyes of the law.

He asked for immunity. The district attorney will not grant it. Therefore O'Connells will stay where he is. Whether the fact that Cozy Dolan, barred from baseball with O'Connell, saw fit to waive immunity in testifying yesterday, will have any effect on Jimmy's present attitude, local officials would not say. They pointed out, however, that Dolan has little to worry about as long as O'Connell, his sole accuser, remains in California.

In fact they made no attempt to evade the fact that neither Dolan nor any of the men accused can be convicted even with O'Connell present. According to the New York statute, no man can be convicted on the unsupported testimony of a self-confessed conspirator.

FULTON ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Fred Fulton, former aspirant to the crown as world's champion boxer today entered a plea of guilty to a charge of conspiracy to violate the California boxing law when his case was called in superior court for trial.

The trials of Jack Reddy, Fulton's manager, Tony Fuente, self-styled "Mexican champion," and Fuente's manager, Fred Winsor, was then started. All four of the men were charged with the same offense as the aftermath of a match between Fulton and Fuente here several weeks ago, in which Fuente knocked Fulton out in unusual short order and it was claimed that the fight had been framed.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Fred Fulton, one time runner up in the claim for the heavyweight boxing championship, and Tony Fuente, so-called Mexican champion," along with their respective managers, Jack Reddy and Fred Winsor, were scheduled to appear in superior court here today to stand trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the California boxing laws.

Just what will take place when the quartet appear in court brot about a storm of rumors. One was that the men would plead guilty and be given a fine. Another was that they would ask a further continuance.

The charges against the fighters and their managers grew out of a match between Fulton and Fuente at Culver City here some weeks ago, it being charged that Fulton "flopped" and allowed himself to be knocked out by Fuente in short order.

Fulton was immediately fined $500 or 250 days in jail. He selected to pay the fine but asked the court for time until Monday in which to raise the money. His request was granted.

All four of the defendants were present in court and a large crowd, mostly followers of the squared ring, were also on hand.

NURMI WILL TRY ANOTHER RECORD

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Having nothing better to do, Paavo Nurmi tonight will attempt the now prosaic business of breaking another world record which, if carried thru to a successful conclusion, will be his sixteenth consecutive record since beginning competition on American tracks some five weeks ago. Paavo will go after his own record at 1 1-8 miles in the feature event of the Morningside A. C. games. The mark, 5.58, was made last Saturday when Nurmi was beaten by a handicap runner in a 2000-yard race.

The handicap runner, Gunnar Nilson, will be one of his opponents tonight. He will try to repeat, but those close to Nurmi have stated that the great Finn will make certain of winning this time.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

AT NEW YORK—Les Price, England, knocked out Phil Weissberger, New York, first round; Billy Prestage, England, knocked out Arthur Smith, New York, seventh round.

AT McKEESPORT, Pa.—Harry Brown, Philadelphia, beat Dick Conlon Altoona ten rounds.

DRISCOLL DEAD

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 30.—"Jem" Driscoll, formerly a well known figure in the prize ring, died here today.

The minister called at the Jones home one summer Sunday afternoon, and little Willie answered the bell.

"Pop ain't in," he said. "He's gone over to the golf club."

The minister's brow darkened, and little Willie added in reassuring tones:

"Oh, not to golf. Nothin' like that on Sunday. Just to drink a few highballs and play a little stud poker."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E BROWN

The dope now is that the Detroit Tigers will line up for the coming season with an infield consisting of Lu Blue on first, Lu Fonseca or Jimmy Caveney at second, Topper Rigney at short and Bobby Jones at third. Fonseca and and Caveney were obtained just a while ago from Cincinnati.

The outfield will be Manush, Cobb and Heilmann, the catching staff Johnny Bassler and Larry Woodall and the regular pitchers, Whitehill Wells, Dauss, Rip Collins and Pillette.

This leaves Johnny Neun, newly acquired first sacker, to prove his worth before he gets a regular berth. Leslie Burke and Fred Haney will fight it out for the first infield utility job with Fonseca or Caveney.

Red Wingo, Fothergill and Carlisle will be the reserve outfielders and Johnson, Olsen, Hollaway and one or two other pitchers will fight it out for attention with the aforementioned flingers.

John McGraw plans to bench Freddy Linstrom, young third sacker who proved his worth last season, and give the veteran Heinie Groh another lease on the third base job. John is credited with believing that Lindstrom is not quite "ripe."

Something tells me that isn't McGraw's plan. Lindstrom is just at that period when regular work will make him—and mooning on the bench will break him.

Speaking of McGraw. One of his many trades is recalled by word that Hank Gowdy, veteran backstop, may not have to carry much of the catching burden this coming year.

Back in 1911 McGraw wanted to get "Buck' Herzog from Boston in exchange for Al Bridwell. He offered to throw in a young catcher, Gowdy, by name, to boot. His offer was accepted. Over a decade later McGraw was tickled to get Hank back on his ball club.

Al Mamaux, veteran big league hurler, isn't in any hurry about signing up with the Minneapolis A. A. club, to which team the Yankees have willed him. Maybe Mamaux wants some assurance that he will get his usual four or five extra meals a day.

* * *

No-one questions the greatness of Dazzy Vance's achievements in the National league last year but there is one youngster who can boast of shading the strikeout artist in one column of the pitching averages. Emil Yde, rookie hurler with the Pirates, hung up a higher percentage of games won. He grabbed off 16 victories and lost but three games for a percentage of .842.

Vance won 28 and lost six games for an average of .824.

* * *

Does the knockout he received at the hands of Jack Zivic sound the knell of Lew Tendler's ring hopes? The chances are that it does. Tendler hoped to start a comeback with a victory over Zivic. The famous southpaw had reason to believe that he could hit the high road again. His past record numbered nary a knockout. This despite the fact that he had met all the good boys that would fight him, including Benny Leonard.

He had suffered but two point defeats last year. Nate Goldman and then Mickey Walker outpointed him in his 1924 battles.

The knockout at the hands of the Pittsburgh lightweight probably will kill his chances of climbing back. For one thing those battlers are few who can take a knockout like that late in their careers and come back.

Tendler will go down in ring history, though, as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, left-handed fighters in his class.

MANY STOCKS AT PEAK FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Conditions in the stock market today were almost identical with those of the previous session. First the oil stocks were taken in hand and pushed vigorously forward to the highest price levels for the current movement, in some cases to the highest prices in two years or more. Speculative interest then switched over to the industrial stocks with a number of railroad shares receiving more attention. A period of dullense followed and prices again moved about in narrow range.

Following out the predictions that have been made in speculative circles since Monday, crude oil prices in the independent mid-Continent field were boosted 25 cents a barrel today.

Prices of most of the independent oil shares regained all of the losses sustained in Thursday's final dealings and in many cases advanced higher than the best previous levels of the year.

Mack Truck advanced to 139 and declined when official denial was made that this company is to be taken over by General Motors. But good buying continued in this stock and transactions were generally at the highest level of the year. Studebaker and General Motors, the other leaders in the motor group, were in good demand all day, Studebaker selling above 45 against yesterday's new at 42. Chandler, Pierce-Arrow and Willys Overland common and preferred made good market records.

With American Can and Baldwin spurting to the highest levels for the movement, industrial stocks displayed a firm tone and American Woolen and other stocks which had been battered down in the previous session rallied a point or two.

General Electric gained nearly six points at 309; Castiron Pipe was up three; U. S. Steel after three hours of inactivity, took a more prominent part in the activities of the day.

Stock sales today totalled 1,792,700 shares; bonds $15,724,000.

When your nose gets red
And your wife gets blue,
It's time to cut loose
From the old home brew.

VAUDEVILLE AT CALIF. TONIGHT

Tonight is vaudeville night at the California theater and a wonderful program has been booked for vaudeville lovers. There are five big time acts, including "Mexico's Greatest Marimba Band," an aggregation of young chaps from Mexico City, who will have a wonderful musical surprise for you.

On the screen you will see "Gold Heels," an adaptation from the famous stage play "Checkers," which enjoyed an enviable run on the speaking stage.

It is a story of the race track and its followers of a decade ago and abounds with thrills. It is a delightful romance and has one of the most exciting horse races ever filmed.

For laughing purposes only, Al St. John in his latest screaming funny comedy, "Love Mania," will be shown and Kinograms completes an ideal program.

The California orchestra will play at the evening performances only.

You may argue the question
And talk all you please,
But riddance of rodents
Beats fighting their fleas.

GIBBONS CLAIMS WORLD'S TITLE

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 30.—"If Dempsey really intends to quit fighting, I lay claim to the heavyweight title and stand ready to defend it against an man in the world," Tom Gibbons declared here today.

Gibbons is here to fight "Tiny" Herman of Omaha, tonight.

"Altho there have been rumors of Dempsey's retirement this is the first real statement I have received from an authentic source," said Gibbons. "I had believed that Dempsey and I would meet again this summer and my manager, Eddie Kane, had expected to make some definite arrangements for the bout on our present trip east. I stand ready to meet any man in the world in defense of the title."

NATURAL FOOD Is Most Important For Children

The most natural foods are the most beneficial, especially for infants and children. Nature intends milk to be consumed exactly as she produces it—clean, pure, and free from special treatment of any kind.

Certified MILK is produced according to the most rigid standards of cleanliness.

These standards are constantly maintaineed at Arden Dairy.

Inspections at the farm are repeatedly made by the Medical Milk Commission and by the Department of Health

Doctors are constantly recommending Certified Milk because they prefer to start with a natural product of known cleanliness, regardless of any modifications which may be necessary to meet specific feeding requirements.

Doctors recommend Arden Certified because certified milk from Holstein cows is conceded to be best for invalids and children. Its flavor surpasses any other. It is rich and uniform from cap to bottom of bottle.

Thousands of babies and children are receiving Arden Dairy Certified Milk each day. The most conclusive proof of its life and health giving qualities rests in the statements of mothers whose own children are being guided happily through their years of growth and development by this pure natural milk.
