EVANGELIST PRESENTED $2000 GIFT

350 Converted in Great Revival Which Came To Close Sunday

In point of converts, collections, attendance and inspiration, the Bulgin revival, which closed last night, was easily the most eventful ever held in Anaheim.

The liberality of the thousands who heard the great evangelist showed that they did not come merely out of curiosity or for an evening's entertainment, as one enthusiast remarked, but because they believed in the message which the famous booze-fighter brought.

The budget of approximately $3500 was met within three weeks after the meetings had opened, while $2,000 or so was given to Evangelist Bulgin yesterday.

The financial success of the affair was due in part, according to Fred L. Sexton, who entertained the evangelistic party, to gifts or loans of articles. F. H. Garrison, for example, loaned the gas stoves and fittings; the Danz Music Co. and Schmidt Music Co. the pianos, while the Gibson Lumber Co. rented the lumber except what had to be cut and was spoiled.

Approximately 350 persons confessed their faith in Christ.

From the opening of the services on Jan. 13 to the close last evening Evangelist Bulgin delivered 35 sermons and addresses.

The children's meetings were of particular value, attendances ranging up to 900 on a single afternoon. The Bible stories, entertainment, music, etc. inspired the kiddies and made them realize their close relationship to the little folks in other congregations as nothing else could possibly have done. Roy Gourley was in charge of these services. He also acted as accompanist in the music thruout the services.

Alvin Carter, baritone soloist and leader of the community singing, played an important part as aide to Dr. Bulgin. His voice, resonant, sweet, full and of excellent range, was backed by fine dramatic instinct, and some of the hymns he sang as solos carried a message here they probably never had done before.

Of the $2,000 presented to Dr. Bulgin the Klan gave $500.

The tent will not be given up for some time.

Tonight Rev. Leon L. Myers will speak on the constructive program of the Klan. Tomorrow evening Rev. Bruce Brown, pastor of the South Park Christian Church of Los Angeles, will also deliver an address on the Klan.

Wednesday evening the California Wright Players will put on a gripping drama, "The Man of Galilee."

After that for ten days Gilbert Thayer, the psychologist, will speak. He of course has no connection with Dr. Bulgin or Pastor Myers.

It is announced that of the revival converts, 40 expressed preference for the Methodist church. Their names already have been turned over to the authorities of the Methodist White Temple. This shows that the revival was of a general character, says Pastor Myers, and not meant to aid any one church.

Starting on March 26 a three weeks' revival will be held by Dr. Bulgin and his aides in Orange, the seating and tent used here being taken.

There was a large audience at the final service in the big tent last night. Carter and Gourley sang a negro spirituelle, "I got shoes, you got shoes." Dr. Bulgin read scriptures including the parable of "the five wise and the five foolish virgins."

Dr. Thayer led in prayer and was introduced by Dr. Bulgin to the audience.

During the opening exercises two interesting events took place. First, Rev. Virgil Ledbetter presented Dr. Bulgin on behalf of some good lady friends a large box of eatables for the enjoyment of the evangelistic party on the trip starting today for the next revival place at Greenfield, Ind.

Second, while Rev. Ledbetter and Rev. Carter were taking money donations from the audience for Dr. Bulgin, three klansmen in regalia, Rev. Myers, A. A. Slaback and Charles Chapin came into the tent and marched up the middle aisle carrying the flag amid great applause from the audience. When

Former Kaiser Issues Warning

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Warning to the world was sounded by the former German kaiser. He commented on the treaty signed recently by Japan and Russia.

"This treaty portends tremendous changes in the world's outlook," Wilhelm is quoted by the London Telegraph as saying. "It is a peril which I alone among the rulers of Europe predicted almost a quarter of a century ago. Now it has materialized.

"France is backing black races; Russia backing yellow; America and England white."

BRITISH ASK PAYMENTS ON DEBTS

LONDON, Feb. 9—Great Britain wants France, Italy, and other war debtors to make annual payments to offset the payments Britain makes to the United States. The treasury department regards the British note to France as generous in its firm invitation to make an offer to begin early payments.

Further the department wants an early and definite offer from France which will lead to a debt funding conference of all the allies, including the United States, if the latter country wishes to enter.

It was estimated by some experts that the British policy sacrifices about £1,500,000,000 but the press points out this is merely the wiping off of uncollectable debts.

Lord Beaverbrook's Express, says "the British taxpayers are being offered as sacrifices. Five years ago," the Express said, "Churchill was demanding Germany pay to the last penny, and wanted the kaiser hanged and now he has made a move which marks the splendid generosity of the British nation toward the foreign taxpayers."

PARIS, Feb. 9—The British proposal that France pay part of her debt to Great Britain, from annuitites out of France's own national resources, regardless of the amount France receives from Germany, was given a cold welcome by the Parisian Press.

Jules Sauerwin, in Le Matin, said:

"It is a serious matter for France to admit the principle that France should pay her war debts even if Germany does not pay."

Pertinax, in Echo de Paris, said the proposition was not as advantageous as that made in 1922 "when Britain was attempting to seduce France to give up her hold on the Ruhr."

"We had better watch our step," he wrote, "otherwise we may find ourselves in a British debt conference in March, an interallied debt conference in April or May, then the American debt will come next."

ARREST MAN FOR SISTERS' MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Mystery today cloaked the identity of a new and important figure in the investigation of the disappearance and murder of the little Martin sisters, May and Nina, following the announcement at the sheriff's office that a man had been arrested at Fresno and was being hurried to Los Angeles under heavy guard.

The officers working on the case steadfastly refused to divulge the name of this man, altho they admitted he may become a pivotal figure in the investigation. He was arrested in Fresno by officers tracing the number of an auto seen near the home of the Martin girls on the night of Aug. 23, when the children disappeared, according to deputy sheriffs.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—With a bitter fight threatened by a Democratic - Insurgent coalition the senate judiciary committee today unexpectedly postponed final action on the nomination of Chas. B. Warren of Detroit as attorney general to succeed Harlan F. Stone.

The committee discussed the appointment in secret session for two hours and then adjourned without having reached a decision.

AUTOIST WHO KILLED MAN ARRESTED

District Attorney May Prosecute and Then He May Not

In a collision six miles south of Santa Ana, E. T. Barron, 26, of Los Angeles, was killed and R. M. Seeley of Los Angeles and T. A. Potts of Glendale, driver of the other car, injured early Sunday.

Potts, telephone inspector, was removed to the county jail today from the county hospital and as investigation charge was filed against him.

A coroner's jury today decided that liquor had played a part in the head-on collision, but refused to fix responsibility for the accident. A Santa Ana physician declared that Potts had been drinking.

Barron, 26, war veteran, was with R. F. Seeley, 28, and the two were making an early trip to Tia Juana, it was testified. A half mile north of Irvine, Pott's touring car and the coupe collided. Barron's body was taken to the Winbigler funeral home at Santa Ana, from which it will be shipped to his mother at Atlanta, Ga. Seeley was able to be removed to his home in Los Angeles, where both he and Barron worked, while Potts' injuries were not serious.

If the district attorney's office believes that Potts was responsible for the accident it may file a manslaughter charge. Dep. Dist. Att. C. N. Mozley indicated, adding there was a possibility he would file a charge of driving an auto while under the influence of intoxicants.

Coroner Charles D. Brown also was to hold an inquest at the Harrel Parlors at Huntington Beach late today over the body of Fred Williams, 65, a laborer of that city, who died at the Santa Ana hospital yesterday from injuries he received Friday night when struck by an auto driven by Fred Young, son of the Ford dealer at the Beach City.

Williams was walking along the road three miles north of the oil fields when he was struck down.

The two auto victims in the county over the week-end both died of fractured skulls. Neither had relatives in Orange-co.

ADMIT CHANGES IN PARIS AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Official admission was made by the state department today that certain textual changes were made in the Paris agreement under which the United States became an official partner in the Dawes plan in exchange for a 2 1-4 per cent of the revenue it derived, some days after it was originally signed at Paris by Ambassador Kellogg and the allied representatives.

These changes, however, were of "little consequences." it was said at the department, and change neither the context nor the ultimate purpose of the agreement.

CONFESSES HIDING HEADS IN CONCRETE

GENEVA, Ill., Feb. 9.—Police guards were stationed about the Kane-co courthouse today where Warren J. Lincoln is on trial for the murder of his wife and her brother, because of high feeling here against the defendant.

Closing arguments were being heard today and many in the jammed courtroom glared at the lawyer-horticulturist, who has confessed cutting off the two heads and secreting them in a concrete block.

The jury is expected to retire with the evidence some time today.

Baby Born While Mother is Dying

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Tragedy's baby came to Los Angeles today.

He was born as a result of a remarkable caesarian operation as his mother, father and 18-months-old brother were dying after an auto collision.

Sidney Kahn, 35, an auto worker, and the brother, were almost instantly killed and Mrs. Kahn died an hour later after she was rushed to a hospital and the operation hurriedly performed.

A perfect baby was born to Mrs. Kahn.

Pearl Oliver, driver of a car which crashed into the Kahn machine, was arrested and held on manslaughter charges. He was said to have tried to pass the Kahn car, striking it and turning the machine completely over.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Gov. Friend W. Richardson was in Los Angeles today, the beginning of a stay of two weeks during which the executive intends visiting the state institutions in this vicinity and sitting with the board of regents of the U. S. C. at its hearing on the proposed removal of the southern branch of the institution to a more commodious location.

The session of the regents is scheduled for tomorrow morning, when representatives of various cities will present their claims for location of the university branch.

NEW STORM MAY REACH SO. CALIF.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Storm warnings flying from Point Reyes to Tatoosh today heralded the approach of another storm of marked intensity which, according to the weather bureau, may be of sufficient strength to extend the entire length of California.

Preparations were being made in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys to meet new high water levels in case the predicted downpour again raises the streams there.

Road conditions in the northern part of the state were rapidly reaching normal as slides on the Pacific highway and other roads were being cleared away by gangs of road maintenance workers.

The storm was due to reach central California late this afternoon, according to the weather bureau.

PREDICT CLOUDY WEATHER

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Possibility of more rain for So. Calif. was given today in the forecast of the weather bureau, which predicted cloudy weather tonight and Tuesday.

Agriculturists were jubilant following announcement that a compilation of weather statistics for the past 20 years indicated the probable rainfall for the balance of the season would reach at least 7.36 inches.

Maximum totals for the period range as high as 13.37 inches in February, and 12.36 in March.

Heavy showers were reported in the last 24 hours at Santa Barbara and Ventura, where .20 of an inch of rain was received. At Porterville the season's total was brought to 6.13 inches and Santa Monica and Venice received the heaviest precipitation in Los Angeles-co with a register of .13 of an inch.

2 KILLED, 50 INJURED IN N.Y. FOG

Transportation System of Metropolitan Area Disrupted

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Fog that disrupted the entire transportation system of the metropolitan area caused four big wrecks today.

Two persons were killed in a crash of three subway trains moving over an elevated structure in the Bronx. An undetermined number of panic stricken, apparently more than 50 from first reports to the authorities, were injured.

Nine persons were hurt when two elevated trains went together in Brooklyn. Four other persons were injured when a subway train and an elevated train met in Long Island city.

The fog was so thick that one ferry line suspended service altogether. Surface and elevated cars groped along and street traffic was slowed.

Twenty persons were hurt, four critically, when two surface cars collided in the Bronx.

Fire and police boats scurried about frantically in the waters of Long Island sound before they succeeded in retrieving ten connected coal barges, carrying a captain and his family each, that drifted away from their moorings and were swallowed by the mist.

A dozen trans-Atlantic liners were held up at quarantine because they could not negotiate the Narrows.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Two persons were killed and nearly a hundred injured, many seriously, in three collisions on subway and elevated railways because of the heavy fog which enveloped the city. The entire transportation system was disorganized and the blanket of fog made navigation so dangerous taht one ferry line suspended service.

Two men, a conductor and a passenger, were killed and 50 were injured when three subway trains collided on the elevated structure of the White Plains-ave., subway at 219th-st. One train crashed into the rear of another which was taking on passengers and a third train crashed into the second. Several cars were telescoped.

Frank Acherstein, a guard, and Giles Wanamaker, a general sessions court attendant, were killed.

The light wooden cars of the second train were telescoped. The two men were pinned down by wreckage.

Due to fog in the lower bay, the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Scotland" and the steamer "Scottsburgh" of the Barber Line, collided off quarantine, with slight damage.

Several hundred passengers on the municipal ferry boats Pres. Roosevelt and the Bronx became frightened when the two boats had a slight collision.

FERRIES COLLIDE

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 9— A dense fog hanging over the harbor and Hampton Roads caused the collision between a navy yard passenger ferry boat and Norfolk-Portsmouth ferry boat in the Elizabeth river here today and nine persons were taken to the naval hospital dispensary but all were discharged after treatment.

TWO BIG PROBES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Two gigantic federal investigations, one into the General Electric Co.'s alleged trust activities and the other into the tobacco industry, appeared certain this afternoon when the senate began consideration of the Norris and Ernst resolutions.

The investigations were linked when Senator Norris, Rep. of Neb., offered his electric trust resolution as an amendment to the tobacco inquiry proposed by Senator Ernst, Rep. of Kentucky. Both investigations would be conducted by the federal trade commission.

Delay Probe of End of World Prophecy for "Heavenly Hour"

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 9.—County Prosecutor Stanton today began an investigation into "the end of the world" prediction of Margaret Rowan of California and the subsequent disappearance of her two leading evangelists here.

Stanton is attempting to obtain evidence to prove that members of the Reformed Seventh Day Adventists here have been victimized into selling all their earthly belongings and turning a portion of the receipts over to the mission.

Four women, members of the mission were called to the probe today but all professed sincerely that they still believed "a sign appeared on the night of Feb. 6" as predicted by the California woman and that "the world would end within a heavenly hour—15 days.

However, one of the women called by Stanton said:

"We will be ready to say that Miss Rowan is not a true prophet if her prophecy is not fulfilled by Feb. 21."

The probe will be continued over until after that date, it was indicated by Stanton.

BANKS TALK OF CLEARING HOUSE

Establishment of a clearing house for Orange-co banks is expected to be brought nearer Friday evening, when this project will be the principal topic of discussion at the Orange-co Bankers' Ass'n meeting, to be held at the building of the First National, Santa Ana.

Many thousands of dollars in interest is lost annually because of the delay in accrediting deposits by checks which aren't cleared for several days perhaps.

Time, distance and cost have been the principal obstacles toward a practical solution of the problem, according to E. E. Smith of the Golden State National.

Orange and Santa Ana already have a method of clearing checks on the banks of the two communities, a motorcycle being used to cut down the time consumed. They clear daily.

An instance of the laborous method in vogue now is seen in the case of Garden Grove, which in order to clear with Anaheim must send its checks to Los Angeles first, which then send them here, a distance all told of 55 or 60 miles, altho the two communities are only five or six miles apart.

Bankers of Anaheim, regardless of affiliations, are strongly in favor of county clearances, if a practicable method can be evolved.

DIVORCE HEARING WITNESSES JAILED

Charged with contempt of court, Harry Woodford, storekeeper of Eagle Rock, was locked up in the county jail at Santa Ana today after a bench warrant for his arrest had been issued by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm. Woodford had been subpoenaed as a witness in a spectacular divorce suit being waged in Judge Drumm's court by Melvin Ross, who is suing his wife, Cora. Woodford is scheduled to answer to the charge before Judge Drumm today.

The Ross case, hearing of which was postponed after it was begun Wednesday, is featured by the charges of infidelity brought both by the plaintiff and his wife. Woodford's arrest marks the second in the suit.

Mrs. Alice Brown of Pasadena, mother of a girl who was named as co-respondent in Mrs. Ross' counter suit, was able to gain her freedom after a bench warrant had been issued for her arrest.

So unprintable became the testimony in Wednesday's hearing that Judge Drumm ordered a 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross excused from the courtroom.

HARTRANFT BACKS REAPPORTIONMENT

The reapportionment bill, by which the legislative representation of the southland would be considerably increased to a point in accordance with its increased population, was boosted by Assemblyman S. C. Hartranft in a speech to Rotarians today at their weekly luncheon.

Hartranft also backed the bill to tax publicly-owned public utilities, water concerns excepted.

President Carl Leonard is expected back shortly from the east.

Perpheio Diaz, 36, of Delhi was horribly mangled this morning when he was killed by a falling eucalyptus tree which he and other workmen were removing near Greenville.

Despite horrified shouts of fellow workmen, according to reports received by Coroner Chas. D. Brown, Diaz seemed unable to run from his perilous position beneath the tree and was caught beneath the huge trunk. Death was instantaneous.

An inquest will be held tomorrow at the Winbigler funeral home at Santa Ana.

The victim is survived by a large family.

ANAHEIM HORSES AT AMBASSADOR

Anaheim will have a pretty good representation of horse flesh at the Ambassador horse show next week, beginning Monday. Messrs Sparks & McClalland will enter "Snowflakes," who will be ridden by Miss Katherine Raische, daughter of Dr. Bessica Raische, and riding pupil of Mrs. John Eells.

Mr. and Mrs. Eells will enter two horses, "Chestnut," who was in the money last year and has taken many other prizes, and Morgan, a beautiful black. Mrs. A. Parker, a winter guest, will enter her famous jumper, "Daisy."

Anaheim is not blind to the pleasure and pride of fine horses and each weekend sees riding parties of a dozen or eighteen out for a canter and outing.

PLAN ARREST WITHIN 24 HOURS

Radio Expert Claims Explorer Still Remains Alive

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 9.—If the primary conclusions of the test are borne out by a recheck now in progress, Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, archaeologist of the U. of Ky., today said he believed that less than 10 feet of rotten, decayed rock probably now separated Floyd Collins, held prisoner for nine days in Sand Cave, from freedom.

Finding of a rabbit-sized hole 70 feet down in Sand Cave is assuming great importance, according to authorites. If it is found to lead to Collins' living tomb, operations on the shaft will cease and every effort will be bent to bring Floyd out today.

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 9—An arrest within 24 hours—this was the prediction at noon today of military authorities as the web of evidence uncovered in the swiftly moving inquiry opened to run to earth the ugly rumors and the insinuations in connection with the imprisonment of Floyd Collins centered about one man.

The name was withheld, but it was intimated that the suspect was one who had rubbed shoulders with the scores of earnest rescue workers gathered here to risk their lives in the name of humanitarianism.

All thru the morning, Lieut. Gov. H. H. Denhart's aides travelled muddy, rut-filled roads to gather additional evidence.

And in their wake spread a wave of furore and excitement. Over the hills went the news, travelling as if by wireless, and the hills and their people shouted back:

"This is murder!"

Meanwhile the proposed grand jury investigation had staggered almost to a standstill, awaiting developments from the military.

"We'll know when we get to that passage way," H. T. Carmichael, general supervisor of operations in the pit, said grimly today. "I do not believe it is a hoax. Do you think that I'd have risked the lives of my men in that tunnel if I had the faintest idea that this was only a scheme for publicity or revenge? Why, if it turned out to be, I'd be tempted to take a six-shooter and get every man connected with it."

"Others in charge at the pit agree with me, but still others cannot quite understand the many strange occurrences.

"It's all too fantastic they say but—"

What may happen if it does prove a hoax, was a question today. Feeling is running high and these hardy Kentucky hills mother a flinty race, used to dispensing law with the bark of a pistol. Men clad in the costume of the hill country gathered in little groups and whispered and pointed often in the direction of Sand Cave.

And the military cleaned their guns.

From the rescue operation came little early news. The crevice, tapped yesterday and reported as a new cavern, it now has been announced, will prove of little real assistance to the diggers. The gas test, by which it was hoped to prove whether or not there was another entrance to the cave had failed.

Major Norman first directed his questioning to the feud that is said to exist between the Collins and the Geralds partly as a result of Geralds' efforts to obtain Floyd's rights to Crystal cave which Floyd discovered and then asked Geralds to explain why, when his alleged enemy was trapped in the slime and rock of Sand cave, he rushed to his rescue and posed as a "pal" of the prisoner.

Geralds admitted, according to Norman, that he and Floyd "were not particular friends," although they had known each other for years. He said he had hardly seen Floyd in several years, but admitted he had been "dickering" with him and his father for various rights to Crystal cave.

"I guess I just went down to save him as I would anybody else," Geralds was quoted as saying. "I thought I could...

GAMBLING JOINT SCENE OF MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9— The luxuriously furnished "Sorrento" club, where Al Joseph, San Francisco gunman-gangster, was killed by Milton "Farmer" Page, alleged "king" of Los Angeles gamblers, was the scene of revels participated in by fashionably clad women, aglitter with jewels, men-about-town in evening attire, shoulder to shoulder with "big money" gamblers and society girls of exclusive families "out for a thrill" at whatever risk of reputation, it was revealed today by a district attorney's office investigation.

When Joseph pitched forward on his face with his undischarged weapon still clutched in his hand there was a wild skurry of merrymakers to escape from the place before the arrival of investigators. But the search for disinterested witnesses may involve members of several of the best known families of the city, it was indicated.

Admission to the club was impossible without the vouchment of an habitue, but once behind the iron barred doors of the place the "sky was the limit". While private parties in upstairs rooms disported themselves as fancy dictated, gamblers in the rooms below risked near fabulous sums on the turn of a card. "Nick the Greek," famous gambler of New York and Chicago, saw $5000 fade into the house coffers when white turned instead of red.

STATE WILL REVEAL UNWRITTEN STORIES

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—While attorneys continued their struggles to complete a jury, the state made it known today that hitherto unwritten stories of Chicago's underworld would be revealed in the trial of W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, on charges of plotting to defame the name of his wife, Helen Elwood Stokes.

W. C. Danneberg, investigator for Mrs. Stokes, said today that the state will prove Stokes said his wife and Helen Underwood, an inmate of a notorious resort, were one and the same woman, while knowing all the time that the Underwood girl had been dead for several years.

A huge crowd, drawn to the courtroom in the hopes of seeing Mrs. Stokes again, as on Friday, was disappointed. It was said Mrs. Stokes probably would not appear until taking of evidence was started.

BLAMES POLITICS

ATHENS, Feb. 9.—Bad politics since consummation of the Lausanne treaty was held responsible today for the present conflict from Turkey by General Pangales.

Pangales said the Greek cabinet during the Lausanne negotiations decided to break off negotiations and resume war but that the Greek representative at the negotiations disregarded instructions.

HIRE DETECTIVE IN MURDER PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—With the arrival here today of A. J. Kane, head of the detective agency retained by Dist. Atty. Wm. R. McKay of Kings-co, to investigate the death of Lee Camp, wealthy young rancher, the center of the death probe swung from Hanford to this city.

Location of what was termed an "important witness" by Dist. Atty. McKay resulted in Kane's hurried trip here from Hanford and it was said this witness would be interrogated during the day.

Meanwhile, additional detectives were arriving at Hanford to continue the probe which resulted in exhumation of the young rancher's body. The investigation centers around a charge that the young man may have come to his death by other means than a 31-foot fall from a windmill.

Camp's estate, according to investigators, will total close to $300,000, insurance policies aggregating $130,000, doubling because of the supposed accidental nature of his death.

John Tilton, an uncle of Mrs. W. Stanton Brown, beneficiary under the will of Camp, is understood to be the witness sought in San Francisco. He was said to have found Camp unconscious near the windmill on which the young rancher was installing machinery.

BOMBING OFFICERS READY TO TESTIFY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Secy. of Navy Wilbur today transmitted to the congressional committee investigating the air service an offer of two former bombing officers to appear here and give testimony based on their experiences in the air.

The ex-officers, Howard G. Rath and H. M. Brown, are now in Los Angeles.

In a telegram to Wilbur, they offered information to support the secretary's ideas "upon the results to be expected from bombing under war conditions and upon Gen. Mitchell's conduct and lack of knowledge of bombing during the late war."

MAY BE ACCIDENT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 9—Discovery of a clue indicating possibility that the Ohio State university strychnine poisonings may have been accidental was announced today by Police Prosecutor Chester. The nature of the new "lead" unearthed today was not disclosed by police officials who this morning resumed their questioning of students on the university campus.

Deny Ship in Distress

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Officials of the Dollar Steamship line today denied reports circulated from London that the liner President Harrison had sent out S.O.S. signals in Grecian waters. They declared cables had been received from both Naples and Genoa from the vessel's commander and no trouble was mentioned in either.

out. When I got near him, I told him I was coming in to get him and he told me he was glad I had come."

Geralds steadfastly denied that he knew of another entrance to the passage where Collins lies.

"I asked Collins about that and he told me the way I had come in was the only way to get him out," he said.

Maj. Norman then directed his questioning toward the exact manner in which Collins was held in the natural vise which imprisoned him and on this point Geralds was voluble.

"His whole body, when I last saw him, was covered with rock and sand dripping down from the roof," he said.

"His arms were wedged in right close to him and he could not move any part of his body but his head."

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 9—A "radio medical examination" today was made of Floyd Collins, Sand Cave prisoner, by Dr. Wm. Hazlett, of Chicago.

Dr. Hazlett listened over the head phones of the radio apparatus used to determine whether the pinioned man is still alive, reported recurrent beats of 22-26 a minute, which radio men say is a result of Collin's respiration. If that is so, Dr. Hazlett asserted, it means that altho the count is a little high—normal being about 16—that Floyd not only is alive but is in good physical condition with not a trace of pneumonia.

CAVE CITL, Ky., Feb. 9.—A military court of inquiry, striking with lightning like rapidity, today held its first session to determine the basis and truth of sinister rumors which, gathering in intensity and magnitude as each day brought irreconcilable developments, have branded the Sand Cave disaster as the most colossal hoax of the century—a hoax in which men have risked their lives and a nation has been roused to a furore. And the first subject for questioning was John Geralds, reputed "buddy" of Floyd Collins, who directed rescue efforts in the days before the state assumed control and who is among the few ever to have reported the point where Collins is reported to lie pinioned beneath a seven-ton boulder 55 feet blow the level of the cave valley.

Geralds was cross-examined at his home by Maj. Carl D. Turner, acting for Lieut. Gov. H. H. Denhart, while outside the gray murky dawn of the tenth day of Floyd's imprisonment brought a rain to handicap further the rescue efforts.

He was asked primarily for facts regarding the two outstanding theories to label this tragedy a ghastly fraud, first, that the entire imprisonment was "fraud" as a publicity stunt for the Cave; that Floyd Collins was only an actor in the scheme; that there is another entrance to the underground prison known only to a few; that food was taken to Collins by this means to keep him alive and he may already have left the cave for a hiding place in the hills, and, second, that Collins actually was trapped and either deliberately murdered as he lay helpless in his narrow prison or virtually killed by a hampering of rescue efforts.

Both those theories have scores of adherents among those at the cave.

"Hoax" and "fraud" were the main burdens of conversation at the cave today.

These possibilities have been discussed by newspapermen and those closely associated with the disaster virtually from the first days of the arrival of state forces, until so persistent did they become today that efforts to empanel a grand jury at Glasgow, county-seat of Barren-co in which Sand Cave lies, to conduct a civil probe actually got under way. Only preliminary steps in this direction had been taken early, however.

To all questions asked him Geralds had an answer, but Maj. Turner asserted that from the examination he had gleaned sufficient "to warrant the fullest prosecution of the inquiry."

SAYS HOAX THEORY WRONG

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 9—Branding the murder and fake theory as all wrong, Browie Hooper, Nashville boy, who has dared 11 times the cavernous recesses containing Floyd Collins, declared today it was his firm belief that Collins will yet be extricated alive.

The youth, last to see and talk with the imprisoned explorer, said Collins had a strong spirit of hope in all except his last interview with the trapped explorer.

"On that last time, before the rocks fell in front of him," said Hooper, "Collins was weak and said that he knew it was time to give up and told me good-bye, that he would see me in heaven; he said he did not mind dying but he hated to die down there."

RED X ASSUMES EXPENSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The American Red Cross today assumed the entire expense of providing material needed to rescue Floyd Collins, entombed alive in Sand Cave, Ky. An additional appropriation for this purpose was authorized by the Red Cross and forwarded to Sand Cave, where Louis C. Barry, field representative of the Red Cross, and Miss Elsie K. Mantle of the Louisville chapter, are in charge. A telegram received from Barry early today stated that altho the progress of the rescue work is good, it is doubtful if Collins will be reached before Thursday.

He said he did not care to disclose his latest information in the case until after he had questioned the heads of the department. Those to be examined are:

Dean Claire A. Dye, C. M. Brown, secretary and Wm. E. Keyser and Charles L. Williams, instructors.

Prosecutor Chester at noon finished the examination of the 64 students in the pharmacy classes who could have had access, as clerks, to the dispensary from which were issued the deadly strychnine capsules which caused the deaths of two students and serious illness of four others. He said nothing had been revealed by the examination which would definitely point to the poisoner.

BOYS DIE IN CAVE

VENTURA, Feb. 9—Floyd Collins' imprisonment in a Kentucky cave was blamed today for the death of Harold Bastord and Thomas Thompson, two boys killed when a portion of a sand cave they were building collapsed.

Mrs. John Thompson said her son was interested in reading Collins' plight and later with several playmates dug the cave which later brought death to both.

MUCH INTEREST IN BRITAIN'S OFFER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Great Britain's offer to substantially reduce the French war debt was read with unusual interest in Washington today, because of the acuteness of the Franco-American debt controversy—but on every hand it was stated that the British position will cause no change in the American debt policy.

The American policy, under three presidents, has been and will continue to be, it was said, to accord debtor nations generous terms in the way of interest and time—but to collect in full the billions of dollars that European nations drew from the United States treasury from 1917 to 1919 on ordinary commercial paper.

Treasury officials were quick to point out today that while the British note had the surface appearance of generosity, actually there is nothing new in the proposion for Britain has all along advocated mutual cancellation of war borrowings.

Such a cancellation would, of course, make France the chief beneficiary, and cost Britain and the United States in excess of $12,000,000,000. France for instance, would be called upon to forgive debts of only $2,000,000,000, while she owes about $8,000,000,000.

France and Britain negotiated a treaty in 1916, long before the United States entered the war whereby they agreed to make "a common cause" of the war against Germany to the extent of pooling money, men and resources. Together they received the great bulk of reparations, the division of colonies and territories and the other fruits of victory after the war.

None of these considerations enter into the Franco-American controversy, treasury officials said today. When the United States entered the war it was as an independent nation, a distinction that President Wilson always was careful to maintain thru his insistence upon the phrase "allied and associated power," and in the division of the spoils America asked for nothing and got nothing.

Therefore, the same considerations that enter into the Franco-British debt, cannot properly be said to obtain in consideration the money France borrowed from the United States—more than $1,000,000,000 of which was after the armistice, administration officials declared.

RECOVER 2 BODIES

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 9.—Bodies of only two of the 11 Japanese sailors who were drowned in the harbor here Saturday night when a pinnace from the visiting Japanese cruiser fouled the towline of a C. P. R. scow and capsized were recovered at 9 o'clock this morning.

While divers from the flagship Asama searched the harbor floor in the belief that other bodies would be found in the pinnace cabin, arrangements for three investigations were begun. An inquest will be undertaken by the civil authorities as soon as the other bodies are found; a marine inquiry will commence, probably this morning, and an official court of inquiry on the Japanese flagship will convene right away.

Theory as to the manner in which the wreck occurred appears to have centered on the apparent fact that the pinnace commander mistook the tow behind the C. P. R. tug for a following vessel and steaming up sought to slip between the two. Consequently the prow of the small craft fouled the heavy tow line and almost immediately the pinnace capsized.

A rumor that the tug's tow carried no sailing lights was emphatically denied.

"HIJACKER" STOLE FROM COUNTY JAIL

SANTA ROSA, Feb. 9.—Wholesale depredations on the confiscated liquor store of Sonoma-co were planned by Lloyd Mellis, according to Sheriff Boyes, who declared Mellis confessed he was the "hijacker" who broke into the yard of the county jail and removed two barrels of brandy.

Sheriff Ward said an effort would be made to hold the six for murder.

Motion for the postponement was made by the defense. Wheatley has been at liberty on the two charges under total bail of $7500.

He leased land near Stanton for five years for $1570 to two Italian gardeners, but received only $150, and damage to his property totalled $3500, which sum he asks Joseph Despart testified in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court at Santa Ana today, where trial of his case against Domenico Lorenzi and Eugenio Bennett is in progress.

BEGS DOCTORS TO PERMIT HER DEATH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—While Leona Holman, 31, an unwed mother, begged doctors in Gallinger hospital today to be permitted to die, capital authorities were puzzling over what action to take in her case.

Her child was born without medical attention last Wednesday in her apartment. Saturday she asked permission of the janitor to "burn a package" in the furnace. She herself placed the bundle inside the furnace door and hurriedly departed. The janitor, suspicious, raked it out and found it to be the body of a child.

Pathologists after examining the viscera reported today the child had been born alive, altho death had occurred probably soon after birth because of lack of medical attention.

LAWSON DIES BROKE

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Thomas W. Lawson, once great financier, was born "broke" and died "broke."

Of all his plans, only one will come out as he wished. He is to be buried in the tomb he built in the days of his might and power and beside the body of the wife he loved so well—his "gypsy," he affectionately called her.

For years Lawson was a great power in the financial world. Millions hung on his very words. Yesterday when he died in a hospital, he was friendless, almost penniless and deserted, save by his sons and daughters.

The simple funeral will be tomorrow afternoon from a little cottage called "The Nest."

Prospects were bright for the arrival of a fresh supply of anti-diphtheria serum—this time via the air route. Preparations were nearly complete for the flight of a plane carrying more serum from Fairbanks. It was expected to stop at Ruby and Kaltag. Temperatures of 30 below were reported along the route.

Reports that Balto, lead dog in Gunnar Kassan's team of huskies, that raced the serum here from Nenana, had died, were denied today. Balto was found to be in his usual perfect health enjoying his ease following the hard trip.

COLD MAY STOP FLIGHT

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 9—Temperatures ranging from 40 to 50 degrees below zero threaten to prevent the proposed airplane flight to Nome with a fresh supply of diptheria serum.

Meanwhile special dog teams are mushing the Nenana-Nome trail with half of the supply brought on board the last boat. The other half of the supply reached here from Seward last night, and if the weather permits, will go by airplane from here.

"BABE" LAWRENCE ADMITS MURDERS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 9.—"Babe" Lawrence, younger of the two Oklahoma bandit murderers held here for the murder of Police Officer Haze Burch of Phoenix, confessed today to County Attorney Arthur La Prade that he was involved in the Burch killing and the murder of Deputy Sheriff Morgan in Texas, but claimed his brother, William, fired the fatal shots in both instances.

Feeling against the two Lawrence brothers is running so high in Arizona that the county attorney refused today to admit when the men will be brought here for arraignment from Florence, where they are held in solitary confinement in the state prison.

Investigation by the officers showed that after killing Burch, who arrested them for a gasoline theft, the men fled to the Salt River country removing handcuffs which bound them with special keyes they carried. Later, while climbing Tempe Butte near Tempe, Arizona, they became so tired they fell asleep in the sun and their capture was effected by Tempe authorities.

SOCIETY

ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED BY MASK PARTY

A very unusual and charming party was given Saturday night to mark the birthday anniversary of George Brown, West Center-st., when relatives and friends, everyone en masque, gave him a royal surprise. Knowing that the birthday anniversary of his aunt was due within a few days, he thought the preparations about the house were in her honor and carefully refrained from telling secrets, as he supposed.

After the company had assembled the door were opened and Miss Marguerite Shaw, as the "follies girl", heralded the approach of the procession headed by the king and queen of Hearts, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Shaw. Each wore costume typical of the valentine season. Mrs. Tom Losey as the love pirate, looked the part in her black velvet suit, with a black bandanna about her head. Instead of the skull and crossbones, symbol of a pirate, she had silver daggers and red hearts as her insignia. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mayer were gowned as Pierotte and a French Apache; Herbert Nonke as the court jester; Gerald Murray, a clown; Mrs. Brown, mother of the honoree as an imp; her daughter, Rose Marie, as Little Sweetheart; Miss Billie Clark, queen of Cupids, Ed Cordes, slave of hearts; Mrs. Kitty Clark, the arrowsite, and George Brown, the monk of St. Valentine's.

As the procession passed in review in front of the honored young man, he was presented with a valentine from each person, and in this manner realized the affair was in his honor.

Games and dancing were enjoyed through the evening, with luncheon of sandwiches, coffee, cookies, birthday cake and candy served in the wee sma' hours.

CUPID, that mischievous sprite rules over February 14th, the day which is dedicated to all true lovers and bears the name of gentle St. Valentine. Nothing more original than cupids, arrow pierced hearts, forgetmenots and other emblems of affection should be used for decorations on this occasion. With these and appropriate costumes for the host and hostess and as many of their friends as wish the day may be delightfully celebrated And the best of it is, the decorations and costumes will cost but little if you use the helpful crepe paper and paper cutouts, that are so easily obtained.

The doors in the above picture are decorated with cut crepe paper with huge hearts trimmed with roses to give it an extra festive air. You may make the roses yourself out of paper or buy inexpensive artificial ones. The ruffles of the boy's costume and the bonnet, kerchief and full ruffles of the girl's colonial dress may also be evolved from the useful paper.

Another type of costume is shown on the smiling child on the left. You can see at a glance that ruffling crepe paper into the very full skirt and decorating it with cutout hearts or various sizes will give you a pretty costume with comparatively little work.

The treatment of the chandelier over the luncheon table is also easily accomplished with hearts and the cupid dolls suspended by wide, salmon pink ribbon with huge, wing-like bows of it tied to their shoulders. They are supposed to be fishing with tiny poles for red hearts (celluloid or candy hearts) in a pool of crystal clear water. The latter of course is achieved by the use of a small mirror. Cupids may be placed about the pool which is edged with imitation moss. The hostess wears still another type of costume—a slip-over dress of fringed, salmon pink paper with hearts at the hem and on the bodice, and her favor bag is pale blue crepe paper with heart in center.

Here are two suggested menus to serve with the Valentine party which, bye the bye, is a delightful time to announce your own or your dearest friend's engagement: Menu No. 1: Meat salad on hearts of lettuce decorated with heart beets; hearts of celery; heart sandwiches and honey; heart ice cream or ices; heart candies and kisses, coffee. Menu No. 2: Cream cheese sandwiches, individual cranberry jellies, pink heart ice cream, iced cakes topped with pink cupids, coffee, chocolate heart bonbons.

SUES TO COLLECT ON REALTY DEAL

Trial of a suit brought by C. E. Sprouse of Riverside against A. B. McLean of Fullerton to collect $2500 involved in a real estate transaction was in progress today in Superior Judge P. C. Drumm's court at Santa Ana.

McLean, according to the complaint, agreed to purchase 10 acres from Sprouse, and placed $1000 in escrow with the Title Insurance Trust Co. of Los Angeles, with the understanding he was to place $2500 additional before a deed was to be transferred. The trust company, made joint defendant in the action, succeeded in releasing itself by depositing the money with the court.

The defense of McLean is that he was approached by Bert Moss, Fullerton oil worker; W. G. Trimble and C. E. Hoeb, asserted agents for Sprouse, and told that the land near Buena Vista he was purchasing had oil prospects. This, McLean claims, he found later to be false. His counter action demands the return to him of the $1000 placed in escrow and asks that the transaction formally be closed.

Special Scenery for "Follies of '25"

Half a hundred pupils of Miss Georgia Moore will dance and sing their way into hearts of thousands of patrons of the California theater Wednesday and Thursday when the children who have been drilled for this event will stage the "Follies of 1925" on the huge stage of the popular local theater.

Special scenery and settings have been prepared and special lighting effects have been arranged for by Manager Frank L. Stannard.

The "Follies of 1925" consist of dances of all kinds with two or three rollicking songs thrown in to enhance the program.

The children range from 4 to 16 years of age and every one is a bonifide resident of Orange-co, most of them residents of Anaheim. Miss Moore declares all the children are extremely adept and their work on the stage smacks of professionalism.

All the kiddies are on the stage when the curtain rises grouped about atop a big brick wall. They introduce themselves with a song entitled "Familiar Faces." From the last word of the opening song there is action galore, according to Miss Moore, who has arranged the program.

The "Follies of 1925" will be staged as part of the regular picture at the California, Wednesday and Thursday. This picture is Merton of the Movies and is one of the best pictures of the year.

Newlyweds Are Hiding From Their Friends

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Arriving here today from San Diego, where they were married Saturday night, Jack Dempsey and his bride, Estelle Taylor, motion picture star, searched for a honeymoon bungalow.

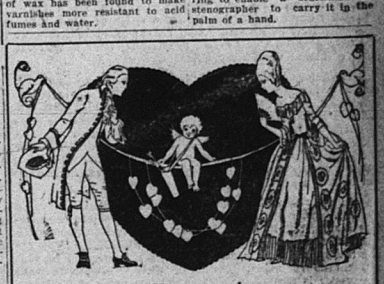

Miss Taylor announced she might quit cinema life and the heavyweight champion said he might fight again but admitted there was nothing definite in his plans.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 9.—Displaying the same cunning he has used in the prize ring, William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, and Estelle Taylor, film luminary, his bride of 36 hours, today were playing a veritable game of hide and seek from friends and well wishers. Dempsey and his bride went into seclusion soon after their marriage Saturday night and have not been heard from since. Even Dempsey's mother and Miss Helen Taylor, the bride's sister, do not know where they are.

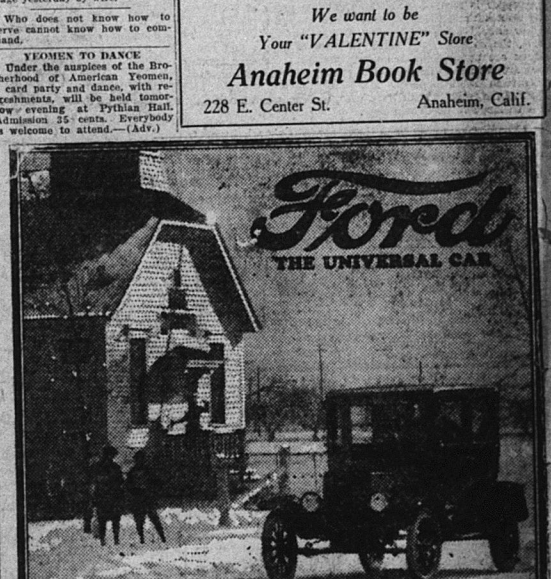

Scores of telegrams and some cables were arriving here today for Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey from friends all over the world offering congratulations, but the bride and groom were not here to receive them. One report had it that the couple would return to Los Angeles tomorrow while another was to the effect that they had gone to San Francisco and would not return for a week or more.

DAILY GREETING TO OUR READERS

He that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile.—1st Peter, 3.10.

How the Bible fills our hope, even overwhelms our hope, by its exceeding great and precious promises. Ought we not to bare our souls more continually to the rise nor set, nor are clouded in. It is our privilege to take into the very fibers of our souls their unbounded warmth and hopefulness.—James H. Ecob.

PLANT TREES

All kinds of vegetation grows and flourishes in this section of California. Therefore the questron naturally arises in the minds of strangers, "Why do not the people of Southern California take full advantage of the benefits of climate that are peculiar to this section?"

Anaheim has won distinction in so many ways that they cannot be enumerated here, but some of our neighboring cities surpass us in the shaded beauty of their streets. Nothing adds so much to the attraction of a residence street as a row of shade trees on either side, and, while it is desirable to have the kind of tree that harmonizes with the location, almost any variety of tree is better than none.

A few of our streets are notable for their beautiful shade trees, but more of them, in fact, all of them, should be beautified in this way. A change that requires the slaughtering of fine, old trees is a questionable progress, but, be that as it may, a property owner usually has the right, at least the legal right, to murder trees on his own land. We cannot prevent this, we can only offset the destruction by planting trees to take the place of those so ruthlessly slain.

Trees not only bring beauty but they provide cooling shade and help to conserve moisture, two items that should not be overlooked. Half the attraction of some of the high class subdivisions in and near Anaheim and elsewhere in Southern California is in the preservation of liveoaks and sycamores and other natural growth, making the architecture conform to the background furnished by Nature. Where there is no natural growth, or where it has already been destroyed, the matter can be remedied only by planting more trees.

As was stated above, almost any kind of tree is preferable to none. Many people despise the palm, and it has no particular beauty, but its tropical nature and appeal make up for what it lacks in form. The eucalyptus, while not suitable for planting in parkways in all sections, has a beauty of form that attracts the true artist. The cry of "dirty tree" is heard when the pepper is mentioned, but the delicate grace of its leaves and branches and the cheer afforded by its red berries in midwinter should more than offset its disadvantages. The magnolia, the camphor, the many varieties of acacia and many others are admired by the newcomer from the east because they are pecular to this climate. In the east we had but a few trees from which to select. Here their number is legion, and many of the fruit and nut trees, even, are ornamental, and may thus be made to do double duty.

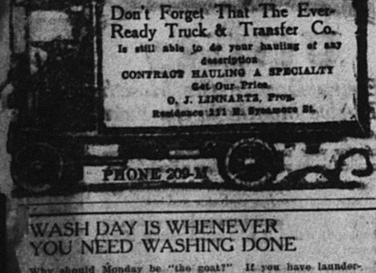

Consult your nurseryman if you are in doubt what trees to plant. He can adivse you how to enhance the beauty and thus the value of your home and your street. By all means let us plant more trees.

President Coolidge says much quite eloquently with silence.

The United States always should steer a clear course away from any semblance of militarism.

ONE WORD IS TOO OFTEN PROFANED

One word is too often profaned
  For me to profane it,
One feeling too falsely disdained
  For thee to disdain it.
One hope is too like despair
  For prudence to smother,
And pity from thee more dear
  Than that from another.

I cannot give what men call love;
  But wilt thou accept not
The worship the heart lifts above
  And the heavens reject not;
The desire of the moth for the star,

The devotion to something afar

DINNER STORIES

In criticising some proposed changes in a bill before the senate, changes which seemed to him to be alterations in phrasing rather than in meaning, a senator told a story of a lady who was inspecting a house for rent.

"The house suits me very well,' 'she said to the landlord, "but there is one feature of it to which I object."

"Well, madam, any reasonable alterations," the landlord murmured suavely, "would, provided you took a three years' lease—"

"I'd take a three years' lease she said, "if the house had more closets."

"The number of closets shall be doubled," said the landlord.

"Very well," said the woman, and she signed the lease

When she had gone the landlord turned to his clerk and said:

"Henry, take a carpenter over to No. 1777 and have him divide each of the closets in two."

Mrs. Beech was engaging a new cook. She was particular about any servant she took into her house and in spite of the shortage, she always insisted on highly satisfactory references.

"Have you any references?" she inquired of some applicant, who seemed more or less suitable.

"Yes, ma'am," answered the applicant brightly, "a lot of 'em."

"Then why didn't you bring them with you?" aske the prospective mistress.

"They're just like my photographs, ma'am—none of 'em do me justice."

The Mississippi banker asked a man who was trying to borrow money, "How much have you in the way of immediate liquid assets?"

To which the customer cautiously replied, "About a case and a half."

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
Author of "THE FAST WAY TO HEALTH"

Most animal proteids are more readily assimilated and converted into tissue than vegetable or cereal proteids. Those persons of a strong digestive type, with wide powerful jaws, which I often call the "ox" type, may be able to handle those non-meat proteids more rearily, but, at the same time, such people will usually be ofund to be slower both mentally and physically than the other type; in the same way as the ox is slow compared with the fox. The more intellectual type, with the narrower jaw, and possibly less digestive power, will flourish best on animal proteids with less expenditure of energy in digestion. I ayways want to call this class the "fox" or "wolf" type, because of this ability to get so much good from reat foods, rather than from starchy vegetables.

The latter class make up the largest proportion of patients with digestive troubles, and I am convinced it is often because they use too many vegetable foods of a high carbohypdrate percentage, instead of the right amount of animal proteids propeply combined with the succulent non-starchy vegetables. Those who have succeeded either in athletics or in the world of commerce, or letters, who happen to ge vegetarians, have always been of the hevy-jawed digestive type. The writer of these articles being of the strong digestive type, and also thically opposed to flesh eating, was slow in coming to this conclusion, having spent his early life as a vegetarian, and, at the same time, having been more than ordinarily successful in various forms of athletics, such as football, basketball, boxing, wrestling, etc. It took many experiments upon atheletes and patients before the light of knowledge was able to dispel completely his strong desire to believe in vegetarianism as an all-sufficient philosophy of life.

COMMENTS of the PRESS

What Editors Are Saying

PLEA FOR TOLERANCE—Glendale News

We often repeat the aphorism that "It takes all kinds of people to make a world," but we do not consider the significance of this old saying when we are talking about our neighbors. If we realized that this variety in human beings was a wise provision of nature to save us from everlasting boredom and ennui we should have more tolerance for each other, we would not be so likely to brand the one who differs from us as "peculiar" or "eccentric."

No two people are born alike and the most curious thing about us is that so many of us are able to hold the same opinions on so many subjects as to group ourselves together in organizations of large proportions.

One of the favorite subjects of debate between schoolboys is whether heredity or environment has the most influence upon the individual. We believe the question has not been settled to the satisfaction of everyone, but we do know that the influences that surround the life of a child have a tremendous bearing upon his after life.

A man drilled from childhood in the tenets of orthodox Christianity is more than likely to hold such beliefs throughout his life.One who has not had such training may differ from him. And they may both be men of intelligence, able to reason things out for themselves. Some people question the value of Christianity because there are so many denominations among Christian people. The wonder is that there are so few, since no two people are exactly alike. Fundamentally , the Christian churches are the same. but different types of people place different constructions upon scriptural passages and they demand different methods of worship. It is sad that since we know "It takes all kinds of people to make a world" we should ever be bigotted or intolerant.

People differ in other matters besides religion. Each one has a right to his own opinion, to think out his own problems and come to his own conclusions in his own way.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

THE CEASELESS SEARCH

"Happily we all shoot at the moon with ineffectual arrows."

The sentiment is Robert Louis Stevenson's. He believed that when we live happily, we live in an ascending scale, with one thing leading to another, in an endless series.

"There is always a new horizon for onward-looking men, and, although we dwell on a small planet, immersed in petty business and not enduring beyond a brief period of years, we are so constituted that our hopes are inaccessible, like stars, and the term of hoping is prolonged until the term of life."

* * * * *

There is no end to gathering wealth, or to making books or experiments, or to travel; nothing is conclusive. Problem gives rise to problem. We may study all our lives, and yet know but little of what there is to know. And if we discover a continent, or cross a chain of mountains, it is only to find another ocean or another plain on the further side.

There is only one wish realisable on earth; only one thing that can be perfectly attained: Death.

"And," comments Stevenson, "from a variety of circumstances we have no one to tell us whether it be worth attaining."

* * * * *

A strange picture we make on our way to our chimaeras, ceaselessly marching, grudging ourselves the time for rest.

"It is true that we shall never reach the goal," observes Stevenson. "It is even more than probable that there is no such place; and if we lived for centuries and were endowed with the powers of a god, we should find ourselves not much nearer what we wanted at the end.

"O toiling hands of mortals! O unwearied feet, travelling ye know not whither! Soon, soon, it seems to you, you must come on some conspicuous hilltop, and but a little way further, against the setting sun, descry the spires of El Dorado. Little do ye know your own blessedness; for to travel hopefully is a better thing than to arrive."

PROTEST MISUSE OF CHURCH NAME

Members of the local Seventh Day Adventist church have protested in conjunction with their church paper, the Signs of The Times, against the use of the name Seventh Day Adventist in connection with Mrs. Margaret W. Rowen of Los Angeles, who predicted the end of the world for midnight Feb. 6. Local members of this denomination say they have been very much embarrassed since the prominence given this "prophecy" in the newspapers because Mrs. Rowen, they say, is not a member of their church and her "prophecies" have always been opposed by them.

In a lengthy article defending their church against this calumny The Signs of The Times: "Be it known to all concerned that any and all those people who call themselves Reformed Seventh-Day Adventists, 'Rowenites,' or followers of Mrs. Rowen's chief supporters, Mr. Fullmer, are in no sense Seventh Day Adventists, and we disavow and repudiate them and their teaching." This denomination, the article continues, believes in the imminent return of Christ because of the fulfillment of Bible prophecy, but refute any date-setting by Christ's own words in Mark 13:32. "Of that day and hour knowoth no man, no not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father."

"In the light of this Scripture," says the article, "we have maintained from the very first day when Mrs. Rowen made her prophecy that her prediction would prove a bubble; for if the angels of heaven and Christ the Son do not even know the exact time of the second coming, how could a woman in Los Angeles find it out? That Mrs. Rowen is one of the 'false prophets' whom Christ foresaw is indisputable."

"HELEN'S BABIES" APPEALS TO ALL

"Helen's Babies," which, as the book has been a best seller in every country in the world since its publication 40 years ago, as the picture starring Baby Peggy literally breaths the wonderful story of home life on the screen at the United theatre, where it opened yesterday for a run of two days. Baby Peggy is a perfect Toddy, the little girl about whom John Habberton wrote so beautifully in "Helen's Babies." She is supported by a brilliant cast, among which are such established cinema artists as Edward Everett Horton, Clara Bow, Claire Adams, Richard Tucker and many others.

The writer is willing to give any odds on a bet that if a census were taken the unanimous opinion of yesterday's audience at the United theatre would have been that "Helen's Babies" as the picture is a marvelous screen visualization of a book which is conceded to be the greatest story of home life ever published.

The program offered at this popular playhouse is one of the best seen in this city in a long time and Manager Anderson is to be complimented. The music, played by Robert Strang, was very good and was well received.

"East of Broadway" Is Packed With Thrills

Thrills and stirring melodrama are to be seen at the United theatre, where "East of Broadway" is the feature attraction Tuesday and Wednesday. This new picture is worthy of the highest praise. The story, direction and cast leave absolutely nothing to be desired in the way of entertainment.

The film shows the attempts of an East Side boy to get on the New York police force. Peter Mullaney, played by Owen Moore, has only one ambition in life and that is to be a cop. Although he started at first, he eventually proves himself more than worthy to wear the badge and uniform of the "finest." Interwoven with the main theme of the story, is a great deal of heart interest and mother love. Judith McNulty, played by Marguerite De La Motte, is a poor homeless waif of the streets, who has escaped from an orphan asylum. She is taken in and cared for by Mrs. Morris (Mary Carr), who keeps the boarding house where Mullaney happens to live. Peter falls in love with her on sight and after a thrilling robbery, in which he is badly wounded while capturing the bandits, they are united for better or worse and all ends well.

GOLFERS AT PLAY

DEL MONTE, Feb. 9.—More than 50 of the leading women golfers of the United States, east and west, are gathered in Del Monte for the annual Pebble Beach championship, which will start with the qualifying round on Wednesday. Chief interest centers around the present titleholder, Miss Marion Hollins, of New York, former national champion, and Mrs. H. C. Hutchings of Winnipeg, Canada. These two rank among the leading players of America and have generally been favorites to win.

At the same time Ohio has sent a strong delegation to Del Monte for this event. Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, heads this group and no more fitting leader could be found. With her can be found Miss Jeanette Kinney, Miss Dorothy Richards, Miss Hazel Lalinge and Miss Louise Krauter, all of Cleveland. It would not be surprising to see the Cleveland stars win this event.

California will be well represented by Miss Mary K. Browne, runner-up in the national championship last summer, Miss Margaret Cameron of Annandale, Miss Ann Webster of Los Angeles; Mrs. W. C. Van Antwerp of San Francisco; Miss Alice Hanckett, of San Francisco and two score more.

LADYS F. WOLFE

PRESENT BULGIN WITH $2000 GIFT

they reached the platform, Rev. Myers, as spokesman, after some words of appreciation for the magnificent services rendered by Dr. Bulgin to the community and surrounding country, announced that the Klan presented the doctor the sum of $500. After expressing his sincere gratitude for the gift, Dr. Bulgin propounded some queries, part of which follow:

1—Is it a fact that the Klan seeks to restore the Bible to the public schools?

2—Does the Klan believe in building up American industries as opposed to those of other countries?

3—Does the Klan everywhere pray for the revival of religion in all the land?

4—Does the Klan stand for 100 per cent Americanism?

An affirmative answer was given to all the queries.

Carter then sang in a very effective manner, "Too Late."

Dr. Bulgin exhorted the people to set up the family altar. He urged the new converts to find a church home especially where they would be fed and kindly cared for in a spiritual way.

Carter then sang "Will You Be Ready Should the Death Angel Knock at Your Chamber Door?"

Dr. Bulgin's sermon was based on the parable of the five wise and the five foolish virgins. Jesus was a wonderful story teller. He spoke in parables, never in fables. A fable is something not true but it teaches a good lesson. A parable is both true and teaches a truth.

The ten virgins were invited to help at the reception of the bridegroom when he came and as witnesses of his worthiness to enter into the marriage relation.

They were all dressed alike and were alike in size and physical appearance. All had lamps—pieces of lignum vita wood with cord wrapped around one end and that soaked in oil and lighted.

This was to be carried in one hand while suspended about the body by a cord and carried in the other hand was a vessel which should carry extra oil. The only difference in these ten virgins was that five had forethot enough to supply themselves with extra oil and five did not do so. They were the foolish ones. That they were tempted and slept does not lay them open to criticism. It was the privilege of all to do so. They had appointed a messenger to watch for the coming of the bridegroom and arouse them in time to go out to meet him. Then when they heard the warning cry of the messenger, they all arose to trim their lamps. All lamps in a sense had gone out but those who had not extra oil with them could trim and fill their lamp and relight them.

But the foolish virgins could only trim their lamp. They asked the five wise virgins to share with them of their oil but this was refused. Why? Because this oil represented character—such character as would meet the Divine approval and allow the possessor to be numbered among the people of God. The five wise virgins could not share their oil with the other virgins because character cannot be divided and shared.

The parable does not teach repentance after death because even if the five foolish virgins went and bot got their lamps they found the door shut when they returned and could not enter.

Dr. Bulgin told a moral pathetic story relating to a mother and daughter.

In one of his Kentucky meetings a young, beautiful girl belonging to a rich family, but unconverted, wished to unite with the Baptist church of which some of her sisters were members but the mother refused to let her do so. She determined that she should learn to dance and have a good time. At the girls request the Doctor had a talk with the mother but the mother was as adamant. Dr. Bulgin could only pray in her presence while she remained resentful and obdurate.

Three years later the Doctor was in the beginning of another meeting in Kentucky not very many miles from the home of this mother and young lady. A phone call from the mother requested the Doctor to come to her home to preach the funeral sermon over the dead daughter. At the grave the mother ordered the coffin opened and the Doctor beheld the daughter with a little prematurely born child on her arm. The mother, heartbroken and repentant, took all the blame of the ruin and death of her daughter. The mother sought and found pardon of God under the Doctor's direction.

Then she made the Doctor promise he would preach to mothers and tell this sad story wherever he should go. And, said the Doctor, I am doing it.

There were 34 persons to come forward and confess Christ during the day.

JOHNSON TO PITCH FOR WASHINGTON

RENO, Feb. 9.—Walter Johnson announced here today that he will pitch for the Washington Senators next season.

The announcement of the veteran twirler, hero of the last world series, puts an end to the uncertainty which has existed over his status due to his efforts to purchase a Pacific Coast League team.

Johnson it was learned had definitely abandoned his plans to become a magnate following failure of his efforts to buy Oakland and Vernon and will forward his signed contract within a few days to the Washington club.

He denied he was to receive $30,000 a year and refused to say whether he would sign for more than one year.

Johnson will go to Hot Springs, Ark., for preliminary training before joining the Senators in Florida. He is in excellent condition.

DEMPSEY MEETS GIBBONS JUNE 5

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Professing to have implicit confidence in Jack Dempsey's readiness to indulge in a busy summer, Tex Rickard today named Yankee stadium as the locality and June 5 as the tentative date of the champions proposed meeting with Tom Gibbons for the heavyweight championship.

A provision in the articles of agreement, the promoter added will call for the winner to frolic with Harry Wills next September, thus indicating that that is our Mr. Rickard's story and he is going to stick to it.

It is no star chamber secret that Wills may not be permitted to box for the title in this section now or at any future date but Rickard is one who covers all bets. He merely wants to have the Wills bout in his bag in the event that the negro is officially tolerated as a championship principal here. Furthermore the dazzling of Wills in the background of a Dempsey-Gibbons match is not expected to injure its attendance.

Rickard, therefore, is concentrating all of his attention upon trating all of his attention upon the Gibbons meeting while Chas. L. Henderson, who is making preliminary motions about building a stadium at Long Island City, is frankly in the field for a Dempsey Wills match only. In addition to deciding upon a tentative date and site, ing upon a tentative date and site, Rickard also has decided that Dempsey and Gibbons will box at night and that both must be on the ground at least a month before the actual proceedings.

He says he has the champion's assurance, given thru his man of business, Jack Kearns that all will be per Mr. Rickard's wishes.

14 TEAMS ARE TIED

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The 14 teams which started the six-day bicycle grind were tied at the end of the seventh hour today, having covered 168 miles, 8 laps. During the early morning sprints the team of Walthour and McNamara came near lapping the field, but a spill stopped their efforts.

The team of Belloni and De Graves led in the point table with a total of 43.

DePALMA WINNER

Heading Frank Lockhart after the latter had passed him, Ralph DePalma won the 50-lap feature race at the Juarez track, El Paso, yesterday in 40 minutes and 50 seconds. Lockhart's machine suffered a broken axle, but he was not hurt.

SPORTING EVENTS

The New York Giants today announced the signing of James Tierney, Holycross College pitcher.

NEW YORK—Joie Ray's defi to Paavo Nurmi for a meeting at one mile may be answered at the New York A. C. games next Saturday night, it was indicated today. Nurmi either will enter the Finnish quarter-mile, one of the classic events of the indoor season, or a two-mile special in an attempt to further lower Ray's former record for that distance.

LOS ANGELES—Jimmy Welsh young outfielder sold by Wade Killefer of the Seattle Club to the Boston Braves for $35,000 and three players, is on his way to Los Angeles today to confer with Killefer in the hopes he will be able to obtain some of the purchase money. Welch has not signed his Boston contract, and the deal may fall through.

LOS ANGELES—Decision of the state athletic commission as to whether a return would be made to the boxing jugs system in force prior to the referee plan was to be announced tonight, following a meeting of the commission today. Among applications for permits to conduct boxing shows received by the commission today was that of Tom McCarey who plans a $100,000 arena at Inglewood, Los Angeles suburb. Reports of a bitter fight raging among the commissioners over the McCarey application were circulated. Although residents of the Florence district appeared before the board and protested the granting of the permit to McCarey it was said.

MRS. KELLOGG, WIFE OF ENVOY WHO IS NAMED AS NEW SECRETARY OF STATE

Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg is shown above in the gown she wore when she was presented at the Court of St. James. Her husband, now Ambassador to Great Britain, was nominated by President Coolidge to succeed Secretary Hughes when he retires March 4.

SARGUM SPROUTINGS

Judging from the gush that Jack Dempsey is oozing out about his new wife, Estelle Taylor Dempsey, one would imagine that he was 17 instead of 29. Puppy love days are no sweeter than this romance of the pugilist champion of the world. It is hardly believable that the champion has fallen so hard and to think this is far from being his first romance. Jack says that he has not retired from the ring; Estelle would rather he would but he is going to wear the trousers and fight when he gets ready. There are a couple of hard eggs that are just itching for the champ to get ready. One is a big black man and the other is a little man as heavyweights go.

If Jack is not going to draw the color line, he should meet the "Black Panther" just to give the persistant person a chance. If Harry Wills can keep his hands from injury, Estelle may not have to wait long for the champ's retirement.

Tommy Gibbons stayed 15 rounds with the champion and should have a line on that person's ability. Tommy is anxious to meet the champ again, and Tommy, usually very modest in predictions, claims that there will be a new champion if he ever meets Mr. Dempsey.

If Dempsey can best these two men he could rightly retire as the undefeated champion of the world, for there are no others in the Gibbons-Wills class.

Next Tuesday evening at Doyle's Vernon arena the fight fans will have a chance to witness a champ in action. Sid Kaplin, featherweight champ, is head-lining in the first 12-round no-decision bout to be pulled off under the new law. Bud Ridley, lightweight champ of the coast, will furnish the opposition to Mr. Kaplin.

The eastern champ is a rugged little fellow who really fights. He has paid little or no attention to the science of boxing, but keeps so many fists in the air that he needs no defense.

Joe Benjamin, the pretty boy so friendly with Jack Dempsey, has had championship bee buzzing under his hat. Since Benny Leonard retired there are scads of light-weights claiming the crown. Joe happens to be the latest member of that tribe.

Joe might have the native ability to be the champion, but he allows the bright lights to detract from his ability. He has about the most violent case of sweet head that it has been our misfortune to observe.

Joe is a keen boxer and packs a very nasty wallop. He has plenty of heart and all of that but he is a fellow going to do his best when he is thinking of his appearance? Joe thinks that he is so good that he never gets into real condition. Old Phil Salvadore can give Mr. Benjamin all the championship bout that is necessary.

Speaking of Salvadore, he gave Sammy Mandell a neat, clean cut beating not so long ago, and now they are proclaiming Sammy king. Phil better dust off the old punching bag, grab an extra pair of mitts and head it for New York. He might entice Sammy into the ring again and maybe it might become King Phil instead of King Sam.

COLLEEN MOORE IN GREAT DRAMA

Colleen Moore has been called the "living library" of Hollywood because she has produced screen versions of so many pop ular novels.

Her latest picture "So Big," is an adaptation from Edna Ferber's "best seller." It is shown at the Calif. Theater today and Tuesday. Prior to this she produced "Flaming Youth," "The Sky Pilot," "The Lotus Eater," "Irene Hunter" and numerous others.

In "So Big' Miss Moore is declared to have one of her best characterizations. The story, based on life in the old Dutch settlement near Chicago in the latter part of the past century, is very far away from the frivolous flapper roles with which she has been associated. It presents her as the wife of a truck farmer, toiling amidst the cabbages and radishes of a truck garden.

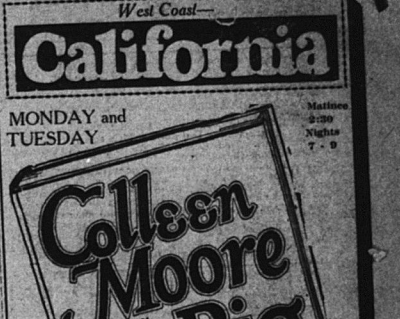

A baby son is all that makes her life worth while and, as she toils, she visualizes the time when he will become "so-o-o big" in this world of strife.

It is a surprising role for young Miss Moore, and it grows more surprising as, with the passage of years, she sees the son slowly transforming into a middle-aged woman. Nothing could be so remote from the gay and giddy flapper of yore.

The story permits the mother to all but realize her life's ambition. Her baby, now a man, stands at the portals of fame as an architect. But as he does so a woman enters his life—a married woman of wealth who would drag him into disgrace and ruin before the altar of shame.

It is then Miss Moore, rushing to the rescue of her baby man, facing his would-be despoiler and finally dragging him back to the pathway of her ambitions, reaches the pinnacle of emotional heights. Pre-view critics of the film say nothing like it has ever been screened.

STOCKS INCLINED TO BE ERRATIC

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Outside of a few of the high priced industrial stocks, the sugars and some of the motors, the movement of prices was somewhat erratic today. The failure of the oil stocks to carry thru was a disappointment, tho this was due largely to the uneasiness caused by the summoning of oil leaders to Washington to explain the recent sharp advances in gasoline prices.

The sensational market developments were furnished by the high priced leaders in the industrial list. Castiron Pipe jumped to 208 shortly after noon hour, a gain of 13 points for the day. The stock was unusually active and in the financial district it was rumored that the companys' plan for the distribution of a part of its huge profits would soon be announced.

American Can also pushed forward to the highest position on record, selling above 170 on heavy trading shortly after the noon hour. National Lead at 161½ was a strong spot in the industrial list.

Special strength was displayed in the tobacco, sugar and some of the motor stocks. Cuban American sugars continued the advance inaugurated last week, Cuban American advancing to 33¾ and Cuban Cane, pfd., to 62, the highest for the year. American Sugar Refining, which is slated for dividend later in the year, recovered nearly four points and sold at 66⅞.

Tobacco Products, American Tobacco and American Sumatra Tobacco "A" stocks, while Maxwell "A" and "B". Mack Trucks and Studebaker led a moderate rally in the motors in the course of which Maxwell "A" retained about two points. Outside of these stocks the market was featureless. Call money's steady advance to 4½ per cent slowed down the pace of the market in the late trading.

Stock sales today 1,566,400 shares; bonds $15,477,000.

ORGANIST PLAYS MUSICAL NOVELTY

George E. Turner, concert organist at the California theatre, has arranged another of his musical treats for lovers of real music tonight and Tuesday.

Mr. Turner will play "Lights Out," a special musical novelty a number of his own creation, and one that made a tremendous hit in the east when he played it there.

The compliments that the management of the California have been receiving on Mr. Turner's perfect interpretation of the musical scores for the pictures and for special selections have been wonderful. Many of the patrons have stated it is worth the price of admission alone just to hear Mr. Turner play.

KID KAPLAN READY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9. — Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion, is wound up his training today for his 12-round no-decision battle here Tuesday night at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena against Bud Ridley of Seattle. It will be the first no-decision 12-round fight in California since the new local boxing law went into effect.

Kaplan, who is living in a Highland Park bungalow, took a little road work today and eased off training, which has been strenuous for several days.

Ridley is regarded as a better boxer than the new champion, but Kaplan was not expected by critics to have any trouble winning thru his superior socking ability and his victory by the K.O. route was predicted in many quarters.
