DEPT. OF JUSTICE GIVES CONGRESS SHIVERS

U.S. DUTY TO LEAD WORLD FOR PEACE

Coolidge Says America Must Point Way to Less Armament

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—It is the duty of America to set an example for the world in reducing armament, and to invite other nations to follow that example, Pres. Coolidge declared here this afternoon, in addressing a large delegation of women attending the women's conference on national defense as peace insurance.

The president's observations on armament and peace were considered peculiarly significant at this time in view of the "feelers" now out in the capitals of Europe, aimed at a second international conference reducing armament.

But while the president declared it the duty of this country to lead the world toward more moderate armament, he also declared zeal for this movement cannot be permitted to reach a point where aggression is invited upon a defenseless America and security imperilled.

Abolition of the army and navy be dismissed as unworthy of serious thought.

"Even the most law-abiding communities do not dismiss their police forces," he said. "No fore nation has taken the risk of leaving itself to be menaced by disorders."

The president paid warm tribute to the women who composed his audience. They were advocates of a strong and militant national defense as opposed to the other conventions of women here a few weeks ago who favored less armament and supported the League of Nations and World Court. Most of today's audience were delegates from women's patriotic organizations.

The womanhood of Sparta has become legendary, the president said, but "our own history is proof that the women of Sparta were made of no stouter or fore loyal stuff."

"We shall hardly disagree," he continued, "that peace is preferable to war.

"Universal peace is an ideal to which we are all devoted. It is true we have not stopped wars, but it is also true that there is today a more definite and widely entertained conception than ever before of the possibility to prevent war under an effective rule of war. This is the great advance. But we are compelled to recognize that national safety requires such a measure of preparedness as shall be the guaranty against aggression, without committing the nation to militarism. For the present, the most we can hope is to secure general acceptance in good faith and without reservation, of the view that whatever armaments we create, whatever preparations we make shall be limited to the reasonable requirements of security.

"A country so powerful in numbers and wealth, so fortunate in its location, as our own, can and should set an example of moderation in armament, and should invite other powers to a similar program. I do not think that we would set a good example by abolishing our army and navy.

PASADENA MAYOR LEADS NEW ASS'N

Aiming to consolidate the interests of the southland in the smaller cities of Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside-counties in favor of the Boulder Dam project, the Colorado River Aqueduct Ass'n was organized Saturday morning at Santa Ana with Mayor Hiram W. Wadsworth of Pasadena president, Mayor Grant Holcomb of San Bernardino, vice-president and Col. S. H. Finley of Santa Ana, secretary and treasurer.

Membership is limited to municipal corporations and other governmental agencies in So. Calif. authorized to supply waters for domestic uses.

AUTOIST INJURED

A local Mexican named Jose Garcia received a broken collar bone when a truck in which he was riding collided with a Pickwick stage-delivery. The driver, named Neilson, according to report to police, Garcia was taken to local physicians for first aid, and later removed to the Orange hospital. The report said that the Mexican seemed to be at fault, that he turned into the street.

Change Tests for Big Businessman

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Conditions surrounding the challenge round to determine whether a successful business man can compete in a school boys' examination underwent revision today.

The question is whether a national educator can propound seven problems in arithmetic and 18 questions on general information that a millionaire publisher cannot answer, 75 per cent effectively.

George Cove president of the National Teachers' union, who criticized the questions asked his junior clerks by Lord Rothermere, the publisher, said today Rothermere had qualified his acceptance of the challenge.

Rothermere's questions were asked by boys of 14. He now leenands, Cove said, that Cove's questions be of the same calibre. The $25,000 originally posted by Rothermere to be forfeited to charity if his grade was under 75, also has been scaled down to meet Cove's pocketbook. Cove will forfeit a much smaller amount, should Rothermere win.

BLAMES GANG OF "SCIENCE BANDITS"

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—A gang of "science bandits," seeking secret formulas of important new inventions and chemical discoveries, kidnaped Dr. Paul Hildebrant, Chicago chemical research expert, brought him to Los Angeles and robbed him of valuable blueprints and other priceless papers, according to the theory formed today by So. Cal. police officers who have started a search for the criminals.

The story of the amazing crime was related yesterday at New Orleans by Dr. Hildebrant, according to word received here from the southern city. Dr. Hildebrant appealed to the New Orleans mayor for aid. It was reported he said he escaped from his captors in So. Cal., made his way to El Centro and boarded a train there which took him to New Orleans

For many months, California authorities have been receiving reports of mysterious thefts and robberies in which the formulas of important new scientific discoveries were apparently the only loot sought, Los Angeles officers said. Lately they have become convinced that a powerful nationwide organization is responsible for nearly every one of these crimes.

Dr. Hildebrant was reported to have related to Mayor Andrew McShane at New Orleans that he was kidnaped while attending a business conference in a Chicago hotel. He felt faint at dinner one night, and was helped from the hotel by a strange man, he said. That was the last he remembered until he found himself in a farmhouse in Southern California, where he claimed to have been robbed of valuable blue prints and other priceless papers dealing with secrets of a chemical discovery.

Underwood Muscle Shoals Bill Dealt Stinging Blow In Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The Underwood Muscle Shoals bill was dealt a stinging blow in the senate late today.

Upholding the ruling of the chair that the conferees injected new legislation in the original bill the senate voted to send the measure back to conference where considerable delay is expected before it can be brought out again for final action.

The vote was 45 to 41.

By the senate's action, the conferees must strike out all new legislation that was not in the bill when passed by the senate.

The objection to the conference report was raised by Senator Norris, Rep. of Neb., on a point of order. He charged conferees with exceeding their authority and was upheld by Senator Cummins, Rep. of Iowa, presiding officer. Norris led the original fight against the bill.

The senate's action was in confirming Cummins' ruling.

BOOTH CAME YEARS AFTER MURDER

Neice Thot at First He Was Imposter But Was Convinced Later

(Copyright, 1925, by the Minneapolis Daily Star and Copyright, 1925, by I. N. S.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 23. Blanche Debar Booth saw her uncle, John Wiles Booth, many years after he assassinated President Lincoln.

The admission today followed that of Saturday when she pronounced true the statement that Booth died in Enid, Okla., in 1903.

"He came to me at St. Louis," she said. "I thought he was an imposter even tho he recalled many incidents of our common childhood together.

"But now I am convinced. His visit had aroused my suspicions. I investigated and found that it was true, that his mother, my great aunt, had seen him herself in San Francisco a year after the announcement that he had been shot to death.

"This explains why the rewards totaling more than $100,000 for the capture, dead or alive, of John Wilkes Booth, were never paid to anybody."

"It was in the late 80's or early 90's," Miss Booth said, "that this man came to see me, declaring that he was John Wilkes Booth.

"I laughed when he was announced, for I believed the story of his death as it had been told to me.

"And then he came. I sprang to my feet astounded. The man was Wilkes Booth to the life. Still I thought him an imposter.

"He smiled and greeted me by name. I looked him over and laughed in his face, yet doubts assailed me.

"'Do you remember'—he asked me, and detailed an occurrence of our childhood together.

"'Of course, I remember that,' I told him, 'but how do you come to know about it?' Still I could not believe.

"At this his smile faded away from him. The hands he had held out to me dropped at his sides. I thought him a clever actor even tho I denied him.

"He turned away. 'Perhaps it is just as well,' he said, 'but ask others of the family if what I say is not true. Mother was with me in San Francisco in 1867.'

"That was the only time, I ever saw him after his disappearance from Ford's theatre. I should like to look at the body of this man Dr. Wilson of Washington, D. C., says is preserved at Memphis, Tenn. I believe it is the body of John Wilkes Booth."

Two other convincing elements were pointed out by Miss Booth to the story told by Finis L. Bates, attorney of Memphis, Tenn., for the man who admitted he was John Wilkes Booth in Texas, the man who died in Enid, Okla., nearly 40 years after the assassination. One was that as many as five different stories have been told of where John Wilkes Booth was buried.

Europe Drains U.S. For War Purposes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Asserting that foreign governments had tapped the American investment market during 1924 for $1,000,000,000, much of which was spent in war, not peace activities, Sen. Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite, of Minneapolis in a speech in the senate this afternoon, urged the federal government to assume control and direction of this foreign financing.

He referred directly to the overtures France is now making for additional loans of $135,000,000 in Wall-st and congratulated President Coolidge and the administration for "frowning on it."

WALL STREET LUCK QUITS LT. WOOD

(Copyright by Intl. News Service)

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Feb. 23—The mystery of the strange disappearance of Lt. Osborne Cutter Wood, son of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood will be explained today by Wood himself.

"My Wall Street luck deserted me," Wood said calmly, after he had been located at the luxurious hotel Maria Cristina here. "I've danced and I know I must pay the fiddler now."

Wood said he came to San Sebastian after losing in a last desparate effort at the Biarritz gambling tables to recoup his fortunes.

"But, after all," Wood continued, "I've only done what thousands have done before me and what thousands will do after me. When I came to Biarritz last Tuesday I really had a firm intention of cutting out all the night life, drinking, gambling and so forth. But I remembered that when I was at Biarritz last summer, I frequently played at the Casino—mostly always with good luck—and the thought came suddenly to me that perhaps I could win once more, clean up enough to pay off all my debts and straighten out my affairs. But the fates willed otherwise and here I am."

Wood confessed frankly that he was puzzled at his next move. He talked somewhat vaguely of going to New York to seek a job. The idea of going to Manila—debated by Wood several months ago—apparently has lost its appeal

Chas. Wacker of Chicago, who was Wood's guest at the Villa Coubiac, told of Wood's activities at Biarritz.

"Wood showed up Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock," Wacker said, "saying he was tired to death of Paris life and had come down to Biarritz for a rest. That night Wood proposed that we go to the Casino, but I persuaded him not to go.

"Wednesday night, however, I had an engagement. Wood went to the Casino alone. He lost heavily. It was the same thing on the next night. Friday morning Wood left the Villa, saying he would return for dinner.

"A few hours later a public chauffeur came for Wood's valise. I gave him the suitcase and a letter asking Wood to explain his abrupt departure without even a goodbye. Later I learned that before leaving Wood had persuaded our maid to cash a check for 5,000 francs thru her father, who is a grocer."

Wood was traced to San Sebastian thru the chauffeur whom he hired at the Hotel Dupalais, at Biarritz. Wood was seen frequently at the Casino in Biarritz with a well known Philadelphia woman who was recently divorced.

She arrived in Biarritz two days before Wood and took a ground floor apartment in the Villa Coubiac, where Wood later took up his residence in quarters on the third floor. After his trip to San Sebastian she drove over and called on Wood and was present during International News Service interview with Wood. Later she returned to Biarritz, Wood driving as far as the border with her.

When Wood was asked if he knew about the warrant the police said had been issued for him he shrugged his shoulders and said:

"That's done. I know I can't return to France. There's no use discussing it," and he repeated, "I have danced, now I must pay the fiddler."

NEW WILDCAT STARTED BY UNION OIL

Success Will Mean 1700 Acres Will Be Drilled Near Yorba Linda

The new wildcat well which the Union Oil Co. will drive between Yorba Linda and Olinda represents no sporadic or isolated development, an official showed today when he announced that his company had under lease no less than 1700 acres owned by the Olinda Land Co., the Shell Co. of Calif. and the Associated Oil Co.

If this first well is brought in any number of others will be drilled and perhaps a big field developed. The work of putting up the rig was scheduled to start today and the company will spud in the first of next week, say. The Union is convinced that another stratum of sand exists 4700-4800 feet deep, compared with 2900 in the nearest wells, and that a new pool is likely. The two other big companies evidently share this belief. On their part of the acreage, which is large, a sort of 50-50 split will prevail.

The acreage lies 1 1-2 miles north of Yorba Linda between there and Olinda.

The Union Oil Co. man talked to today agreed that much new productive work might now be expected because of the price of oil, which ranges from around $1.85 to $2.25 per barrel at the well. The highest price in 40 years, it is said, was $2.30 in 1875.

Today the Birch-Royer Oil Co. was putting in its boilers preparatory to erecting a new rig and drilling for a new well in the south end of the old Graham-loftis lease on the Nenno property. Erection of the rig was to start this morning.

The Fullerton Oil Co., which and to move its rig some 20 feet after getting down 800 or 900 feet were to start complete retrilling today.

The new well actually brought in by the Brea Canyon Oil Co. is still doing around 625 barrels per day. This well at first showed 800 to 900 barrels, but that was the usual first spurt. Soon after it was shoulded to 650 barrels.

Two other new wells completed but not brought in on the Graham-Loftis lease some time ago showed around 5500 and 4800 feet, respectively, are said to have met water trouble.

OFFER PRIZES IN LETTER CONTEST

The Anaheim City club will offer prizes for the best letters written to friends or relatives or newspapers, particularly in the mid-west, in the campaign to counteract the vicious propaganda that has been directed against So. Calif.

Full details of these awards will be announced later.

Furthermore, all of the letters entered in the contest will be entered also in the $1,000 prize contest being conducted by the Los Angeles Times.

These letters should be impersonal, but friendly, and should describe So. Calif. at its best without exaggerating. Many midwesterners know nothing of the wonderful variety of soil, climate, flora and fauna, the juxtaposition of mountain and sea and orange groves, etc.

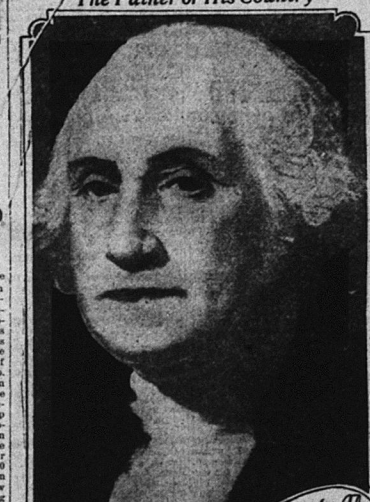

Those who aren't actually competing in this contest and the one of the Times are asked to write letters anyhow in order to help the south and incidentally themselves.

BOTTLE, TOSSED AT ROCK, MISSES MARK

Bill Frieson, arrested by Motorcycle Officer Loomby on the charge of possession of liquor, was arraigned this morning in Judge Kuchel's court, pleaded guilty and was fined $100. H. J. Sweet, A. H. Bailey and L. H. Dodds were with him when arrested, but Frieson took the blame. Sweet was fined $25 on the charge of speeding.

Looney arrested the four on So. Los Angeles-st about 5:30 p.m. yesterday. He was chasing them for speeding, and did not suspect them of having liquor but when he drew alongside a bottle was tossed at his truck. The bottle missed the rock, and hit on soft ground. It wasn't but a few seconds until Looney was on top of it. He took the whole bunch to jail on a possession charge.

The Father of His Country

CROWD SEES FULLERTON LIGHTWEIGHT GEM STORE CONTEST ROBBED

RINGSIDE, Recreation Park, San Francisco, Feb. 23—A bright, warm sun greeted Joe Benjamin and Jack Silver as they entered the ring this afternoon in the first contest of an elimination series, to determine a successor to the lightweight championship, recently vacated by Benny Leonard.

Dark clouds that hung ominously in the sky during the forenoon were entirely dissipated and regular baseball weather greeted the crowd, making top coats unnecessary.

A brass band in the bleachers lent enjoyment to the occasion by playing "It Ain't Going to Rain No More." The crowd was arriving in fairly rapid order and a huge jam milled about the entrances. The bleachers and grandstand were well filled ten minutes before the first preliminary was to start, and the reserved sections showed only few empty seats.

At 2 p.m. it was estimated 15,000 persons were within the park, not a few of whom were women.

It was announced from the ring that owing to the huge jam still outside the gates, the first preliminary would be started at 2:15 p.m. instead of 2 p.m.

Jack Silver, accompanied by his manager, Hatch Hutchinson, arrived at the park shortly after 2 o'clock.

There was wild applause as some of the fans recognized Silver striding across the center field toward the clubhouse.

Among the early arrivals was Jimmy Duffy, welterweight champion.

Johnny Dempsey, brother of Champion Jack, also came in for a "hand" from the crowd when he put in an appearance.

Johnny Buff, Jersey City, former bantamweight champion, and Frankie Novey of Sacramento fought the first preliminary. They went four rounds to a draw. Buff seemed to have an edge in the first three rounds, using a straight left to the face. Novey made a last round spurt, however, which caught the eye of the referee. There was plenty of blood spilled during the short go.

When the first preliminary started, the park was practically filled to capacity.

Damon Runyan, well known eastern fight critic and one of the fathers of the pugilistic elimination idea, was at the ringside.

The Stallmeyer Jewelry Store, 112 No. Spadra-rd., Fullerton, was burglarized of two diamond rings valued at $800, according to report to Fullerton police. The burglars were Mexicans answering same descriptions as two men who recently burglarized the Dutton Jewelry Store on E. Center-st, Anaheim. They operated in the same manner, making a samll payment on another article, and then making away with the diamonds when the jeweler's eyes were not on them. They are also reported to have attempted the same coup at the La Habra Jewelry Store, but were called back and accused. They returned the stolen articles there, and jumped into a car and got away before an officer could be summoned. Mexicans answering to the same descriptions are also reported to have operated recently at Whittier, Pomona, Colton and San Bernandino.

A burglary was reported last night from the home of Mrs. H. F. Lillie of Fullerton, when robbers stole a radio set complete with batteries, valued at $175. Entry was made thru the front door.

CLAIMS CONFEREES EXCEED AUTHORITY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Charging conferees with exceeding their authority, Senator Norris, Rep. of Neb., today demanded that the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill be returned to conference.

Success of the Norris move would virtually mean the death of Muscle Shoals legislation at this session.

Under a special rule, the senate was to vote not later than 3 o'clock on an appeal from the ruling of the chair, which upheld Norriss' point of order that conferees had injected new legislation into the original bill.

OFFER PERSONAL FUNDS FOR INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Offers of personal finances to enable the house aircraft committee to continue the investigation into aircraft conditions in the army and navy came to the committee today.

The committee abruptly terminated its sensational investigation Saturday, giving as the reason "lack of funds," but more reliably understood to be opposition from the White House, war and navy departments.

INVESTIGATE THREE U.S. SENATORS

Charge Statesmen Used Influence to Obtain Federal Concessions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The department of justice has embarked upon a ticklish course of investigation and procedure that is giving congress a case of shivers.

With one U. S. Sen, Burton K. Wheeler, Dem. of Mont., already under indictment in Montana, and proceedings being pushed against him before a federal grand jury for retadictment here in Washington, it became known today that the activities of a number of other senators are under scrutiny—among them Senator Spencer, Rep. of Mo., and Senator Bursum, Rep. of New Mex.

The indictments in each instance have the same background—that they used their influence before government departments to obtain concessions and government action in return for which they received lawyers' fees.

The Wheeler case: He stands accused of seeking from the interior department public lands concessions on behalf of a consultment client from whom he received a fee for his services.

In the case of Spencer, it is charged that he has been instrumental in securing for the Foulke Fur Co. of St. Louis an excessive monopoly in handling government sealskins, while his law firm in St. Louis acts as attorneys for the company. In a speech on the senate floor defending the seal contract at a time when it was under attack, Spencer admitted his law firm had received fees amounting to $50,000. As a member of the firm, he shared in this.

Bursum's case is similar. Charges have been made that Bursum represented the Agricultural and Livestock Corp. of New Mexico, in a cattle deal, under which he was to receive $12 a head at the same time he was directing for the war finance corporation in Washington to accept the security for which the sale was to have been made.

Both the Spencer and Bursum cases are under investigation by the department of justice and if the evidence warrants, it was said at the department today, grand jury action will be taken.

The senate is vitally interested in these proceedings and so is the house, for more than 60 per cent of the members of both houses are lawyers, who themselves have been confronted with the problem of deciding where duty to a constituent ends, and interest as a lawyer begins.

The statutes prohibit a member of congress from acting as a paid attorney before a government department in violation of law.

The denial was brought forth in refutation of a charge laid before the department that Spencer, while a senator, had represented a private client before federal bureaus.

WHEELER BEFORE JURY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Dem. of Mont., will appear here tomorrow before the grand jury and defend himself against the charge of illegally appearing before government departments while a member of the senate.

The department of justice is seeking an indictment of Wheeler on the charge in the District of Columbia, having previously obtained one in Montana.

ORDER ARREST OF LIEUTENANT WOOD

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Directors of Biaritz casino have sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Lieut. Osborne Wood, son of Gen. Wood, governor general of the Philippines.

The complaint alleges that Wood uttered a check for 35,000 francs on Lloyd's bank when he was without sufficient funds, according to the police commissioner.

GALE WRECKS VESSELS IN FRISCO BAY

SAN FRANCSCO, Feb. 23.—Clearing weather was in prospect for central California today after one of the severest rain storms in years. Rain and high winds were general thruout the northern part of the state, according to Weather Bureau reports.

The wind reached hurricane velocity at Point Reyes, 30 miles north of the Golden Gate, 72 miles per hour being reported by the Weather Bureau station there.

Thru the Golden Gate the wind rushed in at from 40 to 45 miles an hour. This, combined with the heavy downpour of rain, whipped up a veritable storm in San Francisco Bay, tearing yachts and small boats from their moorings, dashing many of them ashore, and seriously threatening ferry traffic.

Three pleasure craft were wrecked in San Francisco Bay and 18 yachtsmen battled for their lives as they struggled thru the storm. Two men fishing from a canoe had narrow escapes when they were forced to swim ashore after their craft had been overturned.

The wind drove the waves over the Belvedere and Tiburon seawalls, on the marine county coast north of here, flooding the streets in the lower part of these two small communications.

High winds did but minor damage in San Francisco, but several sections of the city reported damage by water. Sewers overflowed and foundations were threatened.

The tanker Stockton which was caught in the storm off the Golden Gate and which flashed out an S. O. S. was reported safe today with the subsiding of the high wind.

Sacramento was visited by a heavy downpour late yesterday, with San Jose, Red Bluff and Eureka also reporting rain.

Snowfall in the mountains was reported heavy and there is about 75 inches of snow on the summits, Weather Bureau reports indicate.

DANGER OF FLOODS PAST

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23.—With the storm clearing today and all danger of floods past, N. R. Taylor, head of the federal weather bureau of Sacramento, declared today that reports from every section of No. Cal. forecast abundance of water next summer and the heaviest crops in ten years.

Pasture lands are in excellent condition, Taylor said, and grain crops will probaby be the best in the history of the Sacramento valley.

The rainfall here for the storm was .52 of an inch. At Kennet, Shasta-co the precipitation for 24 hours totalled 1.80 inches.

At Red Bluff, the Sacramento river had risen 9.9 feet in 24 hours, standing at 19 feet with indications that it would reach 22 feet by night.

RAINFALL DOUBLE LAST YEAR

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—A rainstorm which swept Los Angeles and So. Cal. today gave this city and vicinity a total of 3.60 inches of moistrure for the season, double that at this date last year.

At Mount Wilson .10 inches of rain fell and .23 was reported at Santa Barbara.

SAFETY SLOGANS NOT ALWAYS SAD

Safety slogans as a rule are solemn, depressing and terrifying but occasionally a lighter vein is introduced by advocates of caution. Some of these that recently have come to the attention of the A. C. S. C. are clever and punchy.

A sarcastic railroad man in the east suggests to careless motorists: "Better stop a minute than forever."

Not to be outdone, a locomotive engineer offers this one: "Try running into one of our locomotives. They satisfy."

The manager of the Southern Pacific hotel at Truckee is credited with this one:

"Stop! and let the train go by,
Hardly takes a minute;
Your car starts out again intact
And better still—you are in it."

SAYS JAPAN READY TO ACCEPT RATIO

TOKYO,, Feb. 23.—Willingness of Japan to accept the famous 5-5-3 ratio for war aircraft was expressed here today by Captain Hisao Hozozi of the imperial general staff.

"Japan is willing that construction of war aircraft be limited to the same ratio that has applied to naval building," Capt. Hozozi declared.

"In fact such a limitation would be most favorable to Japan. Japan has only 500 effective airships against 2000 for the United States and twice that number for France.

"It takes no second thought to see that Japan would gain materially by the adoption of such a ratio."

RECORD AUDIENCE TO HEAR COOLIDGE

What is to be the greatest audience ever assembled in the history of the world will gather at their radio receivers on March 4 to hear the inaugural address of President Calvin Coolidge. It is estimated that 25,000,000 persons will listen in.

This will be the first time the inaugural ceremonies will ever have been broadcasted.

NAVY ADDS TWO PLANE CARRIERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The navy will be strengthened by the addition of two new airplane cerrier, the Lexington and Saratoga, in December 1926, Rear Admiral J. D. Beurst, chief of the bureau of construction and repairs, navy department, recently notified the house appropriations committee, in testimony made public today.

Each will cost when completed and equipped with airplanes and parts and put into commission about $46,000,000. They will be as perfect of their type as exists, with a speed of 33 knots.

Each will carry from 70 to 80 operating planes, set up and ready for flight, with reserves. The allowance for the Lexington is 54 fighting planes, 48 torpedo planes and 18 observation planes, a total of 120. The Saratoga has a total allowance of 111 planes. Each will have a 50 per cent reserve of planes.

When the carriers are completed there will be ready for them 24 torpedo planes and 18 observation planes. The additional planes needed will have to be purchased. Each carrier will provide for one squadron of fighting planes, 1½ squadron of bombing planes and one division of observation planes.

Rear Admiral Wm. A. Moffet, chief of naval aeronautics said the aircraft industry would be able to supply the planes for the carriers. The first torpedo planes will cost $19,000, and the bombing planes $42,000 each.

Admiral Moffet said with money received the navy had bought 608 planes in five years with 120 yet to be delivered. Of the 608 planes purchased, 224 were still in existence. It had built hangars, shops, converted ships into carriers, paid salaries and subsistence, bought dirigibles, built up stations at San Diego, Quantico, Haiti and San Domingo.

Among accomplishments in aviation claimed by Admiral Moffet for the navy are:

Built the first wind tunnel in the United States. Developed a new and important metal duralumin—used o nthe Shenandoah. Developed with the trade air-cooled and water-cooled engines, standardized five types of engines for the navy, installed unexcelled catapults on war ships.

Hold land plane and seaplane speed record, developed the use of the Langley arresting gear. First used teletype radio equipment applied to aircraft and developed a superior tube transmitter set.

County Agricultural Agent

At this time preparations are being made for sweet potato beds to supply slips for the acreage that will be planted in Orange-co this spring. To obtain slips that are free from steam rot, black rot, and scurf, the growers should select only tubers that are free from such diseases. All potatoes with any external or internal blemishes should be discarded. These diseases are carried through the winter on potatoes and if infected specimens are used for seed, they are subject to produce diseased plants in the seed bed, thus the disease is transferred from the propagating bed to the field.

Since these diseases continue development in storage, they may be spread to otherwise clean seed by means of the fungi adhering to the healthy potatoes. To insure freedom from such contamination and particularly from the disease known as scurf ,all seed potatoes should be treated for ten minutes in a solution consisting of four ounces bichloride of mercury to 32 gallons of water. The solution should be used in wooden containers only. After treatment, the potatoes should be allowed to dry and then be planted immediately.

The fungi which causes disease in sweet potatoes can live thru the winter in the soil, particularly when old plants and roots have been left in the bed. Wherever diseases have been found in the seed beds, it is better to start new seed beds in land never before cropped to sweet potatoes.

START HUNT FOR SWAMP SLAYERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 23.—A manhunt started today for the swamp murderers who killed and mutilated Burt G. Lovejoy, policeman, and George Peters, former police chauffeur.

The bodies of the missing men, their heads crushed in, their throats cut and the corpses partially consumed by fire, set after gasoline had been poured over them, were found yesterday in the heart of "The Willows," desolate and sinister "hangout" for bootleggers and auto thieves.

From the trench in which the bodies were found, Lovejoy and Peters had taken 67 five-gallon jugs of illicit liquor to sell.

Today bowed by grief as she sits by the beside of her sick baby, Mrs. Lovejoy is almost incoherent with the double blow of her husband's death and the revelation of his double life. For it was Miss Ruth Phillips, posing as Miss Martha Clauders, a friend of the family, who told the police of the disappearance of the two men and who, it is said by neighbors is an apartment house, was known for three months as the wife of Lovejoy, going under the name of Phillips.

In the Phillips woman's apartment was a marriage license issued March 27, 1924, in Omaha, Neb., showing she was married there to Andrew Rappafrey. She says her husband deserted her two weeks after they came to Kansas City from Omaha last March.

Fears are entertained for Mrs. Lovejoy. She knew nothing about "the other woman" until Chief of Police Shreeve told her yesterday and she was entirely ignorant of her husband's alleged relations with a bootlegging gang.

Grewsome must have been the history of "The Willows" for years past. None have ever been solved and none have been more fiendish than the slaying of the two men found yesterday. From cuts on the bodies, physicians today say the prisoners were tortured and that it is possible the gasoline was poured on them while they were yet alive.

Six persons are to be questioned today regarding what they may know of the murder and also of the whiskey deals of the murdered men. They are:

Dan C. Coffman, teamster; Harvey Gencler, who was with the police on a fruitless raid Saturday; Robt. Jones, who admits he was shot when the woman, then posing as Martha Clauders, and Edward Jodst went into "The Willows" to search for the men; Jodst, Ruth Phillips and a Mrs. Martha Hassel, whose name the Phillips woman took for a few minutes when quizzed by police Saturday night.

IMPOSTER SELLS BEAUTY COURSES

Police today warned the women of Anaheim against a woman, 50 or 55 years old, who was reported by Mrs. Grace Remele of the Chicago School of Beauty No. 3, to be unlawfully selling scholaships in the beauty school which is established at Suite 214 in the Kraemer bldg., 222 East Center-st.

"The pretended representative of our beauty school," declared Mrs. Remele, "uses the name of Mrs. Foster. She has been giving away face creams and powders with $26 scholarships to the Chicago School of Beauty. The woman also has represented herself as vice-president of Miss M. Diggins' school she is not even known by Miss Diggins.

"Mrs. Foster" was said to be wearing a black plush coat with brown-colored collar, and she has auburn hair.

Officials of the Chicago School of Beauty here are urging those whom the woman may approach to telephone the police, 235, when "Mrs. Foster" appears.

ASSURES THIRD PARTY IN 1928

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—"A third political party will play a formidable part in the 1926 elections and will be thoroughly organized for the 1928 presidential campaign."

This announcement came today from Wm. H. Johnston, head of the machinists union and chairman of the meeting held the last two days to decide the fate of the Independent Progressive party headed by Sen. Robt. M. La Follette in the last national election.

Reports of the death of the third party following the adjournment of the meet Saturday and the bolting labor delegates and Socialists are "grossly exaggerated," Johnston declared.

The new party, he said, will be a rebirth of the organization hastily assembled in support of Senators La Follette and Burton K. Wheeler. It will come forth under a new name "which will appropriately incorporate all progressives and liberals and which will not indicate an extreme movement such as "labor" or "farmer-labor."

The various states, Johnston, said, will hold conventions to select delegates to a national convention to be held in the fall.

Johnston said an executive committee of five would be announced in a few days. This committee will make plans for the national organization which will probably hold sessions at Washington.

FLORIDA CITRUS SHIPMENTS OFF

Remaining Florida shipments of citrus fruit, according to a semi-official estimate received here today by packing house managers, amount to 30 per cent less than at the corresponding date last year.

California has shipped 12,451 cars of oranges and 2276 of lemons compared with 13,182 and 2132 cars, respectively, last year. Florida has shipped 17,828 cars of oranges against 18,396 last year to the corresponding date and 10,604 of grapefruit against 10,336.

If price levels decline, which is unlikely, except temporarily, steady advances this week made possible a further preparation for the valencia season to open auspiciously. The smaller sizes particularly have been rising.

Another favorable feature, is that the pushcart peddler—not to be confused with some of the chaps that visit Anaheim occasionally—will get busy in the large cities again before long now, his advent merely awaiting warmer weather, according to the city in question.

ONLY HALF U. OF C. STUDENTS FROM L. A.

Refutations of Los Angeles boosters that from 85 to 90 per cent of the students of the U. of C., southern branch, live in Los Angeles were made today in a letter to the Fullerton C. of C. by G. W. Finch.

Finch said that he had made a careful survey of the records of the University, so branch, and had found that out of 5032 students enrolled only 2403 were from Los Angeles and Hollywood, and 2629 from elsewhere. He said Los Angeles and Hollywood together could claims only 47 7-10 per cent and that, no doubt, a considerable portion of these had moved there only to attend the university. He said students are in attendance there from all over the nation, and from foreign countries. Eight per cent of the students are from out of the state. And he brands the stories of the Los Angeles boosters simply as wild imaginations.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
By MRS. HORTON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: For several months I have been going with a young man one year my senior and although I didn't know much about him I trusted him and now find that I love him. Not long ago he asked me to marry him and I consented. But then he told me the most horrible thing. I wonder that I can know it and care for him so much and still carry on this plain, every day tire. He is married. It seems it was not his fault. They lived at his home for only a short while for he didn't care for her and they soon separated. She returned to her own home. Then he met me and he says he will never give me up for he loves me. We have been worried about it for he is almost as ignorant of the important things of life as I and we only know we love each other dearly and wish to marry. He tells me he has been considering a divorce for some time and now that he loves me is determined to get it. But I am sure that if my parents knew he had been married before they would send me away. They do not know I care for him but think he is just another friend. He says that for financial reasons he cannot start his divorce until March. Would it be wrong for me to continue seeing him and going about with him until that time? And is it wrong for me to write to him? Would it be committing a very great sin not to tell my parents all? He asked me not to go with anyone else. Was that right? Can I consider myself engaged to him?

RUTH ANNA.

It is not right for you to see another woman's husband, and he is the other woman's husband in spite of the fact that he no longer loves her but loves you. Tell him that if he loves you he will protect your good name enough to stay away until after he is legally free and that you will remain true to him during that time. Also stop corresponding. Your letters might be used against you in a divorce suit, and surely you do not want to be dragged into a scandal. It would not be a sin to keep a secret from your parents, but it would be a mistake. Your parents would understand better than you think they would. They might offer opposition, but their investigation of the matter would be a good thing and might save you a lot of trouble and heartache later on. Since he loves you and has told you he wants to marry you, it was all right for him to ask you not to go with any one else. Of course you cannot consider yourself engaged as long as he has a wife.

GREAT INTEREST IN FRISCO BOUT

round bout for the Pacific Coast lightweight championship and the right to continue in the elimination contest for Benny Leonard's discarded crown would take place at recreation park here this afternoon, according to schedule.

Rain, which has been falling steadily over the bay region for the last 24 hours, abated this morning and it was decided by Harry Morrison, promoter of the event, that if the weather continues clear until 1 p.m. the fight will take place.

Not since the Willie Richie-Ad Wolgast fight here in 1912 has there been such interest taken in a pugilistic match as in today's scheduled event.

Odds reigned at a 10 to 7 in favor of Silver. Appointment of Jimmy Dougherty of Philadelphia, a close friend and business associate of Jack Kearns, who at one time managed Benjamin, had not changed the betting odds.

"Benjamin hits just as hard with either hand, and it's a sure thing that he will sock Silver on the chin before the final gong in the tenth," and "Silver is greatly underestimated and his boxing skill will more than offset Benjamin's hitting prowess," were a few of the arguments pro and con to be heard among boxing fans thruout the city today.

Both men were in splendid condition and right down to their specified weight.

ADD RINGSIDE.... $.... $.... $....$$

Young Datto and Larry Murphy, lightweights, were next on the bill.

Larry was willing, but the Filipino had a little too much class for him and most of Murphy's wild swings found inoffensive gloves and arms, or went over Datto's head. The latter took the first three rounds by a wide margin. Murphy came back strong in the last round but was too badly beaten in the preceding frames to earn a draw. Datto was given the decision.

BRUNNER ADMITS LYING ON STAND

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Jack John, former heavyweight champion, took the witness stand as a state witness in the Stokes conspiracy trial late today. He was to testify that efforts were made to induce him to make a false affidavit reflecting on Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes.

Johnson testified that both Robt. F. Lee and Mrs. Hattie Johnson, who are defendants with Stokes, had asked him to make an affidavit reflecting on Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes.

"I told them I didn't know the lady, had never seen her and wouldn't swear against any woman even if I did know things about her. They told me there would be good money in it for me if I would make such an affidavit."

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Joseph J. Brunner, taxicab driver who turned detective for W. E. D. Stokes in the elderly millionaire's search for evidence that his wife, Helen Elwood Stokes, had lived in the Chicago underworld, admitted on the witness stand today that he lied in his testimony given last week.

Brunner proved a recalcitrant witness under questioning by John J. Healy, attorney for Daniel F. Nugent, one of the four charged with conspiracy to defame Mrs. Stokes and he was sternly admonished by Judge Wm. N. Gemmill to answer questions put to him and cease injecting explanations.

Healy brought out the lie after returning to the occasion testified last week when Brunner, after telling that he had decided not to testify against Stokes, claimed he was taken to a police station and locked up until he changed his mind.

A week ago Brunner had said he was not handcuffed on this occasion. Today he said he was.

The purpose of the defense, it became plain, was to establish that Brunner had been harrassed and hounded by representatives of the state to compel him to testify against Stokes.

Healy then led the questioning to Brunner's bill to Stokes for his services as investigator, attempting to bring out that Brunner had attempted to frighten Stokes into paying alleged exorbitant charges. Brunner's memory on this point, however, proved faulty.

Easy to Mistake In Picking Battery

Storage batteries for radio use are available to the public in many forms and sizes, and among the large variety every radio owner will find exactly the one to supply his particular needs.

In deciding the program of the right battery, the recommendation of the set maker are invaluable as to correct voltages. As to ampere hour capacity, that is entirely up to the set owner and his pocketbook, says A. Bevillard of the Anaheim Ignition Depot, quoting a Willard Co. official.

Ampere hour capacity is the electrical measure of the life of the battery on a single charge. It means that the battery will deliver one ampere an hour for as many hours as its rated capacity.

In this way, a 100-ampere hour 6-volt "A" battery will deliver six volts for 100 hours at the rate of one ampere an hour. Or it will deliver six volts for 2000 hours at one-half an ampere an hour.

In this way the approximate life of a single charge can be estimated by adding up the current pull of the tubes used. If four UV-201 A tubes are used the current pull will be one ampere an hour as each tube draws .25 amperes. If two UV-201 A tubes are used in connection with a UV-200 tube the current pull will be 1.5 amperes an hour as the UV-200 tube draws one ampere an hour and the two UV-201 A tubes draw .25 each.

ENORMOUS CROWD AT ORANGE SHOW

Anaheimers who visited the National Orange Show at San Bernardino yesterday—and a number did—must have admitted to themselves that the annual exhibition of the navel growing section of the southland was easily the most elaborate yet put on. They have the building, the fruit and the crowd—estimated Sunday all the way up to 70,000 persons.

The primary interest to those who hadn't seen it was of course the building, which is as big as the largest armory and then some. It is 135 feet wide, 700 feet long and 52 feet high, according to John Anderson, jr., chairman of the committee on fruit exhibits and a veteran official of the show.

It is decorated in the same massive way; with the hugest chandeliers Anaheimers probably ever saw, and with billows maroon and other colors suspended from the network of the roof. The scheme of decoration is Venetian and F. G. Allen, director of the California Valencia Orange Show, did the work.

If a comparison between the San Bernardino show and the Anaheim one is possible, we should say they compare roughly—very roughly—as do the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone. The former is impressive in its stupendous proportions, the latter in its sheer, more intimate beauty. Each satisfies a different taste.

The same decorator did the work for both, and has done so for years, but his touch is always different.

The variety and novelty of the special exhibits, also, which have featured the local show, were not evident at San Bernardino.

But its zone is not only large, but contains a big variety of exhibits, and its auto show is excellent.

Orange-co's exhibit consists of a tower 25 feet high or so with an unusually fine lot of fruit—oranges, with lemons used as "trimming" — surmounted by a winged figure. Four penants at the corners lend touches of color. The exhibit is marked Class No. 49-E. It was prepared under the direction of J. F. Ahlborn of Anaheim.

A. H. Ramsal, veteran decorator of the M. O. D., who prepared the latter's combined exhibit, as he always does the one here, is taking a personal interest in seeing that this county's exhibit is kept looking its best.

FEAR OF LORD IS START OF WISDOM

That despite all her advances in material civilization America is inhabited by an unwise people was the declaration of Miss Eleanor Heughan, assistant pastor of the Undenominational Church of the Lord (Holiness), 511 North Olive-st. in her sermon Sunday evening. Miss Heughan's text was from Psalms 111:10: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." She said we are living in a generation of fearless and unwise people, who are daily breaking the commandments of God without fear. They have plenty of worldly wisdom, but that God calls foolishness. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and a soul without the fear of God has not learned the first principles to become wise. An unconverted soul has not the fear of God. A justified soul has fear of God only to a limited point. To really have the fear of God a soul must have been justified, sanctified and filled with the Spirit of God. Then they have the fear of God to such an extent that under no consideration would they knowingly break one of His commandments.

The afternoon sermon was preached by Mrs. Elsie Richards from 1 Cor. 2.14: "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him; neither can be known them, because they are spiritually discerned."

Next Friday a morality play, "Hunger", will be given by Miss Lucille Bickley's hopefuls in assembly.

It is too early to estimate receipts as yet, according to the director of the dramatics department of Friday night's alumni play, but all but a fringe of seats on the outer edges of the auditorium were taken. Some of the comment was to the effect that the play was the most finished yet produced by the alumni.

CAPITOL HONORS FIRST PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Quietly and with dignity as befitting the character of the man, the national capital today celebrated the 193rd birthday of George Washington.

All departments and bureaus were closed.

In the senate there was the time honored formality of reading Washington's farewell address, an honor eagerly sought by senators and falling this year to Senator Ashurst, Dem. of Ariz. The principal commorative event was staged in the new auditorium under the national committee that is planning world wide observation of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birthday in 1932.

John Barton Payne, ex-secy. of the interior, and George W. Wickersham, attorney general under Taft, delivered the principal addresses at this meeting. Wickersham recalled that Washington in his farewell address spoke of two great matters that are as current today as they were at the time the address was delivered—he warned against involvement in European affairs, and he warned against making too hasty changes in the constitution by amendments.

President Coolidge sent a wreath to be laid on the tomb at Mount Vernon.

DAILY GREETING TO OUR READERS

Be thou my strong habitation, whereunto I may continually resort; thou hast given commandment to save me; for thou art my rock and my fortress.
—Psalm 71-c

If peace be in the heart,
The wildest winter storm is full of solemn beauty,
The midnight lightning flash but shows the path of duty
Each living creature tells some new and joyous story,
The very trees and stones all catch a ray of glory,
If peace be in the heart.
—Charles Francis Richardson.

ADEQUATE DEFENSES IN AIR ESSENTIAL

There has been considerable controversial discussion in Congress and in hearings before committees of Congress, as to the adequacy or inadequacy of the air defenses of the Nation. There are sharp differences of opinion. The laity, of course, cannot pass intelligent judgment upon the situation, because the public does not have definite and unmistakable knowledge. But officials of the War and Navy departments are in position to know, not only the exact air strength of this country, but how it compares with the air equipment of other countries.

The people must trust to these official representatives in these things. For, manifestly, it would be unwise to disclose everything in connection with the air service or with any other branch of national defense. There should be insistence, however, on the part of the public, that America's strength in the air be sufficient to insure national safety, should this country be attacked.

Meantime, should President Coolidge call another international arms conference, it is to be hoped that the limitation of air armament may be agreed upon between the United States and other great powers. It would conduce greatly to the conservation of peace to have an international compact limiting aerial military forces.

MINER INVENTOR WINS FIGHT FOR RICHES

From being a poor "desert rat," living in poverty, and beating about from pillar to post, George Campbell Carson is within grasp of millions of dollars. His invention of a process used in smelting has been upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Unless there should be additional litigation, in which the picturesque miner-inventor would be worsted, he will have an immense fortune—estimated at $20,000,000—to give color to his later years. This is one of the tricks that Dame Fortune plays, at times. Sometimes there come reversals—suddenly from great riches to poverty. And at other times from poverty to great riches.

This man of the great outdoors, who has wandered about the West since early boyhood, and who is now living in a cheap sailor-lodging house in San Francisco, cannot be made especially happy by the possession of great riches. He will learn—should he get his anticipated fortune—that wealth does not necessarily bring happiness and contentment. It might even wreck his happiness. It might lead him into excesses which would darken, rather than brighten his life.

What should a man of fifty-eight, inured to toil and poverty, do with millions of dollars, suddenly thrust upon him? What would you do, who read this? Use it for personal, selfish ends? Or use it in extensive philanthropies? The chief pleasure in riches is in using wealth for the benefit and happiness of others. Wealth, in and of itself, is a burden—more often the source of misery than of happiness.

POEMS THAT LIVE

ITALIA, IO TI SALUTO

To come back from the sweet
South, to the North
Where I was born, bred, look to die;
Come back to do my day's work in its day,
Play out my play—
Amen, amen, say I.

To see no more the country half
my own,
Nor hear the half-familiar speech,
Amen, I say; I turn to that bleak
North
Whence I came forth—
The South lies out of reach.

But when our swallows fly back to the South,
To the sweet South, to the sweet South,
The tears may come again into my eyes,
On the old wise,
And the sweet name to my mouth.

DINNER STORIES

An Oregon man was trying to sell a horse. The animal was wind-broken but sleek. The owner trotted him around for inspection and bringing him back to the prospect he stroked the horse's back and remarked, "Hasn't he a lovely coat?"

The prospect removed his pipe from his mouth and said, as he looked at the heaving flanks of the animal: "Yeah, his coat's all right, but I don't like his pants."

She was two hours late for her appointment.

"You should carry a watch," he said.

"I always break them, dear," she explained.

"Well, you might at any rate carry a calendar," he replied sarcastically.

Over in Scotland, where they make their liquor strong and their women weep, there was an old duffer who varnished his tonsils daily. One day he strolled into the bar when the barkeeper was polishing the brass and received the usual dose of "hand," otherwise known as "five fingers." After he had left, the barkeep discovered that he had served the customer a glass of the sulphuric acid which he used in polishing. The next day the old man came back for more.

"Why, mon, how was the whiskey I sold you yesterday?" solicitously asked the barkeep.

"Ach, it was great; but, to be sure, it burnt off all me whiskers."

"My goodness!" remarked the old gentleman as he stopped the young lad with the fine catch of trout. "You've had a very successful day, young man. Where did you catch all these fish?"

"Just walk down that patch marked 'Private' and keep right on till you come to a notice, 'Trespassers will be prosecuted.' A few yards further on there's a fine pool in the river marked 'No fishing allowed,' and there you are, sir!"

A new congressman went to an old-timer in the house and asked for a few pointers on being a legislator.

"I want to do something constructive," began the new statesman, "something worth while."

"I know, I know. Here's the idea. Keep down expenses for the rest of the country but get plenty of appropriations for your own district."

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
Author of "THE FAST WAY TO HEALTH"

SOME RULES ON EATING

1. Eat only when really hungry and nothing but the simplest and plainest of food. Do not eat anything at all if it is necessary to excite the appetite with condiments, spices, etc. The body can never be hungry for a pickle, but only excited by it. Hunger and appetite are really very different and one must not be mistaken for the other.

2. Do not eat if you are tired, but first of all refresh yourself with rest, as you will only be hungry when strong and well poised. Although appetite may exist for food because of tasty-looking dishes, the food that you eat when in an exhausted condition will only act as a poison to you, because there will not be enough energy to digest it.

3. When exercise is taken before a meal there should always be a sufficient period of relaxation before commencing to eat.

4. Regularity of meals is important, as the digestive organs seem to function much better if accustomed to periodical rest and work.

5. Three well-balanced meals seems to be the best rule to follow, unless assimilation is so perfect that two meals are sufficient. In that event it is best to omit the noonday meal and use only breakfast and dinner, making two fast periods of twelve hours each.

6. Each meal should be made as simple as possible and with the smallest number of combinations of food stuffs. Variety may be introduced at the different meals, however, so as not to repeat a certain food unless especially preferred.

MR. COOLIDGE FOR SIMPLE INAUGURAL—Santa Barbara News

Official Washington is disappointed. Following a long period when the capital was under the cloud of illness, death and mourning, it was hoped that the President would consent to make the inauguration a great state occasion which naturally would result in a whirl of social activity.

But Mr. Coolidge refuses to be made the center of a great show. True to his demand for economy he frowns on the proposal to return to the old time custom of making an inauguration a great spectacle, rivaling in splendor the crowning of kings.

President Coolidge is a lover of the simple life. He is disinclined to make a show of state affairs any more than the customs of official etiquette demand.

He believes that it would be foolish to argue for economy and preach the necessity for the practice of self denial and at the same time himself indulge in a money spending orgy merely because he is to take the oath of office and enter upon a new term.

It is unfortunate that Washington society should be deprived of the opportunity to shine at an official ball. It is regrettable from a society view, that the President fails to see the necessity for an elaborate celebration of the inauguration, but he will have back of him the mass of the mass of the American people in his refusal to give to a normal democratic function a touch of royal splendor.

VENGEANCE EXPLAINED

Have you ever yielded to a desire for vengeance? It's a human trait.

In the ordinary man injustice rouses a passionate desire for vengeance; and it has often been said that vengeance is sweet.

How many sacrifices have been made just to enjoy the feeling of vengeance, without any intention of causing an amount of injury equivalent to what one has suffered!

The bitter death of the centaur Nessus was sweetened by the certainty that he had used his last moments to work out an extremely clever revenge. Walter Scott in one of his novels expressed the same human inclination: "Vengeance is the sweetest morsel to the mouth that was ever cooked in hell!"

* * * * *

Schopenhauer, attempting a psychological explanation of it, wrote:

"Suffering which falls to our lot in the course of nature, or by chance, or fate, does not seem so painful as suffering which is inflicted on us by the arbitrary will of another. This is because we look upon nature and chance as the fundamental masters of the world; we see that the blow we received from them might just as well have fallen on another. In the case of suffering which springs from this source we bewail the common lot of humanity rather than our own misfortune.

"But that it is the arbitrary will of another which inflicts the suffering, is a peculiarly bitter addition to the pain or injury it causes, viz., the consciousness that some one else is superior to us, whether by force or cunning, while we lie helpless.

"If amends are possible, amends heal the injury; but that bitter addition, 'and it was you did that to me,' which is often more painful than the injury itself, is only to be neutralized by vengeance.

"By inflicting injury on the one who has injured us, whether we do it by force or cunning, is to show our superiority to him, and annul the proof of his superiority to us. That gives our hearts the satisfaction toward which it years.

"So where there is a great deal of pride or vanity, there also will be a great desire of vengeance.

* * * * *

"But as the fulfilment of every wish brings with it more or less of a sense of disappointment, so it is with vengeance. The delight we hope to get from it is mostly embittered by compassion.

"Vengeance taken will often tear the heart and torment the conscience; the motive to it is no longer active, and what remains is the evidence of our malice."

Over a period of years

THE Ford car has remained the undisputed leader for value in the motoring world.
There are certain fundamental reasons why this is true. It is a car, properly designed and staunchly constructed, having a motor which has proved itself reliable, long-lived and economical.
It is adequately serviced by an organization reaching to every community and neighborhood.
These combine to give the Ford car the highest resale value in proportion to list price.
And as production volume of the Ford has grown the purchase price has been steadily reduced.

LOW WATER HALTS U. S. RESCUE BOATS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21—A message late tonight from Kwei Chow Fu reported the American steamer Chi Chuan, her commander, Captain Hawley and American passengers detained by the military authorities have been released.

PEKING, Feb. 21.—Low water in the Yangtse river today prevented the U. S. gunboats Elcano and Palos from proceeding to Kwei Chow Fu to release Captain Hawley of the steamship Chichuan and the American passengers, detained by the militarists there. The incident was due to the drowning of a Chinese major and two soldiers whose sampan upset after they were refused passage on the Chi Chuan. The commanding officer of the Elcano with a guard started from Washington on board a merchant vessel for Kwei Chow Fu.

CONCORDIA CLUB ATHLETES BUSY

Concordia athletes are improving very much as shown by the ability of several members to do the "giant swing," which is one of the most difficult tricks on the bars.

Under the careful leadership of Mr. Miller, Paul and John Piepenbrink, E. Walters, E. Lasch and several others are able to do the "giant swing."

Things in general are going good at the club, though several turner are injured. John Lasch, the well known athlete and motorcyclist, was in a wreck recently, breaking several bones in his leg. RACES CALLED OFF WHEN DRIVERS SKID

After three drivers had skidded about and somehow escaped with their lives in the 250-mile contest, the races at Culver City yesterday were called off.

The drivers mixed up in it were Frank Elliott, Stuart Wilkinson and "Doc" Shattuc. Wilkinson's car crashed into the upper railing on the first turn in the fifth lap and sent a stream of oil and gasoline down the track for the other racers to drive over. Elliott followed Wilkinson's example and Shattuc, on the oily spot, whirled about and into the lower railing.

Soon after 2:30 p.m. the drivers were dismissed and the crowd told that the races were off.

PAYS WITH BROKEN HEART FOR VANITY

Has a mother the right to sell her daughter to the highest bidder, that she might save herself the inconvenience of a lower social life than she had been accustomed to? Must every mother's daughter pay the price in a broken heart because of vanity, unreasonableness, and false conceptions of truths and justice?

In "The Price She Paid," a Columbia Production featuring Alma Rubens, Frank Mayo and an all-star supporting cast, which comes to the United theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

It is the story of a young lady (Miss Rubens) who falls victim to a vain mother and insincere step-father, and is cast into the strange world of an undesirable husband. The life of gaiety that is part and parcel of youth's heritage is torn away from her and she finds herself in a world strangely different from the one she had always dreamed of. What could she do in such a predicament?

The situations involved here call upon Miss Rubens' highest qualities for interpretation, and her histrionic ability carries her thru every delicate scene with rare effectiveness. In the opposite leading role, as an eminent attorney who falls in love with her, Frank Mayo rises to the highest tempo of dramatic acting and does some of the best work of his career.

A Little Talk on Thrift

By S. W. STRAUS

President American Society for Thrift.

Lack of care which leads to accidents is productive of many forms of waste. Even human lives are often sacrificed on the altar of improper precautions.

A man who is affiliated with one of the nation's leading construction organizations recently made a statement that is worthy of more than passing attention. He stated that in connection with building operations 75 per cent of all accidents are preventable. He also said that out of all preventable mishaps in that field of activity only 20 to 25 per cent can be prevented through mechanical devices. The remaining 75 to 80 per cent of all preventable accidents in connection with building work can be forestalled only by education.

What is true in building operations is true in greater or less degree in all lines of work.

The construction industry is, according to some statistics, responsible for about 18 per cent of our accidents. It is safe to say that the percentage of preventability does not differ greatly in different lines of occupation.

An external cancer claims its victim only by reason of neglect. Every external cancer is amenable to cure in the beginning of its growth

Spinach and lettuce
And cabbage and such,
Eat more of these and
You won't need a crutch.

What an enormous field for the prevention of fatalities and the elimination of waste lies within the domain of education!

Safety and thrift are closely allied.

It is just as advisable to take no risks physically as it is to take no risks financially.

Don't take chances with yourself or with your money.

Recklessness is a flagrant violation of the practices of thrift.

REFEREE'S DECISION IS NOT FAVORED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—Some of the newspaper critics today were not in accord with the decision of Referee Irwin in raising the hand of Bermondsey Billy Wells at the conclusion of his 10-round bout with Jack Britton. They expressed belief that the go was an even break. Britton gave the Britisher a boxing lesson in the first four rounds and sent him to the canvass for a moment in the second round. Wells won the sixth and eighth rounds clearly, while most observers though the fifth, seventh, ninth and tenth were even up.

Frankie Farren stopped Joe Powell in the fourth of a scheduled six-round go and Harry Scott outpointed Chris Perry in six rounds.

GIBBONS READY TO BATTLE WILLS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Having set a precedent by launching elimination tournaments in the featherweight and lightweight classes, the New York State Athletic commission plans to carry the idea into all classes of the manly art of legalized assault, even unto the heavyweights. The latter, in fact, will get immediate action, starting tomorrow, when it is understood that Tom Gibbons and Harry Wills will be ordered to appear in the feature bout of the milk fund show to establish the logical contender in the division.

The term "ordered" is used advisedly. Gibbons is ready to fling a fist with any man, provided it leads to a bout with Jack Dempsey. But Wills is believed to entertain other ideas. It is understood he is demanding the first shot at Dempsey. The elimination affair, in any case, is to be a two-man proposition, since Wills and Gibbons are the only heavyweights available with the slightest pretensions to championship rating. That the commission recognizes this state of affairs and is prepared to act accordingly has been forecast by the tentative announcement of the match by those behind the milk fund program. They must know that they have an ace in the whole somewhere in the event of a disagreement with Wills, since they are the type of men not given to premature announcement.

EXPECT SEVERE STOCK SETBACKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Having advanced with hardly a setback since the first November and resisted stubbornly efforts to bring about a "corrective" position in stock prices, the stock market today presents a greater conundrum than it did in the first week in January, when it appeared plain to the "wise ones" of Wall Street that a period of price declines was inevitable.

Last week's heavy selling movement in which stocks were unloaded freely shows conclusively that stock traders do not look for a continuous movement of prices in either direction, and Leads wagged knowingly when prices were tumbling. The advent of the reaction was hailed in many of Wall Street's speculative centers—a reaction that would go far toward wiping out most of the gains recorded since the turn of the year

Whether the enthusiastic bullish movements which closed the week can be continued is a matter of conjecture. If they were actuated mainly by the strong-arm methods of the powerful pools which have been operating in the stock market the current rise in prices, the probabilities are that they cannot be maintained. If they arise largely from investment demand for dividend stocks, many of which are still selling on an attractive income basis, there is no reason to look for weakness in the market for these particular stocks. There is a feeling in conservative financial circles in Wall Street and elsewhere that many stocks have carried to unwarranted extremes, the result of which can mean only disaster to small traders who became "loaded up" with stocks at top prices and will be compelled to hold the bag when the professionals withdraw. Unless developments are entirely different from every major movement in the history of speculation, severe setbacks must occur from time to time.

Glaring Headlight Frequent in L. A.

According to a recent tabulation of 27,000 cars in Los Angeles, more than 78 per cent of the cars on the highways are violating the headlight law in respect to lenses or adjustment, according to Robert V. Jensen. Jensen doesn't believed that the situation is as bad as that in Orange Co., but it is bad.

This is the advice given motorists there, which Jensen has received and from which we quote verbatim:

'Have your headlights adjusted at one of the official headlight adjusting stations and when you put your car in the garage afterwards, set the car about 25 feet from the wall and measure the distance from the ground to the center of the headlights and whatever this measurement is, draw a line on the wall in front at the same height minus three inches. There should not be any of the bright beams above this line. If you will do this you can always keep your own headlights adjusted without any expense. It is not a hard job to adjust headlights.

"Spotlights are legal in California. We only require that they be adjusted so they do not have the beams higher than 42 inches from the ground. You may have as many spotlights on the car as you may like, provided that they are not below 50 inches from the ground, or higher than 72 inches from the ground.

"It is illegal to have a spotlight on the bumper, spring, horn or below the headlights.

TRUE SCREENPLAY OF PIONEER DAYS

"North of 36," by Emerson Hough, depicting all the thrills and hardships of pioneer days on the Texas cattle ranges ,has been filmed for Paramount by Irvin Willat, who made the natural-color picture, "Wanderer of the Wasteland" and other classics.

"North of 36" is a tale of the Texas cattle trail, picturing a country wild, almost lawless, at the period of the story, roughened and disheartened by the recent Civil War.

Lois Wilson, as Taisie Lockahrt manager of her own vast ranch in Texas, finds herself penniless, with no means of disposing of her herds, her chief asset being the true spirit of the pioneers.

Word comes that way up "north of 36", a market beckons. With her 4,500 cows, 15 cow hands, 19 kinds of rifles and six shooters and 115 cow ponies ,Taisie marks teh start with all the thrills that the start of the wagon train in Emerson Hough's "The Covered Wagon" evolved.

Through this great panorama one sees groups of ragged sinewy men, the glorious girl at their head, the oxcarts and the sea of long horned cattle, accomplishing one of the greatest deeds of pioneer bravery and daring.

Paramount has furnished a notable cast to visualize the story. It includes Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery in featured roles. The picture opens a four days' run today at the California Theatre. It's a colorful page from the history of the United States, a second "Covered Wagon"!

A Felix Cat Cartoon and a late issue of the International News, with special music by Geo. E. Turner, concert organist, completes the program.

All of the kiddies who appeared in "Follies of 1925," that gorgeous fantasy that Miss Georgia Moore produced at the California Theatre several weeks ago, have a special treat for tonight.

Through the courtesy of the management of the California, Miss Moore and her star pupils will attend the theatre tonight in a body, where they will have a special section of seats reserved for them, to see the big thrilling drama of the early days in the West, "North of 36."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E BROWN

Families in sport are quite common. The O'Neills, the Delehantys, the Sewells, the Highs and many others have drawn much attention in their day. In these cases, however, the athletic prowess has been confined to the male members of the families.

We present today the Tunney family, heretofore represented solely by Gene, light-heavyweight fighter, but now boasting also Miss Marge Tunney, his sister.

Miss Tunney isn't following her husky brother's footsteps, however. She goes in for basketball and other sports in which girls and women find more appeal. She is a star now of a New York girls' basketball squad and is winning much attention in the east.

The deal by which "Dinty" Gearin, young pitcher, joined the Braves from the Giants last year, seems to be all out of gear.

It seems that the Braves paid the Giants the waiver price for Gearin, not knowing that the Giants owed the Milwaukee club of the American Association part of the price paid for Gearin. 'Twas a matter of $10,000. The Giants still owed that much of the $25,000 they had paid for Dinty.

Under the rules of the game the Braves were called upon to pay the Giants the $15,000 Gearin had cost them and meet that other $10,000 payment when it came due.

Now the money hasn't been rolling into the coffers of the Hub team for some time and $10,000 is $10,000 every place but in the movies. They expected to pay the $15,000 but thought that was about enough for a long chance—as any young pitcher is.

The Braves eliminated the necessity of paying that $10,000 to Milwaukee by sending Mr. Gearin back there. But the Giants have $15,000 coming, which the Braves object to paying.

Matty and the other Brave bosses declare Bancroft spoke out of turn when he grabbed Gearin while alone in the Boston headquarters. They also assert that McGraw forgot to mention the matter of the mortgage the Milwaukee club still held on Mr. Gearin.

The Giant bosses say they acted in good faith, that the Brave chiefs oughtta know the law, doggone 'em, and that the deal should go through.

Commissioner Landis, relieved temporarily of the arduous task of chasing the elusive gambler who started the bribe sandal last fall, is deciding the case.

Dazzy Vance's silent partner in his strikeout act has signed up for the coming season with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Meaning Hank DeBerry, the demon catcher.

Vance himself is frank enough to state that DeBerry's capable receiving played an important part in the dazzling one's work last season, which won him the honor of being judged the most valuable man to his team in the National league.

"Big" Munn has dropped two opponents out of the ring. The new heavyweight champ believes in the theory that "The bigger they are, the harder they fall—out."

There's a fair chance that e'er the type on this story is cold Emil Meusel, Giant outfielder, will be getting measured for a Boston Brave uniform. Braves might let young John Cooney, pitcher of Greenwich, another coming hurler, go for the gardener, it is said. Meusel's salary is the rub. He's getting too much for the Braves. And talking a gent into cutting a thousand or so off his yearly stipend is a hard task, I've heard.
